PREFACE

This compilation, which includes all of the laws of Utah of a general or permanent nature now in force, was made by authority of Chapters 6 and 110 of the Session Laws of 1917, which provide that it may be cited or referred to as the Compiled Laws of Utah, 1917.

In arrangement, style, and printing it follows closely the Compiled Laws of 1907. To confine the work to one volume the printed page was lengthened. The sections were renumbered, with the old numbers in parentheses immediately following, and between chapters and titles a few numbers were skipped to permit the insertion of new sections that may be adopted without disarranging the number scheme of the entire volume.

The history of acts that have stood without amendment during the last decade was brought down from the compilation of 1907, and the history of new enactments and amendments was added to legislation since then.

The commission had no power to revise, their authority being confined to the correction of references, typographical errors, obvious errors in grammar and punctuation, the omission and displacement of words, and to the designation of statute sections, boards, officers, places, and things.

The system of annotation used in the 1907 compilation was adopted for the present volume. In a few instances where a case cites a statute and no particular construction is placed thereon, the title of the case was placed after the sections so cited. In some instances the annotations may go somewhat beyond the scope of statutory construction.

The Constitution of the United States and its amendments, the Constitution of Utah and its amendments, the Enabling Act, and the Naturalization Laws and Rules are separately indexed, but reference to them is made in the general index.

Care was exercised to achieve typographical excellence, and credit is due F. Eugene Morris, C. Otis Wilson, and Charles M. Hecker, who did the proofreading. Valuable assistance in compiling, annotating, and indexing the volume was rendered by Aaron Myers.

ALLEN T. SANFORD,

RICHARD B. THURMAN,

Compilation Commissioners.

CONSTITUTION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE. I.

Section. 1. All legislative Powers therein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section. 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

Section. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

Amended, Art. 17 amendments.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

Section. 4. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section. 5. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behaviour, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Formation of state authorized. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the inhabitants of all that part of the area of the United States now constituting the territory of Utah, as at present described, may become the state of Utah, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. [Convention. Electors. Delegates. Apportionment. Election.] That all male citizens of the United States over the age of twenty-one years who have resided in said territory for one year next prior to such election are hereby authorized to vote for and choose delegates to form a convention in said territory. Such delegates shall possess the qualifications of such electors; and the aforesaid convention shall consist of one hundred and seven delegates, apportioned among the several counties within the limits of the proposed state as follows: Beaver county, two delegates; Box Elder county, four delegates; Cache county, eight delegates; Davis county, three delegates; Emery county, three delegates; Garfield county, one delegate; Grand county, one delegate; Iron county, one delegate; Juab county, three delegates; Kane county, one delegate; Millard county, two delegates; Morgan county, one delegate; Piute county, one delegate; Rich county, one delegate; Salt Lake county, twenty-nine delegates, thus apportioned, to-wit: Salt Lake City, first precinct, four delegates; second precinct, six delegates; third precinct, five delegates; fourth precinct, three delegates; fifth precinct, three delegates; all other precincts in said county outside of Salt Lake City, eight delegates; San Juan county, one delegate; San Pete county, seven delegates; Sevier county, three delegates; Summit county, four delegates; Tooele county, two delegates; Uintah county, one delegate; Utah county, twelve delegates; Wasatch county, two delegates; Washington county, two delegates; Wayne county, one delegate, and Weber county, eleven delegates; and the governor of said territory shall, on the first day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, issue a proclamation ordering an election of the delegates aforesaid in said territory, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November following. The board of commissioners known as the Utah Commission is hereby authorized and required to cause a new and complete registration of voters of said territory to be made under the provisions of the laws of the United States and said territory, except that the oath required for registration under said laws shall be so modified as to test the qualifications of the electors as prescribed in this act, such new registration to be made as nearly conformable with the provisions of such laws as may be; and such election for delegates shall be conducted, the returns made, the result ascertained, and the certificate of persons elected to such convention issued in the same manner as is prescribed by the laws of said territory regulating elections therein of members of the legislature. Persons possessing the qualifications entitling them to vote for delegates under this act shall be entitled to vote on the ratification or rejection of the constitution, under such rules or regulations as said convention may prescribe, not in conflict with this act.

Under the enabling act, women are not entitled to vote on the ratification or rejection of the constitution; nor are they entitled to vote at the election of state officers to take place on the same day as the constitutional election; nor does the enabling act confer on the people of the territory power to fix the qualifications of electors for state officers.
Anderson v. Tyree, 12 U. 129; 42 P. 201.

SEC. 3. [Meeting of convention. Ordinance to be incorporated in constitution.] That the delegates to the convention thus elected shall meet at the seat of government of said territory on the first Monday in March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and, after organization, shall declare on behalf of the people of said proposed state that they adopt the constitution of the United States, whereupon the said convention shall be, and is hereby, authorized to form a constitution and state government for said proposed state.

The constitution shall be republican in form, and make no distinction in civil or political rights on account of race or color, except as to Indians not taxed, and not to be repugnant to the Constitution of the United States and the principles of the Declaration of Independence. And said convention shall provide by ordinance irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of said state—

First. That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and that no inhabitant of said state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship; provided, that polygamous or plural marriages are forever prohibited.

Second. That the people inhabiting said proposed state do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within the boundaries thereof; and to all lands lying within said limits owned or held by any Indian or Indian tribes; and that until the title thereto shall have been extinguished by the United States, the same shall be and remain subject to the disposition of the United States, and said Indian lands shall remain under the absolute jurisdiction and control of the congress of the United States; that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the said state shall never be taxed at a higher rate than the lands belonging to residents thereof; that no taxes shall be imposed by the state on lands or property therein belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States or reserved for its use; but nothing herein, or in the ordinance herein provided for, shall preclude the said state from taxing, as other lands are taxed, any lands owned or held by any Indian who has severed his tribal relations and has obtained from the United States or from any person a title thereto by patent or other grant, save and except such lands as have been or may be granted to any Indian or Indians under any act of congress containing a provision exempting the lands thus granted from taxation; but said ordinance shall provide that all such lands shall be exempt from taxation by said state so long and to such extent as such act of congress may prescribe.

Third. That the debts and liabilities of said territory, under authority of the legislative assembly thereof, shall be assumed and paid by said state.

Fourth. That provision shall be made for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools, which shall be open to all the children of said state and free from sectarian control.

Irrevocable ordinance, Con. art. 3.
U. S. property exempted from taxation, Con. art. 3; art. 13, sec. 3.
Liabilities of territory assumed, Con. art. 3; art. 24, sec. 4.
Provision for submitting constitution to people, Con. art. 24, sec. 14.

SEC. 4. [Vote on constitution. Canvass. Proclamation. Admission.] That in case a constitution and state government shall be formed in compliance with the provisions of this act, the convention forming the same shall provide by ordinance for submitting said constitution to the people of said state for its ratification or rejection, at an election to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at which election the qualified voters of said proposed state shall vote directly for or against the proposed constitution, and for or against any provisions separately submitted. The return of said election shall be made to the said Utah Commission, who shall cause the same to be canvassed, and if a majority of the votes cast on that question shall be for the constitution, shall certify the result to the president of the United States, together with a statement of the votes cast thereon, and upon separate articles or propositions, and a copy of said constitution, articles, proposition, and ordinances. And if the constitution and government of said proposed state are republican in form, and if all the provisions of this act have been complied with in the formation thereof, it shall be the duty of the president of the United States to issue his proclamation announcing the result of said election, and thereupon the proposed state of Utah shall be deemed admitted by congress into the Union, under and by virtue of this act, on an equal footing with the original states, from and after the date of said proclamation.

Women not entitled to vote at first election. Anderson v. Tyree, 12 U. 129; 42 P. 201.

SEC. 5. [Congressman. Time of election of state officers. Territorial officers to continue.] That until the next general census, or until otherwise provided by law, said state shall be entitled to one representative in the house of representatives of the United States, which representative in the Fifty-fourth congress, together with the governor and other officers provided for in said constitution, may be elected on the same day of the election for the adoption of the constitution; and until said state officers are elected and qualified under the provisions of the constitution, and the state is admitted into the Union, the territorial officers shall continue to discharge the duties of the respective offices in said territory.

Provision for continuance of territorial officers, Con. art. 24, sec. 10.

SEC. 6. [Land grant for common schools.] That upon the admission of said state into the Union, sections numbered two, sixteen, thirty-two, and thirty-six in every township of said proposed state, and where such sections, or any parts thereof, have been sold or otherwise disposed of by or under the authority of any act of congress, other lands equivalent thereto, in legal subdivisions of not less than one quarter section, and as contiguous as may be to the section in lieu of which the same is taken, are hereby granted to said state for the support of common schools, such indemnity lands to be selected within said state in such manner as the legislature may provide, with the approval of the secretary of the interior; provided, that the second, sixteenth, thirty-second, and thirty-sixth sections embraced in permanent reservations for national purposes shall not, at any time, be subject to the grants nor to the indemnity provisions of this act, nor shall any lands embraced in Indian, military, or other reservations of any character be subject to the grants or to the indemnity provisions of this act until the reservation shall have been extinguished and such lands be restored to and become a part of the public domain.

Public school fund, Con. art. 10, secs. 3, 5, 7; art. 20.

Act of Congress of May 3, 1902, makes the provisions of an act of Congress approved Feb. 28, 1891 (26 stat. 796) applicable to the state of Utah with reference to the selection of indemnity school lands.

Lands known to be valuable for mineral at time state right attaches do not pass to the state.

U. S. v. Sweet, United States Supreme Court, Jan. 28, 1917.

SEC. 7. [Land grant for public buildings.] That upon the admission of said state into the Union, in accordance with the provisions of this act, one hundred sections of the unappropriated lands within said state to be selected and located in legal subdivisions, as provided in section six of this act, shall be and are hereby granted to said state for the purpose of erecting public buildings at the capital of said state when permanently located, for legislative, executive, and judicial purposes.

SEC. 8. [Land grant to university and agricultural college. Permanent fund.] That lands to the extent of two townships in quantity, authorized by the third section of the act of February twenty-one, eighteen hundred and fifty-five, to be reserved for the establishment of the University of Utah, are hereby granted to the state of Utah for university purposes, to be held and used in accordance with the provisions of this section; and any portions of said lands that may not have been selected by said territory may be selected by said state. That in addition to the above, one hundred and ten thousand acres of land, to be selected and located as provided in the foregoing section of this act, and including all saline lands in said state, are hereby granted to said state, for the use of said university, and two hundred thousand acres for the use of an agricultural college therein. That the proceeds of the sale of said lands, or any portion thereof, shall constitute permanent funds, to be safely invested and held by said state, and the income thereof to be used exclusively for the purposes of such university and agricultural college, respectively.

University and agricultural college funds, Con. art. 10, sec. 5; art. 20, sec. 1.
Proceeds derived from the sale of university lands are governed entirely by this section.
State v. Candland, 36 U. 406, 104 P. 285.

Only such saline lands as should be selected as a part of the other lands granted and not specifically located were granted to the state of Utah, under this section.
Montello Salt Co. v. State, 221 U. S. 452.

SEC. 9. [Five per cent of sales of public lands granted to schools.] That five per centum of the proceeds of the sales of public lands lying within said state, which shall be sold by the United States subsequent to the admission of said state into the Union, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be paid to the said state, to be used as a permanent fund, the interest of which only shall be expended for the support of the common schools within said state.

SEC. 10. [Permanent school fund. Lands granted not subject to entry under laws of U. S.] That the proceeds of lands herein granted for educational purposes, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, shall constitute a permanent school fund, the interest of which only shall be expended for the support of said schools, and such land shall not be subject to pre-emption, homestead entry, or any other entry under the land laws of the United States, whether surveyed or unsurveyed, but shall be surveyed for school purposes only.

Perpetual educational funds, Con. art. 10, secs. 3, 5, 7; art. 20, sec. 1.

This section does not apply to proceeds derived from sale of university lands.
State v. Candland, 36 U. 406, 104 P. 285.

SEC. 11. [Schools, colleges, and university must remain under state control.] The schools, colleges, and university provided for in this act shall forever remain under the exclusive control of said state, and no part of the proceeds arising from the sale or disposal of any lands herein granted for educational purposes, or of the income thereof, shall be used for the support of any sectarian or denominational school, college, or university.

State control of schools, Con. art. 3; art. 10, sec. 1.
Funds perpetuated to uses for which granted, Con. art. 10, secs. 3, 5, 7; art. 20; sec. 1.

State prohibited from granting aid to sectarian schools, Con. art. 1, sec. 4; art. 10, sec. 13.

SEC. 12. [Other land grants. Enumeration. Penitentiary granted.] That in lieu of the grant of land for purposes of internal improvement made to new states by the eighth section of the act of September fourth, eighteen hundred and forty-one, which section is hereby repealed as to said state, and in lieu of any claim or demand by the state of Utah under the act of September twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and fifty, and section twenty-four hundred and seventy-nine of the Revised Statutes, making a grant of swamp and overflowed lands to certain states, which grant, it is hereby declared, is not extended to said state of Utah, the following grants of land are hereby made to said state, for the purposes indicated, namely:

For the establishment of permanent water reservoirs for irrigating purposes, five hundred thousand acres; for the establishment and maintenance of an insane asylum, one hundred thousand acres; for the establishment and maintenance of a school of mines in connection with the University, one hundred thousand acres; for the establishment and maintenance of a deaf and dumb asylum, one hundred thousand acres; for the establishment and maintenance of a reform school, one hundred thousand acres; for establishment and maintenance of state normal schools, one hundred thousand acres; for the establishment and maintenance of an institution for the blind, one hundred thousand acres; for a miners' hospital for disabled miners, fifty thousand acres. The United States penitentiary near Salt Lake City and all lands and appurtenances connected therewith and set apart and reserved therefor are hereby granted to the state of Utah.

The said state of Utah shall not be entitled to any further or other grants of land for any purpose than as expressly provided in this act; and the lands granted by this section shall be held, appropriated, and disposed of exclusively for the purposes herein mentioned, in such manner as the legislature of the state may provide.

Land grants held for purposes prescribed, Con. art. 10, secs. 3, 5, 7; art. 20, sec. 1.

Sec. 13. [Selection of lands granted.] That all land granted in quantity or as indemnity by this act shall be selected, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, from the unappropriated public lands of the United States within the limits of the said state of Utah.

Sec. 14. [U. S. district and circuit courts. U. S. attorney and marshal. Term of court. Jurors.] That the state of Utah shall constitute one judicial district, which shall be called the district of Utah, and the circuit and district courts thereof shall be held at the capital of this state for the time being. The judge of said district shall receive a yearly salary of five thousand dollars, payable monthly, and shall reside in his district. There shall be appointed clerks of said courts, who shall keep their offices at the capital of said state. There shall be appointed for said district one district judge, one United States attorney, and one United States marshal. The regular terms of said courts shall be held at the place aforesaid on the first Monday in April and the first Monday in November of each year. For judicial purposes, the district of Utah shall be attached to the eighth judicial circuit, and only one grand jury and one petit jury shall be summoned in both of said courts.

Sec. 15. [Powers, jurisdiction, and duties of U. S. courts and judges.] That the circuit and district courts for the district of Utah and the judges thereof, respectively, shall possess the same powers and jurisdiction and perform the same duties possessed and required to be performed by the other circuit and district courts and judges of the United States, and shall be governed by the same laws and regulations.

Sec. 16. [Duties of U. S. marshal, attorney, and other officers. Fees and compensation.] That the marshal, district attorney, and clerks of the circuit and district courts of the said district of Utah, and all other officers and other persons performing duty in the administration of justice therein, shall severally possess the powers and perform the duties lawfully possessed and required to be performed by similar officers in other districts of the United States, and shall, for the services they may perform, receive the same fees and compensation allowed by law to other similar officers and persons performing similar duties.

Sec. 17. [Transfer of causes. Appeals. Succession to territorial courts.] That the convention herein provided for shall have the power to provide, by ordinance, for the transfer of actions, cases, proceedings, and matters pending in the supreme or district courts of the territory of Utah at the time of the admission of the said state into the Union to such courts as shall be established under the constitution to be thus formed, or to the circuit or district court of the United States for the district of Utah: and no indictment, action, or proceeding shall abate by reason of any change in the courts, but shall be proceeded with in the state or United States courts according to the laws thereof, respectively. That all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States upon any record from the supreme court of said territory, or that may hereafter lawfully be prosecuted upon any record from said court, may be heard and determined by said supreme court of the United States; and the mandate of execution or of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the circuit or district court hereby established within the said state from or to the supreme court of such state, as the nature of the case may require. And the circuit, district, and state courts herein named shall, respectively, be the successors of the supreme court of the territory as to all such cases arising within the limits embraced within the jurisdiction of such courts, respectively, with full power to proceed with the same, and award mesne or final process therein; and that from all judgments and decrees of the supreme court of the territory, mentioned in this act, in any case arising within the limits of the proposed state prior to admission, the parties to such judgment shall have the same right to prosecute appeals and writs of error to the supreme court of the United States as they shall have had by the law prior to the admission of said state into the Union.

Transfer of causes, etc., provided, Con. art. 24, secs. 6-9.

SEC. 18. [Appropriation for convention.] That the sum of thirty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated to said territory for defraying the expenses of said convention and for the payment of the members thereof, under the same rules and regulations and at the same rates as are now provided by law for the payment of the territorial legislature.

SEC. 19. [Election of state officers. Representative. U. S. senators. State government. Territorial and U. S. laws.] That the constitutional convention may, by ordinance, provide for the election of officers for a full state government, including members of the legislature and representative in the fifty-fourth congress, at the time for the election for the ratification or rejection of the constitution; but the said state government shall remain in abeyance until the state shall be admitted into the Union as proposed by this act. In case the constitution of said state shall be ratified by the people, but not otherwise, the legislature thereof may assemble, organize, and elect two senators of the United States in the manner now prescribed by the laws of the United States; and the governor and secretary of state of the proposed state shall certify the election of the senators and representative in the manner required by law, and when such state is admitted into the Union, as provided in this act, the senators and representatives shall be entitled to be admitted to seats in congress, and to all rights and privileges of senators and representatives of other states in the congress of the United States; and the state government formed in pursuance of said constitution, as provided by the constitutional convention, shall proceed to exercise all the functions of state officers; and all laws in force made by said territory at the time of its admission into the Union shall be in force in said state, except as modified or changed by this act or by the constitution of the state; and the laws of the United States shall have the same force and effect within the said state as elsewhere within the United States.

Election of state officers provided for, Con. art. 24, secs. 11, 12.

SEC. 20. [Repealing clause.] That all acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act, whether passed by the legislature of said territory or by congress, are hereby repealed.

Approved, July 16, 1894.

State v. Bates, 14 U. 293; 47 P. 78.
State v. Carrington, 15 U. 480; 50 P. 526.

The court may call a jury on its own motion although both parties waive a jury trial.

SEC. 11. [Courts open. Redress of injuries.] All courts shall be open, and every person, for an injury done to him in his person, property or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, which shall be administered without denial or unnecessary delay; and no person shall be barred from prosecuting or defending before any tribunal in this State, by himself or counsel, any civil cause to which he is a party.

Due process of law, art. 1, sec. 7.
This section does not prevent abatement of an action for malicious personal injury where the wrong-doer died immediately after the injury.
Brown v. Wightman, 47 U. 26; 151 P. 366.
The state may reserve to itself the sole right to bring actions for the dissolution of building and loan associations, hence this section is a limitation in the granting of power prohibiting any restrctions upon the common law right of access to the court but not enlarging that right.
Union Savings & Inv. Co., v. Dist. Court, 44 U. 397; 140 P. 221.

SEC. 12. [Rights of accused persons.] In criminal prosecutions the accused shall have the right to appear and defend in person and by counsel, to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, to have a copy thereof, to testify in his own behalf, to be confronted by the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his own behalf, to have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed, and the right to appeal in all cases. In no instance shall any accused person, before final judgment, be compelled to advance money or fees to secure the rights herein guaranteed. The accused shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself; a wife shall not be compelled to testify against her husband, nor a husband against his wife, nor shall any person be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense.

Actions must be tried in county where they arise, art. 8, sec. 5, and note.

Defendant could be tried again for murder in the first degree, after the verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree has been set aside on his own motion.

State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.

The acts of congress defining "adultery," and prescribing punishment therefor, in the territories, as a crime against the United States, were not exclusive of territorial legislation on the same subject, and did not prevent the territorial legislature from punishing by statute the same act as an offense against the territorial government and its laws, and an offender could be punished under both.

State v. Norman, 16 U. 457; 52 P. 986.

An order of the trial court permitting witness to turn her back to accused and directing the removal of defendant so far that he could neither see nor hear the witness nor see the jury, denied defendant a constitutional right and prevented him from having a fair trial.

State v. Mannion, 19 U. 505; 57 P. 542.

Sec. 9207 is not inconsistent with this section, nor art. 8, sec. 9, and gives a defendant the right to move for a new trial upon facts discovered after judgment and to appeal from an order refusing to set aside the judgment and grant a new trial.

State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

The right of an accused under this section, to a "speedy public trial by an impartial jury," cannot be defeated by reason of the want of any legislative remedy for a wrong inflicted during a criminal trial, as the court will resort to the common law if it affords a remedy, and if not, courts by virtue of their inherent power and their duty in criminal cases to guard the rights of persons, will, if possible, devise new remedies.

State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

An accused is not denied a speedy public trial because an information was not filed for thirty days; there being good cause shown.

State v. Reynolds, 24 U. 29; 66 P. 614.

Sec. 8553, sub. 4, providing that the deposition of a witness taken before the committing magistrate may be used in the trial in certain cases, is constitutional.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

Defendant in a homicide case may waive right to object to view by jury, and right to accompany them.

State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562.

Defendant in homicide case may waive presence of witness and admit his testimony as if present.

Id.

Where defendant is also the witness, he need not personally make the objection and claim his privilege from questions asked respecting the commission of other crimes by him, on the ground that such questions are incriminating, but may claim his immunity through his counsel. (People v. Larson, 10 U. 143 disapproved.)

State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.

Where a jury was empaneled and sworn to try accused and the cause was dismissed after the evidence was all introduced, he was thereby placed in jeopardy, and cannot be tried again for the crime charged in the information, or any other offense included therein.

State v. Hows, 31 U. 168; 87 P. 163.

Laws, 1905, p. 182, creating juvenile courts, with jurisdiction to provide for custody of "delinquent children," as defined by it, not being a criminal law, but having for its object the surrounding of such children with proper environments, violates no constitutional provisions because not providing for trial by jury, for arraignment, plea, etc.; nor because of the manner of trial and examination, and that the child is required to be a witness.

Mill v. Brown, 31 U. 473; 88 P. 609.

Law of 1905, providing for punishment by juvenile court of parents of delinquent children is unconstitutional, as denying right of legal trial.

Id.

Section 9277, authorizing the admission in a criminal case of testimony taken at a former trial where the witness is dead or beyond the jurisdiction of the court does not conflict with this section.

State v. Green, 38 U. 389; 115 P. 181.

State v. Inlow, 44 U. 485; 141 P. 530.

Where accused appealing from a conviction has not shown himself impecunious and obtained the right to prosecute the appeal as a poor person, he is liable on affirmance for costs of printing briefs on appeal, though not for fees otherwise payable to the clerk.

Salt Lake City v. Robinson, 39 U. 260; 116 P. 442.

Does not make county liable for services of an attorney appointed by court to defend an indigent accused.

Pardee v. Salt Lake County, 39 U. 482; 118 P. 122.

SEC. 13. [Prosecution by information or indictment. Grand jury.] Offenses heretofore required to be prosecuted by indictment, shall be prosecuted by information after examination and commitment by a magistrate, unless the examination be waived by the accused with the consent of the State, or by indictment, with or without such examination and commitment. The grand jury shall consist of seven persons, five of whom must concur to find an indictment; but no grand jury shall be drawn or summoned unless in the opinion of the judge of the district, public interest demands it.

Prosecutions conducted in the name of "The State of Utah," art. 8, sec. 18.

What courts may hold preliminary examination in case of felony, art. 8, sec. 21.

See note to § 8779.

Under this constitutional provision and under chap. 23, Laws 1896, (§§ 8828-8831), a magistrate has authority to examine and commit a prisoner charged with commission of an offense to answer the charge in proper court.

State v. Pierpont, 16 U. 476; 52 P. 992.

An accused has the right, with the consent of the state, to waive examination before committing magistrate; and if none was had and he goes to trial without objection, the examination will be presumed to have been waived, and after trial he will be precluded from insisting on the objection.

State v. Norman, 16 U. 457; 52 P. 986.

Provisions of this section are not ex post facto as to offenses committed before constitution went into effect, and are not in conflict with constitution of U. S. (Contrary doctrine adopted in State v. Rock, 20

U. 38; 57 P. 532, following Thompson v. Utah, 170 U. S. 343.)
State v. Carrington, 15 U. 480; 50 P. 526.
State v. Bates, 14 U. 293; 47 P. 78.
A person charged with committing an offense prior to statehood had a constitutional right under the laws of congress and the territorial laws then in effect, to be prosecuted only upon indictment presented by a grand jury; and he may not be prosecuted by way of information.
State v. Rock, 20 U. 38; 57 P. 532.
The laws of the territory of Utah, with reference to grand jurors, empowering them to act, inquire into offenses and find indictments, are still in force in this state as to offenses committed prior to its admission January 4, 1896.

INTERPRETATION OF CONSTITUTION:

Constitutions are not to be interpreted alone by their words, abstractly considered, but by their words read in the light of the conditions and necessities in which the provisions originated, and in view of the purpose sought to be attained and secured.

State v. City Council, 23 U. 13; 64 P. 460.

Proceedings of constitutional convention consulted to aid interpretation.

State v. Norman, 16 U. 457; 52 P. 986; see also decisions on "place of trial," note to art. 8, sec. 9.

Richardson v. Treasure Hill M. Co., 23 U. 366; 65 P. 74.

The meaning and intent of a constitutional provision must be gleaned from the context of the instrument. As a general rule, punctuation is no part of an enactment.

Id.

Where one word has been erroneously used in a constitution, statute or other written instrument for another, and the context affords the means of correction, the proper word will be deemed substituted.

White v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 25 U. 346; 71 P. 593.

Where the legislature has construed a constitutional provision, such construction should be followed by the courts, if it can be done without doing violence to the fair meaning of the words used in order to support the constitutionality of the statute.

State v. Reynolds, 24 U. 29; 66 P. 614.

In construing a proviso in a constitution, it should be confined to the antecedent next preceding it, unless a contrary intention clearly appears.

In construing a constitutional provision, the intention of the framers must prevail, whatever language may have been employed to express it.

State v. Eldredge, 27 U. 477; 76 P. 337.

In construing a particular section of a constitutional provision, the court may refer to any other section or provision to ascertain the object, purpose and intention of the framers in adopting the section.

SEC. 22. [Enacting clause. Passage and amendments of law.] The enacting clause of every law shall be, "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Utah." Except such laws as may be passed by the vote of the electors as provided in subdivision 2 section 1 of this article, and such laws shall begin as follows, "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Utah." [As amended Nov. 6, 1900.]

The section in its original form is placed in the appendix to the constitution.

Amended Nov. 6, 1900, to provide for legislation by initiative and referendum.

Action of governor upon bills, art. 7, sec. 8.

Where it affirmatively appears upon the legislative journals or either of them, that in passing an act the legislature disregarded a mandatory provision of the constitution, the court is justified in holding the act unconstitutional and void; but where journals are merely silent as to the subject matter under investigation, the court will presume that the legislature acted in accordance with its delegated power. (Zane, C. J., holding that a law duly signed, approved and filed, is conclusive evidence of its passage under a constitution which does not require the yeas and nays to be entered on the journal.)

Ritchie v. Richards, 14 U. 345; 47 P. 670.

The provisions of art. 6, sec. 22 of the constitution, providing that "no law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only; but the act as revised, shall be reenacted and published at length," are restrictive and mandatory, and when an act or a section is revised or amended the same must be complete within itself, so that when published and revised or amended it will contain all the law upon the subject embraced in the act or section. (Modified in Mill v. Brown, 31 U. 473; 88 P. 609, and in Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 U. 475; 91 P. 355.)

Connors v. Pratt, 38 U. 258; 112 P. 399.

When a portion of an act is unconstitutional and such portion can be rejected and the remaining portion is properly indicated by the title and forms a complete enactment in itself, such portion must be sustained.

State v. Beddo, 22 U. 432; 63 P. 96.

State v. Morey, 23 U. 273; 64 P. 764.

While repeals by implication are not favored, still the intention of the lawmaker must prevail; and where the former law is repugnant to the spirit and intention apparent from the later law, the former is repealed to the extent of such repugnancy.

Judge v. Spencer, 15 U. 242; 48 P. 1097.

Laws of 1905, chap. 117, p. 182, creating juvenile courts in cities of the first and second classes, being an independent and complete act in itself, not purporting to amend any other act, is not an amending act, within the provision of the constitution as to the title of such acts, though incidentally it affects some older laws. (State v. Beddo, 22 U. 432; 63 P. 96, distinguished.)

Mill v. Brown, 31 U. 473; 88 P. 609.

A later act, covering part or all of the provisions of a former act, does not necessarily repeal such former act, the rule being that, if by fair and reasonable interpretation, acts which are seemingly contradictory, may be enforced and made operative and harmonious, without obscurity or conflict, both will be upheld, and the later will be regarded as repealing the former by construction or intendment.

University v. Richards, 20 U. 457; 59 P. 96.

If a statute is impliedly repealed by a later one on account of repugnancy or inconsistency between the two, the repeal will be measured by the extent of the conflict or inconsistency between the acts, and if any part of the earlier act can stand as not superseded or affected by the later, that part will not be held repealed by the later.

Nelden v. Clark, 20 U. 382; 59 P. 524.

The law providing for a board of public works and prescribing its duties and powers impliedly repealed the statutes placing those duties and powers on the mayor and council.

Laws 1903, chap. 86, p. 71, entitled, "An act fixing the salaries of district judges," and fixing such salary at $4,000 and expressly providing that no mileage or expenses should be allowed, though containing no express provisions for repeal, repealed by implication § 5075, declaring that district judges should receive mileage at the rate of eight cents for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in the performance of their official duties. (Approving Mill v. Brown, 31 U. 473; 88 P. 609, which case modified State v. Beddo, 22 U. 432; 63 P. 96.)

SEC. 23. [Bill to contain only one subject.] Except general appropriation bills, and bills for the codification and general revision of laws, no bill shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title.

The title: "An act relating to and making sundry provisions concerning elections" limits its subject to elections, and is sufficiently definite; but provisions of such act relating to the filling of vacancies in certain offices by appointment are invalid under this section.

Ritchie v. Richards, 14 U. 345; 47 P. 670.

This section is mandatory.

Id.

The constitutional provision limiting bills to one subject, and requiring it to be clearly expressed in the title, is a wholesome and salutary law, that should receive a reasonable interpretation and be rigidly enforced; that legislators and the public may be informed of the purpose of pending bills, and that surreptitious, incongruous and inconsiderate laws may be prevented.

In re Monk, 16 U. 100; 50 P. 810.

Id.

Sec. 23, chap. 107 (1901), relating to custody by clerks of city courts of files, papers, etc., of city justices of the peace whose terms of office had expired, is not void as being a subject not clearly expressed in the title.

Nystrom v. Clark, 27 U. 186; 75 P. 378.

Laws 1903, chap. 86, p. 71, entitled, "An act fixing the salaries of district judges," and providing that no mileage or expenses should be allowed, was not objectionable for the reason that the subject of the act was not clearly expressed in the title; nor is it unconstitutional on the grounds that the act treats of more than one subject, because it contained a provision cutting off mileage and expenses; though the title might properly be clearer.

Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 U. 475; 91 P. 355.

This section is not applicable to municipal ordinances.

Salt Lake City v. Howe, 37 U. 176; 106 P. 705.

In so far as this provision applies to amendatory acts it should be liberally construed, so as to guard against the real evil which it was intended to meet.

State ex rel Edler v. Edwards, 34 U. 13; 95 P. 367.

Any one or more sections of the code may be amended by simply stating in the title of the amendatory act that it is to amend the sections designated and all sections the subject matter of which are germane or related to each other may be included in one amendatory act.

State ex rel Edler v. Edwards, 34 U. 13; 95 P. 367.

A section of the code related to "the state board of equalization, its duties and organization," and also dealt with their salaries. An amendatory statute increased the salaries of the members of the board, and also contained a provision requiring the board to inspect and examine annually all property it is required to assess. The provision for inspection in the amendatory statute being immaterial, did not render the statute objectionable as embracing a plurality of subjects.

State ex rel Edler v. Edwards, 34 U. 13; 95 P. 367.

Mutart v. Pratt, 50 U. ——; 170 P. 67.

An act for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery, and providing for the repeal of certain statutes for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery, prescribing the qualifications to practice, requiring a license to practice, and making it unlawful to practice without one, creating a board of medical examiners, and prescribing its duties and powers, was not violative of this section.

State v. Erickson, 47 U. 452; 154 P. 948.

Sec. 4500, authorizing the deposit of public funds in banks, at interest, and providing for the payment of the cost of official bond furnished by public treasurer from interest collected on public funds, held sufficient within this section.

Naylor v. Crabbe, 45 U. 617; 148 P. 359.

The act relating to bastardy and providing for security for the support of illegitimate children does not contain more than one subject.

State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.

The act relating to supervision of highways and the road poll tax does not offend this section.

Salt Lake City v. Wilson, 46 U. 60; 148 P. 1104.

Sec. 1459 providing for election of justice's of the peace and constables in cities of the first class and authorizing appointment of a clerk and deputy clerks for justice's court, by board of county commissioners, is not forbidden by this section.

SEC. 24. [Presiding officers to sign bills.] The presiding officer of each house, in the presence of the house over which he presides, shall sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by the Legislature, after their titles have been publicly read immediately before signing, and the fact of such signing shall be entered upon the journal.

This section is mandatory, Ritchie v. Richards, 14 U. 345; 47 P. 670.

SEC. 25. [When acts take effect.] All acts shall be officially published, and no act shall take effect until so published, nor until sixty days after the adjournment of the session at which it passed, unless the Legislature by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, shall otherwise direct.

Under the provisions of this section, "unless the legislature by a vote of two-thirds of all the members shall otherwise direct," the conjunction "unless" was intended to modify both of the clauses preceding it, and where it was provided that a statute should take effect upon approval it became operative immediately on approval without previous publication.

State v. Reynolds, 24 U. 29; 66 P. 614.

SEC. 26. [Enumeration of private laws forbidden.] The Legislature is prohibited from enacting any private or special laws in the following cases:

3. Locating or changing county seats.
4. Regulating the jurisdiction and duties of Justices of the Peace.

Sec. 1459 permitting county commissioners to appoint a clerk and deputy for justices in cities of certain classes not unconstitutional.

Martineau v. Crabbe, 46 U. 327; 150 P. 301.

An act providing for justice's court in precincts coextensive with cities of the first class, one justice's court in each precinct coextensive with cities of from 15,000 to 40,000 population, etc., and providing for payment of salaries of justices instead of compensation by fees, is not unconstitutional.

Sec. 2251, R. S. 1898, providing for a board of corrections which is given the power to commute sentences is void, because in conflict with this section of the Con. which creates board of pardons.

They shall, also, constitute a Board of Examiners, with power to examine all claims against the State except salaries or compensation of officers fixed by law, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law; and no claim against the State, except for salaries and compensation of officers fixed by law, shall be passed upon by the Legislature without having been considered and acted upon by the said Board of Examiners.

The provisions of this section do not prohibit the passage of a law such as § 2501, creating a legal obligation on the part of the state out of which was a mere moral obligation, without such obligation having been first considered and acted upon by the state board of examiners. Power of senate in impeachment, art. 6, sec. 18.

No one of the three departments of government shall exercise any functions pertaining to another department, art. 5, sec. 1.

As the office of city justice of the peace is not among the offices established by the constitution, but is purely statutory, the act abolishing it in certain cities was within the power conferred on the legislature by this section.

Under the provisions of this section, justices of the peace constitute one distinct class of judicial officers.

Love v. Liddle, 26 U. 62; 72 P. 185.

State ex rel Shields v. Barker, 50 U. ——; 167 P. 262.

SEC. 2. [Supreme court, how constituted. Terms.] The Supreme Court shall consist of three judges; but after the year A. D. 1905, the Legislature may increase the number thereof to five. A majority of the judges constituting the court shall be necessary to form a quorum or render a decision. If a justice of the Supreme Court shall be disqualified from sitting in a cause before said court, the remaining judges shall call a district judge to sit with them on the hearing of such cause. The Judges of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the electors of the State at large. The term of office of the Judges of the Supreme Court, excepting as in this article otherwise provided, shall be six years. The Judges of the Supreme Court, immediately after the first election under this Constitution, shall be selected by lot, so that one shall hold office for the term of three years, one for the term of five years, and one for the term of seven years. The lots shall be drawn by the Judges of the Supreme Court, who, for that purpose, shall assemble at the seat of government; and they shall cause the result thereof to be certified by the Secretary of State, and filed in his office. The judge having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment or election to fill a vacancy, shall be the Chief Justice, and shall preside at all terms of the Supreme Court, and in case of his absence, the judge, having in like manner, the next shortest term, shall preside in his stead.

Terms.] The Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto and habeas corpus. Each of the justices shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, to any part of the State, upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the Supreme Court, or before any district court or judge thereof in the State. In other cases the Supreme Court Shall have appellate jurisdiction only, and power to issue writs necessary and proper for the exercise of that jurisdiction. The Supreme Court shall hold at least three terms every year and shall sit at the capital of the State.

First Nat. Bank v. Lewis, 13 U. 507; 45 P. 890.

The writs herein provided for cannot be enlarged or abridged by the legislature; nor can it enlarge their functions.

State ex rel Robinson v. Durand, 36 U. 93; 104 P. 760.

The supreme court and not a justice thereof is authorized to issue writs of certiorari. (Sec. 7377, C. L. 1917, conferring such power on a justice must give way to the constitution.)

Robinson v. District Court, 38 U. 378; 113 P. 1026.

SEC. 5. [District courts, how constituted. Terms. Jurisdiction. Judge pro tempore.] The State shall be divided into seven judicial districts, for each of which, at least one, and not exceeding three judges, shall be chosen by the qualified electors thereof. The term of office of the district judges shall be four years. Except that the District Judges elected at the first election shall serve until the first Monday in January, A. D. 1901, and until their successors shall have qualified. Until otherwise provided by law, a district court at the county seat of each county shall be held at least four times a year. This section is prospective in its operation, and does not apply to actions pending when the constitution was adopted.

Jungk v. Holbrook, 15 U. 198; 49 P. 305.

The provisions of this section dividing the state into seven judicial districts and providing the number of judges thereof, were designed to have force and effect at the time of the adoption of the constitution and "until otherwise provided by law."

State ex rel. v. Lewis, 26 U. 120; 72 P. 388.

Section 6973 providing that a judge may settle and sign a bill of exceptions after he ceases to be judge, is not in violation of the provisions of this section, limiting the term of office of district judges to four years.

Larkin v. Saltair Beach Co., 30 U. 86; 83 P. 686.

PLACE OF TRIAL:

Under the practice prior to statehood, a plaintiff might bring his action in any district in the territory and have it tried there, unless the defendant demanded a change of venue; but, under the constitution, "all civil and criminal business arising in any county must be tried in such county unless a change of venue be taken in such cases as may be provided by law," it is the fundamental right of every defendant to an action in this state to have the same commenced and tried within the county where the acts are alleged to have occurred, subject to a change of venue in such cases as may be provided by law.

Konold v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 16 U. 151; 51 P. 256.

Where action is begun in the wrong county, the court is without jurisdiction even to order a change of venue. The only power the court has is to dismiss; the objection that the court has no jurisdiction cannot be waived.

R. S. 1898, §§ 2930, 2932, 2933, and sub. 1 of § 2934, are in conflict with this constitutional provision and therefore void.

Id.

The doctrine announced in the Konold case was applied in the following cases:

Campbell v. R. G. Ry., 16 U. 346; 52 P. 594.

Des. Irr. Co. v. McIntyre, 16 U. 398; 52 P. 628.

Brown v. Bach, 17 U. 435; 53 P. 991.

Condon v. Leipsiger, 17 U. 498; 55 P. 82.

Steed v. Harvey, 18 U. 367; 54 P. 1011.

Woodward v. Edmunds, 20 U. 118; 57 P. 848.

Hecla M. Co. v. Gisborn, 21 U. 68; 59 P. 518.

Conant v. Deep Cr. Irr. Co., 23 U. 627; 66 P. 188.

The Konold doctrine was impliedly overruled in the White case, in which the court held that the constitutional provision is so "indefinite and general as to render it necessary in each case in which the venue is made an issue to resort to the common law in order to determine whether the venue has been properly laid." Also held that defendant had waived its right to object to the venue.

Fields v. Daisy Co., 26 U. 373; 73 P. 521.

In Gibbs v. Gibbs, the Konold case and those following it were expressly overruled; held, that "the term, all civil and criminal business" as used in art. 8, sec. 5, of the constitution, does not change the common law practice in respect to venue in either civil or criminal actions, but is simply an announcement of the common law upon that subject; that the word "business" is used in "the sense of causes of action"; and that the constitution, art. 8, sec. 7, vests district courts "with original jurisdiction," and the district court of Millard county had jurisdiction of the subject matter of this action; and the defendant waived all objections to the venue by appearing without objection. The clause of the constitution "being for the benefit of defendants," is therefore a right which may be waived.

Gibbs v. Gibbs, 26 U. 382; 73 P. 641.

Sec. 6538, does not conflict with the provisions of this section of the constitution; consequently the foreclosure proceedings should have been commenced where the property is situate. Following Gibbs v. Gibbs.

Objection to venue may be waived.

Snyder v. Pike, 30 U. 102; 83 P. 692.

The provisions of this section that "all civil and criminal business arising in any county must be tried in such county" unless a change of venue be taken as provided by law, neither grants nor limits the jurisdiction of the courts, but prohibits a change of venue, except as provided by law. Word "business" defined.

APPEAL FROM FINAL JUDGMENTS:

While there is no express declaration that appeals will not lie from judgments other than final judgments, yet, under this section and art. 8, sec. 4, appeals will lie only from final judgments of district courts. A final judgment is a judgment that disposes of the case as to all parties, and finally disposes of the subject matter of the litigation on the merits. REVIEW IN CASES AT LAW:

Under the provisions of this section of the constitution, in cases at law, whether tried before the court or before a jury, the appellate court can only examine the evidence so far as may be necessary to determine questions of law, and has nothing to do with the sufficiency of the evidence to justify the findings or judgment, unless there is no competent evidence to support them.

The jury, or the court when a law action is tried without a jury, is the exclusive judge of the credilibity of the witnesses and of the weight of the evidence.

The supreme court cannot determine what, if any, weight should be given to the evidence of a particular witness.

jury and the findings of the court on the same issue were in direct conflict, they must be considered as entirely independent, and inasmuch as there was evidence to support both conclusions, the supreme court cannot interfere with either.

Board of Education v. Wright-Osborne, 49 U. 453; 164 P. 1040.

The weight of negative testimony of witnesses as to giving warning signals ordinarily is for the jury; but when physical conditions and attending circumstances render it highly improbable that they could hear, the rule is otherwise.

Russell v. Watkins, 49 U. 598; 164 P. 867.

Although the court erred in sustaining defendant's objections to questions propounded to their witness by plaintiff on cross-examination as to his previous statements made to plaintiff, in view of all the testimony for plaintiff and the jury's special findings that plaintiff might have slipped on account of snow on her shoe, the error was harmless.

Roberts v. Braffet, 33 U. 51; 92 P. 789.

Under the constitution appellant may invoke the judgment of the supreme court on the facts and the law; and where findings are clearly against the evidence, or when the supreme court is satisfied that the correctness of the findings has been overcome by the record, the supreme court must make or direct findings according to the evidence and the law applicable.

Utah Comr. Svgs. Bank v. Fox, 44 U. 323; 140 P. 660.

In equity cases the findings of the trial court will prevail unless it clearly appears from the record that they are against the weight of the evidence.

In equity cases the parties have the right to invoke the judgment of the supreme court upon the facts, as well as upon the law.

Mayer v. Flynn, 46 U. 598; 150 P. 962.

The Supreme Court in an equity case cannot interfere with the court's findings of fact where the evidence on the controlling question is not only in sharp conflict, but justifies findings of the court.

Beesley v. Boardman, 50 U. ——; 166 P. 991.

On appeal in an equity case, the Supreme Court has power to review the testimony to determine the facts and the equities of the parties, though its views conflict with the trial court's findings.

Lake Shore Duck Club v. Lake View Duck Club, 50 U. —; 166 P. 309.

Findings on conflicting evidence in an equity case will not necessarily be approved by the appellate court, since, under the constitution, it is the duty of that court to determine whether the findings were called for by the evidence.

Campbell v. Gowans, 35 U. 268; 100 P. 397.

Where there is conflict in the evidence, the Supreme Court will hesitate to set aside findings or direct different findings to be made.

In an equity case, where there is sufficient evidence to support the findings, the appellate court will not review it.

Plant v. Ritter, 47 U. 506; 155 P. 426.

The appellate court is restricted to the issues made below and the only question before it on appeal from the findings of fact is the sufficiency of the evidence to support them; where the findings of the court below as to facts are supported by substantial evidence, the appelate court will not interfere, although the evidence would have supported a contrary finding.

Wolf v. Gray, 48 U. 239; 158 P. 788.

APPEALS FROM JUSTICES' COURTS:

Appeals lie from the district courts of the late territory in cases appealed from justices' courts, even when such appeals are perfected after statehood.

Hodgson v. U. P. Ry. Co., 14 U. 381; 46 P. 270.

An appeal lies to the supreme court to determine the validity and constitutionality of a city ordinance, as well as of statutes.

City of Eureka v. Wilson, 15 U. 53; 48 P. 41.

Ogden City v. Bell Tel. Co., 17 U. 66; 53 P. 985.

But on such appeal the supreme court will consider no other questions.

Id.

Under the provisions of this section, the decisions of the district court in causes appealed from justices' courts are final, except in cases involving the validity or constitutionality of a statute.

Post v. Foot, 18 U. 235; 54 P. 975.

State v. Olsen, 18 U. 484; 56 P. 22.

Where questions are raised in justices' courts which on appeal could be finally determined by a district court, but instead of appealing, a remedy is sought by prohibition, the determination of the district court on the writ is final and will not be reviewed on appeal.

Overland M. Co. v. McMaster, 19 U. 177; 56 P. 977.

The judgment of the district court in cases appealed from justices' courts, is not reviewable by appeal, except in cases involving the constitutionality of a statute; nor will it be reviewed by certiorari, except in cases where district court has acted without, or has exceeded its jurisdiction. (Distinguishing Hanson v. Anderson, 21 U. 286; 61 P. 219; Crooks v. Dist. Court, 21 U. 98; 59 P. 529, and Smith v. Dist. Court, 24 U. 164; 66 P. 1065.)

O. S. L. v. Dist. Court, 30 U. 371; 85 P. 360.

Since the action of the district court on appeal from a justice's court is final, and cannot be reviewed on appeal nor by certiorari, the remedy is by mandamus where the court erroneously dismisses the appeal, for its act is a refusal to proceed further, so that, if contrary to law, the court may be required to proceed in accordance therewith

Hoffman v. Lewis, 31 U. 179; 87 P. 167.

Con. art. 8, sec. 9, authorizing an appeal from all final judgments of the district courts to the supreme court, is applicable only to final judgments in actions originally begun in the district court.

Id.

The jurisdiction of a district court of an appeal from a justice's court must be determined with regard to the law at the time of the appeal.

Chap. 68, laws 1899, providing that property and franchises owned by railroad and other companies must be assessed by state board of equalization, in so far as it confers power on such board to assess property wholly within one county, is in violation of this section of the Con., and void.

State, ex rel. v. Eldredge, 27 U. 477; 76 P. 337.

The state board of equalization has power to either raise or lower the total valuation of the property of any county, fixed by the county board and assessor, even though it may, by such action, raise or lower the aggregate valuation of all the counties in the state, but it cannot adjust or equalize valuations of property within a county as between individuals. A county board has power to equalize the valuation of property within its county between individuals and between localities.

Blackrock Copper Min., etc. v. Tingey, 34 U. 369; 98 P. 180.

A license tax is based on the police power of the state to regulate or prohibit a particular business, and not to raise revenue, while an occupation tax is primarily intended to raise revenue.

Section in original form placed in appendix to the constitution.

November 8, 1910, amended by permitting third class city or town to create an additional indebtedness of eight per centum instead of four per centum.

The legislature has the inherent power to authorize a municipality to issue bonds for its indebtedness; the provisions of this section limit but do not confer such power.

State v. City Council, 23 U. 13; 64 P. 460.

The framers of the fundamental law of this state must be presumed to have had knowledge of the fact, because a matter of current history, that many municipalities of the proposed state were already indebted in excess of the four per cent limit mentioned in this section, and yet had an entirely inadequate supply of water, light and sewer facilities.

Permanent fund, guarantee, art. 10, secs. 3, 5, 7, 10; art. 19, sec. 3.
Lands granted, Enabling Act, secs. 6-12.

SALARIES.

SECTION 1. [Public officers to be paid salaries. Exceptions.] All State, district, city, county, town and school officers, excepting notaries public, boards of arbitration, court commissioners, justices of the peace and constables, shall be paid fixed and definite salaries: Provided, That city justices may be paid by salary when so determined by the mayor and council of such cities.

State officers to be paid fixed salaries and to pay over fees; art. 7, sec. 20.
The office of city justice of the peace is recognized by provisions of this section.
Hulaniski v. Ogden City, 20 U. 233; 57 P. 876.
The office of city justice of the peace is not among those created by the constitution.
State v. Howell, 26 U. 53; 72 P. 187.
Fixing the salaries of justices and constables in cities of certain classes is not violative of this section.
Martineau v. Crabbe, 46 U. 327; 150 P. 301.
Probably the constitution forbids county commissioners from raising the salaries of officers after they have been elected.
Cromquist v. Mathews, 51 U. —; 173 P. —.

SEC. 2. [Legislature to provide fees. Accounting.] The Legislature shall provide by law, the fees which shall be collected by all officers within the state. Notaries public, boards of arbitration, court commissioners, justices of the peace, and constables paid by fees, shall accept said fees as their full compensation. But all other State, district, county, city, town and school officers, shall be required by law to keep a true and correct account of all fees collected by them and to pay the same into the proper treasury, and the officer whose duty it is to collect such fees shall be held responsible under his bond for the same.

Legislature to fix compensation of justices, art 8, sec. 8.
State officers to keep account of and pay over fees, art. 7, sec. 20.
Under the act of Feb. 17, 1896, it was held to be the duty of the county clerk to pay all fees collected by him in the district court in criminal and civil cases, except probate fees, from and after Jan. 4, 1896, into the state treasury.
Richards v. Stanton, 14 U. 180; 46 P. 1109.
Fixing the salaries of justices and constables in cities of certain classes is not violative of this section.
Martineau v. Crabbe, 46 U. 327; 150 P. 301.
The duties which a clerk of the district court discharges in naturalization proceedings under federal laws are not duties imposed on nor services forming a part of the office, and the salary received as compensation therefor does not constitute compensation for extra official services, and he need not account therefor to his county.
Eldredge v. S. L. County, 37 U. 188; 106 P. 939.

ARTICLE XXII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECTION 1. [Homestead exemption.] The Legislature shall provide by law, for the selection by each head of a family, and exemption of a homestead, which may consist of one or more parcels of lands, together with the appurtenances and improvements thereon of the value of at least fifteen hundred dollars from sale on execution.

Homestead generally, §§ 2862-2882, and notes.
Property exempt from execution, § 6925.
Homestead of decedent exempt when, §§ 6409, 7644, and notes.
The homestead exemption given by the constitution and by law is an absolute right, intended to protect the home against creditors; and no waiver could affect the right of the wife and children.

Kimball v. Salisbury, 17 U. 381; 53 P. 1037.
Occupation and use is a sufficient selection of a homestead.
Kimball v. Salisbury, 17 U. 381; 53 P. 1037.
Kimball v. Salisbury, 19 U. 161; 56 P. 973.
Unless a party has actual notice of levy and sale of his homestead, his failure to assert the right is not a waiver.
Kimball v. Salisbury, 19 U. 161; 56 P. 973.
Selection may be made at any time before sale.
Folsom v. Asper, 25 U. 299; 71 P. 315.
Sec. 2871, providing that a homestead shall be subject to execution to satisfy judgments on debts secured by mechanics' liens for labor done for the improvement of the same, is in conflict with Con. art. 22, sec. 1, requiring the legislature to provide for the selection and exemption of a homestead; the constitution exempting a homestead from execution sale without exception.
Volker L. Co. v. Vance, 32 U. 74; 88 P. 896.
A debtor may claim homestead exemption to any land he owns at any time before sale.
Volker-Scowcroft Lbr. Co. v. Vance, 36 U. 348; 103 P. 970.
A single man, making contract for the erection of a house on his lot, cannot, by marrying after the work has been done thereby claim it is exempt so as to deprive the contractor of his mechanics' lien.
Evans v. Jensen, 50 U.—; 168 P. 762.

SEC. 2. [Property rights of married women.] Real and personal estate of every female, acquired before marriage, and all property to which she may afterwards become entitled by purchase, gift, grant, inheritance or devise, shall be and remain the estate and property of such female, and shall not be liable for the debts, obligations or engagements of her husband, and may be conveyed, devised or bequeathed by her as if she were unmarried.

In this state women are relieved from the common law disability and are given independent power to manage, control, transfer and dispose of, hold and enjoy their separate property without restriction or limitation by reason of marriage.
Morrison, M. & Co. v. Clark, 20 U. 432; 59 P. 235.

ARTICLE XXIII.

If two or more amendments are proposed, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each of them separately.

The amendments to the constitution adopted down to 1907, are as follows:
Art. 6, sec. 1, on legislative power, amended Nov. 6, 1900.

Sections as amended will be found in their several places in the constitution; the original sections are inserted in an appendix to the constitution.

SEC. 2. [Revision of the constitution.] Whenever two-thirds of the members, elected to each branch of the Legislature, shall deem it necessary to call a convention to revise or amend this Constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote, at the next general election, for or against a convention, and, if a majority of all the electors, voting at such election, shall vote for a convention, the Legislature, at its next session, shall provide by law for calling the same. The convention shall consist of not less than the number of members in both branches of the Legislature.

SEC. 3. [Id. Submission to electors.] No Constitution, or amendments adopted by such Convention, shall have validity until submitted to, and adopted by, a majority of the electors of the State voting at the next general election.

ARTICLE XXIV.

Hulaniski v. Ogden City, 20 U. 233; 57 P. 876.
Sec. 9207 not being inconsistent with Con. art. 1, sec. 12, or art. 8, sec. 9, gave defendant right to move for new trial upon facts discovered after judgment and to appeal from an order refusing to set aside the judgment and grant a new trial.

SEC. 2. [Public school system. Maintenance.] The Public School system shall include kindergarten schools, common schools, consisting of primary and grammar grades, High Schools, an Agricultural College, a University, and such other schools as the Legislature may establish. The common schools shall be free. The other departments of the system shall be supported as provided by law. Provided, That High Schools may be maintained free in all cities of the first and second class now constituting school districts, and in such other cities and districts as may be designated by the Legislature. But where the proportion of school monies apportioned or accruing to any city or district shall not be sufficient to maintain all the free schools in such city or district, the High Schools shall be supported by local taxation;

Provided, That when any cities or districts shall establish High Schools, the Legislature may authorize the use of State school funds to assist in supporting such schools, said funds being apportioned to the cities or districts concerned by the State Board of Education. [As amended Nov. 6, 1906.]

The section in its original form placed in the appendix to the constitution. Amended Nov. 6, 1906, to empower the legislature to authorize the use of state school funds to assist in supporting high schools.

Amended Nov. 8, 1910, by omitting all special provisions concerning High schools.

SEC. 3. [State school fund. Interest distributed.] The proceeds of all lands that have been, or may be granted by the United States to this State, for the support of the common schools; the proceeds of all property that may accrue to the State by escheat or forfeiture; all unclaimed shares and dividends of any corporation incorporated under the laws of this State; the proceeds of the sale of timber, minerals or other property from school and State lands, other than those granted for specific purposes; and the five per centum of the net proceeds of the sales of public lands lying within the State, which shall be sold by the United States, subsequent to the admission of this State into the Union, shall be and remain a perpetual fund, to be called the State School Fund, the interest of which only, together with such other means as the Legislature may provide, shall be distributed among the several school districts according to the school population residing therein. [As originally enacted.]

November 8, 1910, amended by providing that funds derived from the state tax for high schools shall be aportioned among the cities and school districts according to the attendance at the high schools providing the schools are maintained at the standard fixed by the Board of Education.

SEC. 6. [Separate control of city schools.] In cities of the first and second class, the public school system shall be maintained and controlled, by the Board of Education of such cities, separate and apart from the counties in which said cities are located. [As originally enacted.]

Amended Nov. 6, 1900, by omitting the words "maintained and."

ARTICLE XIII.

REVENUE AND TAXATION.

SEC. 3. [Legislature to provide uniform tax. Exemptions.] The Legislature shall provide by law a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation on all property in the State, according to its value in money, and shall prescribe by general law such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property; so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her or its property: Provided, That a deduction of debts from credits may be authorized: Provided further, That the property of the United States, of the State, counties, cities, towns, school districts, municipal corporations and public libraries, lots with the buildings thereon used exclusively for either religious worship or charitable purposes, and places of burial not held or used for private or corporate benefit, shall be exempt from taxation. Ditches, canals, and flumes owned and used by individuals or corporations for irrigating lands owned by such individuals or corporations, or the individual members thereof, shall not be separately taxed so long as they shall be owned, and used exclusively for such purpose. [As originally enacted.]

Amended Nov. 6, 1900, by adding "reservoirs and pipes," and providing for the abatement of taxes of the indigent poor. See section next following.

SEC. 3. [Legislature to provide uniform tax. Exemptions.] The Legislature shall provide by law a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation on all property in the State, according to its value in money, and shall prescribe by general law such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her or its property: Provided, That a deduction of debits from credits may be authorized: Provided further, That the property of the United States, of the State, counties, cities, towns, school districts, municipal corporations and public libraries, lots with the buildings thereon used exclusively for either religious worship or charitable purposes, and places of burial not held or used for private or corporate benefit, shall be exempt from taxation. Ditches, canals, reservoirs, pipes and flumes owned and used by individuals or corporations for irrigating lands owned by such individuals or corporations or the individual members thereof, shall not be separately taxed so long as they shall be owned and used exclusively for such purpose. Provided further, That the taxes of the indigent poor may be remitted or abated at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law. [As amended Nov. 6. 1900.]

Amended Nov. 6, 1906, by making mortgages upon both real and personal property exempt from taxation.

SEC. 4. [Taxation of mines.] All mines and mining claims, both placer and rock in place, containing or bearing gold, silver, copper, lead, coal or other valuable mineral deposits, after purchase thereof from the United States, shall be taxed at the price paid the United States therefor, unless the surface ground, or some part thereof, of such mine or claim, is used for other than mining purposes, and has a separate and independent value for such other purposes; in which case said surface ground, or any part thereof, so used for other than mining purposes, shall be taxed at its value for such other purposes, as provided by law; and all the machinery used in mining, and all property and surface improvements upon or appurtenant to mines and mining claims, which have a value separate and independent of such mines or mining claims, and the net annual proceeds of all mines and mining claims, shall be taxed as provided by law. [As originally enacted.]

Nov. 3, 1908, amended by authorizing the State Board of Equalization to tax machinery and improvements and the net annual proceeds.

SEC. 7. [Tax rate for state purposes.] The rate of taxation on property, for State purposes, shall never exceed eight mills on each dollar of valuation; and whenever the taxable property within the State shall amount to two hundred million dollars, the rate shall not exceed five mills on each dollar of valuation; and whenever the taxable property within the State shall amount to three hundred million dolars, the rate shall never thereafter exceed four mills on each dollar of valuation; unless a proposition to increase such rate, specifying the rate proposed, and the time during which the same shall be levied, be first submitted to a vote of such of the qualified electors of the State as, in the year next preceding such election, shall have paid a property tax assessed to them within the State, and the majority of those voting thereon shall vote in favor thereof, in such manner as may be provided by law. [As originally enacted.]

Nov. 8, 1910, amended by providing one-half mill for high school purposes and creating the high school fund and apportioning the same and providing that when assessed valuation shall be $400,000,000.00 instead of $200,000,000.00 the rate shall not exceed five per cent.

SEC. 12. [Stamp, income, license, franchise, or mortgage tax permissible.] Nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to prevent the Legislature from providing a stamp tax, or a tax based on income, occupation, licenses, franchises or mortgages. [As originally enacted.]

Amended Nov. 6, 1906, by omitting the word "mortgages."

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. [State debt, limitation.] To meet casual deficits or failures in revenue, and for necessary expenditures for public purposes, including the erection of public buildings, and for the payment of all Territorial indebtedness assumed by the State, the State may contract debts, not exceeding in the aggregate at any one time, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars over and above the amount of the Territorial indebtedness assumed by the State. But when the said Territorial indebtedness shall have been paid, the State shall never contract any indebtedness, except as in the next section provided, in excess of the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and all monies arising from loans herein authorized, shall be applied solely to the purposes for which they were obtained. [As originally enacted.]

Nov. 10, 1910, amended by fixing the maximum indebtedness an amount equal to one and one-half per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the state instead of two hundred thousand dollars in excess of the territorial indebtedness and omitting the provision that after territorial indebtedness shall have been paid the state should never contract any indebtedness except as in Section 4 provided, in excess of two hundred thousand dollars, and moneys arising from loans should be applied solely to the purposes for which they were obtained.

SEC. 4. [Limit of indebtedness of counties, cities, etc.] When authorized to create indebtedness as provided in section three of this article, no county shall become indebted to an amount, including existing indebtedness, exceeding two per centum. No city, town, school district or other municipal corporation, shall become indebted to an amount, including existing indebtedness, exceeding four per centum of the value of the taxable property therein, the value to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county purposes, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness; except that in incorporated cities the assessment shall be taken from the last assessment for city purposes: Provided, That no part of the indebtedness allowed in this section, shall be incurred for other than strictly county, city, town or school district purposes: Provided, further, That any city or town, when authorized as provided in Section three of this Article, may be allowed to incur a larger indebtedness, not exceeding four per centum additional, for supplying such city or town with water, artificial lights or sewers, when the works for supplying such water, light and sewers, shall be owned and controlled by the municipality. [As originally enacted.]

Nov. 8, 1910, amended by permitting third class city or town to create an additional indebtedness of eight percentum instead of four percentum.

The following amendments to the Constitution of Utah were adopted at the general election held November 5, 1918, too late to be inserted in their proper places.

ARTICLE XIII.

Section 3 of Article XIII was amended to take effect Jan. 1st, 1919, to read as follows:

Sec. 3. Legislature to provide uniform tax. Exemptions. The legislature shall provide by law a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation on all property in the State, according to its value in money, and shall prescribe by general law such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her or its property: provided, That a deduction of debits from credits may be authorized: provided further, That the property of the United States, of the State, counties, cities, towns, school districts, municipal corporations and public libraries, lots with the buildings thereon used exclusively for either religious worship or charitable purposes, and places of burial not held or used for private or corporate benefit, shall be exempt from taxation. Ditches, canals, reservoirs, pipes and flumes owned and used by individuals or corporations for irrigating lands owned by such individuals or corporations, or the individual members thereof, shall not be separately taxed as long as they shall be owned and used exclusively for such purpose: provided further, That mortgages upon both real and personal property shall be exempt from taxation: provided further, That the taxes of the indigent poor may be remitted or abated at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law: provided further, That the legislature may provide for the exemption from taxation of homes, homesteads, and personal property, not to exceed two hundred and fifty dollars in value for homes and homesteads and one hundred dollars of personal property.

Section 4 of Article XIII was amended to take effect Jan. 1st, 1919, to read as follows:

Sec. 4. Taxation of Mines. All metalliferous mines or mining claims, both placer and rock in place shall be assessed at $5.00 per acre, and in addition thereto at a value based on some multiple or sub-multiple of the net annual proceeds thereof. All other mines or mining claims and other valuable mineral deposits, including lands containing coal or hydrocarbons, shall be assessed at their full value. All machinery used in mining and all property or surface improvements upon or appurtenant to mines or mining claims, and the value of any surface use made of mining claims, or mining property for other than mining purposes, shall be assessed at full value. The state board of equalization shall assess and tax all property herein enumerated, provided that the assessment of $5.00 per acre and the assessment of the value of any use other than for mining purposes shall be made as provided by law.

ARTICLE XXII.

Article XXII was amended by adding Section 3 thereto to take effect Jan. 1st, 1919, which reads as follows:

Sec. 3. Prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. The manufacture, sale, keeping or storing for sale or offering or exposing for sale, or importing, carrying, transporting, advertising, distributing, giving away, exchanging, dispensing, or serving of all fermented, malt, vinous or spirituous liquors, alcohol, wine, porter, ale, beer, absinthe or any other intoxicating drink, mixture or preparation of like nature; and all malt or brewed drinks; fruits preserved in alcoholic liquors of any kind; and all beverages containing in excess of one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume; and all mixtures, compounds or preparations, whether liquid or not, which are intended when mixed with water, or otherwise, to produce by fermentation or otherwise an intoxicating liquor, are hereby forever prohibited in the State, except alcohol for scientific and manufacturing purposes, and wine used for sacramental purposes.

ers of immigration to cause to be granted to such alien a certificate of such registry, with the particulars thereof.[1]

SEC. 2. [This section is omitted as it authorized the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to provide the necessary offices in the city of Washington and take the necessary steps for the proper discharge of the duties imposed by the act of June 29, 1906.]

The courts herein specified shall, upon the requisition of the clerks of such courts, be furnished from time to time by the Bureau of Naturalization with such blank forms as may be required in the naturalization of aliens, and all certificates of naturalization shall be consecutively numbered and printed on safety paper furnished by said bureau.

And such declaration shall set forth the name, age, occupation, personal description, place of birth, last foreign residence and allegiance, the date of arrival, the name of the vessel, if any, in which he came to the United States, and the present place of residence in the United States of said alien; Provided, however, That no alien who, in conformity with the law in force at the date of his declaration, has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be required to renew such declaration: Provided further, That any person belonging to the class of persons authorized and qualified under existing law to become a citizen of the United States who has resided constantly in the United States during a period of five years next preceding May first, nineteen hundred and ten, who, because of misinformation in regard to his citizenship or the requirements of the law governing the naturalization of citizens has labored and acted under the impression that he was or could become a citizen of the United States and has in good faith exercised the rights or duties of a citizen or intended citizen of the United States because of such wrongful information and belief may, upon making a showing of such facts satisfactory to a court having jurisdiction to issue papers of naturalization to an alien, and the court in in its judgment believes that such person has been for a period of more than five years entitled upon proper proceedings to be naturalized as a citizen of the United States, receive from the said court a final certificate of naturalization, and said court may issue such certificate without requiring proof of former declaration by or on the part of such person of their intention to become a

The petition shall also be verified by the affidavits of at least two credible witnesses, who are citizens of the United States, and who shall state in their affidavits that they have personally known the applicant to be a resident of the United States for a period of at least five years continuously, and of the State, Territory, or district in which the application is made for a period of at least one year immediately preceding the date of the filing of his petition, and that they each have personal knowledge that the petitioner is a person of good moral character, and that he is in every way qualified, in their opinion, to be admitted as a citizen of the United States.

At the time of filing his petition there shall be filed with the clerk of the court a certificate from the Department of Labor, if the petitioner arrives in the United States after the passage of this act, stating the date, place, and manner of his arrival in the United States,[2] and the declaration of intention of such petitioner, which certificate and declaration shall be attached to and made a part of said petition.

Third. Fourth. It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting any alien to citizenship that immediately preceding the date of his ap-

Fifth. In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or has been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Sixth. When any alien who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States dies before he is actually naturalized the widow and minor children of such alien may, by complying with the other provisions of this act, be naturalized without making any declaration of intention.

SEC. 6. That petitions for naturalization may be made and filed during term time or vacation of the court and shall be docketed the same day as filed, but final action thereon shall be had only on stated days, to be fixed by rule of the court, and in no case shall final action be had upon a petition until at least ninety days have elapsed after filing and posting the notice of such petition: Provided, That no person shall be naturalized nor shall any certificate of naturalization be issued by any court within thirty days preceding the holding of any general election within its territorial jurisdiction. It shall be lawful at the time and as a part of the naturalization of any alien, for the court, in its discretion, upon the petition of such alien, to make a decree changing the name of said alien, and his certificate of naturalization shall be issued to him in accordance therewith.

SEC. 7. That no person who disbelieves in or who is opposed to organized government, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States, or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who is a polygamist, shall be naturalized or be made a citizen of the United States.

SEC. 8. That no alien shall hereafter be naturalized or admitted as a citizen of the United states who can not speak the English language: Provided, That this requirement shall not apply to aliens who are physically unable to comply therewith, if they are otherwise qualified to become citizens of the United States: And provided further, That the requirements of this section shall not apply to any alien who has prior to the passage of this act declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States in conformity with the law in force at the date of making such declaration: Provided further, That the requirements of section eight shall not apply to aliens who shall hereafter declare their intention to become citizens and who shall make homestead entries upon the public lands of the United States and comply in all respects with the laws providing for homestead entries on such lands.

SEC. 9. That every final hearing upon such petition shall be had in open court before a judge or judges thereof, and every final order which may be made upon such petition shall be under the hand of the court and entered in full upon a record kept for that purpose, and upon such final hearing of such petition the applicant and witnesses shall be examined under oath before the court and in the presence of the court.

SEC. 10. That in case the petitioner has not resided in the State, Territory, or district for a period of five years continuously and immediately preceding the filing of his petition he may establish by two witnesses, both in his petition and at the hearing, the time of his residence within the State, provided that it has been for more than one year, and the remaining portion of his five years' residence within the United States required by law to be established may be proved by the depositions of two or more witnesses who are citizens of the United States, upon notice to the Bureau of Naturalization and the United States attorney for the district in which said witnesses may reside.

SEC. 11. That the United States shall have the right to appear before any court or courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings for the purpose of cross-examining the petitioner and the witnesses produced in support of his petition concerning any matter touching or in any way affecting his right to admission to citizenship, and shall have the right to call witnesses, produce evidence, and be heard in opposition to the granting of any petition in naturalization proceedings.

SEC. 12. That it is hereby made the duty of the clerk of each and every court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization matters under the provisions of this act to keep and file a duplicate of each declaration of intention made before him and to send to the Bureau of Naturalization at Washington, within thirty days after the issuance of a certificate of citizenship, a duplicate of such certificate, and to make and keep on file in his office a stub for each certificate so issued by him, whereon shall be entered a memorandum of all the essential facts set forth in such certificate. It shall also be the duty of the clerk of each of said courts to report to the said bureau, within thirty days after the final hearing and decision of the court, the name of each and every alien who shall be denied naturalization, and to furnish to said bureau duplicates of all petitions within thirty days after the filing of the same, and certified copies of such other proceedings and orders instituted in or issued out of said court affecting or relating to the naturalization of aliens as may be required from time to time by the said bureau.

In case any such clerk or officer acting under his direction shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the foregoing provisions he shall forfeit and pay to the United States the sum of twenty-five dollars in each and every case in which such violation or omission occurs, and the amount of such forfeiture may be recovered by the United States in an action of debt against such clerk.

Clerks of courts having and exercising jurisdiction in naturalization matters shall be responsible for all blank certificates of citizenship received by them from time to time from the Bureau of Naturalization, and shall account for the same to the said bureau whenever required so to do by such bureau. No certificate of citizenship received by any such clerk which may be defaced or injured in such manner as to prevent its use as herein provided shall in any case be destroyed, but such certificate shall be returned to the said bureau; and in case any such clerk shall fail to return or properly account for any certificate furnished by the said bureau, as herein provided, he shall be liable to the United States in the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered in an action of debt, for each and every certificate not properly accounted for or returned.

SEC. 13.[1] That the clerk of each and every court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization cases shall charge, collect, and account for the following fees in each proceeding:

For receiving and filing a declaration of intention and issuing a duplicate thereof, one dollar.

For making, filing, and docketing the petition of an alien for admission as a citizen of the United States and for the final hearing thereon, two dollars; and for entering the final order and the issuance of the certificate of citizenship thereunder, if granted, two dollars.

The clerk of any court collecting such fees is hereby authorized to retain one-half of the fees collected by him in such naturalization proceeding; the remaining one-half of the naturalization fees in each case collected by such clerks, respectively, shall be accounted for in their quarterly accounts, which they are hereby required to render the Bureau of Naturalization, and paid over to such bureau within thirty days from the close of each quarter in each and every fiscal year, and the moneys so received shall be paid over to the disbursing clerk of the Department of Labor, who shall thereupon deposit them in the Treasury of the United States, rendering an account therefor quarterly to the Auditor for the State and other Departments, and the said disbursing clerk shall be held responsible under his bond for said fees so received.

In addition to the fees herein required, the petitioner shall, upon the filing of his petition to become a citizen of the United States, deposit with and pay to the clerk of the court a sum of money sufficient to cover the expenses of subpœnaing and paying the legal fees of any witnesses for whom he may request a subpœna, and upon the final discharge of such witnesses they shall receive, if they demand the same from the clerk, the customary and usual witness fees from the moneys which the petitioner shall have paid to such clerk for such purpose, and the residue, if any, shall be returned by the clerk to the petitioner: Provided, That the clerks of courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings shall be permitted to retain one-half of the fees in any fiscal year up to the sum of three thousand dollars, and that all fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings in excess of such amount shall be accounted for and paid over to said bureau as in case of other fees to which the United States may be entitled under the provisions of this act. The clerks of the various courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings shall pay all additional clerical force that may be required in performing the duties imposed by this act upon the clerks of courts from fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings.

And in case the clerk of any court exercising naturalization jurisdiction collects fees in excess of the sum of six thousand dollars in any fiscal year the Secretary of Labor may allow salaries, for naturalization purposes only, to pay for clerical assistance, to be selected and employed by that clerk, additional to the clerical force, for which clerks of courts are required by this section to pay from fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings, if in the opinion of said Secretary the naturalization business of such clerk warrants further additional assistance: Provided, That in no event shall the whole amount allowed the clerk of a court and his assistants exceed the one-half of the gross receipts of the office of said clerk from naturalization fees during such fiscal year: Provided further, That when, at the close of any fiscal year, the business of such clerk of court indicates in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor that the naturalization fees for the succeeding fiscal year will exceed six thousand dollars the Secretary of Labor may authorize the continuance of the allowance of salaries for the additional clerical assistance herein provided for and employed on the last day of the fiscal year until such time as the remittances indicate in the opinion of said Secretary that the fees for the then current fiscal year will not be sufficient to allow the additional clerical assistance authorized by this act.

That payment for the additional clerical assistance herein authorized shall be in the manner and under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

SEC. 14. That the declarations of intention and the petitions for naturalization shall be bound in chronological order in separate volumes, indexed, consecutively numbered, and made part of the records of the court. Each certificate of naturalization issued shall bear upon its face, in a place prepared therefor, the volume number and page number of the petition whereon such certificate was issued, and the volume number and page number of the stub of such certificate.

SEC. 15. That it shall be the duty of the United States district attorneys for the respective districts, upon affidavit showing good cause therefor, to institute proceedings in any court having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens in the judicial district in which the naturalized citizen may reside at the time of bringing the suit, for the purpose of setting aside and canceling the certificate of citizenship on the ground of fraud or on the ground that such certificate of citizenship was illegally procured. In any such proceedings the party holding the certificate of citizenship alleged to have been fraudulently or illegally procured shall have sixty days personal notice in which to make answer to the petition of the United States; and if the holder of such certificate be absent from the United States or from the district in which he last had his residence, such notice shall be given by publication in the manner provided for the service of summons by publication or upon absentees by the laws of the State or the place where such suit is brought.

If any alien who shall have secured a certificate of citizenship under the provisions of this act shall, within five years after the issuance of such certificate, return to the country of his nativity, or go to any other foreign country, and take permanent residence therein it shall be considered prima facie evidence of a lack of intention on the part of such alien to become a permanent citizen of the United States at the time of filing his application for citizenship, and, in the absence of countervailing evidence, it shall be sufficient in the proper proceeding to authorize the cancellation of his certificate of citizenship as fraudulent, and the diplomatic and consular officers of the United States in foreign countries shall from time to time, through the Department of State, furnish the Department of Justice with the names of those within their respective jurisdictions who have such certificates of citizenship and who have taken permanent residence in the country of their nativity, or in any other foreign country, and such statements, duly certified, shall be admissible in evidence in all courts in proceedings to cancel certificates of citizenship.

Whenever any certificate of citizenship shall be set aside or canceled, as herein provided, the court in which such judgment or decree is rendered shall make an order canceling such certificate of citizenship and shall send a certified copy of such order to the Bureau of Naturalization; and in case such certificate was not originally issued by the court making such order it shall direct the clerk of the court to transmit a copy of such order and judgment to the court out of which such certificate of citizenship shall have been originally issued. And it shall thereupon be the duty of the clerk of the court receiving such certified copy of the order and judgment of the court to enter the same of record and to cancel such original certificate of citizenship upon the records and to notify the Bureau of Naturalization of such cancellation.

The provisions of this section shall apply not only to certificates of citizenship issued under the provisions of this act, but to all certificates of citizenship which may have been issued heretofore by any court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings under prior laws.

That it is hereby made a felony for any clerk or other person to issue or be a party to the issuance of a certificate of citizenship contrary to the provisions of this act, except upon a final order under the hand of a court having jurisdiction to make such order, and upon conviction thereof such clerk or other person shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than five years and by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, in the discretion of the court.

That any clerk or other officer of a court having power under this act to naturalize aliens, who wilfully neglects to render true accounts of moneys received by him for naturalization proceedings or who wilfully neglects to pay over any balance of such moneys due to the United States within thirty days after said payment shall become due and demand therefor has been made and refused, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement of the public moneys, and shall be punishable by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or both.

SEC. 21. SEC. 22. That the clerk of any court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings, or any person acting under authority of this act, who shall knowingly certify that a petitioner, affiant, or witness named in an affidavit, petition, or certificate of citizenship, or other paper or writing required to be executed under the provisions of this act, personally appeared before him and was sworn thereto, or acknowledged the execution thereof or signed the same, when in fact such petitioner, affiant, or witness did not personally appear before him, or was not sworn thereto, or did not execute the same, or did not acknowledge the execution thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed five years.

SEC. 23. That any person who knowingly procures naturalization in violation of the provisions of this act shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or shall be imprisoned not more than five years, or both, and upon conviction the court in which such conviction is had shall thereupon adjudge and declare the final order admitting such person to citizenship void. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the courts having jurisdiction of the trial of such offense to make such adjudication. Any person who knowingly aids, advises, or encourages any person not entitled thereto to apply for or to secure naturalization, or to file the preliminary papers declaring an intent to become a citizen of the United States, or who in any naturalization proceeding knowingly procures or gives false testimony as to any material fact, or who knowingly makes an affidavit false as to any material fact required to be proved in such proceeding, shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of State shall be authorized, in his discretion, to issue passports to persons not citizens of the United States as follows: Where any person has made a declaration of intention to become such a citizen as provided by law and has resided in the United States for three years a passport may be issued to him entitling him to the protection of the Government in any foreign country: Provided, That such passport shall not be valid for more than six months and shall not be renewed, and that such passport shall not entitle the holder to the protection of this Government in the country of which he was a citizen prior to making such declaration of intention.

SEC. 2. That any American citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state.

When any naturalized citizen shall have resided for two years in the foreign state from which he came, or for five years in any other foreign state it shall be presumed that he has ceased to be an American citizen, and the place of his general abode shall be deemed his place of residence during said years: Provided, however, That such presumption may be overcome on the presentation of satisfactory evidence to a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the Department of State may prescribe: And provided also, That no American citizen shall be allowed to expatriate himself when this country is at war.

At the termination of the marital relation she may resume her American citizenship, if abroad, by registering as an American citizen within one year with a consul of the United States, or by returning to reside in the United States, or, if residing in the United States at the termination of the marital relation, by continuing to reside therein.

SEC. 4. That any foreign woman who acquires American citizenship by marriage to an American shall be assumed to retain the same after the termination of the marital relation if she continue to reside in the United States, unless she makes formal renunciation thereof before a court having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens, or if she resides abroad she may retain her citizenship by registering as such before a United States consul within one year after the termination of such marital relation.

SEC. 5. That a child born without the United States of alien parents shall be deemed a citizen of the United States by virtue of the naturalization of or resumption of American citizenship by the parent: Provided, That such naturalization or resumption takes place during the minority of such child: And provided further, That the citizenship of such minor child shall begin at the time such minor child begins to reside permanently in the United States.

SEC. 6. That all children born outside the limits of the United States who are citizens thereof in accordance with the provisions of section nineteen hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes of the United States and who continue to reside outside the United States shall, in order to receive the protection of this Government, be required upon reaching the age of eighteen years to record at an American consulate their intention to become residents and remain citizens of the United States and shall be further required to take the oath of allegiance to the United States upon attaining their majority.

SEC. 7. That duplicates of any evidence, registration, or other acts required by this Act shall be filed with the Department of State for record.

NATURALIZATION REGULATIONS

These Regulations supersede those of November 11, 1911.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
Washington, August 20, 1913.

1. Since September 26, 1906, naturalization jurisdiction of State courts is confined to such as have "a seal, a clerk, and jurisdiction in actions at law or equity, or law and equity, in which the amount in controversy is unlimited."

All declarations of intention filed prior to September 27, 1906, became invalid for naturalization purposes on September 27, 1913. United States v. Antonio Morena, United States Supreme Court. Handed down January 7, 1918.

2. Any alien who prior to September 27, 1906, has declared his intention in conformity with the law in force at the date of his declaration, shall not be required to renew such declaration.

3. Aliens who lawfully declared their intention on and after June 29, 1906, and prior to September 27, 1906, must comply with all of the requirements of the naturalization act of June 29, 1906, in petitioning for naturalization, with the exception that those arriving prior to June 29, 1906, are not required to furnish certificates of arrival.

Aliens who declared their intention prior to June 29, 1906, in accordance with the requirements of law, must comply with all of the requirements of the naturalization act of June 29, 1906, in petitioning for naturalization, except that they will not be required to file certificates of arrival, sign their petitions in their own handwriting, or to speak the English language.

4. Any alien who declares his intention after June 29, 1906, and files his petition thereon, must sign said petition in his own handwriting, and must be able to speak the English language, unless excepted by the provisos in section 8 of the naturalization act. If an alien is physically unable to speak, that fact should be stated in his petition in lieu of the statement, "I am able to speak the English language." Aliens who arrive in the United States before reaching 18 years of age can not obtain citizenship without making declaration of intention, which may be made in a court having naturalization jurisdiction over the place of their established residence after reaching that age.

5. Blank forms "Facts for declaration of intention" (Form 2213) and "Facts for petition for naturalization" (Form 2214) are provided clerks of courts for the preliminary use of persons making declaration of intention or petition for naturalization, and may be taken away from the office of the clerk in order that the information called for may be obtained in full. When either of said forms is returned to the clerk he shall examine it to see that all the information required is furnished before proceeding to make out a declaration or petition.

In all cases where aliens have arrived in this country after June 29, 1906, they should be given the form, "Application for certificate of arrival," Form 2226, at the time they desire to file petitions for naturalization, instead of Form 2214. This application has attached to it the facts required in a petition for naturalization. The application and other blanks on the form should all be carefully filled out by the alien and mailed with his triplicate declaration of intention to the Commissioner of Naturalization to enable him to obtain and transmit the required certificate of arrival (Form 526 or 526a) to the clerk of court for filing with the petition. The clerk of the court should not commence the execution of the petition until he has received the certificate of arrival prescribed by this regulation. The certificate of arrival will contain its serial number in the upper right-hand corner, which the clerk of the court will insert in the petition for naturalization at the place indicated.

6. Declarations of intention will be furnished in bound volumes (Form 2202, 50 leaves; 2202A, 150 leaves; or 2202B, 250 leaves) as a court record, varied in number of pages according to the requirements of the court. In addition to the bound records, the duplicate and triplicate declarations of intention (Form 2203) will be furnished as loose sheets attached together and perforated, so that they can be readily torn apart, the triplicate to be given to the declarant and the duplicate to be forwarded to the Bureau of Naturalization. Each bound record will contain an index in addition to the original declarations of intention, and will be paged in consecutive order. At the time the original declarations of intention in the bound volumes are filled out and signed the names of the declarants must be entered in the index. The declarations shall be numbered consecutively, beginning with No. 1 in volume 1 and continuing the sequence from volume to volume.

7. The originals of the petitions for naturalization will also be furnished in bound volumes (Form 2204, 100 leaves, or 2204B, 250 leaves) paged in consecutive order and provided with an index. The duplicate petitions (Form 2205) will be furnished as loose sheets, and when executed must be forwarded to the Bureau of Naturalization by registered mail, as provided in rule 22 of these regulations. The original petitions for naturalization in the bound volumes must be filled out and signed, the names of the petitioners entered in the index, and retained as part of the permanent records of the office in which filed. Petitions shall be numbered consecutively, beginning with No. 1 in volume 1 and continuing in order in the following volumes. The first petition in volume 2 must not be numbered "1," but shall receive the number following that given the last petition in volume 1.

8. Certificates of naturalization (Form 2207) will be supplied in bound volumes consisting of original and duplicate certificates and stubs. Each original and duplicate certificate and the stub will be given the same serial number, the stub to the original certificate bearing a page number in addition to its serial number. The original certificate will be given to the petitioner in accordance with the final order of the court, and the duplicate shall be forwarded to the Bureau of Naturalization by registered mail, as provided in rule 22 of these regulations, the stub to the original constituting a part of the permanent records of the court. The bound volumes, containing the declarations, petitions, and certificates, constitute the "records" and dockets required by sections 6 and 14 of the naturalization act. The department requires no other dockets to be kept.

9. No certificate of naturalization shall be issued to a petitioner until after the judge of the court granting naturalization has signed the order to that effect.

10. Clerks of courts will be furnished with requisition blanks (Form 2201) on which are listed, by number and title, all blank forms, including record and order books, to be used in the naturalization of aliens, and these forms must be obtained exclusively from the Bureau of Naturalization, Department of Labor, none other being official. Manila envelopes or jackets (Form 2211) will be furnished to clerks in which to place the triplicate declaration of intention or the original certificate of naturalization before delivering it to the person making the declaration or to the person naturalized.

11. The first supply of blank forms will be furnished upon the written application of the clerks of courts having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens, accompanied, in the case of clerks of State courts, by authoritative evidence (preferably the certificate of the attorney general of the State) that the courts of which such clerks are officers have "a seal, a clerk, and jurisdiction in actions at law or equity, or law and equity, in which the amount in controversy is unlimited." Subsequent supplies of such blank forms will be furnished the clerks of courts having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens upon the receipt by the Bureau of Naturalization of requisitions made on Form 2201.

12. Clerks of courts when first making application to the Bureau of Naturalization for the supplies of the blank forms required in the naturalization of aliens shall state whether any declarations of intention have been filed or orders of naturalization made by their courts since September 26, 1906. They should also state the number of certificates of naturalization issued by the court since June 1, 1903, if such certificates fail to comply with the requirements of the immigration act of March 3, 1903.

13. Where the same court holds sessions at different places, whether a clerk is appointed at each of said places or the one clerk is required to transact the business of the court wherever it may sit, separate supplies shall be kept, in order to comply with the requirements of section 14 of the naturalization act, which provides that the bound declarations of intention and of petitions for naturalization shall be in chronological order.

14. In every case in which the name of a naturalized alien is changed by order of court, as provided in section 6, the clerk of the court is required to report both the original and the new name of the said person to the Bureau of Naturalization when transmitting to it the duplicate of the certificate of naturalization of the alien whose name is changed.

15. On the first working day of each month the clerk shall inform the Bureau of Naturalization on Form 2209 of the date of posting notice on Form 2206, as required by section 5, and of the day, month, and year, as near as may be, for the final hearing of each and every petition for naturalization filed and posted during the preceding month. These reports on Form 2209 must specify only the petitions filed in the month to which the report relates and no others. In continued cases notice on Form 2206 must be amended to show the postponed date and remain posted until final action is had.

16. On the first working day of each month following the sitting of a court in naturalization cases the clerk of such court shall forward to the Bureau of Naturalization on Form 2210 a list containing the name of each and every alien who, during such sitting of court, has been denied naturalization and shall state the reason or reasons for such denial.

17. Applications for lost or destroyed naturalization papers issued prior to September 27, 1906, should be disposed of in accordance with the rules in force in the court at the time of the issuance of the papers.

The following rule applies exclusively to naturalization papers issued since September 26, 1906:

Applications for the issuance of declarations of intention (Form 2203) or certificates of naturalization (Form 2207), in lieu of declarations of intention or certificates of naturalization claimed to have been lost or destroyed, shall be submitted in affidavit form to the clerk of the court by which any such declarations of intention or certificates of naturalization were originally issued, and shall contain full information in regard to the lost or destroyed papers, and as to the time, place, and circumstances of such alleged loss or destruction. (Form 2225 prepared for this purpose may be obtained from the clerk of any naturalization court.) The clerk shall forward to the Bureau of Naturalization the above-mentioned applications, together with such information as he may have bearing upon the merits thereof, for investigation, and no such paper so applied for shall be issued until the Bureau of Naturalization reports the results of its investigation as to the merits of the application.

In every case in which the clerk of the court issues, in accordance with the foregoing, a declaration of intention (Form 2224) or a certificate of naturalization (Form 2207), upon proof of the loss or destruction of the original, he shall make an entry on the original declaration showing the issuance of a certified copy, or on the stubs of both the new and the old certificates of naturalization, showing the issuance of a new certificate, giving the numbers of the new and old certificates, and shall immediately thereafter forward to the Bureau of Naturalization the duplicate of any such paper so issued.

One certified copy of declaration of intention (Form 2215) or certificate of naturalization (Form 2216) may be furnished by the clerk of the issuing court under his hand and the seal of the court for the use only of the person concerned to establish his citizenship status in connection with any entry under the public land laws of the United States. When issued these forms must be made in duplicate, one to be given to the person applying therefor and the duplicate forwarded with other naturalization papers on the first working day of the succeeding month to the Bureau of Naturalization. Unless the applicant presents to the clerk his original declaration or certificate for comparison, these forms can under no conditions be issued. In case the alien makes a second land entry he may support his second entry by describing the first land claim with which his declaration or certificate is filed.

The fees to be collected for the issuance of each of the copies of declarations of intention and of certificates of naturalization described in this regulation, and the disposal to be made of such fees when collected, will be determined in accordance with the law and the rules in force in the respective courts. No part of these fees is required to be forwarded to this department. Clerks are, however, required to make quarterly reports, on Form 2217, on the first working day of January, April, July, and October, of the number of such papers issued during the preceding quarter.

18. Original declarations of intention, or certificates of naturalization, issued subsequent to September 26, 1906, and surrendered to the General Land Office in support of entries upon public land, may be returned upon proper application. In cases of declarations of intention the clerk will forward the application to the Bureau of Naturalization, accompanied by a certified copy on Form 2215. In cases of certificates, the application will be accompanied by a personal description of the applicant. In both instances a description of the land should be included, giving the section, township, and range, together with the date and place of making the entry. The originals will then be procured from the General Land Office and returned to the clerk of the court.

19. For recording the affidavits of substituted witnesses under section 5 of the act of June 29, 1906, blank forms (Form 2218) have been prepared as pasters to be affixed to the backs of petitions in the bound volume, following the "Order of court admitting petitioner." Copies of this form may be procured by the usual requisition (Form 2201). Do not send copies of this form to the Bureau of Naturalization.

20. Aliens making declaration of intention, or filing petitions for naturalization, must sign their names in full and without abbreviation in the appropriate places on the various blank forms, and the entries of their names by the clerk must correspond in every particular. Where a name contains an initial which is used only to distinguish one individual from another with the same surname, that fact should be noted on the paper.

21. Clerks of courts shall not receive declarations of intention (Form 2202) or file petitions for naturalization (Form 2204) from other aliens than white persons and persons of African nativity or of African descent. Any alien, other than a Chinese person, who claims that he is a white person in the sense in which that term is used in section 2169, R. S., U. S., should be allowed, if he insists upon it after an explanation is made showing him the risk of denial, to file his declaration or his petition, as the case may be, leaving the issue to be determined by the court.

Declarations should not be received from, nor petitions for naturalization filed by, persons not residing in the judicial district within which the court is held.

22. On the first working day of each and every month, and not otherwise, clerks of courts shall forward to the Bureau of Naturalization duplicates of all declarations of intention, petitions for naturalization, and certificates of naturalization filed or issued during the preceding month. Duplicate petitions for naturalization and duplicate certificates of naturalization shall be forwarded by registered mail; and duplicate declarations of intention as well as other papers may be inclosed therewith provided the combined weight of the documents does not exceed 4 pounds, otherwise they shall be forwarded separately by unregistered mail. The same course should be followed in forwarding naturalization papers to the bureau which have been returned for correction. Each clerk making a shipment of naturalization papers other than papers returned for correction is required to forward therewith a report on Form 2208 showing the number of such papers filed or issued during the month reported. Where petitions for naturalization have been filed the report on Form 2209 showing the approximate dates of final hearings shall also be inclosed with such shipment. When no naturalization business has been transacted during any month it is unnecessary to render monthly reports to that effect, but report should be made as prescribed in rule 23.

23. All fees provided for in section 13 of the act of June 29, 1906, shall be accounted for on the "Abstract of collections" (Form 2212) within thirty days after the close of each quarter of a fiscal year. These quarters end September 30, December 31, March 31, and June 30, respectively. One-half of all moneys so collected, up to $6,000, and all in excess thereof, shall be remitted to the Commissioner of Naturalization, Bureau of Naturalization, with said quarterly account, such remittance to be made payable to the order of the "Secretary of Labor," preferably by draft. The Comptroller of the Treasury has decided that section 13 requires the collection of the final fee of $2 whether the certificate of naturalization be issued or denied.

In cases where no naturalization business is transacted during any quarter, Form 2212 shall be forwarded as aforesaid with the words "No transactions" noted thereon.

24. (a) Where a petition for naturalization is filed under section 2166, R. S., U. S., exempting honorably discharged soldiers from the necessity for filing declarations of intention and proving more than one year of residence in the United States in addition to good moral character, insert in lieu of the information regarding declaration of intention: "Petitioner is an honorably discharged soldier and applies for citizenship under section 2166, R. S., U. S. He enlisted in the (name of organization) on the (day, month, and year)." (Complete the petition according to paragraph 3 of this rule.)

(b) Where an alien files his petition for naturalization under the act of July 26, 1894, and claims exemption from the necessity for filing a declaration of intention on account of service in the United States Navy or Marine Corps, the words having reference to declaration of intention in the petition should be struck through and in lieu thereof the following inserted: "Petitioner is an honorably discharged member of the Navy (or member of the Marine Corps, if that be the case) and applies for citizenship under the act of July 26, 1894. He enlisted on the (day, month, and year) and was discharged on the (day, month, and year)." Each enlistment of the applicant and his discharge therefrom should be shown. (Complete the petition according to paragraph 3 of this rule.)

In executing petitions under the two foregoing exemptions, that portion of the last paragraph preceding the signature of the petitioner relating to the declaration of intention and certificate of arrival should be struck through when the alien arrived on or prior to June 29, 1906. When the arrival was after that date, only the words "my declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States and" should be struck through. The statement following the signature of the petitioner to the body of the petition should be struck through entirely in cases of aliens arriving on or before June 29, 1906; but for those arriving after that date only the words "declaration of intention" should be struck through, and in both cases the entry in lieu thereof should be made "Honorable discharge certificate of petitioner was exhibited to me this ..... day of ....." An appropriate note should also be entered upon the stub of the certificate issued to said applicant.

(c) Certain aliens are permitted to petition for naturalization under the terms of the act of June 25, 1910, without proof of previous declarations of intention. Clerks of courts should state in lieu of the information regarding the declaration of intention "Filed under provisions of section 3 of the act of Congress approved June 25, 1910," and the statement following the first signature of the petitioner should be changed so as to read "Declaration of intention omitted under the terms of the act of June 25, 1910." Affidavit, Form 2227, setting forth particulars as to the reason for the exemption claimed must be signed and sworn to by the petitioner before the clerk of the court or his authorized deputy. In the event this form is not presented by an officer in the naturalization service it will be forwarded to the clerk of the court for use in any case to which it relates, upon examination of the duplicate petition in the bureau.

(d) Petitions for naturalization under the sixth subdivision of section 4 may be legally filed by children of a deceased declarant only after such children have attained their majority and who were minors at the time of the death of the father. Where a petition is filed by a child under the foregoing conditions, the fifth assertion should be altered to read: "My father declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States on the ..... day of ....., A. D. ....., and died on the ..... day of ....., A. D. ....."

Where a petition for naturalization is filed under this subdivision by the widow of a deceased declarant, the fifth assertion should be altered to correspond to the foregoing in relation to the child, with the exception that the word "husband" should be inserted instead of the word "father."

In the last two cases referred to the words in the paragraph immediately preceding petitioner's first signature should be altered to show that the father's or husband's declaration (as the case may be), or a certified copy thereof, is attached to the original petition, and the statement of the clerk of the court immediately below the first signature of the petitioner should be changed to show the facts. If the petitioner arrived in the United States prior to June 29, 1906, the words in statement immediately preceding the first signature of petitioner and thereafter having reference to the certificate of arrival should also be struck through. If the petitioner arrived in the United States after June 29, 1906, certificate of arrival must be obtained in accordance with Rule 5 of these regulations, and the words in the two statements above referred to should remain unaltered with the exception that the last statement should include the number of the certificate of arrival appearing in the upper right-hand corner thereof.

(e) Where a petition for naturalization is filed by the widow of an alien, based upon her own declaration of intention, the date of her husband's demise should be shown in the fifth assertion.

Naturalization papers may be legally filed by any unmarried woman who is otherwise qualified, or the widow of a foreign-born person not naturalized, but not by a woman during the existence of the marital relation. Notation of the facts in each case should be made upon the face of each paper before it is issued.

25. So far as practicable the clerks of courts having jurisdiction under the provisions of the naturalization laws will be furnished, upon requisition therefor on Form 2201, with appropriately addressed envelopes for communicating with the bureau. When not using such envelopes, however, all communications, in addition to the other necessary address, should be plainly marked "Bureau of Naturalization."

26. Clerks of courts having jurisdiction to naturalize under the provisions of the act of June 29, 1906, are requested, in case the foregoing rules and regulations fail to remove from their minds doubt as to the proper course of action in any case, to write to the Commissioner of Naturalization, Bureau of Naturalization, for instructions before taking such action.

(Signed) W. B. Wilson,
Secretary.

THE
COMPILED LAWS OF UTAH

1917

ACCOUNTANCY.

1. (01.) Board created. Oath of office. Terms. Vacancies. Within sixty days after the passage of this title (March 14, 1907) the governor shall appoint three persons, at least two of whom shall be competent and skilled public accountants, who shall have been in practice as such in this state for not less than three years, to constitute and serve as a state board of accountancy. The members of such board shall, within thirty days after their appointment, take and subscribe to the oath of office as prescribed by the laws of the state of Utah, and file the same with the secretary of state. They shall hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified; save and except that one of the members of the board first to be appointed under this title shall hold office for two years, and two for four years. Upon the expiration of each of said terms, members sufficient to fill the board shall be appointed by the governor, for the term of four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified; and after the year 1910 the members of the board shall be appointed from the holders of certificates issued under this title. Any vacancies that may occur, from any cause, shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired term. '07, p. 91.

2. (02.) Location of office. Duties of board. The state board of accountancy shall have its office in the city and county of Salt Lake, and its powers and duties shall be as follows:

1. To formulate rules for the government of the board and for the examination of and granting of certificates of qualification to persons applying therefor;

2. To hold written examinations of applicants for such certificates, at least annually, at such places as circumstances and applications may warrant;

3. To grant certificates of qualification to such applicants as may, upon examination, be found qualified in "theory of accounts," "practical accounting," "auditing," and "commercial law," as affecting accountancy, to practice as certified public accountants;

4. To charge and collect from all applicants a fee of $25, to meet the expenses of examination, issuance of certificates and conducting its office; provided, that all such expenses, including not exceeding $10 per day for each member while attending the sessions of the board or conducting examinations, must be paid from the current receipts, and no portion shall ever be paid from the state treasury;

5. To require the annual renewal of all such certificates, and to collect therefor a renewal fee of not exceeding $5;

6. To revoke for cause any such certificate, after written notice to the holder, and a hearing being had thereon;

7. To report annually to the governor, on or before the 1st day of December, all such certificates issued or renewed, together with a detailed statement of receipts and disbursements; provided, that any balance remaining in excess of the expenses incurred may be retained by the board and used in defraying the expenses thereof;

8. The board may, in its discretion, under regulations provided by its rules, waive the examination of applicants possessing the qualifications mentioned in § 3, who shall have been for more than two years prior to the passage of this title (March 14, 1907) practicing in this state as public accountants on their own account, and who shall, in writing, apply for such certificate within one year thereafter. '07, p. 92.

3. (03.) Qualifications. Certificate. Any citizen of the United States or any person who has duly declared his intention of becoming such citizen, residing and doing business as a public accountant in this state, being over the age of twenty-one years and of good moral character, may apply to the state board of accountancy for examination under its rules, and if found qualified the board shall issue to him a certificate of qualification to practice as a certified accountant, and upon the issuance and receipt of such certificate, and during the period of its existence, or of any renewal thereof, he shall be styled and known as a certified public accountant or expert of accounts, and no other person shall be permitted to assume and use such title or to use any words, letters, or figures to indicate that the person using the same is a certified public accountant. '07, p. 93.

4. (04.) Penalty. If any person shall represent himself to the public as having received a certificate as provided in this title, or shall assume to practice as a certified public accountant, or use the abbreviation C. P. A. or any similar words or letters to indicate that the person using the same is a certified public accountant, without having received such C. P. A. certificate as provided in this title, or if any person, having received any such certificate and having thereafter lost it by revocation, or by failure to renew the same, as herein provided, shall continue to practice as a certified public accountant, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum not exceeding $200 for each offense. '07, p. 93.

ADOPTION.

10. (1.) Who may adopt. Any minor child may be adopted by any adult person as in this title provided, or a child not a minor, whose parents are both dead, may be adopted by another adult person as in this title provided.

Am'd '07, p. 81.

Child, includes adopted child, § 3140.

11. (2.) Relative ages. A person adopting a child must be at least ten years older than the child adopted.

Cal. Civ. C. § 222.

12. (3.) Married persons may adopt, when. A married man, not lawfully separated from his wife, cannot adopt a child without the consent of his wife, nor can a married woman, not thus separated from her husband, adopt a child without his consent, if the husband or wife not consenting is capable of giving such consent.

Cal. Civ. C. § 223.

13. (4.) Consent of child's parents necessary, when. A legitimate child cannot be adopted without the consent of its parents, if living, nor an illegitimate child without the consent of its mother, if living, except that consent is not necessary from a father or mother deprived of civil rights, or adjudged guilty of adultery, cruelty, or desertion, and for either cause divorced, or adjudged to be a habitual drunkard, or who has been judicially deprived of the custody of the child on account of cruelty, neglect, or desertion.

Cal. Civ. C. § 224*.

The mother of an illegitimate child intended before the time of the birth of the child to give it to someone willing to keep it; a third person to whom she entrusted the matter gave it to a husband and wife desiring to adopt the child. About three weeks after the mother surrendered the custody, she sought to have the child returned to her, and the parties refused, and the mother was induced to part with the child to conceal her shame; she did not abandon the child, and when she and the father of the child married, the father, by habeas corpus on his own behalf and on behalf of the mother, was entitled to the custody of the child despite the claim of abandonment.

Harrison v. Harker, 44 U. 541; 142 P. 716.

A mere oral arrangement for adoption may be revoked before the statute is complied with.

Id.

14. (5.) Consent of child necessary, when. The consent of a child, if over the age of twelve years, is necessary to its adoption.

Cal. Civ. C. § 225.

15. (6.) Hearing. Proceedings. The person adopting a child and the child adopted and the other persons whose consent is necessary, must appear before the judge of the district court of the county where the person adopting resides, and the necessary consent must thereupon be signed and an agreement be executed by the person adopting to the effect that the child shall be adopted and treated in all respects as his own lawful child; provided, that if the persons whose consent is necessary are not within the county, then their written consent, duly acknowledged in the manner provided for the acknowledgment of deeds, shall be filed in said district court at the time of the application for adoption.

Cal. Civ. C. § 226*.

16. (7.) Id. Decree. The judge must examine all persons appearing before him pursuant to the preceding section, each separately, and, if satisfied that the interests of the child will be promoted by the adoption, he must make out an order declaring that the child shall thenceforth be regarded and treated in all respects as the child of the person adopting.

Cal. Civ. C. § 227.

17. (8.) Child takes family name. Status. A child, when adopted, may take the family name of the person adopting. After adoption, the two shall sustain the legal relation of parent and child, and have all the rights and be subject to all the duties of that relation.

Cal. Civ. C. § 228.

18. (9.) Rights and duties of parents. The parents of an adopted child are, from the time of the adoption, relieved of all parental duties towards and all responsibility for the child so adopted, and shall have no rights over it.

Cal. Civ. C. § 229.

19. (10.) Illegitimate child adopted by acknowledgment. The father of an illegitimate child, by publicly acknowledging it as his own, receiving it as such with the consent of his wife, if he is married, into his family, and otherwise treating it as if it were a legitimate child, thereby adopts it as such, and such child is thereupon deemed for all purposes legitimate from the time of its birth. The foregoing provisions of this title do not apply to such an adoption.

Cal. Civ. C. § 230.
Succession of illegitimate child, § 6413.
A bachelor who takes an illegitimate child into his family, and acknowledges it to be his own, gives such child right of inheritance.
In re Garr's Estate, 31 U. 57; 86 P. 757.
Cited in: Rohwer v. District Court, 41 U. 279; 125 P. 671.

20. (11.) Adoption of deserted child. Whenever it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the district court of any county that any minor child has been deserted by its parents or surviving parent, and that it has no legal guardian, it shall be lawful, with the approval of the district judge, for any person desirous of adopting the said child to adopt the same, according to law.

Mont. Civ. C. § 320.

59. (21.) Id. Appraisement of damages. The owner or occupant of any property may distrain all of said animals trespassing or doing damage thereon. He shall, within twenty-four hours thereafter, deliver said animals to the poundkeeper of the precinct, together with a certificate of the appraisement of the damage done by such animals. Such appraisement must be made by some disinterested male citizen, a freeholder, over twenty-one years of age. It must state the amount of the damage, the time when committed, the name of the person damaged, the name of the owner of the animals, if known, and if not known it must state that fact, together with a description of the animals, including all visible marks and brands. If the animals appear to be owned by different parties, a separate appraisement and a separate certificate thereof shall be made of the damage done by the lot or group of animals which appears to belong to each of the different owners. In such cases the owners shall be notified separately, and each lot or group of animals shall be advertised and sold separately in the same manner as though the damage had been done by different animals at different times.

60. (22.) Id. Owner to be notified. The person distraining the animals must, if the owner of the same be known to him and if he resides within ten miles of the place of the trespass, immediately deliver to such owner, or leave at his place of residence if he cannot be found, a copy of such certificate of appraisement; but if the owner does not live within ten miles of the place of trespass, the party distraining the animals may, at his option, deliver a copy of such certificate to the owner in person, or deposit the same in the nearest postoffice in a registered letter addressed to said owner. He shall be entitled to charge 10 cents a mile one way for the first ten miles necessarily traveled in delivering such certificate, and 5 cents for each additional mile, to be taxed as costs against the animals.

61. (23.) Damages cannot be recovered, when. If the party distraining any animals shall fail to deliver them or the certificate of appraisement to the poundkeeper within forty-eight hours, or shall fail to deliver to the owner of the animals, if known, a copy of the certificate of appraisement within twenty-four hours after he receives the same, or to deposit the same in the postoffice as herein provided, he shall not be entitled to recover damages under the provisions of this chapter.

62. (24.) Where owner unknown. Duty of poundkeeper. Whenever any animals are delivered to the poundkeeper, and the certificate of appraisement is filed with him as herein provided, and such certificate states that the owner is unknown, the poundkeeper shall immediately examine all brand books or brand sheets in his possession, and if the owner be ascertained thereby, or if the owner be already known to the poundkeeper, he shall, if the owner live within ten miles, immediately deliver a copy of such certificate of appraisement to such owner, or leave the same at his residence if he cannot be found; if the owner do not live within ten miles, the poundkeeper may at his option deliver such copy personally to the owner, or deposit the same in the nearest postoffice in a registered letter addressed to such owner. He shall, however, serve the copy in one of the ways provided herein; provided, that whenever personal service of a copy of any paper is required by this chapter, service by agent will be deemed sufficient.

63. (25.) Notice of sale of trespassing animals. As soon as any such animals are delivered to the poundkeeper, he shall immediately proceed to advertise the same as hereinafter provided, except when the owner is known and has been notified, in which case he shall hold said animals forty-eight hours before advertising the same. He shall advertise in a newspaper published in the county, if there be one, having general circulation in the county, by publishing a notice in at least one issue of said paper, and by posting notices in three of the most public places in the precinct, one of which shall be at or near the postoffice, if there be one, and shall deliver a copy of the same to the county clerk, or send the same by deputy or by registered mail. The clerk shall perserve such notice and post a copy thereof as provided in § 53. The notice herein provided for shall state the time when the damage was done and the amount thereof, the name of the party damaged, a description of the animals, including all visible marks and brands, and the day, hour, and place at which such animals will be sold, which shall be not less than ten nor more than twenty days from the time of posting such notice. Said notices may be substantially in the following form:

Notice of sale of estrays, § 53.

64. (26.) Owner may pay and take animals. Disputed appraisal. The owner of any trespassing animals taken up under the provisions of this chapter may, at any time before the sale thereof, claim and take such animals away upon paying the amount of damages set forth in the certificate of appraisement and the accrued costs, and if such animals are included in a lot or group of animals belonging to other parties against which the damages and costs are assessed as a whole, he shall pay his proportion of the total amount of damages and costs assessed against such animals, according to the number of animals he owns when compared with the number of the entire lot or group. If he deems the appraisal too high he may choose another appraiser having the qualifications herein provided, who with the first shall make a new appraisal, and if they cannot agree they shall choose a third and the three shall proceed to make another appraisal, and the decision of the majority shall be final.

Appraisal of damages, § 59.

65. (27.) Sale. Bill of sale. If such animals are not claimed and taken away by the owner, the poundkeeper shall, at the time and place set forth in the notice of sale, proceed to sell such animals, one at a time, to the highest cash bidder. If the owner of any lot of animals to be sold is known, the poundkeeper shall sell only enough of said animals to pay the damages and costs, and the remainder may be turned over to the owner at any time thereafter; but if the owner be not known, the poundkeeper shall proceed to sell all of said animals so advertised for sale. He shall execute and deliver a bill of sale therefor, and file a copy with the county clerk as hereinbefore provided. Said copies shall be preserved for a period of two years and shall be open for inspection at all reasonable hours, free of charge.

66. (28.) Redemption within ninety days. The owner of any trespassing animals sold under the provisions of this chapter may, at any time within ninety days of the date of such sale, redeem such animals from the purchaser or assignee having the same in his possession, upon paying to such purchaser or assignee the sum for which such animals were originally sold, together with 10 per cent additional, and a reasonable compensation for the care and keeping of the same. If such purchaser or assignee refuse to give up such animals on the owner proving his title to the same, and on his tendering the amount due as herein provided, such owner may maintain an action at law to recover the same; provided, that the purchaser or any assignee who has disposed of such animals shall not be liable to such owner in any amount. If no redemption of such animals be made within ninety days after the date of such sale, then such sale shall be absolute and shall vest the title to such animals in the purchaser or his assignee. Any person selling or disposing of any such animal within ninety days of its sale under the provisions of this chapter, shall notify the purchaser of the same of the date of the original sale and the amount paid for such animal at that time, and if he fails to do so he shall be liable for any loss that may accrue to such purchaser by reason of such animal being redeemed for a less amount than he paid therefor.

67. (29.) Owner entitled to residue of proceeds. If any estrays or trespassing animals sold under the provisions of this chapter shall, within a period of six months immediately ensuing after the date of the sale thereof, be claimed and proved to be the property of any person, it shall be the duty of the poundkeeper at the expiration of such time to forthwith pay the money received for such animals to the owner thereof, less the amount of damages and the expense of taking, keeping, and selling the same; but in the event such animals are not claimed as aforesaid, then such money shall become the property of the county, and the poundkeeper shall immediately pay the same into the county treasury; provided, that in case there is a contest between two or more persons claiming to be the owners of any such animals, the poundkeeper shall deposit such money with the county treasurer to be by him paid to the party who shall establish by action his right to the same.

68. (30.) Record of trespassing animals. The poundkeeper shall keep an accurate record of all trespassing animals received by him, which shall contain all the items required by § 55, together with the names of the injured party and the owner of the animals, the amount of the damages claimed, and all other matters necessary to a complete account of the transaction. Such record shall be open for inspection at all reasonable hours.

69. (31.) Estray brand. There shall be a state estray brand, to consist of the letters S. U., which letters shall be three inches in length. The board of county commissioners shall immediately furnish the poundkeeper of each precinct with the proper branding iron, and the poundkeeper shall place such estray brand upon the left side of the neck of all animals sold by him except hogs, sheep, and goats.

70. (32.) Fees of poundkeeper and appraisers. The poundkeeper shall be entitled to the following fees: For taking into his possession any animal, or animals, if found together, 50 cents; for driving the same each mile, 10 cents; for traveling in delivering copy of certificate of appraisement, 10 cents a mile, one way, for the first ten miles, and 5 cents for each mile thereafter; for advertising, including posting and mailing notices, $1; for each bill of sale, including filing copy with clerk, 50 cents; provided, that all animals sold to one person shall be included in one bill of sale; for branding, 25 cents for the first, and 10 cents for each additional animal; for selling, 5 per cent of the amount of the sale; for keeping, a reasonable sum, to be determined by the market price of forage and pasturage at the time and place where the animals were kept. Appraisers shall be allowed 20 cents an hour for the time employed, and 10 cents a mile, one way, for going to places of trespass.

91. (53.) Mixing animals. Trespass. Every person having charge of or engaged in driving any drove of cattle, horses, mules, or sheep, shall use due diligence to prevent the same from mixing with the cattle, horses, mules, or sheep belonging to actual settlers, and shall also prevent said animals from trespassing on such land as may be the property of an actual settler and used by him for grazing of animals or growing of hay, grain, or timber, and from doing injury to ditches made for irrigation of crops. If any person in charge of or engaged in driving any herd shall injure any resident in the state by driving or herding the same on lands or ditches owned or leased by settlers, the owner or lessee of said herd shall be liable to said owners or lessees for all damages done, and if such injury be wilfully committed, the person driving such animals shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, may be fined in any sum not exceeding $100.

And whenever the state live stock board or any members thereof, or the inspector, shall know or have good reason to believe that any contagious or infectious disease exists in any locality in any other state, or that there are conditions which render domestic animals of said infected districts liable to bring disease into this state, he or it shall report the same to the governor of the state of Utah, who thereupon may issue a proclamation prohibiting the importation or entry of any such live stock into this state, unless accompanied by a certificate of health given by the state live stock inspector, or special inspectors appointed by the state live stock board, which inspectors shall carefully examine all such live stock previous to the giving of such certificates. All costs connected with such examinations or inspections shall be paid by the owner or owners of such stock so examined; provided, that no sanitary inspection shall be necessary and no fees collected from the owners of any animals to which a clean bill of health has been previously granted by the federal authorities within ten days prior to the day of entry into the state, or such other time prior thereto as the board may determine in its rules and regulations, and that no fee shall be collected from the owner of any animals entering this state by railroad shipment in direct route to other states or territories, which animals do not remain in the state of Utah for a longer period than is required for watering, feeding, or transferring in transit.

185. Warrants of arrest. Manner of service. Prosecutions. In case of violation of this chapter by a railroad company or corporation, the warrant of arrest may be served upon the president, secretary, or manager in this state, or any general or local agent thereof in the county where the action is pending, and upon the return of said warrant so served, the railroad company or corporation may be deemed in court and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, and any fine imposed may be collected by execution against the property of such corporation, but this section shall not be construed to exempt any agent or employe from prosecution.

187. Reports by sheriffs. Liability for failure. It shall be the duty of any sheriff making any inspection, as aforesaid, to make a report to the secretary of the state live stock board, which he shall certify to as correct, of the result of said inspections, at least once every thirty days, or oftener if required by said board to do so. Any sheriff, or any other officer or inspector, who shall knowingly make any false record or certificate under the provisions of this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine in a sum not exceeding $1000, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

188. Liability for violation of five preceding sections. Any corporation, co-partnership, association, person, or persons who shall violate any of the provisions of §§ 183, 184, 185, 186, and 187, or who shall ship any band, herd, or carload of cattle, horses, or mules upon any railroad in this state, or who shall drive, take, or otherwise remove the same without having the same inspected as required by the provisions of this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine in a sum of not more than $1000, or by imprisonment for a period of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; but nothing in this chapter shall be construed as repealing the laws now in force respecting the larceny of live stock or cattle.

Before any such person or persons shall slaughter one or more cattle, they shall cause the same to be inspected. The inspection shall be made at the place where such animal is to be slaughtered. Such slaughter shall take place within three days after the inspection. The inspection may be made by the sheriff of the county, or his deputy, or by two disinterested land owners, able to speak, read, and write the English language, who are in no way related to the owner of such animal. Such unofficial inspectors shall examine by day light the animals to be slaughtered, and shall make and sign a statement showing when and where the examination is made, the name of the owner, and the character of the animal, giving a full description, including color, as well as marks and brands; and the owner, within ten days after such inspection, shall deposit such statement with the sheriff of the county wherein such inspection is made.

It shall be unlawful for any person to mutilate any brand or other mark by which any cattle or the hide of any cattle may be identified, or to destroy or conceal any hide for the purpose of preventing discovery of the identity of any such animal.

It shall be unlawful for any corporation, co-partnership, association, person, or persons to buy, sell, or to offer for sale, or to trade, exchange, or give away the hide of any cattle, except those shipped in from a county other than that in which the cattle are slaughtered, until such hide has been inspected by the sheriff of the county in which such animal or animals were slaughtered, and a tag, furnished by the state live stock board, placed securely thereon by said sheriff of said county, as evidence of such examination, or to fail to keep a record of all hides sold, as provided in this section.

It shall be the duty of the sheriff of each county to examine and tag, with tags furnished for the purpose by the state live stock board, the hides of all cattle slaughtered within the county in which the said sheriff has jurisdiction; provided, that such hides shall be presented to the sheriff at his office or at a place designated by him, except in the case of slaughter-house or packing-house owners or keepers where twenty or more hides are accumulated for inspection. In such case, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to go to such packing or slaughter-house plants by person or by deputy and examine and tag such hides on the premises where the animals were slaughtered; provided, that if such slaughter house or packing house be located at such great distance as to cause such inspection to be made at great expense and inconvenience, the sheriff may designate some competent resident disinterested person to examine and tag such hides.

Whenever there exists an outbreak or epidemic of any contagious or infectious disease among domestic animals of this state, of such character as to endanger and imperil live stock, the state live stock board shall, upon the approval of the governor, have the power to condemn and destroy in disposal of any live stock so infected with contagious or infectious disease, or any live stock which has been exposed to, or is deemed by the board capable of communicating such contagious or infectious disease to other domestic animals, and to condemn and destroy any barns, sheds, corrals, pens, or other property which the said board may determine is necessary to be destroyed in order to prevent the spread of such contagion or infection. Such condemnation and destruction shall take place only when, in the opinion of the said board and the governor, an emergency exists and such action is justified and necessary for the safety and protection of the live stock of this state.

193. Co-operation with bureau of animal industry. Whenever there shall be an outbreak of any contagious or infectious disease among the domestic animals of the state of such a nature as to imperil the live stock of adjoining states, it shall be the duty of the state live stock board to notify the secretary of the United States department of agriculure and seek to co-oper-

Said appraisers shall make a report to the said board, under oath, as to their appraisement, and the board shall forward such appraisement to the governor with its recommendation as to what proportion of such appraisement is considered by it a just bill against the state of Utah.

Whenever the state live stock inspector, or any veterinary surgeon acting under his orders, shall find indications of any contagious or infectious disease among any domestic animals in this state, and such inspector or veterinarian is unable to determine positively the actual nature of such disease, he shall have the power to order one or more of the animals so inspected slaughtered, so that a post-mortem examination may be made to determine the exact nature of the disease.

Whenever any member of the state live stock board, or any deputy inspector employed by it, or any veterinarian acting under its order, or any inspector or agent of the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, shall find positively or shall have good reason to believe that any disease investigated by him is contagious or infectious, and that any animals are likely to communicate such disease to other animals, he shall have the power at once to establish a quarantine over such animals and premises and to take such action as he may deem necessary to prevent the spread of such contagion or infection, in accordance with the rules and regulations of the board, and shall promptly report these actions to the state live stock board, and any violation of such quarantine or sanitary measure or order of the state live stock inspector, or his deputy acting under his orders, shall be considered the same as a violation of any rule or order of the state live stock board.

196. Importation certificates. Exceptions. It shall be unlawful for any person to bring into this state any cattle for dairy or breeding purposes, except when said cattle are accompanied by a certificate from a state or federal inspector, certifying that they have been examined and subjected to the tuberculin test within forty days prior to their shipment into this state, and are free from tuberculosis and every other contagious or infectious disease; provided, that the provisions of this chapter shall not apply to what is known as range cattle or branded cattle raised in pasture or open range. Any transportation company which shall accept shipment of any live stock without certificate of health accompanying the bill of lading shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

197. Examination of milch cows. Tuberculin tests. Every person who sells milk to a dairy, and every person engaged in the dairy business in this state, shall cause every cow milked by him to be examined and subjected to the tuberculin test by a competent person under the direction of the state inspector or an inspector of the United States bureau of animal industry to ascertain if any such cows are infected with tuberculosis, but no fees shall be charged therefor.

199. Reimbursements for condemned animals. Wherever animals are condemned and slaughtered, as provided in §§ 197 and 224, the owners of such animals, desiring to be reimbursed therefor, must present their claims to the state live stock board within ninety days from the date on which such animals were killed, and the said board shall, within a reasonable time thereafter, pass upon the said claim and transmit the same to the state board of examiners with a recommendation as to the sum, if any, which should be paid upon such claim, and in all cases where animals are slaughtered or property destroyed, as provided in §§ 194, 196, 197 and 224, the said board of examiners may pay for said property a reasonable compensation, to be paid out of the state bounty fund; provided, that the said board of examiners shall not allow or pay on any one claim more than $1000, but if, in the opinion of the board of examiners, the owner is entitled to compensation over and above this sum, such claim in excess of said sum of $1000 shall be transmitted by the governor to the next session of the legislature, with his recommendation as to the payment of such excess.

Passow v. Wetherbee, — U. —; 167 P. 350.

An insolvent debtor at common law may assign a part or the whole of his property for the benefit of his creditors and may prefer the one creditor or class of creditors over others equally meritorious.

Wyeth Co. vs. James-Spencer-Bateman Co., 15 U. 110; 47 P. 604.

A corporation is an artificial person, and has the same power as a natural person, in the absence of statutory restrictions, to prefer creditors that are not its officers or agents.

Id.

An assignee for the benefit of creditors succeeds only to such rights as the assignor had at the time of the assignment, and acquires no title to property held under contract of conditional sale when the condition is unperformed.

Lippincott v. Rich, 19 U. 140; 56 P. 806.

In a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, the title to all real or personal property vests in the assignee whether mentioned in the schedule or not.

Snyder v. Murdock, 20 U. 419; 59 P. 91.

An officer of a corporation has no inherent power, by reason of his office, to make a general assignment of the property of the corporation. Such power rests only in the board of directors duly assembled.

Cupit v. Park City Bank, 20 U. 292; 58 P. 839.

Where both parties act in good faith, the execution of a mortgage by an insolvent corporation to a minority stockholder for money loaned to be applied by corporation to payment of current debts, and a subsequent foreclosure by the stockholder, is not an unlawful preference; the trust fund theory not prevailing.

Callahan v. Pioneer Nurseries Co., 49 U. 541; 164 P. 878.

This chapter is merely directory and does not forbid an insolvent debtor making a valid assignment in conformity to the rules of the common law.

Utah Assn. Credit Men v. McConnell, 50 U. —; 167 P. 817.

An assignment under which all creditors participate without compliance with the statute is valid.

296. (85.) Wages a preferred claim. In all assignments for the benefits of creditors, statutory or otherwise, or trusteeship agreements, wages not to exceed $400 to each claimant owing to workmen, clerks, traveling or city salesmen, or servants of the assignor for services or labor rendered or performed within five months next previous to the assignment are preferred claims, and must be paid before any other creditor of the assignor, and shall be paid in full in all cases where there is sufficient property therefor, otherwise they alone shall be paid pro rata; provided, however, that no officer or general manager of a corporation nor any member in an association or partnership making an assignment or trusteeship agreement shall be entitled to the preference herein provided. Am'd '13, p. 26.

Mont. Civ. C. § 4514*.

Wages preferred in similar cases, § 3684.

297. (86.) Preferences to joint and to individual creditors. Joint, or joint and several, debtors can prefer their joint creditors only out of joint property; and can prefer the individual creditors of each only out of the separate property of each.

Mont. Civ. C. § 4517; Cal. Civ. C. § 3451*.

An assignment by a partnership which prefers the creditors of the individual partners, such creditors having loaned money to the individual partners knowing that both were insolvent at the time, is fraudulent in fact.

Smith v. Sipperley, 9 U. 267; 34 P. 54.

Where partners agreed that the joint property should belong to one of them, he to assume the partnership debts, such agreement, if bona fide and for a valuable consideration, would be a valid transfer to the succeeding partner, and his right thereunder to assign for the benefit of creditors of the firm, in the absence of fraud, even though preference were made to the wife of the assignor, who was a bona fide creditor of the firm, could not be disputed.

Douglass v. Alder, 13 U. 303; 44 P. 706.

The right of a partnership to assign the firm's assets without including the individual property of each partner, under §§ 2471 and 2472, C. L. U. 1888, includes the right of the creditor to proceed against the individual property of the parties composing the partnership, when the partnership property shall prove insufficient to pay the firm debts, and is reconcilable with the provisions of § 2470, C. L. U. 1888.

Wilson v. Sullivan, 17 U. 341; 53 P. 994.

298. (87.) Assignment void in what cases. An assignment for the benefit of creditors is void against any creditor of the assignor not assenting thereto in the following cases:

1. If it gives a preference dependent upon any condition or contingency, or with any power of revocation reserved;

2. If it tend to coerce any creditor to release or compromise his demand;

3. If it provide for the payment of any claim known by the assignor to be false or fraudulent, or for the payment of more upon any claim than is known to be justly due from the assignor;

4. If it reserve any interest in the assigned property, or in any part thereof, to the assignor or for his benefit, before all his existing debts are paid;

5. If it confer upon the assignee any power which, if exercised, might prevent or delay the immediate conversion of the assigned property to the purposes of the trust; provided, that the assignment may provide reasonable terms and manner of sale to be carried out only so far as practicable and not prejudicial to the interests of the estate, in the discretion of the court.

Mont. Civ. C. § 4518*; Cal. Civ. C. § 3457*.

Preferring a bona fide creditor of the partnership, who is a brother of one of the partners, is not in itself fraudulent.

Pettit v. Parsons, 9 U. 223; 33 P. 1038.

Where an assignment is attacked on the ground of fraud in fact, the acts complained of must affect the assignment and be participated in by the assignee.

Id.

Where a voluntary deed of assignment prefers the assignee to a large amount, when in fact he was not a creditor of the insolvent corporation, it voids the deed entirely, nothwithstanding the assignee did not participate in the fraud.

Coblentz v. Driver Mercantile Co., 10 U. 96; 37 P. 242.

Smith v. Sipperley, 9 U. 267; 34 P. 54.

The preference in a deed of assignment to one who was not a creditor of the corporation assignor, but who merely loaned money to a director, who loaned it to the corporation, was fraudulent.

Noble Mercantile Co. v. Mt. Pleasant Co-operative Ass'n, 12 U. 213; 42 P. 869.

The corporation's deed of assignment, wherein the directors, who were general creditors, preferred themselves over other creditors whose claims are equally meritorious, is void.

Id.

Deeds of assignment giving authority to the assignee to sell upon credit are fraudulent and void as to creditors not consenting thereto.

Beus v. Shaughnessy, 2 U. 492.

Lippincott v. Rich, 19 U. 140; 56 P. 806.

An assignment which provides that the assignees "out of the proceeds of the personal property will pay," etc., and that the assignees accept the trust and "agree to execute the same by disposing of the property and collecting the choses in action due the assignor and applying the proceeds to the payment of debts," etc., is not void as authorizing expressly a sale upon credit.

Sprecht v. Parsons, 7 U. 107; 25 P. 730.

There is no objection to the validity of an assignment, made in anticipation on the part of the assignor of the immediate issue of an attachment against his property.

Billings v. Parsons, 17 U. 22; 53 P. 730.

The assent of creditors to an assignment made for their benefit is not necessary to the validity of the assignment.

Id.

A fraudulent intent on the part of the debtor alone is not sufficient to avoid an assignment for the benefit of creditors, when no preferences are made, and where neither the assignee nor assignor participated in the fraud.

Id.

Preferring a banker to other creditors, in absence of statutory restrictions and insolvent laws, unless there is express proof of fraud participated in by assignee, will not invalidate assignment.

Burnham v. McCornick, 18 U. 42; 55 P. 77.

Where a person was a director and stockholder of a corporation which assigned its property for the benefit of creditors, and also a director and stockholder in a bank which was made a preferred creditor, and voted in favor of such preference, the double relation would not make the assignment void when the same result would have been reached had he refrained from voting.

Colorado F. & I. Co. v. Western H. Co., 16 U. 4; 50 P. 628.

The fact that a director and stockholder wrongfully appropriated funds of a corporation cannot render an assignment fraudulent unless such fraud was connected with the assignment and the assignee or one or more of the creditors participated in it.

Natl. Bank Rep. v. Scott, 18 U. 400; 55 P. 374.

A court of equity may set aside an assignment for any of the reasons mentioned in the statutes or recognized as sufficient by the rules of equity.

Id.

A corporation assignment which prefers bona fide idebtedness evidenced by notes upon which a minority stockholder and officer was an accommodation indorser, is not in violation of the statute and does not constitute fraud in law.

Wells, Fargo & Co. v. Scott & Co., 18 U. 127; 55 P. 81.

It is proper for a corporation to prefer indebtedness evidenced solely by individual note of a stockholder and director, where the money was borrowed for the corporation and it received the benefit thereof.

Wells, Fargo & Co. v. Scott & Co., 18 U. 127; 55 P. 81.

Natl. Bank Rep. v. Scott, 18 U. 400; 55 P. 374.

If a creditor accepts benefit of an assignment, knowing the facts, he cannot repudiate it thereafter on the ground that it is illegal and fraudulent; nor can he, having repudiated it, take under its provisions as other creditors who have accepted it.

McLaughlin v. Park City Bank, 22 U. 473; 63 P. 589.

Where a corporation receives the exclusive benefit of the money borrowed for it on the endorsement of one of its directors, a corporate mortgage, given to secure the estate of such director who paid, is not a giving of unlawful preference to the corporate director.
Kurtz v. Ogden Canyon, 37 U. 313; 108 P. 15.

299. (88.) Assignment to be in writing. Contents. Recording. Every such assignment shall be by an instrument in writing, setting forth the name of the assignor, his residence and business, the name of the assignee and his residence and business, and in a general way describing the property assigned, with its location, and stating the purpose of the assignment. It shall be executed and acknowledged in the manner prescribed for the execution and acknowledgment of deeds, and recorded in the office of the recorder of the county where the property assigned is located. The assignor shall annex to such instrument an inventory, under oath, of his estate, real and personal, according to the best of his knowledge, and a list of the creditors, and the amount of their respective demands; but such inventory shall not be conclusive as to the amount of the debtor's estate, and such assignment shall vest in the assignee the title to any other property belonging to the debtor at the time of making the assignment, except property exempt from execution and insurance upon the life of the assignor, unless the instrument mentions such exempt property and insurance, and declares an intention of the assignor that they shall pass thereby. As soon as such instrument is recorded, it shall be filed, with the inventory and list of creditors, in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which the property so assigned is located; as shall also all subsequent papers connected with such proceedings.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 3294*; Cal. Civ. C. § 3458*.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 3296*.
A sufficient notice to attaching creditors is given, under provisions of this section, and §§ 301 and 4875, by giving such creditors personal notice of the assignment and mailing to each of them a notice thereof, recording the deed as soon as the property of the assignors is discovered in an adjoining county, and the publication of notice to creditors in the county where assignors reside.
Snyder v. Murdock, 20 U. 407; 59 P. 88.

302. (91.) Filing claims. The claims of all creditors, clearly and distinctly stated and sworn to by the claimant, or by some person acquainted with the facts, shall be filed with the assignee within three months of the date of the first publication provided for in the preceding section, unless the court extends such time for all or some of such claimants, which it may do in its discretion where peculiar circumstances seem to justify such extension, but in no case shall such extension be extended beyond nine months.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 3306*.

A sale of personal property to an innocent purchaser by an assignee under a deed not void upon its face, in the absence of fraud, is valid.

Ogden Paint & O. Co. v. Child, 10 U. 475; 37 P. 734.

When the record shows that a defendant appeared by his attorney, such record is conclusive of the appearance, but only prima facie evidence of the authority, of the attorney to act. Such authority may be denied and rebutted by proof. And if without authority the judgment will not be allowed to stand, and the defendant will not be left to his remedy against the attorney.

Blyth & Fargo Co. v. Swenson, 15 U. 345; 49 P. 1027.

Where attorney is employed merely to straighten out an account, the relation of attorney and client, in ordinary acceptation of the term, does not exist.

Walker Bros. v. Skliris, 34 U. 353; 98 P. 114.

Where a stipulation purports to be signed by the appellee's attorney, and there is nothing in the record which shows his repudiation of either the stipulation or signature, and nothing to show that he did not sign it, unless the court should take judicial notice that the signature is not in his handwriting, it is binding on him.

The court will not, by an order of substitution, aid a litigant in perpetrating a wrong upon its own officer, but will withhold such order until reasonable compensation for services rendered and proper expenses are paid or secured to the attorney.

Sandberg v. Victor M. Co., 18 U. 66; 55 P. 74.

331. (120.) Removal and suspension. An attorney and counselor may be removed or suspended by the supreme court, and by the district courts, for any of the following causes, arising after his admission to practice:

1. His conviction of felony or misdemeanor, involving moral turpitude, in which case the record of conviction is conclusive evidence;

2. Wilful disobedience or violation of an order of the court requiring him to do or forbear an act connected with or in the course of his profession, and any violation of the oath taken by him or of his duties as such attorney and counselor;

3. Corruptly or wilfully and without authority appearing as attorney for a party to an action or proceeding;

4. Lending his name to be used as an attorney and counselor by another person who is not an attorney and counselor;

5. For any other act to which such a consequence is by law attached.

In all cases where an attorney is removed or suspended by a district court, the judgment or order of removal or suspension may be reviewed on appeal by the supreme court.

Judgment upon conviction, § 343.

Champerty renders an attorney amenable to the summary jurisdiction of the court, notwithstanding it may be effectual as a defense to the enforcement of a contract.

In re Evans & Rogers, 22 U. 366; 62 P. 913.

The summary proceeding of disbarment is civil, not criminal but requires more than a preponderance of the evidence. The guilt of the attorney must be clearly established.

Id.

Under provisions of this section, the supreme court has power to revoke the license of an attorney violating the provisions of the statute regulating attorneys and counselors.

Morrison v. Snow, 26 U. 247; 72 P. 924.

An attorney may allege in his pleadings any facts pertinent to the case which, if proved, would entitle him to relief, and he will be protected even though he should fail in making his proof to substantiate them, but the protection thus accorded him cannot be used as a shield to protect him in making false, scandalous, and defamatory charges against a court or judicial officer.

Contract of an attorney with his client to purchase pending litigation from his client held not sufficient to warrant disbarment.

Attorney, convicted of want of honesty and integrity, should be disbarred rather than suspended.

In re Platz, 42 U. 439; 132 P. 390.

Acts done by an attorney before being admitted to the bar, although not directly connected with his practice, but which tend to show a lack of integrity, are nevertheless material and relevent in disbarment proceedings, if offered in connection with acts of such attorney affecting his integrity occurring after his admission to practice.

In re Platz, 42 U. 439; 132 P. 390.

The legislature cannot limit the courts in their right to determine the moral qualifications of attorneys or prevent them from refusing to admit morally unfit persons to the practice of the law.

In re Platz, 42 U. 439; 132 P. 390.

In re Hilton, 48 U. 172; 158 P. 690.

The court may disbar an attorney when he forfeits his claim to good moral character by misconduct of a nature rendering him unfit to be continued in office.

In re Hilton, 48 U. 172; 158 P. 690.

An attorney may publicly or privately criticize the decision of the court, pointing out wherein he deems it defective, and may state that it should not be final, but he cannot slander or defame the court, and if he does, he is subject to discipline and disbarment.

In re Hilton, 48 U. 172; 158 P. 690.

An attorney employed to defend a criminal goes to the office of the chief of police and secures a bundle containing clothes worn by the deceased at the time of the murder, and is taken in custody as he is leaving with it by a rear alley. While not conduct calling for disbarment, was reprehensible, and the attorney was suspended for sixty days and ordered to pay costs of the proceeding.

In re Hanson, 48 U. 163; 158 P. 778.

332. (121.) Conviction of crime. In case of the conviction of an attorney or counselor of a felony or misdemeanor, involving moral turpitude, the clerk of the court in which such conviction is had must, within thirty days thereafter, transmit to the supreme court a certified copy of the record of conviction.

333. (122.) Proceedings for removal or suspension. Proceedings to remove or suspend an attorney and counselor under the first subdivision of § 331 must be taken by the court on the receipt of a certified copy of the record of conviction. Proceedings in other cases may be taken by the court for matters within its knowledge, or may be taken upon the information of another.

334. (123.) Id. Accusation, when in writing. If the proceedings are upon the information of another, the accusation must be in writing.

335. (124.) Id. Accusation, how stated. The accusation must state the matters charged and be verified by the oath of some person to the effect that the charges therein contained are true. An oath upon information and belief shall be sufficient. Am'd '15, p. 17.

336. (125.) Id. Citation to accused. After receiving the accusation, the court must make an order requiring the accused to appear and answer it at a specified time in the same or a subsequent term, and must cause a copy of the order and of the accusation to be served upon the accused at least ten days before the day appointed in the order.

337. (126.) Appearance. The accused must appear at the time appointed in the order and answer the accusation, unless for sufficient cause the court assign another day for that purpose. If he do not appear, the court may proceed and determine the accusation in his absence.

338. (127.) How to answer. The accused may answer to the accusation either by objecting to its sufficiency or by denying it.

339. (128.) Demurrer. Denial. If he object to the sufficiency of the accusation, the objection must be in writing, but need not be in any specific form, it being sufficient if it presents intelligibly the grounds of the objection, If he deny the accusation, the denial may be oral and without oath, and must be entered upon the minutes.

340. (129.) Answer after demurrer. If an objection to the sufficiency of the accusation be not sustained, the accuser must answer within such time as may be designated by the court.

341. (130.) Plea. Trial. If the accused plead guilty, or refuse to answer the accusation, the court must proceed to judgment of removal or suspension. If he deny the matters charged, the court must, at such time as it may appoint, proceed to try the accusation.

To authorize the disbarment of an attorney, the charges should be clearly sustained by convincing proof and a fair preponderance of the evidence, but the technical nicety of the criminal law is not applicable where the court is inquiring into the conduct of its own officers.
In re Hanson, 48 U. 163; 158 P. 778.

342. (131.) Reference. The court may, in its discretion, order a reference to a committee to take deposition in the matter.

The findings of a referee appointed by the supreme court in a disbarment proceeding are, in a large sense, merely advisory, and the court can modify any finding or make new ones to conform to the evidence as it views it.
In re Hanson, 48 U. 163; 158 P. 778.

343. (132.) Judgment. Upon conviction, in cases arising under the first subdivision of § 331, the judgment of the court must be that the name of the party be stricken from the roll of attorneys and counselors of the court, and that he be precluded from practicing as such attorney or counselor in all the courts of this state; and, upon conviction in other cases, the judgment of the court may be, according to the gravity of the offense charged, deprivation of the right to practice as an attorney or counselor in the courts of this state permanently, or for a limited period.

Decisions on judgment in disbarment cases. Note to § 331.

A court of general and superior jurisdiction permanently disbarring an attorney has power to entertain an application for reinstatement for any reason satisfactory to it.

In re Evans, et al., 42 U. 282; 130 P. 217.

344. (133.) Attorney as surety. No practicing attorney and counselor shall become a surety in any civil or criminal action, suit, or proceeding which may be instituted in any of the courts of this state, in which he is engaged as attorney.

An attorney cannot act as an attorney and a surety in the same action.

McWhirter v. Donaldson, 36 U. 293; 104 P. 731.

345. (134.) Sheriffs, etc., not to practice. Partners. Sheriffs, county clerks, and constables, and their deputies, are prohibited from practicing law or acting as attorneys and counselors in the counties where they reside and hold office, or from having as a partner an attorney and counselor or any one who acts as such.

346. (135.) Compensation. Lien. The compensation of an attorney and counselor for his services is governed by agreement, express or implied, which is not restrained by law. From the commencement of an action, or the service of an answer containing a counterclaim, the attorney who appears for a party has a lien upon his client's cause of action or counterclaim, which attaches to a verdict, report, decision, or judgment in his client's favor and the proceeds thereof in whatsoever hands they may come; and cannot be affected by any settlement between the parties before or after judgment.

U. S. v. The Church, 6 U. 72; 21 P. 516.

There is no attorney lien for fees on a cause of action before judgment.

Sandberg v. Victor M. Co., 18 U. 66; 55 P. 74.

Where a cause of action accrued and action was commenced before this section went into effect, it was error to instruct the jury that the statute applied to the case and gave attorneys a lien upon plaintiff's cause of action which attached to the verdict, decision, or judgment, which a settlement by plaintiff out of court and without his attorney's knowledge or consent could not affect; though, under the common law, the court has authority to set aside the satisfaction of a judgment collusively obtained in order to defraud plaintiff's attorneys of their fees.

Potter v. Ajax M. Co., 19 U. 421; 57 P. 270.

The provisions of this section are not retroactive and cannot affect a cause of action accruing before they became operative.

Sandberg v. Victor M. Co., 18 U. 66; 55 P. 74.

Under this statute it was competent for attorney and client to agree that the attorney's compensation should be contingent upon success. It was not competent for the attorney, in consideration thereof, to agree to pay the fees and costs of suit, but one who was not a party to such contract has no right to question its validity.

An agreement between attorney and client, whereby the attorney undertakes and agrees to furnish and pay all costs and expenses in a case which he is to prosecute, in consideration of a share in the proceeds of any judgment recovered, is champertous, against public policy, and cannot be enforced by either party.

Nelson v. Evans & Rogers, 21 U. 202; 60 P. 557.

Sec. 3683, C. L. U. 1888, modified the force and effect of the common law as to champertous contracts and left the mode and manner of compensation of attorneys to agreement between parties.

An attorney has a lien on the cause of action only "from the commencement of an action."

347. (136.) Refusal of attorney to account. An attorney and counselor who receives money or property of his client in the course of his professional business, and who refuses to pay or deliver the same to the person entitled thereto within a reasonable time after demand, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 302.

348. (137.) Disputed lien. Bond of client. When an attorney and counselor claims to be entitled to a lien upon money or property of his client in his possession, he is not liable to the penalty of the next preceding section unless he neglects or refuses to pay or deliver such money or property to the person entitled thereto upon such person giving a bond with sufficient surety, to be approved by the clerk of the district court, conditioned for the payment of the amount of such attorney's claim when legally established.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 303*, 304*.

349. (138.) Id. Bond of attorney. Nor shall the attorney and counselor be liable as aforesaid if he shall give a sufficient bond, to be approved by the clerk of the district court, conditioned that he will pay or deliver the whole or any portion of such money or property to the claimant in the event such claimant shall finally establish his right thereto.
Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 303*, 304*.

TITLE 8.

BARBERS.

360. (138x.) Must obtain certificate of registration. Penalty. It shall be unlawful for any person to follow the occupation of a barber or a barber's apprentice, or to conduct a barber shop, barber school, or barber college in this state, unless he shall have first obtained a certificate of registration as provided in this title. A person so engaged less than six months shall be considered an apprentice, and at the expiration of six months of such employment shall be subject to the provisions of this title as hereinafter provided. No person practicing the occupation of a barber in any barber school or college in this state shall serve a person afflicted with erysipelas, eczema, impetigo, sycosis, tuberculosis, or any other contagious or infectious disease. Any person so afflicted is hereby prohibited from being barbered in any barber shop, barber school or college in this state. Any violation of this section will be considered a misdemeanor as provided for in this title. '03, p. 187; '07, p. 248.
Apprenticeship, §§ 260-269.

361. (138x1.) Board of examiners. A board of examiners, to consist of three persons, is hereby created to carry out the purposes and enforce the provisions of this title. The governor shall appoint, on or before the 1st day of May, 1903, one barber to serve one year, one qualified physician to serve two years, and one barber to serve three years, who, with their respective successors, to be appointed annually thereafter, and to serve for the term of three years, shall constitute a board of examiners of barbers, two of whom shall be practical barbers who have been actually engaged in the business of barbering for at least five years. '03, p. 188.

362. (138x2.) Bond and oath. Each member of said board shall give a bond in the sum of $500, with sureties, to be approved by the secretary of state, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, and shall take the oath provided by law for public officers. Vacancies in said board shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired portion of the term. '03, p. 188.

363. (138x3.) Officers. Said board shall elect a president, secretary, and treasurer, shall have its headquarters at such place in the state as the board may determine, and shall have a common seal. A majority of said board may, in meeting duly assembled, perform the duties and exercise the powers devolving upon said board under the provisions of this title. '03, p. 188.

364. (138x4.) Powers of board. Such board shall have power to adopt reasonable rules and regulations prescribing the sanitary requirements of a barber shop, barber school or college, subject to the approval of the state board of health, and to cause the rules and regulations so approved to be printed in a suitable form, and to transmit a copy thereof to the proprietor of each barber shop, barber school or college in this state.

It shall be the duty of every proprietor or person operating a barber shop, barber school or college in this state to keep posted in a conspicuous place in his shop, school or college, so as to be easily read by his customers, a copy of such rules and regulations. A failure of any such proprietor or manager to keep such rules so posted, or to observe the requirements thereof, shall be sufficient grounds for the revocation of his license, but no license shall be revoked without a reasonable opportunity being offered to such proprietor or manager to be heard in his defense. Any member of said board shall have power to enter and make examination of any barber shop, barber school or college in this state during business hours for the purpose of ascertaining the sanitary conditions thereof. Any barber shop, barber school or college in this state in which tools, appliances, and furnishings in use therein are kept in an unclean or insanitary condition so as to endanger health, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and the proprietor thereof shall be subject to prosecution and punishment therefor. Each member of said board shall have power to administer oaths, and the board may, at its discretion, appoint deputies who shall exercise the powers herein granted to said board, said deputies to serve without pay. '03, p. 188; '07, p. 244.

365. (138x5.) Compensation and expenses, how paid, report. Each member of said board shall receive a compensation of $4 per day for actual service, and 8 cents for each mile actually traveled in attending the duties of the board. All moneys received by said board as fees shall be paid into the state treasury at the close of each month, and shall be placed to the credit of the state board of barber examiners. All claims for expenses incurred by the board and for all salaries paid shall be submitted to the state board of examiners, and, if approved, shall be paid by the warrant of the state auditor out of any moneys on hand in the state treasury to the credit of the state board of barber examiners. But no claims shall be allowed or warrant issued in excess of the amount of fees on hand to the credit of said board. A detailed report of the fees collected, verified under oath, shall be filed with the state auditor and the state treasurer at the time fees are deposited with the state treasurer. Am'd '15, p. 22.

366. (138x6.) Board to report. Said board shall report annually to the governor a full statement of the receipts and disbursements of the board during the preceding year, a full statement of its doings and proceedings, and such recommendations as it may deem proper, looking to the better carrying out of the intents and purposes of this title. '03, p. 189.

367. (138x7.) Public examinations. Notice. Said board shall hold each year, at such times and places as it shall designate, at least four public examinations, notice whereof shall be given by publication at least ten days before the holding of any such meeting, in at least one newspaper printed and published in the city of Salt Lake, and in at least one newspaper printed and published in the county in which said meeting shall be held. Am'd '15, p. 23.

368. (138x8.) Barbers must file affidavit with secretary of board. Every person now engaged in the occupation of a barber in this state shall, within ninety days after March 25, 1907, file with the secretary of said board an affidavit setting forth his name, residence, and the length of time during which, and the place where he has practiced such occupation, and shall pay to the treasurer of said board $1, and a certificate of registration entitling him to practice said occupation thereupon shall be issued to him. '03, p. 189; '07, p. 245.

369. (138x9.) Other applicants. Qualifications. Fee. Any person other than those mentioned in § 368 desiring to obtain a certificate of registration under this title shall make application to said board therefor, and shall pay to the treasurer of said board an examination fee of $5, and shall present himself at the next regular meeting of the board for the examination of applicants, whereupon said board shall proceed to examine said person, and being satisfied that he is above the age of sixteen years, of good moral character, free from contagious or infectious diseases; that he has either studied the occupation for six months as an apprentice under a qualified practicing barber, or that he has studied the occupation in a barber school or college, as defined by this title, for six months, or has practiced the occupation for at least six months and is possessed of a requisite skill in said occupation to properly perform all the duties thereof, including his ability in the preparation of tools, shaving, hair cutting, and a thorough knowledge of the sanitary requirements of a barber shop, barber school or college, and all the duties and services incident thereto, his name shall then be entered by the board in the register hereinafter provided for, and a certificate of registration shall be issued to him authorizing him to practice said occupation in this state; provided, that whenever it appears that the applicant has insufficient knowledge of the sanitary requirements of a barber shop, school, or college to prevent the spread of disease, the board may withhold from him a qualified barber certificate if it shall appear that he is not qualified to practice the said occupation.

370. (138x10.) Barber school or college defined. A barber school or college is hereby declared to be a school or college conducted by suitable persons who are authorized to practice the occupation of a barber in this state, and in which all instruction is given by competent persons so authorized and in which the course and period of training shall comply with the rules and regulations of said board specifically adopted for the government of barber schools or colleges. '03, p. 190; '07, p. 246.

371. (138x11.) Apprentices. Nothing in this title shall prohibit any person from serving as an apprentice in said occupation under a barber authorized to practice the same under this title, nor from serving as a student in any school for the teaching of such occupation under the instruction of a qualified barber. '03, p. 190.

372. (138x12.) Id. Every apprentice, in order to avail himself of the provisions of this title, must file with the secretary of the board a statement in writing showing the name and place of business of his employer, the date of commencement of employment with him, and the full name and age of said apprentice, and shall pay to the treasurer of said board a fee of $1.

Apprenticeship, §§ 260-269.

373. (138x13.) Board shall furnish a card or insignia. Said board shall furnish to each person to whom a certificate of registration is issued and to each registered apprentice a card or insignia bearing the seal of the board and the signature of its president and secretary, certifying that the holder thereof is entitled to practice the occupation of a barber's apprentice in this state, and it shall be the duty of the holder of such card or insignia to post the same in a conspicuous place in front of his working chair, where it may readily be seen by all persons whom he may serve. Said card or insignia shall be renewed on or before the 1st day of July of each year, and the holder of said certificate of registration or apprentice card shall pay to the secretary of said board the sum of $1 for such renewal card or insignia. Upon the failure of any holder of a certificate of registration or apprentice card to apply for a renewal of his card or insignia on or before the 1st day of July in each year, his said certificate or apprentice card may be revoked by said board, subject to the provisions of § 375. '03, p. 190; '07, p. 246.

374. (138x14.) Register to be kept. Said board shall keep a register, in which shall be entered the names of all persons to whom certificates are issued under this title, and said register shall be at all times open to public inspection. '03, p. 190.

375. (138x15.) Revocation of certificate. Reinstatement, when. Said board shall have power to revoke any certificate of registration granted by it under this title, for (a) conviction of crime; (b) habitual drunkenness; (c) gross incompetency; (d) the keeping of a shop, or the tools, appliances, or furnishings thereof in an unclean and insanitary condition; (e) failure to comply with the requirements of § 373; provided, that before any certificate shall be revoked the holder thereof shall have notice in writing of the charge or charges against him, and shall have a reasonable opportunity to be heard in his defense; provided, further, that upon the revocation of any certificate, the holder thereof may appeal said matter to the district court of the county in which he resides, in the manner as is now or may hereafter be provided for appeals from justices' courts, and such laws are hereby made applicable. The secretary of said board shall send the files and a copy of the minutes in the matter before the board to the clerk of the district court of the county in which the appeal is taken, and such minutes and files shall constitute the records on appeal. Any person whose certificate has been revoked may, after the expiration of ninety days, apply to have the same regranted, and the same shall be regranted to him upon a satisfactory showing that the disqualification has ceased. Am'd '15, p. 23.

Appeals from Justice's Court, § 7514.

376. (138x16.) Violation a misdemeanor. Any person practicing the occupation of barber without having obtained a certificate of registration, as provided by this title, or employing a barber who has not such a certificate, or falsely pretending to be qualified to practice such occupation under this title, or for violating any of the provisions of this title, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than ninety days. '03, p. 191.

TITLE 9.

380. Complaint to be made to justice of the peace. Warrant. When an unmarried female, pregnant or delivered of a child which by law will be deemed a bastard, shall make complaint to a justice of the peace within the county where she may be so pregnant or delivered, or where the person accused may be found, and shall accuse, under oath or affirmation, a person with being the father of such child, it shall be the duty of such justice to issue a warrant against the person so accused and cause him to be brought forthwith before him, or, in his absence, before any other justice of the peace in such county.

This act does not offend against Con. art. 6, sec. 23, prohibiting the passage of bills containing more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title.
State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.

This act is not invalid as a whole for failure to define bastardy or because the procedure to be followed is vague and uncertain.
State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

This proceeding is civil, not criminal, hence the state is only required to establish accused's guilt by a preponderance of the evidence, and not beyond a reasonable doubt.
State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

381. Examination of plaintiff. Rights of defendant. Upon his appearance, it shall be the duty of the county attorney to examine the woman upon oath or affirmation before the justice and in the presence of the man who is alleged to be the father of the child, touching the charge against him. The defendant shall have the right to controvert such charge, and evidence may be heard as in other cases. If the justice shall be of the opinion that there is probable cause to believe that the defendant is the father of such bastard, it shall be his duty to bind the defendant so accused with such sufficient surety, to appear before the district court and answer such charge, as in other cases. If the defendant shall neglect or refuse to give bonds as security as aforesaid, said justice shall cause such defendant to be committed to the jail of the county.

382. Information to be filed. In all cases of commitment under this title, an information shall be filed in the district court as in other cases.

Information, § 8779.

383. Continuance. Security for appearance. If the defendant plead not guilty to such information and the case be set for trial on the issue of fact, and if at the day appointed for such trial the woman be not delivered or be unable to attend, the court may continue the case, but shall require the defendant to give such security as the court may deem just to insure his presence to answer such information after the birth of the child; and if such mother be not able to attend on the day appointed, said security shall remain in full force until she is able to attend.

384. Mother and defendant competent witnesses. On the trial of every issue of fact as to the bastardy, the mother and defendant shall be admitted as competent witnesses, and the credibility shall be left to the jury.

The jury is entitled to consider prosecutrix's evidence in accordance with all the facts and circumstances of the case and determine its credibility under the same rules that apply to other witnesses; hence, it was not error to refuse to charge the jury to consider or weigh her testimony "with caution."

State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

It was proper to show any acts of sexual intercourse during period of gestation and other acts within reasonable time before the act relied on may be shown as bearing upon the probability of intercourse at the time stated in the complaint.

State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.

As against the prosecutrix, no act of sexual intercourse with others than defendant may be shown by cross-examination or otherwise, unless within the period of gestation.

Id.

Evidence by the prosecutrix as to conversations between her and defendant before he was arrested concerning their friendly relations is admissible, as are also letters from defendant to prosecutrix tending to show that they were lovers.

Id.

Where there is a square conflict in the testimony of accused and the prosecutrix, the jury is entitled to determine where the truth lies, and the prosecutrix's testimony does not need corroboration.

State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

An instruction as to the form of verdict was not fatally defective which required the jury to find not only that accused was not the father of prosecutrix's child. but that he was not guilty of such sexual intercourse, in order to find for the defendant, where there was evidence of only one act of sexual intercourse.

State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.

This proceeding being civil in character, it was not error for the court to refuse to submit the case to the jury on the theory that the prosecutrix was an accomplice and that her testimony with reference to the act of intercourse must be corroborated in order to convict.

State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

Where there is a square conflict in testimony, error in requiring the witness, a married man, to answer a question whether he during the ride did not place his own arm around prosecutrix's sister, was prejudicial to the accused, as it might affect his credibility with the jury.

Id.

The sole issue is who is the father of the child in question, and other evidence of conduct of the parties occurring more than a year prior to the sexual intercourse in question is inadmissible.

Id.

Evidence to show accused's conduct and inclination towards prosecutrix for a reasonable time prior to the time in question is proper on cross-examination as showing a probability of intercourse alleged.

Id.

The state must prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that accused had sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix within the period of gestation, and unless this is done, evidence of his conduct and that of prosecutrix outside of such period is irrelevant.

Id.

385. In case of acquittal woman to pay costs. If upon the trial of the issue aforesaid, the jury shall find that the child is not the child of the defendant or alleged father, then the judgment of the court shall be that the defendant be discharged. In such case the woman making the complaint shall pay the costs of the prosecution, and judgment may be entered therefor and execution issued thereon, as in other cases.

386. Penalty, if defendant be found guilty. Bond. In case the issue be found against the defendant or reputed father, or whenever he shall in open court have confessed the truth of the accusation against him, he shall be condemned by the order and judgment of the court to pay a sum of money not exceeding $200 for the first year after the birth of such child, and a sum not exceeding $150 yearly for seventeen years succeeding said first year for the support and maintenance and education of such child; and shall, moreover, be adjudged to pay all the costs of the prosecution, for which costs execution shall issue as in other cases, and the said reputed father shall be required by said court to give bond with sufficient security, to be approved by the judge thereof, for the payment of such sum of money as shall be awarded by said court as aforesaid, which said bond shall be made payable to the state of Utah, conditioned for the due and faithful payment of said yearly sum in equal quarterly instalments to the clerk of said court; and the said bond shall be filed and preserved by the clerk of said court.

This provision is not unreasonable and is enforcible.
State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.
Before fixing the amount defendant is compelled to contribute toward the support and education of the child, the court should carefully inquire into the financial standing and ability of both the father and the mother and fix such a sum as under all the circumstances may be just and reasonable, not exceeding the statutory limit.
State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.
State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

387. Defendant failing to give security must be committed to jail. In case the defendant shall refuse or neglect to give such security as will be ordered by the court, he shall be committed to the jail of the county, there to remain until he shall comply with such order, or until otherwise discharged in due course of law. Any person so committed may be discharged for insolvency or inability to give bond, provided that such discharge shall not be made within one year after such commitment.

The provision requiring that an insolvent shall remain in jail a year before discharged was unreasonable and grossly oppressive, and for that reason void, but the invalidity thereof does not affect the balance of the act, and hence an insolvent so convicted, on proving his inability to perform judgment, should not be incarcerated in the first instance, or, if he had been incarcerated, he should be discharged without reference to the period of his imprisonment.
State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

388. Disposition of money. The money, when received, shall be laid out and appropriated for the support of such child in such manner as shall be directed by the court, but when a guardian be appointed for such bastard, the money arising from such bond shall be paid over to such guardian.

389. Default in payment of instalments. Procedure. Whenever default shall be made in the payment of a quarterly instalment or any part thereof mentioned in the bond provided for in the foregoing section, the judge of the district court for the county wherein such bond is filed, shall, at the request of the mother, guardian, or any other person interested in the support of such child, issue an order to show cause to the principal and sureties of said bond, requiring them to appear on the day named in said order, and show cause, if any they have, why execution should not issue against them to the amount of the instalment or instalments due and unpaid on said bond, and that such order to show cause may be served by the sheriff or any constable within the county in which such principal or surety resides or may be found, and such service shall be made at least five days before the return day named in such order. If the amount due on such instalment or instalments shall not be paid before the time mentioned in such order to show cause, the said court shall render judgment in favor of the state against the principal and the sureties who have been served with such order for the amount unpaid on the instalment or instalments due upon the said bond, together with the costs of such proceeding, and execution shall issue therefor against the judgment debtors as in other cases, for the amount of said judgment and costs.

390. Reputed father guilty of contempt, when. Any judge shall have power, in case of default in the payment, when due, of any instalment or instalments thereof, according to the condition of the said bond, to adjudge the reputed father of such child guilty of contempt by reason of non-payment of any instalment or instalments aforesaid, and may order such defendant to be committed to the jail of the county until the amount of such instalment or instalments as may be due shall be fully paid, together with the costs of commitment. The commitment of such reputed father shall not operate to stay the execution upon such judgment as aforesaid.

391. Custody of child. The reputed father of a bastard shall not have the right to the custody or control of such child if the mother is living and wishes to retain such custody and control, until after it shall have arrived at the age of ten years, unless, upon petition to the district court for the county in which the mother resides, it shall, upon full hearing, after notice to the mother, be made to appear that said mother is not a suitable person to have control and custody of such child.

392. Bond becomes void, when. If such bastard child shall not be born alive, or, being born alive, should die, and the fact shall be suggested upon the records of said court, then such bond shall be void.

393. Id. Intermarriage of mother and reputed father legitimatizes child. If the mother of any bastard child and the reputed father shall at any time after its birth intermarry, said child shall in all respects be deemed to be legitimate, and the bond for the support of said child shall thereupon become void.

394. Prosecution must be brought within four years. No prosecution under this title shall be brought after four years from the birth of such bastard child; provided, that the time for which the person accused shall be absent from the state shall not be computed.

395. Release of reputed father. The mother of a bastard child, before or after its birth, may release the reputed father of such child from all legal liability on account of such bastard, upon such terms as may be consented to in writing and approved by the judge of the district court for the county in which the mother resides, provided, that a release obtained from such mother in consideration of the payment to her of a sum of money less than $500 shall not be a bar to a suit for bastardy against such father, and if, after such release is obtained, suit is instituted against such father and the issue be found against him, he shall be entitled as a set off for the amount so paid, and it shall be accredited to him as a first payment, or payments; and provided, further, that such father may compromise all his legal liability on account of such bastard with the mother thereof by paying to her a sum not less than $500.

Rewards for the destruction of grasshoppers, etc. The boards of county commissioners of the respective counties of this state shall be and hereby are empowered, whenever in their judgment the best interests of the county demand, to provide by ordinance for the payment of rewards for the destruction of grasshoppers, locusts, and crickets. '03, p. 6.

451. (143x13.) Maximum bounty. The bounty shall at no time exceed 1 cent per pound net, for such insects aforesaid, but may be in a less amount. '03, p. 7.

452. (143x14.) Proceedings to obtain reward. The person or persons who shall hereafter destroy any of the above named insects, in order to receive the bounty mentioned in the next preceding section, shall produce the same, as required by the county commissioners establishing the bounty ordinance in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, before the county clerk or receiving agent, and it shall be the duty of such clerk or receiving agent to diligently examine such person or persons, or such other person or persons as the said officers may deem proper, on oath or affirmation, touching the time when, and the place where, such insects were caught and the circumstances thereof. '03, p. 7.

453. (143x15.) Manner of payment. '03, p. 7.

454. (143x16.) Receiving agent. The county commissioners are hereby empowered to appoint a receiving agent in each town or precinct in their respective counties with authority to carry out the provisions of this chapter and the bounty ordinance enacted by the county commissioners. Said receiving agents shall give bonds, respectively, in the sum of $500 for the faithful performance of their duties. '03, p. 7.

The county clerk of each county shall keep a true account of the moneys paid out under the provisions of this chapter, and whenever the amount so paid reaches the sum of $50 or more, the clerk shall present said account, sworn to by him as being true and correct, to the state auditor, who shall draw his warrant on the

The boards of county commissioners of the respective counties of the state shall be empowered, whenever in their judgment the best interests of the county demand, to provide by ordinance for the payment of rewards for the destruction of certain wild animals and birds, within their respective counties, as follows: Not more than $1 each on foxes and minks; not more than 10 cents each on muskrats; not more than 5 cents each on jack rabbits, prairie dogs, and ground squirrels; not more than 5 cents each on gophers; not more than 25 cents each on pelicans, blue cranes, fishhawks, loons, squawks, and fishducks; not more than 3 cents each on English sparrows, and 5 cents per dozen on the eggs of English sparrows. R. S. '98, § 2039; am'd '03, p. 4.

Bounties on certain wild animals, §§ 435-447.

461. (143x22.) Id. Proceedings to obtain reward. The person or persons who shall hereafter kill any of the above named wild animals or birds, in order to receive the reward mentioned in the next preceding section shall produce the skin, or head, or scalp with ears attached, as required by the county commissioners of the county offering such reward, of such lynx, grey wolf, wildcat, coyote, fox, mink, mountain lion, bear, or rabbit; or the head of such English sparrow, pelican, blue crane, fishhawk, loon, squawk, and fishduck; or the tail of any other animal mentioned in the next preceding section, before the county clerk in and for the county aforesaid; and it shall be the duty of such county clerk to diligently examine such person or persons, and such other witness as said clerk may deem proper, on oath or affirmation, touching the time when and place where such animal or bird was so killed, and the circumstances thereof. If, upon such examination, the county clerk shall be satisfied that such animal or bird was killed by the person or persons producing the skin or head or tail of such animals or birds as mentioned in § 460 within the limits of the county for which said county clerk is qualified to act, he shall immediately cause such skin to be punched in the center of the neck thereof with the letters B. P., said letters to be not less than one inch in length and of proportionate width, or the head or tail of such animal or bird to be burned, and shall issue a warrant on the treasurer of said county for the reward offered, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, to the person or persons producing such skin, tail, or head; provided, that no payments shall be made where the reward for such skins, heads, or tails would be less than $1; provided further, that the county commissioners shall be empowered, when they deem proper, to appoint deputies in such precincts as are situated ten miles or more from the respective county seats with authority to carry out the provisions of this chapter by giving an order on the county clerk for the amount of said reward; said deputies shall give a bond in the penal sum of $200 for the faithful performance of their duties. They shall be governed by such rules and regulations as are provided by ordinance by the county commissioners, and shall be subject to removal at any time.

TITLE 13.

CAPITOL GROUNDS.

464. (144.) Control. It shall be the duty of the state board of examiners to take full possession and control of the capitol grounds, and to do all things which said board may deem necessary and proper for the preparation of said grounds for the purpose for which they are held.

466. (146.) By whom. The county clerk or the county auditor of each county, the auditor or the recorder of each city, the clerk of each board of education, and the clerk of each school district in this state shall indorse a certificate upon every bond, warrant, or other evidence of debt, issued pursuant to law, by any such officer, that the same is within the lawful debt limit of such county, city, board of education, or school district, respectively, and is issued according to law. He shall sign such certificate in his official character.

Debt limit of counties, cities, etc., Con. art. 14, secs. 3, 4.

467. (147.) Provisions governing. Warrants for interest on the bonded debt, for salaries, and for the current expenses of any county, city, school district, or board of education in this state may be certified by the county clerk, county auditor, city recorder, city auditor, clerk of the school district, or clerk of the board of education, to be within the lawful debt limit of such county, city, board of education, or school district, whenever the same, together with all other indebtedness of said city, county, board of education, or school district, shall not exceed the amount of the indebtedness of such city, county, board of education, or school district at the time of the admission of this state into the union, in addition to the whole amount of taxes of such county, city, board of education, or school district for the year in and for which such warrant or warrants are issued.

468. (148.) Protection to officer certifying. Whenever a board of county commmissioners, city council, trustees of a school district, or board of education of any such county, city, or school district shall find or declare that any appropriation or expenditure for which a warrant or warrants are to be issued, was or is for interest upon the bonded debt, for salaries, or for the current expenses of such county, city, board of education, or school district, such finding or declaration shall conclusively protect the county clerk, county auditor, city recorder, city auditor, clerk of the school district, or clerk of the board of education of any such county, city, school district, or board of education, as to such facts, in certifying any warrant or warrants therefor to be within the lawful debt limit of such county, city, board of education, or school district.

469. (149.) Penalty. Any person mentioned in § 466 who shall neglect to indorse any certificate required thereby, or who shall make any such certificate falsely and fraudulently, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable by a fine, not exceeding $1000, or imprisonment in the county jail, not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

470. (150.) What necessary to validity. Unless the possession of personal property be delivered to and retained by the mortgagee, no mortgage thereof shall be valid as against the rights and interests of any person other than the parties thereto, unless:

1. The mortgage, duly witnessed by at least one person, provide that the property may remain in the possession of the mortgagor;

2. The mortgage be accompanied by the affidavit of the parties thereto, or, in case any party is absent, by the affidavit of the parties present and that of the agent or attorney of such absent party, that the same is made in good faith to secure the amount named therein and without any design to hinder or delay the creditors of the mortgagor;

3. The mortgage, or copy thereof, certified to as such by a notary public or other officer authorized to take acknowledgments, be filed in the office of the recorder of the county where the mortgagor resides, or, in case he is a nonresident of this state, in the office of the recorder of the county or counties where the property may be at the time of the execution of the mortgage.

Decisions on conditional sales, note to § 487. All instruments filed with county recorder, except chattel mortgages, must be recorded, § 1595.

Live stock lease to be indexed, §§ 130-133.

Chattel mortgage subject to landlord's lien, it seems, § 3777.

A mortgage must be accompanied by a delivery within a reasonable time, followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the property. The fact that the vendee retains the vendor in his employ, in caring for or in the selling of the property, though a badge of fraud, is not per se a fraud against creditors.

Ewing v. Merkley, 3 U. 406; 4 P. 244.

As between the mortgagee and subsequent creditors, a mortgage is not invalidated by the fact that it recognizes the validity and precedence of a former chattel mortgage which is void, and possession is taken for the benefit of both the mortgagee in the first, and the mortgagee in the second, mortgage.

Eddy v. Ireland, 6 U. 147; 21 P. 501.

Where a chattel mortgage is executed in Michigan, assigning among other things a certain account due in Utah, the law governing is the law of Michigan as to chattel mortgages, which, in the absence of proof, is presumed to be that of Utah.

Oak Leather Co. v. Union Bank, 9 U. 87; 33 P. 246.

The mortgagee having taken possession of the goods at the time the mortgage was given, the fact that the foreclosure was void for irregularity does not divest the mortgagee of his right of possession where he is purchaser at the foreclosure sale, nor does it render the property liable to seizure at the instance of the mortgagor's creditors.

Park v. Parsons, 10 U. 330; 37 P. 570.

The words "hinder" and "delay" have practically the same meaning. The omission of the word "hinder" and the use of the word "delay" or "defraud" does not render the affidavit accompanying a chattel mortgage defective.

Petrovitzky v. Brigham, 14 U. 472; 47 P. 666.

The delivery of stock certificates as security for a loan does not constitute a mortgage, but a pledge.

Barse Co. v. Range Cattle Co., 16 U. 59; 50 P. 630.

Where a mortgage on stock of goods permits the mortgagor to remain in possession and sell the mortgaged property in usual course of trade, and the rights reserved show that it is intended as a shield to the mortgagor, it operates as a fraud upon the rights of creditors and is void.

McKibbon v. Brigham, 18 U. 78; 55 P. 66.

Nelden-J. Drug Co. v. Com'l Bank, 27 U. 59; 74 P. 195.

A mortgage of a specific number of sheep out of a herd comprising a much larger number of similar sheep, which does not separate or designate the sheep mortgaged, is void for uncertainty.

Jacobsen v. Christiansen, 18 U. 149; 55 P. 562.

Deseret Nat. Bank v. Kidman, 25 U. 379; 71 P. 873.

A mortgage is good as between the parties, though not executed in compliance with law.

Johnson v. Hibbard, 27 U. 342; 75 P. 737.

Passow v. Emery, 37 U. 49; 106 P. 935.

An unfiled chattel mortgage is valid against all persons having claims against the mortgagor which accrued previous to execution and delivery of mortgage, unless such persons acquire a lien by attachment or otherwise against the property before mortgage is filed.

Volker Lbr. Co. v. Utah and O. L. Co. et al., 45 U. 603; 148 P. 365.

Where chattel mortgage is filed it becomes effective against all persons extending credit to mortgagor after such filing, unless such persons can invalidate it on the ground of fraud or other legal basis of attack.

Id.

Where it clearly appears from a reading of the certificate in connection with the affidavit in a chattel mortgage, that the one who executed the mortgage was the same person who acknowledged its execution, there was a sufficient compliance with the statute.

Deseret Nat. Bank. v. Kidman, 25 U. 379; 71 P. 873.

471. (152.) Foreclosure. An action for the foreclosure of a mortgage of personal property or for the enforcement of any lien thereon, may be conducted in the manner provided by law for the foreclosure of a mortgage or lien upon real property, and without the right of redemption; or, a mortgage of personal property containing a power of sale upon default being made in the conditions of such mortgage, authorizing the exercise of such power, may be foreclosed, by advertisement, in the manner and upon the notice hereinafter provided.

Foreclosure of mortgages, real and chattel, §§ 7230-7237.

A mortgagee of personal property held as indemnity for signing a note as surety, may, with the mortgagor's consent, take possession of such property and sell it under foreclosure, even before he has been indemnified by reason of his suretyship. Where such transaction is carried out in good faith, it will be binding on the mortgagor's creditors.

Park v. Parsons, 10 U. 330; 37 P. 570.

Foreclosure held to be in time as against purchasers.

Armstrong v. Broom, 5 U. 176; 13 P. 364; affirmed 137 U. S. 266.

Under Wyoming statute, a chattel mortgage does not pass title without foresclosure and sale; one who purchases of mortgagor takes subject to lien of mortgagee.

Blyth & Fargo Co. v. Houtz, 24 U. 62; 66 P. 611.

An action to foreclose a chattel mortgage may be started in a county where the note is payable though the property is in and defendants reside in, another county.

Emerson, Brantingham Imp. Co. v. Giles, 52 U. —; 173 P. —.

472. (153.) Enjoining foreclosure by advertisement. When the mortgagee or his assignee has commenced foreclosure by advertisement, and it shall be made to appear, by the affidavit of the mortgagor or his agent or attorney, to the satisfaction of the judge of the district court of the county where the mortgaged property is situated, that the mortgagor has a legal counterclaim or any other valid defense against the collection of the whole or any part of the amount claimed to be due on such mortgage, such judge may, by an order to that effect, enjoin the mortgagee or assignee from foreclosing such mortgage by advertisement, and direct that all further proceedings for the foreclosure be had in the district court properly having jurisdiction of the subject matter.

N. Dak. (1895), § 5884*.

The judge of the district court is powerless to impose conditions upon the mortgagor's rights given under this section, as by requiring a bond from the mortgagor.

Watts v. Greenwood, 49 U. 118; 162 P. 72.

But under § 1813, the court has the power, where it appears that the mortgaged property is perishable or that it is live stock, to call on the mortgagor to consent to sell or to require indemnity bond from him, or to order the property sold, or otherwise to protect the rights of the parties.

Id.

473. (154.) Discharge. Penalty. A chattel mortgage, when satisfied, shall be discharged by an entry by the mortgagee, his agent, assignee, or legal representative, on the margin of the index, which shall be attested by the recorder without fee; or the recorder may discharge the same on the presentation of an order in writing duly signed and acknowledged. After the full performance of the conditions of the mortgage, any mortgagee, agent, assignee, or legal representative who shall wilfully neglect, for the space of ten days after being requested, to discharge the same, shall be liable to the mortgagor or his assigns in the sum of $50 damages, and also for all actual damages sustained by such neglect or refusal.

Neb. (1895) § 3189*.

474. (155.) Chattel mortgage expires in three years. Renewal. Every mortgage so filed shall be void as against the creditors of the person making the same, or against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith, after the expiration of three years after the filing thereof; unless within thirty days after the expiration of the term of three years from such filing and within thirty days after the expiration of each year thereafter, the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, shall make an affidavit exhibiting the interest of the mortgagee in the property at the time last aforesaid claimed by virtue of such mortgage, and if such mortgage is to secure the payment of money the amount yet due and unpaid, and shall file the same with the county recorder, to be attached to the instrument or copy on file, to which it relates; provided, that no mortgage of personal property shall be valid as against creditors of the mortgagor or subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith after the expiration of the five years from the date of the original filing.

Am'd '15, p. 51.

Kan. (1889) § 3905.

Under § 5, chap. 21, laws of Utah, 1884, a mortgage on chattels was made in good faith to secure a bona fide debt, although the property was found in the possession of the mortgagor ninety days after the maturity of the obligation; but notice of lis pendens of a suit to foreclose was filed on the day preceding the expiration of the said ninety days; held, that a decree of foreclosure and sale made in said suit will prevail against purchasers with notice under an execution issued and levied on the next day after the expiration of said ninety days.

Armstrong v. Broom, 5 U. 176; 13 P. 364; affirmed 137 U. S. 266.

Affidavit and statement may be filed at any time subsequent to the expiration of the thirty days, provided they are filed before any rights have attached to the mortgaged property; time not being of the essence of the right, except where rights exist or are acquired on the mortgaged property before the thirty day period has expired.

Grubb v. Lashus, 42 U. 254; 129 P. 1029.

475. (156.) Id. If such effidavit be made and filed before any purchase of such mortgaged property shall be made, or other mortgage deposited, or lien obtained thereon, in good faith, it shall be as valid to continue in effect such mortgage as if the same had been made and filed within the period above provided.

Kan. (1889) § 3906.

476. (157.) Seizure by third party. Personal property mortgaged may be taken on attachment, if any legal cause for attachment exists, or on execution issued at the suit of a creditor of a mortgagor; but, before the property is so taken, the officer must pay or tender the mortgagee the amount of the mortgage debt and interest at the place where by its terms it is made payable, if such place is within this state. If it specifies no place of payment, or if it is payable without this state, then he must deposit the amount thereof with the county recorder of any county wherein the mortgage is filed, payable to the mortgagee or his order.

477. (158.) Copy of mortgage as evidence. A copy of any mortgage of personal property, made and filed as provided in this title, certified by the recorder in whose office the same shall be filed, may be read in evidence in any court in this state without further proof of the execution of the original, if such original be out of the control of the person wishing to use it.

478. (159.) Bills of sale, etc. The provisions of the foregoing sections shall extend to and include all such bills of sale, deeds of trust, and other conveyances of personal property as shall have the effect of a mortgage or lien upon such property.

Conditional sales of equipment to railroads; §§ 487, 1269. Decisions on conditional sales; note to § 487.

479. (160.) Foreclosure by advertisement. Notice. Notice that such mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property or some part thereof, shall be given as follows: By advertisement published at least once a week for two successive weeks prior to the sale in some newspaper printed in the county in which such sale is to take place, or, in case no newspaper is printed therein, by posting up notices at least ten days prior to the sale in at least five public places in such county, two of which shall be in the precinct where the mortgaged property is to be offered for sale.

480 (161.) Id. Contents of notice. Every such notice shall specify: First, the date of the mortgage and where filed; second, the names of the mortgagor and mortgagee and the assignee of the mortgagee, if any; third, the amount claimed to be due thereon at the time of the first publication or posting of such notices; fourth, a description of the mortgaged property conforming substantially with that contained in the mortgage; fifth, the time and place of sale.

All sales shall be made by public auction, and shall be commenced between the hours of twelve m. and four o'clock p. m., and shall be held in the county where the mortgage was first filed, or in any county where the property may have been removed by consent of parties and in which the mortgage was duly filed, and in view of the property so being sold. The mortgagee, his assignees, and his or their legal representatives, may fairly and in good faith purchase any of the mortgaged property offered at such sale, and when the mortgage shall have been foreclosed as herein provided any and all right and equity of redemption which the mortgagor may or might have had shall be and become extinguished.

N. Dak. (1895) § 5889*.

485. (166.) Fraudulent disposal of property. Any mortgagor, agent, servant, or employe of any mortgagor of personal property who shall, during the time such mortgage remains in force, destroy, sell, conceal, or otherwise dispose of the whole or any part of the mortgaged property, or who shall remove the same or any part thereof from the state without the written consent of the mortgagee, his legal representatives or assigns, shall be deemed guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding three times the value of the property described in the mortgage, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The term mortgage in this section shall embrace deeds of trust and all instruments intended as security for debt.

486. (167.) Wife must concur. It shall be unlawful for the husband, where the relation of husband and wife exists, to create any lien, by chattel mortgage or otherwise, upon any personal property owned by him and exempt

CONDITIONAL SALES GENERALLY:

Said notices shall contain a statement of the contents of the petition and describe the territory proposed to be incorporated, and the officers to be elected, and shall also designate the time and place at which the election shall be held. The ballots used at such election shall be "for incorporation," or "against incorporation," and if "for incorporation," the names of the persons to be voted for.

522. (171.) Notice of result. It a majority of the ballots cast at such election be in favor of incorporation, the county clerk shall immediately, on the result of the canvass of the returns of said election being filed in the proper office, give notice of the result by publication in the same manner and for the same time as provided in the preceding section, and in such notices he shall designate to which of the classes of municipal corporations hereinafter provided such city shall belong. A copy of the notice, with proper proof of its publication, shall be filed with the papers, and a certified copy of all papers and record entries relating to the matter on file in the clesk's office, shall be filed in the office of the county recorder and in the office of the secretary of state. Upon the filing of said papers, it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to make publication in some newspaper having general circulation within the state, of the incorporation of said city.

Salt Lake City v. Christensen, 34 U. 38; 95 P. 523.

An ordinance requiring a $100 license fee for peddling "wares and merchandise of a general character" and a fee of $7 a quarter for peddling "small articles for household use" is discriminatory because of the uncertainty of its terms, since the same articles might be construed to be included within the ordinance by one court or jury and to be excluded by another, and also it is invalid because it discriminates in favor of the local merchants of the city engaged in selling tne same articles.

A city by-law or ordinance is not a "known law of the land," but a soldier who, when off duty, violates it, may be arrested in the act and restrained by the civil authorities, but may not be tried and punished by them.

Ex parte Bright, 1 U. 145.

An ordinance punishing assault and battery under its power to regulate the police, or creating an offense for which no express authority is given in its charter, is void.

People v. Brown, 2 U. 462.

Where an ordinance and an act of the legislature relate to the same subject matter, the ordinance is not repealed by the act unless repugnant to the latter, since repeals must be clear, particularly of special or local laws or ordinances.

An ordinance has the force and effect in favor of the municipality and against persons bound thereby, of a legislative enactment.

Heath v. S. L. City, 16 U. 374; 52 P. 602.

The authority of a municipal corporation is limited to such powers as are expressly granted to it, and such as may become necessary to their exercise.

Ogden City v. Bear Lake W. Co., 16 U. 440; 52 P. 697.

It is not competent to prove the unreasonableness of a city ordinance by the conclusions of witnesses. The regulation by ordinance is left to the city council. It should be a plain case to justify the court interfering with that determination.

Ogden City v. Bell Tel. Co., 17 U. 66; 53 P. 985.

In a proceeding not to collect a license, but to enforce a penalty for its violation, it may be enforced by fine or imprisonment, under the ordinance.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary it will be presumed that water rates agreed upon between a city and a water company are fair and reasonable.

May work vagrants, § 570x51.

Authority granted by resolution of a city council, directing the marshal to work prisoners, does not confer the right to require those in custody, but illegally imprisoned and not sentenced to hard labor, to be thus employed. Royce v. Salt Lake City, 15 U. 401; 49 P. 290.

The plaintiff was sentenced to imprisonment, but not to hard labor; he was put to work by the chief of police and received an injury from a fellow prisoner; held, that the corporation was not liable for such unlawful act of its chief of police; held further, that a resolution of the city council directing the marshal to work prisoners does not confer the right to require those not sentenced to hard labor to be thus employed. Id.

Under provisions of this section and §§ 551-553, 602, where office of chief of police was previously created and the salary fixed by city ordinance, the confirmation by a majority of the council was necessary.

State, ex rel. v. Sheets, 26 U. 105; 72 P. 334.

Under this section and section 2330 the office of the justice of peace in a city of the second class is terminated on the date designated in § 2330, and the commissioners have authority to appoint a justice of the peace.

Salaries, § 612, and note.

Appointments, how made, § 601.

The power of removal of appointive officers exists as a sound and necessary rule as incident to the power of appointment unless restricted by constitutional provisions or statutory regulations.

People, ex rel. Murphy v. McAllister, 10 U. 357; 37 P. 578.

The legislature may place the power of appointment in one person or body of persons, and the power of removal in another person or body of persons, and this is a rightful subject of legislation.

Id.

Under § 313, C. L. 1888, appointive officers can only be removed by the council for cause and after hearing.

Id.

Under the laws of 1892, p. 17, authorizing the mayor of Salt Lake City to appoint all officers theretofore appointed by the council, the mayor has no power of removal.

Pratt v. Swan, 16 U. 483; 52 P. 1092.

Policemen appointed under police and fire bill of 1896, continued in office under the tenure thereof, after the repeal of such law.

Firemen appointed under police and fire bill of 1896, did not continue in office under the tenure thereof, after the repeal of that law.

Moreton v. Swan, 20 U. 79; 57 P. 718.

The power creating an office has the right at any time to abolish it, if done in good faith; but where the incumbent is entitled to hold the office during good behavior, and, before the ordinance abolishing the office takes effect, another ordinance is passed re-creating the office and another person is appointed to the place, the removal was ineffective and the first incumbent is entitled to the emoluments of the office.

Silvey v. Boyle, 20 U. 205; 57 P. 880.

City council may abolish such offices in police department as it sees fit, and employes discharged thereby are not thereafter entitled to be paid any salary.

Meissner v. Boyle, 20 U. 316; 58 P. 1110.

Where the office of city justice of the peace was abolished and the election of a successor to the justice then in office prohibited by an act of the legislature, the incumbent could

Where defendant lived on a farm outside the city, and beyond the benefit of municipal expenditures, an act of the legislature subjecting his property to municipal taxation was not rightful legislation, and was in violation of the constitution of the U. S., amendment 5, providing that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation.
People v. Daniels, 6 U. 288; 22 P. 159.

A city has authority to assess and collect taxes for municipal purposes on property within its limits, without regard to the benefits that the individual taxpayer may derive from the municipal government and expenditure. (Overruling People v. Daniels, 6 U. 288; 22 P. 159; Cook v. Crandall, 7 U. 344; 26 P. 927; and criticising Kaysville v. Ellison, 18 U. 163; 55 P. 386.)

SPECIAL TAXES

673. (255.) Local improvements. The city council of each city in the state of Utah shall have the following powers: To lay out, establish, open, alter, extend, widen, and improve streets, alleys, avenues, sidewalks, parks, and public grounds, and vacate the same; and to grade, curb and gutter, park and beautify, or otherwise improve and keep in good repair, or cause the same to be done in any manner it may deem proper, any park, street, avenue, or alley within the limits of the city; and may grade partially or to the established grade or park, or otherwise improve any part of any street, avenue, or alley; and may also construct and repair, or cause and compel the construction and repair, of sidewalks in such city, of such material and in such manner as it may deem proper.

Power to establish and improve streets, etc., § 570x8.
Special tax for street lighting, §§ 720-734.
Powers of council and mayor vested in commission, §§ 533, 601.
Funds kept separate and how disbursed, §§ 744-748.

674. (256.) Special taxes. Ordinary repairs. Paving districts. To defray or cause to be defrayed the cost and expense of such improvements or any of them, the city council shall have power and authority to levy and collect special taxes and assessments upon the blocks, lots, or parts thereof, and pieces of ground adjacent to or abutting upon the street, avenue, alley, or sidewalk thus in whole or in part opened, widened, curbed and guttered, graded, parked, extended, constructed, or otherwise improved or repaired, or which may be especially benefited by any of said improvements; provided, that the above provisions shall not apply to ordinary repairs of streets or alleys, and that one-half of the expense of bringing streets, avenues, alleys, or parts thereof to the established grade shall be paid out of the general fund of the city; and such council shall have power to pave, repave, or macadamize any street or alley or part thereof in the city, and for that purpose to create suitable paving districts, which shall be consecutively numbered, such work to be done under contract.

The legislature has no power to levy or authorize a municipality to levy a local tax for general purposes.
Bromley v. Reynolds, 2 U. 525.
Where a city has power to levy taxes by local assessment for certain purposes, permanent in their nature, and for other like purposes, but street sprinkling, not being included in the enumeration, and not being a "like purpose" to those enumerated, is excluded, and a local tax levy to provide for street sprinkling is void.
Pettit v. Duke, 10 U. 311; 37 P. 568.

675. (257.) Paving taxes, how levied. The cost of paving, macadamizing, or repaving of the streets and alleys within any paving district, except the intersection of streets and space opposite alleys within such district, shall be assessed upon the lots and lands abutting upon the streets and alleys in such district, in proportion to the square feet, or feet front, or both, so abutting upon such streets and alleys.

676. (258.) Id. When delinquent. Collection. Supplemental assessment. The assessments of special taxes for paving purposes herein provided for shall be made as follows: The total costs of the improvements shall be levied at one time upon the property, and become delinquent as herein provided: one-tenth of the total amount shall be delinquent in fifty days after such levy, one-tenth in one year, one-tenth in two years, one-tenth in three years, one-tenth in four years, one-tenth in five years, one-tenth in six years, one-tenth in seven years, one-tenth in eight years, and one-tenth in nine years. Each of said instalments, except the first, shall draw interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the time of levy aforesaid until the same shall become delinquent, and after the same shall become delinquent, interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum shall be paid thereon; provided, the total cost of the improvemnts shall become delinquent at such time and in such instalments, or the entire sum at one time, as the city council of such city may prescribe; but such entire sum shall not become delinquent in a less time than one year. Such taxes shall be collected and enforced as in other cases of special taxes. In cases of omission, errors, or mistakes, in making such assessment or levy in respect of the total cost of the improvements, or deficiencies, or otherwise, it shall be competent for the council to make a supplemental assessment and levy to supply such deficiencies, omissions, errors, or mistakes.

Stinson v. Godbe, 46 U. 468; 150 P. 967.

677. (259.) Intersections. Duties of railway companies. The cost of paving, macadamizing, or repaving the intersections of streets and spaces opposite alleys in any paving district shall be paid by the city as hereinafter provided; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to exempt any street railway company from keeping every portion of every street, avenue, and alley used by it, upon or across which its tracks shall be constructed at or near the grade of such streets, in good and safe condition for public travel, but it shall keep the same planked, paved, macadamized, or otherwise in such condition for public travel as the city council of such city may from time to time direct, keeping the plank, pavement, or other surface of the street or alley level with the top of the rails of the track of such street railway. The portions of the streets or alleys to be so kept and maintained by all such street railway companies shall include all the space between its different rails and tracks and also a space outside of the outer rail of each outside track of at least two feet in width, and the tracks herein referred to shall include not only the main tracks but also all side tracks, crossings, and turnouts constructed for the use of such street railways.

678. (260.) District paving bonds. For the purpose of paying the cost of paving, macadamizing, or repaving the streets and alleys in any paving district, exclusive of the intersections of streets and spaces opposite alleys therein, the council shall have power, and may by ordinance cause to be issued bonds of the city, to be called "district paving bonds of district number .....," payable in not exceeding ten years from date, and to bear interest, payable annually, not exceeding the rate of six per cent per annum, and in such case shall also provide that said special taxes and assessments shall constitute a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds and interest, and said bonds shall not be sold for less than their par value; provided, that the entire cost of paving, repaving, or macadamizing any such streets, avenues, or alleys, properly chargeable to any blocks, lots, or lands, or part thereof, within any such paving district, may be paid by the owner of such lots or lands within fifty days from the levy of such special taxes, and thereupon such lots or lands shall be exempt from any lien or charge therefor.

679. (261.) City paving bonds. Whenever the council deems it expedient, it shall have power, for the purpose of paying the cost of paving, repaving, or macadamizing the intersections of streets and spaces opposite alleys in the city, to issue bonds of the city, to run not more than twenty years, and to bear interest payable semi-annually at a rate not exceeding six per cent per annum, to be called "paving bonds," and which shall not be sold for less than their par value, and the proceeds of which shall be used for no other purpose than paying the cost of paving, repaving, or macadamizing the intersections of streets and alleys in the city; provided, that the aggregate amount of such bonds issued in any one year shall not exceed the sum of $100,000; and if in any such city there shall be any real estate not subject to assessment of special taxes for paving purposes, the council shall have the power to pave in front of the same and to pay the cost thereof that would otherwise be chargeable on such real estate, in the same manner as herein provided for the paving of intersections of streets and paving therefor. The word "lot" as in this chapter used shall be taken to mean any subdivided real estate. The word "lands" shall mean any unsubdivided real estate. The word "street" shall be deemed to include boulevard and avenue.

680. (262.) Special tax according to benefits accruing. If the lots and real estate abutting upon that part of the street ordered paved, repaved, or macadamized, as shown upon any recorded plat or map, are not of uniform depth, or if for any other reason it shall appear just and proper to the council, the council is authorized and empowered to determine and establish the depth to which the real estate shall be charged and assessed with the cost of the improvement, and such depth shall be determined and established according to the benefits accruing to the property by reason of the improvement. The council shall include in the paving district all the real estate to be benefited by such improvement, and shall cause it to be charged and assessed with the cost of such paving or improvement as in this chapter hereinafter provided. The provisions of this chapter in regard to the depth to which real estate may be charged and assessed, shall apply to all special taxes that may be levied, except for sidewalk, in proportion to the front or square feet.

681. (263.) District curbing and guttering bonds. Whenever curbing, or curbing and guttering, is done upon any street or avenue in any paving district in which paving has been ordered, and the council shall deem expedient so to do, it shall have power and authority, for the purpose of paying the cost of such curbing and guttering, to cause to be issued bonds of the city, to be called "curbing and guttering bonds of paving district number .....," payable in not exceeding ten years from date, and to bear interest payable annually, not exceeding the rate of six per cent per annum, and in such case shall assess at one time the total cost of such curbing and guttering, or curbing, as the case may be, upon the property abutting or adjacent to the portion of the street or avenue so improved, according to special benefits; such assessment to become delinquent the same as the assessment of special taxes for paving purposes, and to draw the same rate of interest and be subject to the same penalties, and may be paid in the same manner as special taxes for paving purposes; and the special taxes so assessed shall constitute a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds and interest; and said bonds shall not be sold for less than their par value.

682. (264.) Errors not to avoid tax. Action to recover. Certain special taxes confirmed. No such special tax shall be declared void, nor shall any such assessment or part thereof be set aside in consequence of any error or irregularity committed or appearing in any of the proceedings under this chapter; but any party feeling aggrieved by any such special tax, assessment, or proceeding may pay the said special taxes assessed or levied upon his property, or such instalments thereof as may be due, at any time before the same shall become delinquent, under protest, and with notice in writing to the city treasurer that he intends to sue to recover the same, which notice shall particularly state the alleged grievance and grounds thereof, whereupon such party shall have the right to bring civil action within sixty days thereafter, and not later, to recover so much of the special taxes paid as he shall show to be illegal, inequitable, and unjust, the cost to follow the judgment to be apportioned by the court as may seem proper, which remedy shall be exclusive. The city treasurer shall promptly report all such notices to the city council for such action as may be proper. No court shall entertain any complaint that the party was authorized to make, and did not make, to the city council sitting as a board of equalization, nor any complaint not specified in said notice fully enough to advise the city of the exact nature thereof; nor any complaint that does not go to the groundwork, equity, and justice of the tax. The burden of proof to show such tax or part thereof invalid, inequitable, or unjust shall rest upon the party who brings such suit. And in any instance where such special tax, or the levy or assessment or notice thereof, or any step or proceeding affecting or concerning the same, is annulled, set aside, or declared void, either in whole or in part, by any court or in any proceeding whatsoever, at any time after a contract for the improvement to be paid for by said special tax is let or entered into, or at any time after work on such improvement has begun, the city council may by ordinance make a new levy of such tax to the same amount and extent as such original tax was declared invalid or was annulled, whether such tax was held void for jurisdictional or other defects or irregularities. No notice of such ordinance need be given, and no protest against the same need be considered. All special taxes heretofore levied or attempted to be levied in cities which have not heretofore been adjudicated void, and all notices, assessments, equalizations, and proceedings taken in relation thereto, whether void, defective, or valid, in all cases where the improvements contemplated thereby have been made or contracted for, are hereby confirmed, validated, and made sufficient to the same extent as if the same were perfect in the first instance. Am'd '05, p. 83.

This section does not apply to an attempted assessment of exempt property and does not preclude a suit to annul such an assessment.
Wey v. S. L. C., 135 U. 504; 101 P. 381.

Failure to make an order, required by municipal ordinance, directing the improvement to be made, is not jurisdictional, and does not deprive the council of jurisdiction to assess and levy a tax therefor.
Stott v. Salt Lake City, 47 U. 113; 151 P. 988.

Where a contract is entered into to build a "mortar wearing surface sidewalk," but subsequently the contractors were ordered to construct a monolithic sidewalk, such departure does not constitute an abandonment of the contract, the two kinds of construction differing only in the mixture of materials.

Id.

Where the construction of a sidewalk has been completed, and the work accepted by the city council, and the abutting owners have failed to effectually protest, they are estopped, in the absence of fraud or mistake, on a collateral attack in a proceeding to restrain the assessment and collection of taxes to pay for the improvement, to assert that the work was not done in accordance with the contract.
Id.

683. (265.) Board of equalization. Whenever the city shall levy any tax under the provisions of this chapter, in cities other than cities of the first and the second class, the city council shall appoint a board of equalization and review, to consist of five of its members. In cities of the first and the second class, the board of commissioners shall constitute a board of equalization and review, which said board shall, upon the completion of the lists of property in any of the districts taxed, give public notice of the completion of said lists. Such notice shall state the time and place of meeting of said board, and the same shall be during the usual business hours and for not less than five consecutive days, and during the time specified said lists shall be open to public inspection, and any person feeling aggrieved shall have a hearing, and it shall have authority to make corrections of any tax deemed unequal or unjust. Am'd '11, p. 231.

684. (266.) Railways to pave and repair. All horse, cable, steam, electric, or other railway companies now existing or hereafter created in any city already incorporated or hereafter organized shall be required to pave or repave at their own cost all the space between their different rails and tracks and also a space two feet wide outside of the outer rails of the outside tracks, and the tracks herein referred to shall include not only the main tracks but also all side tracks, crossings, and turnouts used by such companies. Where two or more companies occupy the same street or alley with separate tracks, then each company shall be responsible for its proportion of the surface of the street or alley occupied by all the parallel tracks as herein required. Such paving or repaving by such railway companies shall be done at the same time and shall be of the same material and character as the paving or repaving of the streets or alleys upon which said railway track or tracks are located, unless other material be specially ordered by the city council or board of public works. Such railway companies shall be required to keep that portion of the street which they are herein required to pave or repave in good and proper repair, using for said purpose the same material as the street upon which the track or tracks are laid at the point of repair or such other material as the city council or board of public works may require and order; and as streets are hereafter paved, or repaved, street railway companies shall be required to lay, in the best approved manner, a rail to be approved by the city council or board of public works. The tracks of all railway companies, when located upon the streets or avenues of the city, shall be kept in repair and safe in all respects for the use of the traveling public, and said companies shall be liable for all damages resulting by reason of neglect to keep such tracks in repair, or for obstructing the streets or avenues of such city. For injuries to persons or property arising from the failure of such company to keep its tracks in proper repair and free from obstructions, such company shall be liable and the city shall be exempt from liability. The word "companies" as used in this chapter shall be taken to mean and include any persons, companies, corporations, or associations owning or operating any street or other railway in any such city.

685. (267.) Id. Levy on railroad. In the event of the refusal of such company to pave, repave, or repair as required in the foregoing sections, when so directed by the council, upon the paving or repaving of any street upon which its track is laid, the council shall have power to pave, repave, or repair the same, and the cost and expense of such paving, repaving, or repairing may be collected by levy and sale of any property of said street railway company in the same manner as special taxes are now or may be collected.

Special taxes for the purpose of paying the cost of any such paving or repaving, macadamizing, or repairing of any such street railway, may be levied upon the track, including the ties, iron, roadbed, right of way, side tracks, and appurtenances, including buildings and real estate belonging to any such company or person and used for the purpose of such street railway business, all as one property; or upon such parts of such track, appurtenances, and property, or any part thereof, as may be within the district paved, repaved, macadamized, or repaired, and shall be a lien upon the property levied upon from the time of the levy until satisfied. No mortgage, conveyance, pledge, transfer, or incumberance of any such property or of any rolling stock or personal property of any such company, created or suffered by a company after the time when any street or part thereof upon which any street railway shall have been laid, shall have been ordered paved, repaved, macadamized, or repaired, shall be made or suffered except subject to the lien of such special taxes, if such levy be in contemplation.

686. (268.) Seizure and sale. The city treasurer shall have the power and authority to seize any personal property belonging to any such person or company for the satisfaction of any such special taxes when delinquent, and to sell the same upon advertisement and in the same manner as constables are now or may be authorized to sell personal property, upon execution at law; but failure so to do shall in no wise affect or impair the lien of the tax or any proceeding allowed by law for the enforcement thereof. The railroad track or any other property upon which such special taxes shall be levied, or so much thereof as may be necessary, may be sold for the payment of such special taxes in the same manner and with the same effect as real estate, upon which such special taxes may be levied, may be sold.

687. (269.) Action against railway. Defense. It shall also be competent for any such city to bring a civil action against any party owning or operating any such street railway, and liable to pay said taxes, to recover the amount thereof, or any part thereof delinquent and unpaid, in any court having jurisdiction of the amount, and obtain judgment and have execution therefor, and no property, real or personal, shall be exempt from any such execution; provided, that real estate shall not be levied upon by execution except by execution out of the district court on the judgment therein, or transcript of judgment filed therein, as is now or hereafter may be provided by law. No defense shall be allowed in any such civil action except such as goes to the groundwork, equity, and justice of the tax, and the burden of proof shall rest upon the party assailing the tax. In case part of such special tax shall be shown to be invalid, unjust, or inequitable, judgment shall be rendered for such amount as is just and equitable.

688. (270.) Railway tax payable in instalments. It shall be competent for the council, upon the written application of any company, or persons owning any such street railway, to provide that such special taxes shall become delinquent and be payable in instalments, as in case of taxes levied upon abutting real estate as hereinafter provided, but such application shall be taken and deemed a waiver of any and all objections to such taxes and the validity thereof. Such application shall be made at or before the final levy of such taxes. The provision of this chapter in regard to the levy, collection, and enforcement of special taxes to pay the costs of paving, repaving, macadamizing, or repairing between the rails of street railways shall apply to such special taxes hereafter levied.

689 (271.) Water, gas, and sewer connections. The council shall have power, in any paving district, and it shall be its duty before the work of paving or repaving is done therein, to require water, gas, and sewer connections to be made under such regulations and at such distances from the street mains to the line of the property abutting upon the street ordered paved or repaved as may be prescribed by ordinance, and shall require that such water pipe connections may be made by any waterworks company owning the water pipe main, and that such gas pipe connection may be made by any gas pipe company owning the gas pipe main. And upon neglect or failure of the water or gas companies to do the same, the city council or board of public works may cause the same to be done, and the cost thereof shall be deducted from any indebtedness of the city to such companies, and no bills shall be paid to the said companies by the city until all such expense for pipe laying shall have been liquidated. The council shall also have power, at any time, to assess the cost of any sewer connections and also of any water connections, when the city owns the water and water pipe main, upon the property opposite such connections, and to such depth as the council shall deem just and equitable.

690. (272.) Limit of bonded indebtedness. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed or held to authorize any city to issue bonds of the city, either as district bonds, for paving the streets, or for paving said street intersections, or spaces opposite alleys in said city, or for any purpose whatever to any amount beyond that fixed as the limit of the bonded indebtedness of said city by law.

691. (273.) Notice of intention to tax. In all cases before the levy of any taxes for improvements provided for in this chapter, the city council shall give notice of intention to levy said taxes, naming the purposes for which the taxes are to be levied, which notice shall be published at least twenty days in a newspaper published within such city. Such notice shall describe the improvements so proposed, the boundaries of the district to be affected or benefited by such improvements, the estimated cost of such improvements, and designate a time when the council will consider the proposed levy. If, at or before the time so fixed, written objections to such improvements signed by the owners of two-thirds of the front feet abutting upon that portion of the street, lane, avenue, or alley to be so improved, be not filed with the recorder, the council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order the making of such improvements. Am'd '01, p. 153.

A notice of intention to pave, given under § 13, p. 64, of the law of 1890, which shows the intention to levy the tax, its purposes, a general description of improvements, the boundaries of the paving district proposed, the estimated cost, and the time set for hearing written objections to such tax, is sufficient; and where, before the hearing, the owners of more than one-half of the abutting property liable for such tax filed written objections, the city council acquired no jurisdiction to proceed with the paving.

Armstrong v. Ogden City, 9 U. 255; 34 P. 53.

A notice of intention to create a certain curb and gutter district, and to "build therein concrete curbs and gutters," and to do "the necessary grading therefor," was not notice of an intention to change the grade of the whole street, and, as such notice or intention was jurisdictional, the tax assessed for lowering the grade of the entire street was invalid, but a court of equity will restrain only the invalid portion of such taxes.

Gwilliam v. Ogden City, 49 U. 555; 164 P. 1022.

The notice of intention is jurisdictional, and property not necessarily included in the general description and expressly excluded by the specific description cannot thereafter be legally assessed by amendment of tax ordinance so as to include it, without a new notice of intention.

Jones v. Foulger, 46 U. 419; 150 P. 933.

A railroad owning the right of way across which a street is to be paved may validly protest against improvement.

Cave v. Ogden City, 50 U. —; 169 P. 163.

This section contemplates protest only by owners of legal title, and the prior owner of property where the county owns it under a tax deed or a corporation occupying frontage owned by individuals may not validly protest.

692. (274.) Tax to be equitable. How levied All special taxes to cover the cost of any public improvement herein authorized shall be levied and assessed on all blocks, lots, parts of blocks and lots, lands, and real estate bounding, abutting, or adjacent to such improvement or within the districts created for the purpose of making such improvement, to the extent of the benefits to such lots, parts of lots, lands, and real estate by reason of such improvement; such benefits to be equal and uniform. Such assessments may be according to the square foot or foot frontage, and may be prorated and scaled back from the line of such improvement and an allowance made for corner lots so that they shall not be assessed at full rate on both streets, according to such rules as the council shall consider fair and equitable; and all such assessment and finding of benefits shall not be subject to review in any legal or equitable action, except for fraud, gross injustice, or mistake; provided, that when any public improvement shall extend into or through any undivided tract or parcel, or parcels, of land, said taxes shall be levied so as not to be charged against the real estate adjoining such improvement for a greater depth than the average distance through the subdivided real estate to be taxed for said purpose.

Taxpayers are not required to protest, before the city council sitting as a board of equalization, against the levying of a tax to pay for sidewalk construction as a condition precedent to bringing suit to restrain such collection where the protest, if made, would have been unavailing.

Stott v. Salt Lake City, 47 U. 113; 151 P. 988.

Where the lowest bid greatly exceeded the estimated cost and before the assessment was made notice was published as required by § 683, and no protest being made the contract was let; held, that as an estimate is merely an approximate judgment, the city did not lose jurisdiction to levy an assessment in excess of the estimated cost of the improvement.

Branting v. Salt Lake City, 47 U. 296; 153 P. 995.

An assessment for local improvements cannot exceed the benefit.

Id.

693. (275.) Description in levy. It shall be sufficient, in any case, in making a levy or assessment of any tax, to describe the lot or piece of ground as the same is platted and recorded, although the same may belong to several persons; but in case any lot or piece of ground belongs to different persons, the owner of any part thereof may pay his proportion of the tax on such lot or piece of ground, and his proper share may be determined by the city treasurer.

694. (276.) Total cost in one levy. The cost and expense of grading, filling, culverting, curbing, guttering, or otherwise improving, constructing, or repairing streets, avenues, alleys, and sidewalks at their intersections, may be included in the special tax levied for the construction or improvement of any one street, avenue, alley, or sidewalk, as may be deemed best by the council.

695. (277.) When levied. Special taxes may be levied as the improvements are completed in front of, or along, or upon any block, or lot, or part thereof, or piece of ground, or at the time the improvement is entirely completed, as shall be provided in the ordinance levying the tax; provided, that any levy of a special tax for special improvements shall not be made until the cost of such improvement shall first have been ascertained by contract, duly let to the lowest responsible bidder, after publication of notice for at least twenty days in a newspaper of general circulation published in the city where such improvements are to be made, and the cost of such improvements shall not exceed to the property owner the amount of the contract entered into for the performance of the work; provided further, that bids for the doing of all work contemplated by each special improvement shall be separately solicited and a separate contract be let therefor as above provided. Am'd '07, p. 194.

696. (278.) Notice of delinquency. When any special tax is levied it shall be the duty of the city recorder to deliver to the city treasurer a certified copy of the ordinance levying such tax, and such treasurer shall, without delay, give at least five days' notice in one or more newspapers having general circulation in said city, of the time when such tax will become delinquent.

697. (279.) Special taxes may be levied. Special or local taxes may be levied by the city council or board of trustees of any city or town in this state for the purpose of constructing, reconstructing, extending, or maintaining waterworks, reservoirs, canals, and ditches, laying pipes and mains, erecting hydrants and keeping the same in repair; for the purpose of supplying water for domestic and irrigation purposes, or either, and for the purpose of regulating, controlling, and distributing the same, and for the purpose of regulating and controlling water and water courses leading into the city or town; for constructing and maintaining gas, electric, or other plants for illumination, and the necessary means and cost of distribution; and for constructing, extending, and repairing sewers and drains; and for constructing and paving of sidewalks; such taxes to be levied on the real estate lying and being within the district in which such improvements may be made, or for the benefit of which such taxes are to be expended, to the extent of the benefits to such property, by reason of such improvement or expenditure, the benefits to such property to be determined by the council or board of trustees; provided, that in cases where the council or board of trustees shall find such benefits to be equal and uniform, such levy may be made according to the front feet or square feet of lots or real estate within said district or according to such other rule as the council or board of trustees may adopt for such distribution or adjustment of such costs upon the lots or real estate in such district benefited by such improvement or expenditure, and all taxes or assessments made for such purposes shall be collected in the same manner as other special assessments, and shall be subject to the same penalty; provided, that a tax levied for supplying water for irrigation, and for distributing and regulating the same, may be levied upon real estate according to the amount or water used thereon, or may be levied as an acreage tax. Am'd '11, p. 218.

Woodring v. Straup, 45 U. 173; 143 P. 592.

698. (280.) Repairs. The foregoing provisions of this chapter shall apply to the repaving of streets and sidewalks, but not to repairs thereon. The council shall, by ordinance, define what constitutes repaving, what repairs, and what extraordinary repairs. The cost of ordinary repairs shall be borne by the city; and the council may levy and collect special taxes upon the abutting property for the purpose of defraying the cost of repairs defined to be extraordinary without previous notice of intention, or any right of the property owners to protest. The right of protest shall not exist in cases where, for any reason, any part of a street or sidewalk lying within a paving district or any extension thereof, shall not have been paved when the remainder of such district or extension was paved, and the council shall afterward levy a tax upon the abutting property for the payment of the same.

699. (281.) Special assessment a lien. Special assessments made and levied to defray the cost and expenses of any work contemplated by the provisions of this chapter, and the cost of collection thereof, shall constitute a lien upon and against the property upon which such assessment is made and levied, from and after the date thereof, and such assessment shall be collected in the manner prescribed by ordinance.

Lannan v. Waltenspiel, 45 U. 564; 147 P. 908.

700. (282.) Change of grade. Damages. Whenever by the grading of any street, alley, or other public ground in a city, pursuant to the action of the city authorities in changing the established grade of such street, alley, or public ground, after valuable improvements have been made upon real property abutting thereon, such real property is injured or diminished in value, the owner of such real porperty or improvements may recover from such city the amount of such damagaes or diminution in value in a civil action brought for that purpose. This section shall be held to cover and apply to all cases wherein a change of established grades of streets, alleys, or public grounds may have been heretofore determined upon, but has not been carried into actual effect.

Webber v. Salt Lake City, 40 U. 221; 120 P. 503.

CHAPTER 15.

LIGHTING OF PUBLIC STREETS IN MUNICIPALITIES.

('13, p. 136; '15 p. 143.)

720. Lighting public streets and places. Powers of city councils and town boards. The board of commissioners or city council of any city, and the board of trustees of any incorporated town, in the state of Utah shall have full power to order poles, posts, wires, pipes, conduits, and lamps, or any of said appliances, or any other suitable and necessary appliances, to be installed in and along the whole or any part of one or more public streets, alleys, courts, or places in such city or town, for the purpose of lighting the same; and to acquire the use of poles, posts, wires, pipes, conduits, and lamps, or of any of said appliances located or installed in or along the whole or any part of one or more public streets, alleys, courts, or places in such city or town, for the purpose of lighting the same, and to order any such appliances installed or otherwise provided under this chapter to be maintained, and also to order gas, electric current, or other illuminating agent to be furnished for such lighting, and to defray or cause to be defrayed the cost and expense of such improvements, or any of them, by levying and collecting special taxes and assessments upon the blocks, lots, or parts thereof, and pieces or subdivisions of ground fronting or abutting upon the public streets, alleys, courts, or places so lighted and benefited by such improvement, either to the full depth of such blocks, lots, or subdivisions of ground or to such depth as may be determined by such city commission, city council, or board of town trustees; provided, that where less than full depth of such lots, blocks, or subdivisions thereof is asssesed for such improvement, the depth thereof to be assessed shall be determined and established according to the benefits accruing to the property by reason of the improvement.

Fund kept separate and how disbursed, §§ 744-748.

721. Proposed improvements to be described in resolution. City engineer to furnish plans and specifications, and estimate of cost. Before making any improvement authorized by § 720, the board of commissioners or city council of any city, or the board of trustees of any town, shall pass a resolution declaring its intention to do so, briefly describing the proposed improvement and specifying the exterior boundaries of the district to be benefited by said improvement and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof; and the board of commissioners or city council of any city, and the board of trustees of any town, may, in their discretion, prescribe in said resolution of intention that a certain part or percentage of the cost and expense of said improvement, which part or percentage shall be specified in said resolution, shall be paid out of the treasury of the city or town from such funds as said authorities may designate. Such proposed improvements may include any or all of the different kinds mentioned in § 720; provided, that the use of maintenance of appliances for the furnishing of an illuminating agent shall be for a period stated in such resolution of intention not exceeding three years. Such resolution shall also refer the proposed improvement to the city engineer, if there be one, and if not, to some competent person employed by the municipality for that purpose, and named in said resolution, and shall direct him to make and file with the city recorder or the clerk of the town board a report in writing, which shall present:

1. Plans and specifications for the work required in order to make such improvement;

2. An estimate of the cost of said improvement, and of the incidental expenses in connection therewith;

3. A diagram showing the proposed improvement district and the boundaries and dimensions of the respective lots, parcels, or subdivisions of the land within said district, each of which subdivisions shall be given a separate number in red ink upon said diagram;

4. The proposed assessment of the total amount of the costs and expenses of the proposed improvement upon the several subdivisions of land in said district in proportion to the estimated benefit to be received by such respective subdivisions from such improvement.

And whenever any part or percentage of the cost and expense of such improvement is ordered to be paid out of the treasury of the municipality as hereinabove provided, the amount of such part or percentage shall first be deducted from the total estimated costs and expenses of such improvement, and the proposed assessment upon property shall include the remainder of such estimated costs and expenses. Such assessment shall refer to the subdivisions upon said diagram by the respective red ink numbers thereon, and shall show the names of the owners thereof, if known, otherwise designating them as unknown. No mistake in the name of the owner of any lot or subdivision of land shall affect the validity of the assessment thereon.

722. Engineer's report to be filed. Date for hearing protests. Upon the filing of the report provided for in § 721, the city recorder or clerk of the town board shall present the same to the board of commissioners or city council, or board of town trustees, who thereupon, after considering the same, shall, by resolution, appoint a time and place for hearing protests in relation to such proposed improvement, which time shall not be less than twenty days from the date of the passage of such resolution, and shall direct the city recorder or town clerk to give public notice of such hearing.

723. Notice of proposed improvement to be published. After the passage of the resolution mentioned in § 722, the city recorder or town clerk shall cause a notice to be published on five separate days in a daily newspaper published in such municipality, or if there is no daily newspaper published therein, then by two successive insertions in a weekly newspaper published therein, which notice shall state the fact and date of the passage of the resolution of intention, and of the filing of said report, and the date fixed for the hearing of said protests, and shall briefly describe the improvement proposed, and shall refer to said resolution of intention and report for further particulars. The last publication of such notice shall be at least ten days before the date set for the hearing of such protests.

724. Who may protest. Hearing. Majority of property owners may stay proceedings. Confirmation of assessment. Modification and approval of plans. Notice to contractors. Any person owning property in the proposed improvement district may object, either to said improvement generally, or to the extent of the improvement district, or the proposed assessment fixed in the report provided for in § 721, and may file a written protest setting forth such objection, with the city recorder or the town clerk, at or before the time set for the hearing referred to in § 722. Such officer shall endorse on every such protest the date of its receipt by him, and at the time appointed for the hearing hereinabove provided for shall present to the board of commissioners or city council or board of town trustees, all protests so filed with him. If the board of commissioners or city council or board of town trustees shall find that protests against said improvement generally are signed by the owners of a majority of the front feet located by blocks, lots, and subdivisions of the property fronting or abutting on the public streets, alleys, courts, or places within said improvement district, all proceedings under said resolution of intention shall cease, and no new resolution of intention for the same improvement shall be passed within six months after the hearing of such protests, unless the owners of a majority of the front feet of the property in said proposed improvement district shall in the meantime petition therefor. If the board of commissioners or city council or board of town trustees shall find that protests against the improvement generally are not signed by the owners of a majority of the front feet of the property fronting or abutting on the public streets, alleys, courts, or places within the proposed improvement district, or if there are any protests against the extent of the proposed improvement district, they shall hear and consider such protests at the time appointed therefor, or at any time to which such hearing may be adjourned, and pass upon the same, and their decision shall be final and conclusive; and if such protests are sustained, the proceedings shall cease, but may be renewed at any time; and if such protests are denied, the proposed assessment shall be confirmed. If such protests are against the proposed assessment, the board of commissioners or city council or board of town trustees shall hear such protests at the time appointed therefor, or at any time to which such hearing may be adjourned, and may confirm, correct, or modify said proposed assessment. When no protests are filed, or when upon the hearing such proposed assessment is confirmed, corrected, or modified, the report provided for in § 721 shall be adopted with any modification or correction that shall have been made therein, and the board of commissioners or city council or board of town trustees shall, by resolution, order such proposed improvement to be made, and shall direct the city recorder or town clerk to give fifteen days' notice to contractors for the filing of bids with such recorder or clerk for the furnishing of the appliances or illuminating agent, or other work required by the plans and specifications of the aforesaid confirmed report, which notice shall be published for five days in a daily newspaper, published in such municipality, or if there is no daily newspaper published therein, then by two successive insertions in a weekly newspaper published therein.

725. Awarding of contract. Sum not to exceed estimate. Such contract shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, but the board of commissioners or the city council of any city, or the board of trustees of any town, may reject any or all bids. If the contract as executed shall be for a less sum than that named in the estimate contained in the confirmed report, the assessment upon the property in the improvement district and the amount, if any, to be paid from the treasury of the municipality shall be proportionately reduced. In no case shall the property in the improvement district be assessed in a greater sum than that named in the estimate contained in the confirmed report, but a contract, if it be that of the lowest responsible bidder, may be let for a larger sum than that named in the said estimate, provided the excess over said estimate be paid from the treasury of the municipality.

726. Levy to be made by ordinance, when. Assessment a lien against property. Immediately upon the execution of the contract provided for in § 725, and the final correction, if any be required, of the assessment contained in the confirmed report, the board of commissioners or city council of any city, or the board of trustees of any town, shall by ordinance levy the said assessment upon the respective lots, parcels, and subdivisions of land comprised in such improvement district, and every such assessment shall, from the date of levy thereof, be a lien upon the land on which it is levied, which lien shall be superior to the lien of any mortgage or other lien or encumberance, whether prior in time or not, except the lien of a general tax, and shall continue until paid, notwithstanding any sale of said property for or on account of a general tax; and said ordinance shall also fix the amount, if any, to be paid for the costs and expenses of said improvement from the treasury of such municipality.

727. Tax becomes delinquent, when. To bear interest. Default. If the contract for such improvement be for a longer period than one year (not exceeding three), the assessment levied to defray the costs and expenses shall become delinquent in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall become delinquent in thirty days after the ordinance levying such assessment becomes effective, and the second in one year from said date, and the third in two years from said date; if such contract be for one year only, the assessment shall become delinquent in thirty days after the ordinance levying it becomes effective. Such tax shall bear interest on the whole sum unpaid at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable annually, but the whole tax or one or more instalments thereof may be paid without interest within thirty days after the ordinance levying it becomes effective. Unless default has been made in the payment of any instalment of such tax, one or more instalments in the order in which they are made payable, or the whole special tax, may be paid on the day any instalment becomes due by paying the amount therof and interest to date of payment. Default in the payment of any such instalment, whether of principal or interest, when due, shall cause the whole of the unpaid principal to become due and payable immediately, and the whole amount of the unpaid principal and accrued interest shall thereafter draw interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum until the date of sale, as hereinafter provided; but at any time prior to the day of sale the property owner may pay the amount of all unpaid instalments then due with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and all accrued costs, and shall thereupon have the right thereafter to pay any instalment in the same manner as if default had not been made.

728. Treasurer to collect taxes. Publication of delinquent list. Tax sales. Redemption. All taxes levied under the provisions of this chapter shall be collected by the treasurer of the city or town levying such tax. Within ten days after the date of delinquency, the treasurer shall make a list of all property upon which such tax or any instalment thereof remains due and unpaid, and shall cause the same to be published for ten days in a daily newspaper published in such city or town, and if there be no daily newspaper published therein, then by two successive insertions in a weekly newspaper published therein. This delinquent list shall contain a description of the property upon which such tax is delinquent according to lots, blocks, parcels, or subdivisions thereof, together with the owner's name or names, if known, and if not known, in lieu thereof the words "unknown owner," with the amount of taxes due on each separate parcel, exclusive of costs, and shall give a notice of sale to the effect that if such delinquent taxes be not paid within fifteen days from the first publication of such notice, the said property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy such tax, with interest and the costs and expenses of sale, will be publicly sold at a time and place therein specified. On the day fixed for the sale the treasurer, in person or by deputy, shall appear at the hour and the place named in the notice of sale, and shall there offer sufficient of the delinquent real estate to pay the taxes and costs at public auction to the highest responsible bidder for cash. The offer of sale shall be substantially in the following language:

There is delinquent upon .....(here describe the piece of property as in the notice) special taxes amounting to $....., with costs and expenses of $..... What is the smallest portion of his property which you will take and pay the taxes, costs, and expenses?

If the sale is not concluded upon the date named in the notice the same may be continued from day to day thereafter until completed, and at such sale the city or town may be a purchaser.

The treasurer shall keep a record of all such tax sales made by him, and shall issue, to the purchaser or purchasers at such sale, certificates of sale, which certificates shall be in such form as may be prescribed by ordinance. Real estate sold for such special taxes may be redeemed by any person interested therein at any time within four years after the date of the sale thereof by such person paying into the city or town treasury for the use of the purchaser or his legal representative, the amount paid by such purchaser and all costs and expenses, including the costs of a certificate of sale and redemption certificate, and all special taxes that have been accrued thereon which have been paid by the purchaser after such purchase to the time of redemption, together with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum on the whole thereof from the date of payment to the date of redemption; provided, that where such property has been sold to such city or town, and general taxes thereon have been thereafter paid by such city or town, it shall be necessary also for the redemptioner to pay the amount of such general taxes so paid as aforesaid, with interest thereon from the date of payment to the date of redemption at the rate of one per cent per month.

When property is redeemed from such tax sale the treasurer of the city or town shall issue to the redemptioner a certificate of redemption, and shall make proper entry of such redemption in the tax sale record in his office.

729. Issuance of a tax deed at expiration of redemption period. At the the expiration of the period of redemption the treasurer shall certify to the city recorder or clerk of the board of town trustees a list of all properties in any such improvement district upon which no redemption has been made. Thereupon and thereafter it shall be the duty of such city recorder or clerk of the board of town trustees, upon presentation of the certificate of sale and upon payment of such reasonable fee as may be prescribed by ordinance, to issue and deliver to the holder of such certificate of sale a tax deed to the property covered thereby. Such deed shall recite substantially the amount of tax for which the property was sold, the particular purpose for which the tax was levied, the date of such levy, the date of sale, the amount for which such property was sold, the description of such property, and the name of the purchaser at such sale or of his assignee. Such deed shall be issued in the name and under the seal of the city or town levying such tax, and shall be executed and acknowledged by the city recorder or clerk of the board of town trustees.

730. Disposition of special funds. Bonds may be issued against fund. All money paid into the city treasury or town treasury, as the case may be, in payment of said special tax levies or assessments, or interest thereon, shall be deemed to be part of and constitute a fund for the payment of the costs and expenses of making such local improvement, and for no other purpose. The costs and expenses aforesaid shall include the contract price, engineering, inspecting, publishing notices, making of the tax levy, and other incidental expenses.

The fund created by such levy or assessment shall be in the custody of the city treasurer or town treasurer, as the case may be, and each fund so created shall be kept separate and intact from all other funds and moneys of the city or town, as the case may be, and shall be paid out only on special tax bonds as hereinafter provided, and for no other purpose than paying the costs and expenses of making the improvement for which the special tax or assessment was levied.

The city auditor in cities having an auditor, the city recorder in cities not having an auditor, or the clerk of the board of town trustees, as the case may be, upon being so directed by the city commission, city council, or board of town trustees, thirty days after the levy of such tax or assessment, may issue bonds in payment of the cost and expense of said local improvement, and against the funds created by said special tax levy or assessments. Said bonds shall be drawn on the treasurer of the city or town and against the special tax funds as hereinbefore provided; such bonds shall be known as lighting bonds, shall be consecutively numbered, and shall be made in form, wording, and color different and to distinguish them from other bonds of the city or town, and shall be drawn payable to bearer, and issued only in denominations of $1000, $500, $100 and $50; provided, that the last bond of an issue may be drawn for any sum under $100.

All such bonds shall be dated thirty days after the ordinance levying the tax becomes effective, and shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from date, interest to be paid annually, and to be evidenced by annual interest coupons attached to such bonds, and attested by the facsimile signature of the city auditor, city recorder, or clerk of the board of town trustees.

Such bonds shall be made payable on or before three years from the date of their issue; provided, that whenever considered prudent by the treasurer of the city or town issuing such bonds, he may, and whenever funds may be in his hands to the credit of any improvement sufficient to pay one or more bonds he shall, by advertisement in the manner provided for publication of notice of intention in § 723, call in a suitable number of such bonds for payment, and at the expiration of thirty days from the first publication of notice of such call, interest on the bond so called shall cease. The notice shall specify the bonds so called by number, and all such bonds shall be called and paid in their numerical order.

Such bonds shall be issued to the contractor doing the work in any such improvement district, for the full amount of the contract price due at the time of their issuance.

731. Assessment not to be annulled. Proviso. No such special tax shall be declared void, nor shall any such assessment or part thereof be set aside in consequence of any error or irregularity committed or appearing in any of the proceedings under this chapter; but any party feeling aggrieved by any such special tax, assessment, or proceeding may pay the said special taxes assessed or levied upon his property, or such instalments thereof as may be due, at any time before the same shall become delinquent, under protest, and with notice in writing to the city treasurer or town treasurer that he intends to sue to recover the same, which notice shall particularly state the alleged grievance and grounds thereof, whereupon such party shall have the right to bring a civil action within sixty days thereafter, and not later, to recover so much of the special taxes paid as he shall show to be illegal, inequitable, and unjust, the costs to follow the judgment to be apportioned by the court as may seem proper, which remedy shall be exclusive. The city treasurer or town treasurer shall promptly report all such notices to the city commission, city council, or board of town trustees for such action as may be proper. No court shall entertain any complaint that the party is required by § 724 to make, and did not make, to the city commission, city council, or board of town trustees, nor any complaint not specified in said notice fully enough to advise the city or town of the exact nature thereof; nor any complaint that does not go to the ground work, equity, and justice of the tax. The burden of proof to show such tax or part thereof invalid, inequitable, or unjust shall rest upon the party who brings such suit. And in any instance where such special tax, or the levy or assessment or notice thereof, or any step or proceeding affecting or concerning the same, is annulled, set aside, or declared void, either in whole or in part, by any court or in any proceeding whatsoever, at any time after a contract for the improvement to be paid for by said special tax is let or entered into, or at any time after work on such improvement has begun, the city commission, city council, or board of town trustees may by ordinance make a new levy of such tax to the same amount and extent as such original tax was declared invalid or was annulled, where such tax was held void for other than jurisdictional defects; provided, that in the event any property shall be illegally assessed, or any property which is by law exempt from assessments for local purposes, shall be so assessed, then and in such event, the city or town so assessing such property shall be liable to the holders of the bonds issued against the funds created by such assessments for the amount of such assessments, which amount shall be paid from the general fund of the city or town.

732. Liability of city or town. The city or town, as the case may be, shall not be held liable for the payment of such lighting bonds, except to the extent of the funds created and received by special tax levies or assessments, and the amount ordained to be paid from the treasury of such city or town for such improvement; but the city or town shall be held responsible for faithful accounting, collection, settlements, and payments of the moneys of said funds, and when such accounting, collecting, settlements, and paying is faithfully performed, all further liability on the part of the city or town shall cease.

733. Notices to be posted, when. In case no newspaper is published in any town desiring to avail itself of the provisions of this chapter, the board of trustees of such town shall publish all notices required by this chapter by posting written copies of the same in at least three public places within the proposed improvement district, such notices to remain posted for at least ten days.

734. Supplementary ordinances. The board of commissioners or the city council of any city, and the board of trustees of any incorporated town, shall have power to pass any ordinances necessary or proper to aid, supplement, or effectuate the provisions of this chapter.

CHAPTER 16.

CITY SCRIP.

740. (282x.) May issue scrip, when. In any instance where any city of the first or of the second class may levy a special tax or assessment for the purpose of making any local improvement or improvements, the city treasurer, upon being so directed by the city council, at any time after the improvement is completed, may issue scrip against the fund to be raised by such special tax or assessment, and said scrip may be sold by said treasurer on order of the council at either private or public sale, either with or without advertisement, at any price not less than the face value of such scrip, and the profits or premiums of such sale, if any, shall be placed in the fund raised by such scrip, and shall be used for no purposes except those for which said fund may be used. '05, p. 86; '07, p. 74.

741. (282x1.) How Issued. Interest. Such scrip shall be so issued that there shall be a separate certificate for each lot, part of lot, or parcel of land affected by said special tax or assessment. Such certificates shall contain a description, sufficient for identification, of the particular lot, part of lot, or parcel of land against which it is issued, and also give the block and plat in which the same is situate, and shall also state the amount of the special tax or assessment levied thereon, the date and purpose of such levy, and the name of the person supposed to be owner of the land taxed or assessed, and shall further state the date or dates on which said special tax or assessment, or the several instalments thereof, shall be delinquent, and also the interest payable on the same both before and after delinquency, which interest shall be provided for in the ordinance levying such tax or assessment, and shall further state that all interest on said certificate or any instalment mentioned therein shall cease when such tax or such instalment is paid to the treasurer. No special tax or assessment or any instalment thereof shall draw a greater rate of interest than six per cent per annum from date of issue of said scrip. '05, p. 86; '07, p. 74.

742. (282x2.) Redemption of scrip. Any owner or agent or person interested in any lot or parcel of land against which any scrip may have been issued as aforesaid for any special tax or assessment, may pay said tax or assessment, or any instalment thereof, with interest, to the city treasurer at any time after levy of such special tax or assessment, and thereupon the interest upon the amount so paid ceases, and the scrip standing against said land is thereby canceled and redeemed to the extent of such payment, and the lien of such scrip against said land is thereby canceled to the extent of such payment, and it becomes the duty of the record holder of said scrip, upon being notified by mail by the city treasurer, to present such scrip to said treasurer and receive the amount paid thereon. When any payment upon any scrip is made by the treasurer, he shall stamp or write a description of the said partial payment and date thereof on said scrip, and keep a record of the same in his office, and whenever a complete redemption of such scrip is made, he shall write or stamp a statement of the date when said tax was paid, and when such scrip was presented, on such scrip, and file the same in his office. '05, p. 87; '07, p. 74.

743. (282x3.) Scrip a lien on property. Property may be sold. All scrip issued hereunder shall be a lien against the property described therein from the date of the levy of the special tax or assessment for which the said scrip was issued, and, at any time after delinquency of the last instalment, the property described in such scrip shall be sold by the city treasurer, as agent for the holder of such scrip, in the same manner as provided by law or ordinance for the sale of land for delinquent special taxes, to make the sum delinquent on said scrip and the costs and expenses of such sale. After the issue of said scrip all liability of the city thereon, except for faithful accounting for funds received to redeem the same, shall cease. '05, p. 87; '07, p. 75.

SPECIAL TAX FUNDS IN CITIES.

744. (282x4.) Improvement fund, how constituted. In each case where a city or town levies or assesses any special or local tax for the making and paying for any local improvement or improvements, all money paid into the city treasury or town treasury, as the case may be, in payment of said special tax levies or assessments, or interest thereon, shall be deemed to be part of, and constitute a fund for, the payment of the costs and expense of making such local improvement or improvements, and for no other purpose. The cost and expenses aforesaid shall include the contract price, engineering, inspecting, publishing notices, and making of the tax levy. '07, p. 215; Am'd '13, p. 79.

745. (282x5.) Each fund to be kept separate. How paid out. In any instance where a city or town may levy a special tax or assessment for the purpose of making and paying for any local improvement or improvements, the fund created by such levy or assessment shall be in the custody of the city treasurer or town treasurer, as the case may be, and each fund so created shall be kept separate and intact from all other funds and moneys of the city or town, as the case may be, and shall be paid out only on special tax warrants, as hereinafter provided, and for no other purpose than paying the costs and expenses of making the improvement or improvements for which the special tax or assessment was levied. '07, p. 215; Am'd '13, p. 79.

746. (282x6.) Coupon warrants. In any instance where any city or town may levy a special tax or assessment for the purpose of making or paying for any local improvement or improvements, the city auditor in cities having an auditor, the city recorder in cities not having an auditor, and the clerk of the town, as the case may be, upon being so directed by the city council, or board of trustees of the town, at any time after the levy of such tax or assessment, shall issue coupon warrants in payment of the cost and expense of said local improvement or improvements, and against the funds created by said special tax levies or assessments. Said warrants shall be drawn on the treasurer of the city or town and against the special tax funds as hereinbefore provided; such warrants shall be known as special tax warrants, and shall be made in form, wording, and color, different and to distinguish them from other warrants of the city or town, and shall only be drawn in amounts of $100, $500, and $1000, except that the last warrant drawn in settlement in full of any claim against any special tax fund may be drawn in any sum under $100. '07, p. 215; Am'd '13, p. 79.

City scrip against special tax fund, § 740.

Under this section and under C. L. 1907, § 282x8 (repealed Laws '09, Ch. 41), the power and duty of a city treasurer to sell assessed property upon delinquency of an instalment, before the whole tax was due and delinquent, were not sufficiently certain to justify the direction of such action on the part of the treasurer by mandamus.

Stinson v. Godbe, 46 U. 468; 150 P. 967.

747. (282x7.) Tax Warrants Due and Payable. When. All special tax warrants shall be due and payable as follows:

If issued on account of paving improvements, in ten equal yearly instalments; if issued on account of sidewalk, sewer, or curbing and guttering improvements, in five equal yearly instalments. Said warrants shall indicate the time when each instalment is due, and provide that interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the whole sum unpaid shall be due and payable at the time each instalment is due, and that in case of failure to pay any instalment at the time the same is payable, the unpaid principal due at said time shall draw interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and that one or more instalments in the order in which they are payable, or the whole warrant, may be paid on the day any instalment becomes due by paying the amount thereof and interest to date of payment. '07, p. 216; '09, p. 45.

The city treasurer may be compelled to collect the whole tax when but one instalment was delinquent. Stinson v. Godbe, 48 U. 444; 160 P. 280.

The fact that during the first year the city collected sufficient to pay three instalments at the end of the first year, does not relieve it from the necessity of paying the interest on the remaining portion annually instead of at the time the next instalment shall be due. Stinson v. Godbe, Treas., 51 U. —; 170 P. 782.

748. (282x9.) Extent of liability. The city or town, as the case may be, shall not be held liable for the payment of any special tax warrant, except to the extent of the funds created and received by special tax levies or assessments; but the city or town shall be held responsible for faithful accounting, collection, settlements, and payments of the moneys of said funds, and when such accounting, collecting, settlements, and paying is faithfully performed, all further liability on the part of the city or town shall cease.

PUBLIC WORKS.

749. (286.) Duties of board. It shall be the duty of the board of public works (the board of city commissioners), and it shall have power, to make contracts on behalf of the city for the performance of all such work and the erection of all such improvements as may be ordered by the council, but all such contracts shall be subject to the approval or rejection of the council; to superintend the performance of all such work and the erection of such improvements, except the supervision of the construction of city halls, market houses, jails, or other public buildings. It shall also be the duty of said board to approve the estimates of the city engineer which may be made from time to time, of the value of work as the same may progress; to accept any work done or improvement made, when the same shall be fully completed according to contract, subject, however, to the approval of the council; and to perform such other duties as may be devolved upon them by ordinance.

Secs. 283-285, Compiled Laws, 1907, creating a board of public works were repealed by Ch. 125, Laws, 1911, p. 233, which act provided "that all the rights, duties, powers, and priviledges as are vested in the board of public works of cities of the first class shall be exercised by and vested in the board of commissioners of cities of the first and the second class."

Contractors for public work must give bond, § 3753.

Under this section (as repealed and amended in part by the laws of 1911, ch. 125, sec. 2), and under § 819, a city of the first class could not construct a dam for a water supply without entering into contract therefor.

Utah Savings & Trust Co. v. Salt Lake City et al., 44 U. 150; 138 P. 1165.

The law providing for a board of public works and prescribing its duties and powers impliedly repealed the statutes placing those duties and powers on the mayor and council. Nelden v. Clark, 20 U. 382; 59 P. 524.

A city board of public works may accept a sidewalk built under contract though it is not literally completed according to the contract. Stott v. Salt Lake City, 47 U. 113; 151 P. 988.

CHAPTER 19.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS IN CITIES OF SECOND CLASS.

760. (286x.) Board created. How appointed. For the purpose of giving more time, care, attention to beautifying and parking the public grounds, streets, and sidewalks of cities of the second class having over 15,000 inhabitants in the state of Utah, there shall be in each of said cities a board of park commissioners, which shall consist of three members, residents and taxpayers of the city, appointed by the mayor, with the consent of the council, the members of which, except the first, shall be appointed for the term of six years. '07, p. 140.

Powers of mayor and council vested in commission, §§ 533, 601.

761. (286x1.) Terms. The mayor, with the consent of the city council or board of trustees of such city, shall, as soon after the passage of this chapter as practicable, appoint the members of said board of park commissioners; one member shall be appointed for the term ending December 31, 1907; one member shall be appointed for the term ending December 31, 1909; and one for the term ending December 31, 1911, and successively thereafter as vacancies occur, said vacancies shall be filled as hereinbefore provided. '07, p. 140.

762. (286x2.) Shall serve without compensation. Bond. The members of the board shall serve without compensation; and each member of said board shall, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, enter into a bond to such city, the amount of which shall be fixed by the city council, with two or more good and sufficient sureties to be prescribed and approved by the council, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as such commissioner; the expense, if any, for such bond shall be paid by said city. '07, p. 140.

763. (286x3.) Powers and duties. Said board of park commissioners shall have power, and it shall be its duty, to have entire charge of all city parks, and new parks that may be established, street and sidewalk parking and any and all parking of every nature whatsoever, either under special or general tax, and, by and with the consent of the mayor and council or board of trustees, to establish new parks; to have entire charge of the regulation and management of all parking, and to have entire charge of the selecting, planting, condemning, and trimming of all trees located upon the streets or public grounds of such city. '07, p. 140.

764. (286x4.) Id. It shall be the duty of such board, and it shall have power, to make contracts, in behalf of said city, for the performance of all such work as shall be necessary to carry out the purpose of this chapter, and such board shall superintend all such work; provided, however, that its contracts so made shall not exceed the amount annually appropriated for the use of said board of park commissioners by the city council or board of trustees. '07, p. 141.

765. (286x5.) Report. The said board of park commissioners shall render an itemized account and report of all transactions and expenditures of said board, on January 1st of each year, and oftener, if required by the city council or board of trustees. '07, p. 141.

766. (286x6.) Appropriation. The city council or board of trustees shall make such appropriations, during the month of January (except as to the year 1907) of each year, as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and recommendations of said board of park commissioners for the current year; after such appropriation has been made, the city auditor shall draw a warrant upon the city treasurer for the amount of said appropriation, in favor of, and deliver the same to, the treasurer of said board of park commissioners, which said fund shall be known as the park improvement fund, and shall be drawn upon and paid out only upon the order of said board; and the amount of the money expended by said board of park commissioners shall not exceed in any year the amount so appropriated by the city council. '07, p. 141.

767. (286x7.) May employ agents, servants, and employes. The said board of park commissioners shall have the power and is hereby authorized to employ agents, servants, and employes necessary to perform all the work in taking care of, improving, beautifying, establishing, and maintaining the parks and public grounds of such city, and all necessary work pertaining to the duties of said board. '07, p. 141.

768. (286x8.) Organization. Rules and by-laws. The members of said board shall, on the first Monday after their appointment, meet and organize by the election of one of its members as chairman of said board, whose term of office shall be for two years thereafter (except as to the year 1907), or until his successor is duly elected by said board. The city recorder and the city treasurer shall be ex officio the secretary and treasurer of said board respectively, and their duties shall be as defined by the rules and by-laws of said board. The board is empowered to make such rules and by-laws as shall be necessary for its government. '07, p. 141.

CHAPTER 20.

EXTENSION OF CORPORATE LIMITS.

770. (287.) Petition. Proceedings. Whenever a majority of the owners of real property of any territory lying contiguous to the corporate limits of any city shall desire to annex such territory to any city, they shall cause an accurate plat or map of said territory to be made, under the supervision of the city engineer or of a competent surveyor, and a copy of said plat or map, certified by said engineer or surveyor, as the case may be, shall be filed in the office of the recorder of the city, together with the petition in writing, signed by a majority of the real property owners of the territory described in said plat; and the city council, at the next regular meeting thereof, shall vote upon the question of such annexation. If two-thirds of all the members of the council vote for such annexation, an ordinance shall be prepared and passed, declaring the annexation of said territory and the extension of the limits of said city accordingly. A copy of the map or plat hereintofore referred to, duly certified and acknowledged as provided by law in such cases, shall at once be filed in the office of the recorder of the proper county, together with a certified copy of the ordinance declaring such annexation, and thereupon such annexation shall be deemed complete, and the said territory shall be deemed and held to be a part of said original city, and the inhabitants thereof shall thereafter enjoy the privileges and benefits of such annexation and be subject to the ordinances and regulations of said city.

Neb. (1895) § 1448*.
Powers of council and mayor vested in commission, §§ 533, 601.
School property on annexing territory to a city, §§ 4745-4747.

A law extending the limits of a city so as to include ranches and unoccupied lands fifteen or twenty miles away would be unreasonable.
People v. Daniels, 6 U. 288; 22 P. 159.

CHAPTER 21.

RESTRICTION OF CORPORATE LIMITS.

771. (288.) Petition. Proceedings. Whenever a majority of the real property owners of any territory within and lying upon the borders of any incorporated city or town shall file, with the clerk of the district court of the county in which such territory lies, a petition praying that such territory be disconnected therefrom, and such petition sets forth reasons why such territory should be so disconnected from such city or town, and is accompanied with a map or plat of the territory sought to be disconnected, and designates no more than five persons who are empowered to act for such petitioners in such proceedings, such court shall cause a notice of the filing of the same to be served upon said city or town, in the same manner as a summons in a civil action, and shall also cause notice to be published in some newspaper having a general circulation in such city or town, for a period of ten days. Issue shall be joined and the cause tried as provided for the trial of civil causes, as nearly as may be. The proper authorities of such city or town, or any person interested in the subject matter of said petition, may appear and contest the granting of the same. Am'd '11, p. 255.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 593*.
Neb. (1895) §§ 1450*, 1452*.
The provisions of this chapter are not violative of Con. Art. 5, sec. 1, and art. 6, secs. 1, 29, as delegating power to court and commissioners to legislate.
Young v. Salt Lake City, 24 U. 321; 67 P. 1066.
It will be presumed from a judgment disconnecting certain territory from a city, that the city was served with notice of the filing of the petition for division, as required by provisions of this section.
Gillmor v. Dale, 27 U. 372; 75 P. 932.
Evidence that territory consisted entirely of agricultural land which received no appreciable benefit from being within the corporate limits justifies a finding that justice and equity require a severance.
In re Fullmer, 33 U. 43; 92 P. 768.

772. (289.) Adjustment of terms. If the court finds that the petition was signed by a majority of the real property owners of the territory concerned, and that the allegations of the petition are true, and that justice and equity require that such territory or any part thereof should be disconnected from such city, it shall appoint three disinterested persons as commissioners to adjust the terms upon which such part shall be so severed as to any liabilities of such city or town that have accrued during the connection of such part with the corporation, and as to the mutual property rights of the city and town and the territory to be detached. Am'd '11, p. 255.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 596*.
These provisions are not construed as delegating power to the court to legislate, since they merely require the court to judicially determine whether facts found by it entitle the petitioners to relief for causes determined by the legislature; the terms upon which the territory shall be severed are for the commission to determine, and not the court, and the appointment of commissioners for such purpose is mandatory.
In re Fullmer, 33 U. 43; 92 P. 768.

773. (290.) Report of commissioners. Decree. The commissioners shall, at a time by them fixed, hear the agents named in the petition, and also the proper authorities of the city or town, in regard to the subject matter so submitted, and as soon as practicable report their findings in the premises to the court. Upon the filing of which report, the court shall decree in accordance therewith, and with the prayer of the petition, unless for good cause shown the court shall modify the same, or shall reject or set aside the report and appoint new commissioners, and continue the cause for further action to be had thereon. Am'd '11, p. 256.

Where the court findings are in conformity with the commissioners' findings and there is evidence to sustain the findings the judgment must be sustained.
Barton v. Manti, 33 U. 50; 92 P. 970.

774. (291.) Court may levy taxes. The court shall have power to order such taxes levied from time to time on the property included within the detached territory, as may be requisite for the purpose of paying its just proportion of the municipal obligations; the board of county commissioners shall levy such taxes under the direction of the court, and the same shall be collected by the county treasurer as other taxes.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 602, 606*.
Where land was disconnected from a city before levy of taxes had been made, such tax did not become a lien.
Gillmor v. Dale, 27 U. 372; 75 P. 932.

775. (292.) Recording decree. Costs. Upon the entering of a decree detaching said territory, or any part thereof, the clerk shall file a certified copy of the same and of the plat, in the office of the recorder of the county and in the office of the secretary of state; and when so filed, the severance shall be complete. Each party shall pay its own witnesses, and the petitioners shall pay all other costs.
Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 598, 599*.

CHAPTER 22.

DISINCORPORATION.

776. (293.) Petition. Notice of election. Whenever one-fourth of the legal voters of any city shall petition the district court of the county wherein such coporation is situated for the discontinuance of the said city, it shall cause to be published, for at least thirty days, a notice stating that the question of discontinuing such corporation will be submitted to the legal voters of the same at the next municipal election, and the form of the ballot shall be "for disincorporation," and "against disincorporation." Not more than one such election shall be held in two years.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 600, 601, 603*.

777. (294.) Canvass. Judgment. Notice to file claims. The vote shall be taken and canvassed in the same manner as in other municipal elections, and return thereof made to the district court. If it finds that a majority of the legal votes cast for and against such proposition were cast "for disincorporation," then a judgment shall be entered discontinuing the same, and upon the entry of said judgment its corporate powers shall cease, and the court shall cause notice to be given in a manner to be prescribed by it, requiring all claims against the corporation to be filed in said court within a time fixed in the notice, not exceeding six months, and all claims not so filed shall be forever barred. At the expiration of the time so fixed, the court shall adjudicate said claims which shall be treated as denied, and any citizen of such city at the time the vote was taken may appear and defend against any claim so filed, or the court may in its discretion appoint some person for this purpose.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 602, 603*.

Claims cannot be allowed without evidence; courts should give notice allowing citizens a hearing before allowing claims and an order allowing claims on an ex parte hearing should be set aside.

Nielsen v. Utah Commr. Bank, 40 U. 95; 120 P. 211.

778. (295.) Powers of court. The court shall have power to wind up the affairs of the corporation, to dispose of its property, and to make provision for the payment of all indebtedness thereof, and for the performance of its contracts and obligations, and shall order such taxes levied from time to time as may be requisite therefor, which the board of county commissioners shall levy against the property within the corporation. BONDING FOR WATER, LIGHT, OR SEWERS.

792. (308.) Authority. Purposes. Rate. Vote. Any city or town in this state is hereby authorized to incur an indebtedness not exceeding in the aggregate, with all other indebtedness, eight per centum of the value of the taxable property therein for the purpose of supplying such city or town with water, artificial light, or sewers when the works for supplying such water, light, and sewers shall be owned and controlled by the municipality; provided, that cities of the third class and towns may become indebted to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate, with all other indebtedness, twelve per centum of the value of the taxable property for the purpose of supplying such city or town with water, artificial light, or sewers when the works for supplying such water, light, and sewers shall be owned and controlled by the municipality, when the proposition to create such debt shall have been submitted to the vote of such qualified electors as shall have paid a property tax in the year preceding such election and a majority of those voting thereon shall have voted in favor of incurring such debt. Am'd '11, p. 61; '17, p. 288.

City council may borrow money, § 570x6.

Under Con. art. 14, sec. 4, the two limited debt-creating powers of municipalities are separate and independent; the special limited power to incur indebtedness for water, light, and sewer purposes is absolute within its own limits, and a debt created by virtue thereof is additional to that restricted and limited for general purposes and fully authorized.

State, ex rel. v. City Council, 23 U. 13; 64 P. 460.

Under Con. art. 14, secs. 3 and 4, the legislature has power to authorize cities to create an additional indebtedness for light, water, and sewer purposes, not exceeding four per cent of the value of taxable property therein.

State ex rel. v. Quayle, 26 U. 26; 71 P. 1060.

A bonded indebtedness of four per cent may be incurred for general city purposes, which would include the supply of lights, water, and sewers; and an additional indebtedness of the same amount for lights, water, and sewers alone.

Willis v. Heber City, 36 U. 1; 102 P. 309.

793. (309.) Proposition to be submitted to voters. Notice. When the city council of any city or the town board of trustees of any town shall have decided to submit the question of incurring a bonded indebtedness, it shall, by order, specify the particular purpose for which the indebtedness is to be created and the amount of bonds which it is proposed to issue, and shall further provide for submitting the question of the issue of such bonds to the qualified electors of the city or town at the next general election, or at a special election to be called for that purpose by the council or the board, as the case may be. If the question is submitted at a special election, it shall be held, except as herein otherwise provided, as nearly as possible in conformity with the general election laws of the state. Notice shall be given of such election by publication in some newspaper or newspapers published in the city or town for four weeks prior thereto; or if there be no newspaper, then by posting notices. The council or the board, as the case may be, shall cause ballots to be printed and furnished to the qualified electors, which shall read: "For the issue of bonds: Yes. No." If a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon shall have voted in favor of incurring such indebtedness, the city council or board may proceed to issue the amount of bonds specified. If, however, the qualified electors shall have voted in favor of incurring an indebtedness in excess of the amount permitted by the constitution and laws of the state, such vote shall be full authority for the city council or board of trustees to issue bonds to the amount permitted by the constitution and laws of the state. Am'd '09, p. 3.

Municipal elections, general provisions, §§ 2330-2334.

Registration for municipal election, § 2136.

Utah Sav. & Trust Co. v. Salt Lake City, 35 U. 25; 99 P. 255.

This section has nothing to do with condemnation proceedings, which are controlled by § 575.

Town of Tremonton v. Johnson, 49 U. 307; 164 P. 190.

On an election for an issue of bonds which were intended to supply the city with lights, the resolution and published notice, merely stating that the indebtedness was to be created and the bonds issued for general corporate purposes of the city, are insufficient.

State ex rel. Willis v. Heber City, 36 U. 1; 102 P. 309.

794. (310.) Bonds, how issued and disposed of. Tax. The city council or the board of trustees, as the case may be, shall provide by ordinance for the issuance and disposal of such bonds; provided, that no such bonds shall be sold for less than their face value. The city council or board of trustees, as the case may be, shall annually levy a sufficient tax to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same.

Bonds certified to be within debt limit, §§ 466-469.

The fact that an ordinance provides that the net revenue from the water system should be set aside for a sinking fund for the payment of the bonds does not affect the validity of the bonds; for the erroneous statement in the ordinance was, at most, an irregularity which did not affect the validity of the election in the absence of a showing that any of the voters were, in fact, induced by reason of such improper statement in the ordinance to vote for bonds.

Utah. S. & T. Co. v. Salt Lake City, 35 U. 25; 99 P. 255.

CHAPTER 26.

REGULATION OF USE OF WATER BY INHABITANTS OF TOWNS AND CITIES.

800. Liability of owners for use of water. No city or town in this state, which is the owner or in control of a system for furnishing water to its inhabitants, shall be required to furnish water for use in any house, tenement, apartment, building, place, premises, or lot, whether such water is for the use of the owner or tenant, unless the application for water shall be made in writing, signed by such owner or his duly authorized agent, in which application such owner or agent shall agree that such owner will pay for all water furnished such house, tenement, apartment, building, place, premises, or lot, according to the ordinances, rules, and regulations enacted or adopted by such city or town. In case an application for furnishing water shall be made by a tenant of the owner of any such house, tenement, apartment, building, place, premises, or lot, such city or town may require, as a condition of granting the same, that such application contain an agreement signed by the owner thereof, or his duly authorized agent, to the effect that in consideration of the granting of such application said owner will pay for all water furnished such tenant or any other occupant of the place named in the application, in case such tenant or occupant shall fail to pay for the same according to the ordinances, rules, and regulations enacted or adopted by such city or town.

801. On failure to pay, municipality may shut off water. In case the owner of any of the premises mentioned in § 800, or the tenant, or occupant, shall fail to pay for water furnished such owner, tenant, or occupant, according to the ordinances, rules, or regulations enacted or adopted by said city or town, said city or town may cause the water to be shut off such premises, and shall not be required to turn the same on again until all arrears for water furnished shall be paid in full.

802. Proclamation as to scarcity of water. In the event of scarcity of water, whenever it shall, in the judgment of the board of commissioners or city council of any city or the board of trustees of any town, be necessary, the mayor of said city or the president of such board of trustees may, by proclamation, limit the use of water for any purpose other than domestic purposes to such extent as may be required for the public good.

803. Examination of premises permitted. All authorized persons connected with the waterworks of any city or town shall have the right to enter upon any premises furnished with water by such city or town, to examine the apparatus, the amount of water used, the manner of use, and to make all necessary shut-offs for vacancy, delinquency, or violation of this chapter, or of ordinances, rules, or regulations enacted or adopted by such city or town.

804. Regulations authorized. Every city and town in this state may enact ordinances, rules, and regulations for the management and conduct of the waterworks system owned or controlled by it.

CHAPTER 27.

CITIES AND TOWNS MAY SELL POWER PLANTS.

('13, p. 110.)

810. When deemed advisable to sell, property appraised. Question submitted to taxpayers. Election. Whenever in the judgment of the board of commissioners or city council of any city, or board of trustees of any town, it shall be deemed advisable to sell the works or plant, constructed, purchased, or used by said city or town for the purpose of generating or distributing electrical energy for light, heat, or power purposes, such board of commissioners, city council, or board of trustees, as the case may be, shall cause an appraisement of the property proposed to be sold or leased to be made by three resident taxpayers of such city or town, to be appointed by said commissioners, city council, or board of trustees, and shall provide for submitting the question of the sale or lease of such property to the qualified electors of such city or town as shall have paid a property tax in the year preceding such election, at the next general election, or at a special election called for that purpose. Such election shall be called and conducted in the same manner as provided by statute for the sale of bonds in § 793, the necessary changes in the form of the ballot being made.

Though the provisions as to lease and sale are commingled in an artificial manner, the section is not void for uncertainty.
McDonald v. Price, 45 U. 464; 146 P. 550.
A city, to lease a lighting plant, must appraise the property, submit the question to the voters, advertise for bids, and award to the highest bidder; that is, to the bidder who will pay the highest amount of rent or render the greatest amount of service, under the terms and conditions imposed by the city, and the consideration must be used for city purposes.

832. Term of bond. Said bond shall be for the term of one year, from the date thereof, unless the secretary of state and the person, partnership, association, or corporation giving the same shall agree on a longer period. The state dairy and food commissioner shall, upon application during the twelfth month, extend the period of storage beyond twelve months for any particular article of food, provided the same is found upon examination to be in proper condition for further cold storage. The length of time for which such further storage is allowed shall be specified in the order granting the permission. A report on each case in which such extension of storage may be permitted, including information relating to the reason for the action of the state dairy and food commissioner, the kinds and amounts of the articles of food for which the storage period was extended, and the length of time for which this continuance was granted, shall be filed, open to public inspection, in the office of the state dairy and food commissioner, and shall be included in his annual report. Where a person was a director and stockholder of a corporation which assigned its property for the benefit of creditors, and also a director and stockholder in a bank which was made a preferred creditor, and voted in favor of such preference, the double relation would not make the assignment void when the same result would have been reached had he refrained from voting.

Colorado F. & I. Co. v. Western H. Co., 16 U. 4; 50 P. 628.

Where mining property is taken in payment of capital stock at the inception of a corporation, the question is, what was the fair estimated cash market value of the property at the date of the incorporation, and not at a time when, through the expenditure of large sums of money, the property has been demonstrated to possess no value. (S. L. Hdw. Co. v. Tintic M. Co., 13 U. 423; 45 P. 200, and Henderson v. Turngren, 9 U. 432; 35 P. 495, distinguished.)

882. (334.) Stockholders' meetings, how called. Unless required by the agreement or by-laws, no notice need be given of annual or stated meetings of the stockholders. 885. (337.) Majority of stock, what constitutes. Whenever any portion of the capital stock of a corporation is held by the corporation, a majority of the remaining shares is a majority of the stock for all purposes of election or voting on any question at a stockholders' meeting.

Such change or amendment, when adopted, shall be signed by the president and secretary of such coporation, and be filed and recorded in the manner provided for the filing and recording of orignial articles. The secretary of state shall issue a certificate of amendment, which shall be evidence of the facts therein stated. The certificate of the clerk that such certified copy of the articles and amendments thereto has been filed and recorded in his office shall be evidence of such fact. No amendment shall have any force or effect until it shall have been filed in accordance with the provisions hereof. Am'd '03, p. 80.

Notice need not be given if all the stock votes in favor of amendment, § 886.

888. (340.) Consolidation. What permissible. How made. Corporations of the same kind, engaged in the same general business, in the same vicinity, heretofore created under the laws of the territory or state of Utah, or hereafter organized under the laws of this state, may consolidate upon such terms and conditions conformable to the law as shall be agreed upon by a vote representing at least a majority in amount of the outstanding capital stock of each of said corporations, at a special meeting of each thereof, upon notice stating the time, place, and object of such meeting, published for at least thirty days prior thereto in a newspaper having general circulation within the county or counties where each corporation has its principal place of business; provided, that corporations organized for the purpose of owning and operating street or interurban railroads, and corporations organized for manufacturing, producing, and selling light, power, and heat by electricity, gas, steam, or other means, shall be, for the purpose of this section, deemed corporations of the same kind. Such consolidation may be effected either by joining two or more corporations together, or by the formation of a new corporation under the laws of this state for the purpose of buying in and taking over and operating the properties, rights, and franchises of the corporations desiring to consolidate. And if by purchase, such purchase may be made at any public sale or sales made by judicial proceedings, or in the enforcement of mortgages or liens, or at private sale; provided, that if such sale is made other than by judicial procedure or in the enforcement of mortgages or liens, the same shall be approved by at least a majority in amount of the outstanding capital stock of the selling companies, unless the articles of association provide how and by whose authority the sale of the company's property shall be made, then, in that event, in accordance with such provision. If such consolidation is effected by forming a new corporation to purchase, as aforesaid, the articles of association of such new company shall contain, in addition to the requirements of § 861, a provision that the company is formed for the purpose of purchasing in and taking over the properties, rights, privileges, and franchises of such corporations so desiring to consolidate, and if one or more of the corporations is a street, suburban, or interurban railroad, such articles shall contain a general statement of the termini of such road or roads, with their length respectively, as near as may be. Such articles of association of such new corporation organized to purchase the assets of the old companies shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and upon his filing such articles and issuing a certificate of incorporation to such company, the association shall without further act be deemed and held to have been duly formed and created a corporation with all the powers specified in such articles of association; provided, that they are not inconsistent with the terms of this act or the other existing laws of this state relating to corporations organized for general purposes, or the terms of the constitution of this state. If the consolidation is effected in the usual manner of joining two or more companies together, without the previous formation of a new corporation for the purpose of purchasing in the properties of the corporations, such consolidation shall be evidenced by a certificate under the corporate seals of the respective corporations, signed by the president and secretary of each, briefly reciting the act or acts sought to be accomplished, and describing, in a general way, the property sought to be consolidated, together with the name of the corporation thus formed by amalgamation or consolidation, with such other provisions as the law may require to be inserted in the original articles of incorporation, and such others, being conformable to law, as may be deemed necessary to perfect such consolidation, which certificate shall be filed and recorded in the manner provided for the filing and recording of original articles of incorporation, and a copy thereof, duly certified by the county clerk, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, whose certificate shall constitute such consolidated corporations, a new corporation. Such new consolidated corporation, whether formed by organizing a new corporation to purchase or by strict consolidation, shall have the right to work, operate, and maintain the properties thus acquired, and all the rights, privileges, and franchises and powers named in such new articles of incorporation, including those formerly enjoyed by the original corporations.

Such affidavit shall constitute the articles of incorporation of such society or association, and shall be filed and recorded in the manner provided for the filing and recording of the articles of incorporation of corporations for pecuniary profit. The secretary of state shall issue a certificate that a copy of the articles of incorporation containing the required statement of facts has been filed in his office, which shall be sufficient to constitute the association a body corporate.

893. (345.) Nomination of trustees by superior body. When the body corporate consists of the trustees or directors of any benevolent, charitable, literary, scientific, religious, or missionary institution, which may be established in the state, and which may be under the control or supervision of any conference, synod, association, committee, or other body, or of any president, bishop, or other officer, the articles of agreement may provide that such body, if it exists under the laws of this state, or such officer, if he be a resident thereof, may nominate and appoint the trustees or directors or any part thereof, or fill any vacancy among the same.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 1655*.

894. (346.) Powers of corporation. Corporations not for pecuniary profit shall have power to sue and be sued; to adopt a corporate seal, and change it at pleasure; to contract and be contracted with; and to receive and hold such property, real and personal, whether obtained by purchase, gift, or devise, as may be necessary to carry on or promote the objects of the corporation, society, or association.

Powers of corporations formed for pecuniary profit, § 869, and note.

895. (347.) Powers of trustees. The trustees shall have the care, custody, and control of the corporate property, subject to the provisions of the articles of incorporation and by-laws, and may, unless otherwise provided in the articles or by-laws, upon consent of two-thirds of the members of the corporation present at a meeting duly called and held, mortgage, incumber, lease, sell, or convey any real or personal property of the corporation, unless such property has been received as a gift or devise for some special purpose, and if so received it shall be used and applied only for such purpose. Unless otherwise provided in the articles or by-laws, a meeting for such purpose shall be called upon not less than fourteen days' notice, to be given by publication in some newspaper having general circulation in the place where such corporation has its principal office, or if there be no such newspaper, then by posting on the door of the usual meeting place or places; such notice shall state the time, place, and object of the proposed meeting.

896. (348.) Annual report. The trustees must make annually to the members of the corporation a full report of their transactions, of the condition of the company, and of all property, real and personal, held by them in trust for the corporation.

897. (349.) Other provisions made applicable. The provisions of this chapter relating to the non-use of the corporate franchise; to the right of officers to exercise the duties of their offices until the election and qualification of their successors; to the removal of officers and the filling of vacancies; to the holding of stated meetings and the calling of special meetings, except as hereinbefore prescribed; to the amendment of the articles of agreement and the filing of the affidavit thereof; and to the consolidation of corporations —are hereby made applicable to corporations not for pecuniary profit, with such modifications as are rendered necessary by the fact that such corporations have members and not stockholders.

898. (350.) Liability of members. Every corporation heretofore lawfully organized under any law of Utah and existing at the time of the taking effect of this revision, shall continue in existence, with all the rights. privileges, powers, duties, and obligations conferred or imposed by the laws under which it has heretofore existed, as modified or controlled by the provisions of these statutes.

Existing corporations confirmed, Con. art. 12, sec. 1. Amendments validated, § 1236.

ASSESSMENTS.

900. (354.) Full-paid stock non-assessable. The full-paid capital stock of any corporation organized since March 8, 1894, or that may hereafter be organized under the laws of this state, shall not be assessable for any purpose whatever, except to such extent and in such manner as may be expressly provided in the articles of incorporation; provided, that if such stock is made assessable and the manner of levying the assessment is not provided for, it shall be levied in the manner and form hereinafter prescribed.

Liability of holder of full-paid stock, § 879.

Stock may be full-paid by transfer of property, § 862.

Annual corporation license, §§ 1270-1277.

Under laws of 1888 an assessment might be levied upon fully paid-up capital stock to pay debts, but unless the articles otherwise provide, the remedy is limited to a forfeiture and sale of the stock.

Gary v. York Mining Co., 9 U. 464; 35 P. 494.

The power of a corporation to levy an assessment on full-paid capital stock must be derived from the statute, the articles of incorporation, or some other express promise to pay.

Nelson v. Keith-O'Brien Co., 32 U. 396; 91 P. 30.

Full-paid non-assessable stock cannot be made assessable by amendment of articles without the consent of all the stockholders.

Garey v. St. Joe M. Co., 32 U. 497; 91 P. 369.

901. (355.) Assessment of stock not full-paid. The board of directors of any corporation, whose capital stock shall not be full-paid, may, for the purpose of paying expenses, conducting business, or paying debts, levy and collect assessments upon the subscribed and unpaid capital stock thereof in such a manner and at such times as may be prescribed in the articles of incorporation, or, if not therein provided for, in the manner and form and to the extent hereinafter prescribed.

Unpaid stock liable for debts, § 871, and note.

Liability of stockholders for corporate debts, § 871, and note.

Action to recover stock sold irregularly, § 947, and note.

Assessment of full-paid non-assessable stock forbidden, § 900, and note.

Calls on unpaid bank stock, § 983.

The word "assessment" includes both "calls" and statutory assessments.

Gary v. York Mining Co., 9 U. 464; 35 P. 494.

Where an assessment has been made by a board of directors de jure, and there is no question as to any irregularity in the levy, nor any want of authority on the part of the lawful board to make it, the assessment will be held valid and an injunction to restrain its collection denied.

Chandler v. Sheep R. Co., 15 U. 434; 49 P. 535.

An assessment levied at a meeting at which but four of seven directors were present, no notice thereof having been given to absentees, was void, and stockholders whose stock was sold under such assessment were entitled to recover, unless estopped by acquiescence or laches, as in this case.
Hatch v. Lucky Bill M. Co., 25 U. 405; 71 P. 865.

The validity of a forfeiture and sale of shares of stock depend, as a general rule, upon a formal compliance with the requirements of the statute; and a levy and sale of plaintiff's stock, not acquiesced in by him, by directors who had not filed their oaths of office, as required by law, are void.
Schwab v. Frisco M, Co., 21 U. 258; 60 P. 940.

Where directors had subscribed to, but not filed, their oaths, as required by § 864, an assessment on stock made by them will not be set aside, no one appearing to have been misled by the irregularity.
Hatch v. Lucky Bill M. Co., 25 U. 405; 71 P. 865.

A stockholder of a mining corporation, whose duty it was, as president, director, and business manager, to see that assessments on stock were regularly made and collected, and who knew that it was the uniform practice of the company to levy assessments though a majority of the stock was not represented at the meetings, and though small amounts of previous assessments remained uncollected, could not, after his own stock had been sold under such assessments, complain of their irregularity. (Certain stockholders acquiescing also estopped.)
Id.

Articles of incorporation of a mining company provided that no assessments should be levied while there was treasury stock remaining in the treasury. At the time of levy of an assessment, shares of such stock were undisposed of and in the treasury, but had no salable or other substantial value; held, that the fact alone that such stock was undisposed of did not render the assessment void.
Gary v. York M. Co., 9 U. 464; 35 P. 494.
Nelson v. K.-O'B. Co., 32 U. 396; 91 P. 30.
Jones v. Bonanza Co., 32 U. 440; 91 P. 273.

Corporation formed to construct and manage ditches and canals not authorized to construct reservoirs for storing water; and assessment levied for the purpose is void.
Seeley v. Huntington Canal Co., 27 U. 179; 75 P. 367.

902. (356.) Amount of assessment. No assessment shall exceed ten per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the corporation, unless the corporation is unable to meet its obligations or satisfy the claims of its creditors, in which case the assessment may be for the full amount unpaid upon its capital stock, or for any less amount that may be sufficient to meet such obligations or claims.
Cal. Civ. C., § 332*.

903. (357.) Subsequent assessment, previous one unpaid. No assessment shall be levied while a portion of a previous one remains unpaid, unless:

1. The power of the corporation has been exercised in accordance with the provisions of this chapter for the purpose of collecting such previous assessment;

2. The collection of such previous assessment has been enjoined or restrained; or

3. The assessment falls within provisions of the next preceding section.

Cal. Civ. C., § 333*.
No subsequent assessment can be levied upon the capital stock of a corporation under § 2376, C. L. 1888, until the power of the corporation has been exercised to collect any previous assessment, which remains unpaid. An order to show cause does not affect the validity of the assessment but suspends the power to collect it.
Miles v. Sheep Rock Co., 15 U. 436; 49 P. 536.

Where a stockholder loaned a corporation money, for which the corporation gave its note, a credit on the note of an assessment levied on the stock was a payment of such assessment so as to authorize a subsequent assessment, under this section.
Smith v. Sinaloa Land & Fruit Co., 42 U. 445; 132 P. 556.

904. (358.) Order levying. Every order levying an assessment, unless otherwise provided in the articles of incorporation, must specify the amount thereof, when, to whom, and where payable; fix a day subsequent to the full term of the publication of the assessment notice on which the unpaid assessment shall be delinquent, not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the time of making the order levying the assessment, and a day for a sale of delinquent stock, not less than fifteen nor more than sixty days from the day the stock is declared delinquent.
Cal. Civ. C., § 334*.
Validity of assessments, note to § 901.
A levy of assessment of stock not made in substantial compliance with the statute is not validated by § 916, which provides that the levy of assessment shall not be void in certain cases.
Raht v. Sevier M. & M. Co., 18 U. 290; 54 P. 889.

905. (359.) Notice of assessment. Upon making the order, the secretary shall cause to be issued a notice thereof in the following form:

(Name of corporation in full. Location of principal place of business.) Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the directors, held on the (date) an assessment of (amount) per share was levied on the capital stock of the corporation, payable (when, to whom, and where). Any stock upon which this assessment may remain unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction, and unless payment is made before, will be sold on the (day appointed), to pay the delinquent assessment, together with the cost of advertising and expense of sale.

Cal. Civ. C., § 335.

906. (360.) Id. How served. The notice must be served personally on each stockholder, or, in lieu of personal service, must be sent through the mail, addressed to each stockholder at his place of residence, if known, and if not known, at the place where the principal office of the corporation is situated, and be published once a week for four successive weeks, in some newspaper of general circulation in the place designated in the articles of incorporation as the principal place of business; provided, that corporations formed for irrigation purposes may omit publication of the notice of levy as above provided, but in other respects must comply with the provisions of this chapter. Am'd '05, p. 27.

Cal. Civ. C., § 336*.

907. (361.) Delinquencies. Notice of sale. If any portion of the assessment mentioned in the notice remains unpaid on the day specified therein for declaring the stock delinquent, the secretary shall, unless otherwise ordered by the board of directors, cause to be published in the same papers in which the notice hereinbefore provided for shall have been published, a notice substantially in the following form:

(Name of corporation in full. Location of principal place of business.) Notice.—There are delinquent upon the following described stock, on account of assessment levied on the ..... day of ....., 19....., (and assessments levied previously thereto, if any), the several amounts set opposite the names of the respective shareholders as follows: (Names, number of certificate, number of shares, and amount), and in accordance with law, (and an order of the board of directors made on the ..... day of ....., 19....., if any such order shall have been made), so many shares of each parcel of such stock as may be necessary, will be sold at the (particular place) on the ..... day of ....., 19....., at the hour of ....., to pay delinquent assessments thereon, together with the cost of advertising and expenses of the sale.

Cal. Civ. C., § 337*.

908. (362.) Id. The notice must specify every certificate of stock, the number of shares it represents, and the amount due thereon, except where certificates may not have been issued to parties entitled thereto, in which case the number of shares, and amount due thereon, together with the fact that the certificates of such shares have not been issued, must be stated.

Cal. Civ. C., § 338.

909. (363.) Id. Publication. The notice, when published in a daily paper, must be published for ten days, excluding Sundays and holidays, previous to the day of sale; when published in a weekly or semi-weekly paper, it must be published in each issue thereof for two weeks previous to the day of sale. The first publication of all delinquent sales must be at least fifteen days prior to the day of the sale.

Cal. Civ. C, § 339*.

910. (364.) Id. Effect on sale. By the publication of the notice the corporation acquires jurisdiction to sell and convey a perfect title to all of the stock described in the notice of sale upon which any portion of the assessment or expenses of advertising remains unpaid at the hour appointed for the sale, but must sell no more of such stock than is necessary to pay the assessments due and expenses of advertising and sale.

Cal. Civ. C., § 340*.

That stock was sold under a void delinquent assessment does not entitle the shareholder to sue the corporation's successor, after eight years, to issue stock to him. Kimball v. Success Mining Co., 38 U. 78; 110 P. 872.

Defendant, a purchaser of corporate stock, which was sold to his transferror on a delinquent assessment, was not chargeable with notice of the delinquent's rights, though the sale was void, where the books did not disclose the invalidity, and where the transferror had been recognized as the owner of the stock by the corporation, though defendant later became a director and officer, and the fact that no entry was made in the stock ledger of the certificate issued to the transferror is immaterial where the original certificate was not so entered.

Id.

911. (365.) Sale at auction. On the day, at the place, and at the time appointed in the notice of sale, the secretary shall, unless otherwise ordered by the board of directors, sell or cause to be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash so many shares of each parcel of the described stock as may be necessary to pay the assessment and charges thereon according to the terms of sale; if payment is made before the time fixed for sale, the party paying shall only be required to pay the actual expenses of advertising in addition to the assessment.
Cal. Civ. C., § 341.

912. (366.) Highest bidder. The person offering at such sale to pay the assessment and expenses for the smallest number of shares or fraction of a share is the highest bidder, and the stock purchased must be transferred to him on the stock books of the corporation, on payment of the assessment and expenses.
Cal. Civ. C., § 342.

913. (367.) Sale to corporation. If at the sale of stock no bidder offers the amount of the assessment and expenses due, the same may be bid in and purchased by the corporation through the secretary, president, or any director thereof, at the amount of the assessments and expenses due; and the amount of the assessment and expenses shall be credited as paid in full on the books of the corporation, and entry of the transfer of the stock to the corporation shall be made on the books thereof. While the stock remains the property of the corporation it is not assesssable nor shall any dividends be declared thereon, but all assessments and dividends shall be apportioned upon the stock held by the stockholders of the corporation.
Cal. Civ. C., § 343.

914. (368.) Effects of sale to corporation. All purchases of its own stock by the corporation vest the legal title to the same in the corporation; and the stock so purchased shall be treated as treasury stock, and, as well as all other stock held by the corporation, shall be held and disposed of in such manner as may be expressly provided in the by-laws of incorporation, and, in case there be no such provision, then the same shall be held subject to the control of the board of directors, who may make such disposition thereof as they may deem for the best interests of the corporation.
Am'd '03, p. 80.
Cal. Civ. C., § 344*.

915. (369.) Extension of time. The dates fixed in any notice of assessment or notice of delinquent sale, published according to the provisions hereof, may be extended from time to time by order of the directors entered on the records of the corporation for any priod or periods aggregating not more than six months; but no order extending the time for the performance of any act specified in any notice shall be effectual unless notice of such extension or postponement is appended to and published with the notice to which the order relates.
Cal. Civ. C., § 345*.

916. (370.) Errors and omissions. No assessment is invalidated by a failure to make publication of the notices herein provided for, nor by the non-performance of any act required in order to enforce payment of the same; but in case of any substantial error or omission in the course of proceedings for collection, all previous proceedings, except the levying of assessment, are void, and publication must be begun anew.
Cal. Civ. C., § 346.

917. (371.) Actions to recover stock sold irregularly. No action shall be sustained to recover stock sold for delinquent assessment upon the ground of irregularity or defect of the notice of the sale, or defect or irregularity in the sale, unless the party seeking to maintain such action first pays or tenders to the corporation, or the party holding the stock sold, the sum for which the same was sold, together with all subsequent assessments which may have been paid thereon and interest on such sums from the time they were paid; and no such action shall be sustained unless the same is commenced by the filing of a complaint and the issuing of a summons thereon within six months after such sale was made.

Cal. Civ. C., § 347.
Validity of assessments, note to § 901.
A compliance with the provisions of § 917 is necessary to maintenance of an action to recover stock irregularly sold for assessment. Raht v. Sevier M. & M. Co., 18 U. 290; 54 P. 889.

918. (372.) Proof of mailing, publication, and sale. Affidavits made by the secretary of the mailing of notices shall be prima facie evidence thereof. The publication of notices relating to assessments may be proved by the affidavit of the printer, foreman, or principal clerk of the newspaper in which the same was published; and the affidavit of the secretary or auctioneer shall be prima facie evidence of the time and place of sale, of the quantity and particular description of the stock sold, and to whom and for what price, and of the fact of the purchase money being paid. The affidavit shall be filed in the office of the corporation, and copies of the same certified by the secretary thereof shall be prima facie evidence of the fact therein stated. Certificates signed by the secretary and under the seal of the corporation shall be prima facie evidence of the contents thereof.

Cal. Civ. C., § 348.

919. (373.) Waiving proceedings for sale. Action. On the day specified for declaring the stock delinquent, or at any time subsequent thereto and before the sale of delinquent stock, the board of directors may elect to waive further proceedings under this chapter for the collection of delinquent assessments, or any part or portion thereof, and may elect to proceed by action to recover the amount of the assessment and the costs and expenses already incurred, or any part thereof.

Cal. Civ. C., § 349. Mont. Civ. C., § 508.

Decisions on powers of foreign corporations, note to § 947.

In a suit by an employe against a foreign corporation for services performed, the corporation having held itself out as such and having so dealt with plaintiff, will not be permitted to deny its corporate existence. Liter v. Ozokerite Mining Co., 7 U. 487; 27 P. 690.

Corporations are not citizens within the meaning of art. IV, sec. 2, U. S. const., and any recognition of their existence in other states is a matter of comity, not of right. National Merc. Co. v. Mattson, 45 U. 155; 143 P. 223.

946. Eminent domain. Foreign corporations, upon complying with the provisions of the laws of this state prescribing the conditions upon which such corporations are authorized to do business in this state, shall have the same powers of eminent domain as are granted by law to domestic corporations. '09, p. 16.

947. (352.) Failure to comply. Penalty. Any such corporation failing to comply with the provisions of the § 945 shall not be entitled to the benefits of the laws of this state relating to corporations, and shall not sue, prosecute, or maintain any action, suit, counterclaim, cross-complaint, or proceeding in any of the courts of this state, on any claim, interest, or demand arising, or growing out of, or founded on any contract, agreement, or transaction made or entered into in this state by such corporation or by its assignor, or by any person from, through, or under whom it derives its interest or title or any part thereof; and shall not take, acquire, or hold title, possession, or ownership of property, real, personal, or mixed, within this state; and every contract, agreement, and transaction whatsoever made or entered into by or on behalf of any such corporation within this state, or to be executed or performed within this state, shall be wholly void on behalf of such corporation and its assignees and every person deriving any interest or title therefrom, but shall be valid and enforcible against such corporation, assignee, and person; and any person acting as agent of a foreign corporation which shall neglect or refuse to comply with the foregoing provisions shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be personally liable on any and all contracts made in this state by him for or on behalf of such corporation during the time that it shall be so in default; provided, that this section shall not be held to apply to persons acting as agents for foreign corporations for a special or temporary purpose or for a purpose not within the ordinary business of such corporations, nor shall it apply to attorneys-at-law as such. Am'd '15, p. 169.

The bringing of a suit by a foreign corporation not engaged in corporate business in the state, to secure its legal rights, is not "doing business," within the constitution and laws of this state.

Barse Livestock Co. v. Range V. C. Co., 16 U. 59; 50 P. 630.

A foreign corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this section is not entitled to the benefit of the laws of this state relating to corporations.

R. G. W. Ry. Co. v. Telluride Power Co., 23 U. 22; 63 P. 995; appeal dismissed 187 U. S. 569.

A foreign corporation coming into this state cannot bring with it powers with which it is not endowed in the state where created.

Id.

By complying with the requirements of the state laws, foreign corporations are accorded the same, and no other or greater, rights and privileges and the same protection of the laws, as domestic corporations, and the making and enforcement of their contracts are governed by the same rules.

Hiskey v. Pacific States S. L. & B. Co., 27 U. 409; 76 P. 20.

Contracts of a foreign corporation made while doing business in the state, without complying with the constitution and laws of the state respecting such corporations, can be enforced in the courts of this state, unless expressly declared unenforcible. (Overruling Booth & Co. v. Weigand, 28 U. 372; 79 P. 570.)

If the judge is satisfied that the application is in conformity with the provisions of this chapter, he shall order that it be filed with the clerk, and that the clerk give not less than thirty nor more than sixty days' notice of the application, by publication in some newspaper having general circulation in the county; provided, that the clerk shall serve special notice of such application upon the secretary of state by registered mail.

954. Objections to application. At any time before the expiration of the time of publication, any person may file his objection to the application.

955. Hearing. Notice to objectors. Decree. After the time of publication has expired, the court may, upon five days' notice to the persons who have filed objections, or without further notice if no objections have been filed, proceed to hear and determine the application; and, if all the statements therein made are shown to be true, shall grant a decreè authorizing the corporation to withdraw from the state.

956. Judgment roll. Appeal. The application, notice, proof of publication, objections, if any, and decree shall constitute the judgment roll; and from the judgment an appeal may be taken as from judgments in other civil actions.

957. Certification of records to secretary of state. The clerk, upon the granting of such decree, shall certify a copy of the application, notice, proof of publication, objections, if any, and decree to the secretary of state; and, when an appeal is taken, he shall likewise certify a copy of such appeal and a copy of all subsequent instruments, orders, and records relating thereto.

958. Insurance companies may withdraw. Any foreign insurance corporation doing business in this state by virtue of the provisions of § 945, may withdraw from doing business in the state by filing with the insurance commissioner a written notice of its intention so to do. Such notice shall be in the form of a resolution regularly passed by the board of directors of such corporation, and shall be duly attested by the president or by some other executive officer of the corporation competent to make such attestation. Such notice shall also set forth the decision of the corporation to cease and discontinue from soliciting and writing new business within the state, and shall designate some person residing within the state upon whom process issued by authority of or under any law of the state may be served. Upon receipt of such notice, the insurance commissioner, if the withdrawing corporation is in good standing with the state and all claims of the state against it have been satisfied and discharged, shall receive and file the notice and make it a matter of record in his office; and shall certify a copy of such notice of withdrawal to the secretary of state, who shall file the same and make it a matter of record in his office.

A writing executed by the president of the bank guaranteeing the payment of rent by a drug company to the plaintiff was ultra vires. Tracy Loan & Trust Co. v. Merchants' Bank, 50 U. —; 167 P. 353.

Although the bank was not liable on the ultra vires contract of guaranty, it should be required to account for any securities which it holds to indemnify it against loss. Id.

982. Savings bank defined. The term savings bank, when used in this chapter, means a bank organized for the purpose of accumulating and loaning its funds; receiving deposits of money; loaning, investing, and collecting the same with interest and repaying depositors with or without interest and having power to invest said funds in such property, securities, and obligations as may be prescribed by its board of directors, and to pay a stipulated rate of interest on deposits made for a stated period or upon special terms.

Whenever any shareholder or his assignee fails to pay any instalment of stock when the same is required as provided above, the directors of such bank may sell at public auction, after giving two weeks' previous notice of such sale in a newspaper published in the county where the bank is located, or, if no newspaper be published therein, then in any newspaper having general circulation in such county, so much of the stock of such delinquent shareholder as may be necessary to pay the amount due thereon, with the expense of advertising the sale. The sale shall be made to the highest bidder, and the excess, if any, shall be paid to the delinquent shareholder. If such stock shall not bring the amount due thereon, with the costs of advertising the sale, the amount previously paid shall be forfeited to the association, and such stock shall be sold, as the board of directors may order, within six months from the date of forfeiture, and if not sold shall be canceled and deducted from the capital stock of the association; if such cancellation and reduction shall reduce the capital of the association below the minimum required by law, the capital stock shall, within thirty days from the date of such cancellation, be increased to the required amount, in default of which a receiver may be appointed, upon the application of the attorney-general, in the manner provided by law, to close up the business of the bank.

984. (379.) Loans to officers. No officer or director of any banking corporation organized or existing under the laws of Utah shall borrow money from such bank to exceed fifteen per cent of its capital stock and surplus; and the stock of the association shall not be taken as security for any such loan. The office of any officer who shall act in contravention of the provisions of this section shall thereupon become vacant; and any loan he shall have made in contravention thereof shall become immediately due and payable; provided, that no bank shall loan any of its funds to any of its officers or directors unless he furnishes security in at least double the amount of the loan made; provided, further, that such loan shall first have been approved by a two-thirds vote of its board of directors, or executive committee, on which vote the borrowing officer or director shall not participate.

985. (380.) Loans to persons, corporations, etc. The total liability to any banking corporation of any person or any one company, corporation, or firm, for money borrowed, shall at no time exceed fifteen per cent of the amount of the capital stock paid in and of the surplus earned and set aside as a surplus fund of such bank; but the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against existing values, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same, shall not be construed as borrowed money. Deposits of commercial banks, with commercial banks, or the commercial department of banks having commercial and savings departments, on open accounts to facilitate business transactions shall be permitted and shall not be construed as loans.

986. Stock in other corporations. Any bank or loan, trust, and guaranty company or association, organized under the laws of the state of Utah, may purchase, own, hold, and sell or otherwise dispose of any of the shares of the capital stock of any other bank, loan, trust, and guaranty association or other corporation; provided, such purchase shall be authorized by the executive committee and approved by the board of directors; and in case the purchase is of stock in any other banking corporation the approval of said purchase must also be had from the state bank commissioner; and provided, further, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to permit the establishment, maintenance, or control of any branch bank or loan, trust, or guaranty company in the state. 988. (382.) Liability of stockholders. The stockholders in every corporation and joint stock association for banking purposes, in addition to the amount of the capital stock subscribed and fully paid by them, shall be individually responsible for an additional amount equal to the amount of their stock in such corporation, for all debts and liabilities of every kind.

989. (383.) Amendments. No change shall be made in the articles of association of any banking corporation by which the rights, remedies, or securities of existing creditors of the association shall be impaired.

990. Borrowing by savings banks. No savings bank shall borrow money, or pledge or hypothecate any of its securities, except to meet the immediate demands of its own depositors, and then only in pursuance of a resolution adopted by a vote of a majority of its board of directors or executive committee duly entered upon their minutes, wherein shall be recorded the ayes and nays upon each vote; provided, however, that savings banks may borrow the public moneys of the state, counties, cities, and county school districts, and towns and receive such public moneys on deposit.

991. Certificates of deposit issued by savings banks. Savings banks may issue general certificates of deposit, which are transferable, as in other cases, by endorsement and delivery; may issue, when requested by the depositor, special certificates acknowledging the deposit by the person therein named of a specified sum of money, and expressly providing on the face of such certificate that the sum so deposited and therein named may be transferred only on the books of the bank; payment thereafter made by the bank to the depositor named in such certificate, or to his assignee named upon the books of the bank, or, in case of death, to the legal representative of such depositor, of the sum for which such special certificate was issued, shall discharge the bank from all further liability on account of the money so paid.

992. Withdrawal of savings deposits. Limitation on loans. Savings banks may prescribe by their by-laws, or by contract with depositors, the time and conditions on which repayment is to be made to depositors, except as in this chapter otherwise prohibited; but whenever there is any call by depositors for repayment of a greater amount than the bank may have disposable for that purpose, the directors or officers thereof must not make any new loans or investments of the funds of the depositors or of earnings thereof until such excess of call has ceased.

993. Deposits by savings banks with commercial banks. Deposits by savings banks with commercial banks on open account, to facilitate business transactions, as provided in this chapter, shall be permitted, and shall not be construed as loans.

994. Private or partnership banks prohibited. The establishing or maintenance of private or partnership banks is hereby expressly prohibited; provided, that all such banks now in operation shall retire from business or incorporate under the provisions of this chapter within a period of five years from and after the approval of this chapter. (Approved March 30, 1911.)

995. Foreign banks. No foreign corporation shall transact a banking business in this state without first complying with all the requirements of the laws of this state relating to banks, as defined in this chapter, and without having the capital paid up in this state, as required by this chapter and without having complied with the other laws of this state relating to foreign corporations.

996. (378.) Lawful reserve. Commercial banks. Commercial banks shall at all times have on hand in lawful money of the United States an amount equal to fifteen per cent of the aggregate amount of their deposits and demand liabilities. The amount thus to be kept on hand shall be called its lawful money reserve. Not less than one-eighth of such lawful money reserve shall consist of lawful money of the United States on hand, and the remainder of such lawful money reserve in credits in solvent banks other than savings banks; provided, that in cities having a population of 50,000 or more a lawful money reserve of not less than twenty per cent shall be maintained. If the lawful money reserve of any bank shall fall below the amount required by this section, such bank shall not increase its loans or investments until its lawful money reserve has been restored, but may discount bills of exchange payable on sight. The bank commissioners shall notify any bank, whose lawful money reserve shall be below the amount herein required, to make good such reserve, and, if it shall fail for thirty days thereafter to make good such reserve, such bank may be deemed insolvent and may be proceeded against under the provisions of this chapter.

997. Id. Savings banks. Savings banks must carry in cash, or its equivalent, an amount equal to ten per cent of its deposit liabilities, of which at least one-fourth must be in lawful money of the United States and the remainder in credits in solvent banks other than savings banks. The amount thus carried shall be called the lawful money reserve. No new loans shall be made during any impairment of the lawful money reserve.

998. Id. Banks having commercial and savings departments. Banks having both commercial and savings departments shall maintain a lawful money reserve for each department as provided in the two preceding sections.

999. Directors. Eligibility. No person shall be eligible for election as a director of a bank unless he is a stockholder of the bank, owning, in his own right, shares thereof of the par value of at least $200, provided that no person shall be eligible for election as a director of a bank situated in cities of the first and the second class, unless he is a stockholder of the bank, owning, in his own right, shares thereof of the par value of $500; and every person elected to be a director, who, after such election, shall cease to be the owner, in his own right, of the amount of stock aforesaid, shall then cease to be a director of the bank, and his office shall then become vacant.

1000. Id. Oath of office. Each director of a bank, when appointed or elected, shall take an oath that he will, so far as the duty devolves on him, diligently and honestly administer the affairs of such bank, and will not knowingly violate or wilfully permit to be violated any of the provisions of law applicable to such bank, and that he is the owner, in good faith and in his own right, of the shares of stock of the par value required by § 999, subscribed by him or standing in his name on the books of the bank, and that the same is not hypothecated or in any way pledged as security for any loan or debt; and, in case of re-election or reappointment, after July 1, 1912, such oath shall state that such stock was not hypothecated or in any way pledged as security for any loan or debt during his previous term. Such oath shall be subscribed by the director and shall be immediately filed in the office of the county clerk, as required by law.

1001. Id. Monthly examinations. It shall cause to be spread upon the records of such bank, in the record book thereof, which shall be kept for that purpose, the minutes of such meeting and all its actions thereat, including the approval of all loans required to be approved by the board of directors, which minutes shall be signed by at least the presiding officer and the secretary of such meeting.

1002. (388.) Id. Yearly examinations. Reports. It shall be the duty of the board of directors of every bank to examine, or cause to be examined, fully into the books, papers, and affairs of the bank of which they are directors, and particularly into the loans, discounts, and overdrafts thereof, with a special view to ascertaining the value and security thereof, and of the collateral security, if any given, in connection therewith, and into such other matters as the bank commissioner or bank examiner may require, such examinations to be made at least once a year. No such subsequent yearly examination shall be made within three months of the next preceding yearly examination. Within ten days after the completion of such examination, a report in writing thereof shall be made to the board of directors of such bank and placed on file with the records of said bank, and shall be subject to examination by the bank commissioner or bank examiner.

1003. (389.) What reports shall contain. Such reports shall particularly contain a statement of the assets and liabilities of the bank examined, as shown by its books, together with any deductions from the assets or additions to liabilities which such directors, or committee or examiner, after such examination, may recommend. It shall also contain a statement, in detail, of loans, if any, which in their opinion are worthless or doubtful, together with their reasons for so regarding them; also a statement of loans made on collateral security, which in their opinion are insufficiently secured, giving in each case the amount of the loan, the name and market value of the collateral, if it has any market value, and if not, a statement of that fact, and its actual value, as nearly as possible. Such report shall also contain a statement of overdrafts, of the names and amounts of such as they consider worthless or doubtful, and a full statement of such other matters as affect the solvency and soundness of the bank. If the directors of such bank shall wilfully fail to make, or cause to be made, and file such report of examination in the manner and within the time specified, the directors of such bank shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

1004. Dividends. Reserve fund. The board of directors of any bank may declare a dividend of so much of the net profits of the bank, after providing for all expenses, losses, interest, and taxes accrued or due from said bank, as they shall judge expedient; but before any such dividend is declared not less than one-tenth of the net profits of the bank for the preceding half year, or for such period as is covered by dividend, shall be carried to a surplus fund until such surplus shall amount to twenty per cent of its capital stock.

1005. Branch banks prohibited. The business of every banking institution shall be conducted only at its banking house, and no bank in this state, or any loan, trust, or guaranty company or trust company conducting a banking business, or any officer, director, or agent thereof, shall open, establish, or maintain any branch bank or office, and shall receive deposits and pay checks only at its banking house; provided, that all branch banks or offices in operation at the time of the approval of this chapter shall be closed and discontinued within one year from the date this chapter goes into effect.

Any bank or officer thereof violating any of the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

1006. Borrowing restricted. Cannot borrow within state on certificates of deposit. Overdrafts. All certificates or evidences of deposit made by the proper officers of any bank shall be as effectual to bind any bank as if made under the common seal thereof; but said bank shall not issue any bill, note, or certificate intended to circulate as money, and no such bank shall issue post notes. No bank or bank officer shall give preference to any depositor or creditor by pledging the assets of the bank as collateral security; provided, that commercial banks may borrow money for temporary purposes, and may pledge assets of the bank not exceeding fifty per cent in excess of the amount borrowed as collateral security therefor; provided, further, that whenever it shall appear that a bank is borrowing habitually for the purpose of reloaning, the bank commissioner may require such bank to pay off such borrowed money. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any bank from rediscounting in good faith and endorsing any of its negotiable notes. It shall be unlawful for any bank to issue its certificate of deposit for the purpose of borrowing money from any bank within this state. Neither shall any bank make partial payments upon certificates of deposit. In no case shall an overdraft of more than ninety days' standing be allowed as an asset of the bank unless amply secured; provided, that all outstanding demand certificates of deposit for money borrowed issued by any bank prior to the date this chapter goes into effect must be paid and canceled within three months from the date this chapter goes into effect, and all such outstanding time cerificates issued by any bank for the purpose of borrowing money must be paid at maturity; provided, that the bank commissioner may, in his discretion, permit an extension of time for such payment.

1007. (390.) Receiver. Grounds for application. How appointed. Duties. If the bank commissioner shall become satisfied that the capital of any bank has become impaired or reduced below the amount required by law, and such impairment or reduction shall not have been made good, as by him required, and the order and requisition of the bank commissioner in that regard shall not have been complied with, or if the bank commissioner shall have become satisfied that any bank has refused to pay its deposits in accordance with the terms on which such deposits were received, if received in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, or if any bank has violated any of the provisions of this chapter, or is conducting its business in an unsafe or unauthorized manner, or if any bank shall refuse to submit its books and papers and concerns to the inspection of the bank commissioner, his deputy, or any examiner, or if any officer of such bank shall refuse to be examined under oath touching the concerns of the bank, or if, from any examination made or report herein provided for, the bank commissioner shall conclude that such bank is in an unsound or unsafe condition to transact the banking business, so that it is unsafe and inexpedient to continue same, the bank commissioner shall communicate such facts to the attorney-general, and, with his concurrence, application may be made by the attorney-general, in behalf of the bank commissioner, to a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver of such bank. Upon presentation of said application to said court, and upon its being made satisfied that the capital stock of said bank has become impaired or reduced below the amount required by law, and that such impairment or reduction has not been made good or the order of the bank commissioner in that respect complied with, or that it has refused to pay its deposits as hereinbefore set forth, or that it has violated any provisions of this chapter, or is conducting its business in an unsafe or unauthorized manner, or that it has refused to submit its books, papers, and concerns to inspection as aforesaid, or its officer or officers have refused to be examined under oath touching its affairs, or that it is in an unsafe or unsound condition to transact the banking business so that it would be unsafe and inexpedient for it to continue same, the said court shall immediately appoint a competent person as receiver, and shall determine his bond and prescribe his duties, and may make such further order as shall seem proper; provided, that, pending such action if it shall be necessary, the bank commissioner, his deputy, or a bank examiner may forthwith take possession of the books, records, and assets of every description of such bank, and said books, records, and assets shall not be subject to any levies and attachments. The receiver, if any be appointed, shall, under the direction of the court, take possession of the books, records, and assets of every description of such bank, collect all debts, dues, and claims belonging to it, and sell or compound all bad or doubtful assets, and sell all the real and personal property of such bank on such terms as the court shall direct, and may, if necessary to pay the debts of such bank, enforce all individual liabilities of the stockholders, and shall make a report to the bank commissioner of all his acts and proceedings.

1008. Reorganization. Whenever arrangements shall be made by any such bank or the stockholders thereof by reorganization or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the bank commissioner, to pay all creditors thereof, aside from the stockholders, and to make good the impairment of the capital stock in all particulars, and to pay the expenses of the receivership, if any have accrued, such facts shall be presented to the court, and the court may order the property to be turned over to the bank or to such stockholders, and shall discharge the receiver.

1009. Reports. Every banking corporation, private banker, or partnership bank, domestic or foreign, transacting a banking business in this state, shall make to the bank commissioner not less than four reports during each year, according to the form which may be prescribed by him, which report shall be verified, in the case of banking corporations, by the oath or affirmation of the president or cashier and attested by at least three directors, and, in the case of private or partnership banks, by the oath or affirmation of the proprietor, a partner, a member, or by the business manager. Such report shall state the condition of the bank at the close of business on any past day, within three months before the date of the call specified by the bank commissioner, and shall be transmitted to his office within five days after the receipt of the request therefor; and a copy thereof, duly certified by the bank commissioner, shall be published by the bank making the same, in some newspaper having general circulation in the county where such bank is situated, proof of such publication to be filed in the office of the bank commissioner within thirty days from the time of the receipt of the certified copy prepared by the bank commissioner. The bank commissioner shall have power to call for special reports from any such banking corporation, private or partnership banks whenever in his judgment the same shall be necessary.

1010. Failure to report. Every banking corporation, private or partnership bank which shall fail or neglect to make any report required by the provisions of this chapter shall be subject to a penalty of $50 for each day's delay in transmitting such report, to be recovered by and for the state in a civil action.

1011. Unauthorized banking. No person, firm, company, copartnership, or corporation, not subject to the supervision of the bank commissioner and not required to report to him by the provisions of this chapter, other than loan, trust, and guaranty companies, shall make use of any office sign in the place where such business is transacted having thereon any artificial or corporate name, or other words indicating that such place or office is the place or office of a bank, or that deposits are received there, or that payments are made on check, or that any other form of banking business is transacted; nor shall such person or persons, firm, company, copartnership, or corporation make use of or circulate any letter heads, bill heads, blank notes, blank receipts, certificates, or circulars, or any printed or written, or partly written and partly printed, paper whatever, having thereon any artificial or corporate name, or other word or words indicating that such business is the business of a bank, savings bank, or trust company. Every person, firm, company, copartnership, or officer of a corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

1012. Id. Any individual, firm, or partnership, company, corporation, or foreign bank holding itself out to the public as receiving money on deposit, whether evidenced by certificate, promissory note, or otherwise, shall be considered as doing a banking business and subject to the provisions of this chapter as to such banking business.

1013. Conversion of national to state bank. Whenever any national bank, authorized to dissolve, has taken the necessary steps for that purpose, a majority of its directors upon authority in writing of the owners of two-thirds of the capital stock, and the approval of the bank commissioner, may reorganize under the provisions of this chapter, and in addition to the other requirements of law the articles of incorporation of such bank shall state the authority derived from the stockholders of such national bank, and after full compliance with the other provisions of this chapter relating to the organization of corporate banks, it shall become a legal state bank, and thereupon the assets, real and personal, of said dissolved national bank, subject to its liabilities not liquidated under the federal law, shall vest in and become the property of such state bank.

1014. Reorganization of state bank as national bank. Any bank organized under this chapter may reorganize under the laws of the United States as a national bank. As soon as such bank shall have obtained the certificate from the comptroller of the currency authorizing it to commence business under the United States banking law, such reorganized bank shall take and hold all of the assets, real and personal, of such bank, organized under this chapter, subject to all liabilities existing against such bank organized under this chapter at the date of such reorganization, and shall immediately notify the bank commissioner of such reorganization and transfer.

1015. National banks. This chapter does not apply to banks organized under the national banking act of the United States.

1016. Construction. All the general powers and privileges, as well as the general restrictions and limitations provided in this chapter, and applied to the corporations to be organized under and regulated by this chapter, by the general designation of banks, shall be understood and construed to include commercial banks, savings banks, and those combining both branches of business, also private and partnership banks. '11, p. 30.

1017. Articles of association to be approved by bank commissioner. The secretary of state shall not issue a certificate of incorporation to any bank, authorizing it to do business in this state, until its articles of association or agreement shall have been approved by the bank commissioner; provided, that the bank commissioner may withhold his approval if he finds that the incorporators are not reliable and of good standing in their community, or are professional bank incorporators, or if the locality where the proposed bank is to operate is well supplied with banks, or if the incorporators have not fully complied with the provisions of this chapter; provided, further, that all persons feeling themselves aggrieved by the action, decision, or ruling of the bank commissioner may appeal to the state board of examiners, and the decision of said board shall be final. Am'd '13, p. 21.

BANK DEPOSITS IN TWO NAMES.

1020. Disposition of deposits. When a deposit has been made, or shall hereafter be made, in any bank, savings bank, banking institution, or trust company transacting business in this state, in the names of two persons, and payable to either or the survivor, such deposit, or any part thereof, or any interest or dividend thereon, may be paid to either of said persons whether the other be living or not; and the receipt or acquittance of the person so paid shall be valid and sufficient release and discharge to the bank for any payment so made. 1022. Exclusive use of certain words. No person, partnership, association, or corporation, except corporations formed under the provisions of this chapter, shall hereafter transact any business under any name in which shall occur the words "land" and "bank" or the words "mortgage" and "bank."

1023. Who may organize. Capitalization. Loan of capital. Any number of adult resident freeholders of the state, not less than ten, may associate to establish a land mortgage bank on the terms and conditions and subject to the liabilities hereinafter prescribed. The aggregate amount of the capital stock of any such association shall be not less than $10,000; provided, that all moneys derived from the sale of capital stock may be loaned at a rate of interest not to exceed eight per cent per annum.

1024. Articles of incorporation. The persons so associating shall make, sign, and acknowledge written articles of incorporation containing:

1. The declaration that they are associated for the purpose of forming a land mortgage association under the provisions of this chapter.
2. The name of such association, which shall be in no material respect similar to any other association in the same county;
3. The name of the particular village, town, city, and county where such association is to be located;
4. The amount of capital stock, which shall be divided into shares of $10 each;
5. The period for which such association is organized.

1025. Organization. Board of trustees. Terms. Vacancies. The incorporators shall, at their first annual meeting, elect by ballot from their number a board of trustees, which shall consist of not less than six members, who shall be divided into three classes, as follows: One-third shall be elected for one year; one-third for two years, and one-third for three years. After the election of the first board of trustees, every subsequent trustee shall be elected by the stockholders at the annual meeting for the full term of three years, unless elected to fill a vacancy, in which case he shall be elected to serve the unexpired portion of the term in which such vacancy occurs.

1026. Officers. Committee on loans. The trustees shall, within ten days after their election, organize by electing from among their members a president, a vice-president, a treasurer, and a secretary. They shall also elect from among their members a committee on loans, consisting of three to five members, as they shall determine. All of said officers shall hold their offices for the term of one year, or until their successors are elected and qualified.

1027. Powers and duties of trustees. The board of trustees shall control the conduct of the business of the association. It is especially bound to perform the following duties:

1. To cause the accounts of the association to be audited once each quarter by the auditing committee;
2. To present to each annual meeting a statement of the activities of the association during the preceding year, and a summary of its financial condition, together with comments and recommendations for the future conduct of its business;
3. To cause all officers to perform their duties promptly and efficiently;
4. To cause all defaults in performance of obligations to the association to be penalized and continuation of defaults to cease so far as possible;
5. To administer the affairs of the company in the most efficient manner practicable.

1028. Committee to approve loans. The committee on loans shall approve in writing an application for a loan or advance before the same shall be granted by the land mortgage bank. Every application for a loan shall be made in writing, and shall state the purpose for which the loan is desired. No loan shall be made unless the committee on loans is satisfied that it promises to benefit the borrower, nor unless it has received the approval in writing of a majority of the members of the committee, but an applicant for a loan may appeal to the board of trustees from the decision of the committee on loans.

1029. Auditing committee. The incorporators shall, at their first annual meeting, elect by ballot from their number an auditing committee, no one of whom shall be an officer of such association. Thereafter an auditing committee shall be elected by the stockholders at each annual meeeting.

1030. Id. Powers and duties. 1. The auditing committee shall quarterly inspect the securities, cash, and accounts of the corporation;

2. At the annual meeting of the stockholders the auditing committee shall submit their report, including the results of said audit, together with such recommendations as they have to offer, and an epitome of their proceedings since the last previous meeting. A copy of such report shall be forwarded to the bank commissioner.

1031. Id. Suspension of trustee or officer. Mismanagement. 1. At any time the auditing committee, by unanimous vote, may suspend any trustee, officer, or member of the committee on loans; and by a majority vote may call a meeting of the stockholders to consider any violation of statutes relative to such corporation or of the by-laws, or any practice of the corporation which in the opinion of said committee is unauthorized;

2. Within seven days after the suspension of any trustee, officer, or member of the committee on loans, the auditing committee shall cause notice to be given of a meeting of the stockholders to take such action relative to such suspension as may seem necessary. The auditing committee shall fill vacancies in their own number until the next annual meeting.

1032. Treasurer to give bond. Record. Custody. Surety. The treasurer shall give a bond for the faithful discharge of his duties, with such surety and in such amount as shall be approved by the trustees. All bonds so given shall be recorded at length in the books of the land association, and shall be subject at all times to the inspection of the stockholders. The bond itself immediately upon having been recorded shall be delivered to the bank commissioner, and shall remain in his custody. The trustees may, whenever it is necessary in the interests of the association, require additional bonds to be given. No officer, trustee, or member of the auditing committee of the company shall be a surety upon the bond of the treasurer.

1033. General powers. Said land mortgage association shall have power:

1. To make loans and to accept as security for any such loan a first mortgage upon irrigated agricultural lands within the state; provided, that loans are made for not more than thirty years. Such loans shall not exceed, however, sixty-five per cent of the value of such real estate so conveyed, if the same is improved, and not to exceed fifty per cent if wholly unimproved, according to the appraisal made as herein provided;

2. To issue bonds secured by the pledge of the mortgages so taken, and to provide for the investment of its surplus funds;

3. To pledge the mortgages so taken under the provisions of subdivision 1 hereof as security for the bonds of the land mortgage association referred to in subdivision 2 hereof.

1034. Laws applicable to land banks. The corporation and banking laws of Utah as far as applicable shall apply to banks organized under this chapter.

1035. By-laws. Bank commissioner to approve. Such corporation shall have the power to enact by-laws not inconsistent with the law and subject to the approval of the bank commissioner. In such by-laws may be provided:

1. The time and place of the annual meeting;

3. The conditions under which borrowers may make partial payments upon principal and interest of the debt owing by them in addition to the payments provided for in § 1042;
4. Penalties which may be affixed for default in the payment of principal or interest;
5. The nature of the evidence of title which must be furnished by a prospective borrower and the method in which such title may be approved;

6. The times and places of all meetings of the board of trustees and of the auditing committee, and the nature of the notices required for such meeting;

7. The number of stockholders who shall constitute a quorum at any general or special meeting, and the number of trustees and the number of members of the auditing and loan committees;

8. The duties of the officers and employes, and such other regulations as are necessary and as are not provided for by law or the articles of incorporation.

1036. Id. To be filed with bank commissioner. No such land mortgage bank shall issue any bonds or make any loans until a copy of its by-laws has been filed with and approved by the bank commissioner. No by-laws or amendments thereof subsequently adopted shall be operative until filed and approved in the same manner.

1037. Stockholders' meetings. Representation. At all stockholders' meetings each share of stock shall entitle the owner of record to one vote, but if any stockholder shall own more than ten per cent of the stock no such stock in excess of such ten per cent shall be voted. Each stockholder must vote in person, and no proxy or other power of attorney shall be effective to authorize any other person to cast a vote for a stockholder except that it is permitted:

1. For wives to authorize their husbands and husbands to authorize their wives by proper proxy to vote;

2. Minors or incompetents in whom stock is vested may be represented by guardian;

3. Joint owners of stock may authorize one of their number to represent them;

4. Corporations and other combinations of persons may be represented through a legally constituted attorney;

5. Widows and unmarried women may be represented through persons holding their power of attorney;

6. It shall be incompetent for any person to represent more than one interest.

1038. Elections. Elections shall be effected by ballot; election by acclamation shall be permissible if there be no objection thereto. An absolute majority of the stock voted shall be necessary for elections as well as for adopting resolutions. If the third ballot at any election gives no absolute majority, the voting among the candidates shall be narrowed in subsequent ballot by the dropping of the candidate who received the smallest number of votes on the previous ballot.

1039. Mortgages. Bonds. Trust Deeds. Approval of form. The mortgages to be given to the association, the bonds to be issued and the trust deed executed to secure the bonds shall be in such form and shall contain such conditions as will adequately protect all parties thereto. The trustees shall provide the forms subject to the joint approval of the bank commissioner and the attorney-general.

1040. Mortgages. Conditions Prescribed. All mortgage obligations acquired by the company shall be subject to the following restrictions:

1. Each such mortgage shall be a first and valid lien upon irrigated agricultural lands within the state of Utah;

2. Each such mortgage shall be a first and valid lien upon the whole and undivided fee and upon no lesser estate;

3. Each such mortgage shall be given to secure a principal indebtedness not exceeding in amount fifteen per cent of the capital and surplus of the company;

4. Each such mortgage shall state the rate of interest, which in no case shall exceed seven per cent;

5. All such mortgages on agricultural lands shall contain provisions for proper soil conservation;

6. All such mortgages shall contain provisions for the annual or semi-annual reduction of the indebtedness secured thereby;

7. The company shall make no loan secured by mortgage of any real estate in which any officer or trustee of the company is interested, either directly or indirectly, except upon the approval of two-thirds of all the trustees;

8. The proceeds of any loans made upon lands upon which are buildings in course of construction shall be retained by the company and paid out only upon construction vouchers countersigned by a duly authorized agent of the company.

1041. Appraisal of lands to be mortgaged. Upon application for a loan the prospective borrower shall cause the lands which he proposes to mortgage to the association to be appraised by two freeholders, resident in the town, city, or village in which such lands are situate, who shall be approved by the directors of the association.

1042. Examination of title. Periodical payments. The borrower shall pay all expenses incidental to the examination of title. The total amount to be paid periodically by the borrower shall include:

1. The rate of interest agreed upon;

2. An allowance for expenses of the land association to an amount not exceeding three and one-third per cent annually of the face of loan, and

3. A payment upon the principal (amortization) of not less than one per cent of the original amount thereof.

1043. Repayment of loan by instalments. Terms. A borrower may repay his loan by instalments of such frequency and amounts as may be agreed upon; provided, that not less than three and one-third per cent of the original amount of the mortgage shall be paid upon the principal thereof annually. The borrower may pay a larger instalment upon the principal, or the whole of it, at any interest date. Such payment may be made in cash, or by tendering at par bonds of the association. For failure to pay the interest or any instalment required by the terms of the loan, the borrower may be fined as the by-laws may prescribe. But the borrower shall never be required to pay more than the specified instalment, nor to pay the principal before it is due, except as provided in § 1046 or 1047.

1044. Repayment of total indebtedness. Notice. Settlement. The borrower may, upon sixty days' notice, repay to the association his total indebtedness, or without such notice upon payment of sixty days' interest upon the principal unpaid. The borrower shall be entitled to a receipt for all instalments as paid and, where the repayment is complete, to a satisfaction of his note and mortgage.

1045. Liability of person acquiring mortgaged lands. Written agreement. The acquirer of any lands mortgaged to a land mortgage association shall enter at once, on the acquisition of the land, into a written agreement with the association, attested by a notary, or a justice, and assume the personal responsibility for the indebtedness to the association attaching to such lands. This document must be presented to the trustees within fourteen days after demand.

1046. Call of loans upon sixty days' notice. Every land mortgage association shall have the power to call in loans upon sixty days' notice:

1. When the person acquiring the land upon which money has been loaned does not comply with the provisions of § 1045, and fulfill the obligation incumbent upon him;

2. When the debtor does not meet the obligation imposed upon him by his contract and by the by-laws of the land mortgage association;

3. When the mortgaged premises become subject to forced sale;

4. When the mortgaged premises are depreciating in value because of lack of care, failure properly to maintain and conserve, or from other cause.

The trustees of such association, whenever necessary, shall provide for an inspection of mortgaged premises, for an investigation of the care which is being given said premises, and may employ an expert to inspect the soil with a view of determining whether the same is being depleted.

1047. Partial repayment of loan when property depreciates. The association may require a suitable partial repayment of the debt, if the mortgaged premises may have at any time become depreciated in value from any cause whatsoever.

1048. Foreclosure. Liability of borrower. Whenever any loan is called in and the borrower shall fail to pay the principal and interest due to the association as required by law and the notices given him, the land mortgage association may then foreclose upon the mortgaged premises as for a past due loan. But in no case shall a borrower be liable for a sum greater than the amount of the unpaid portions of the loan with any accretions of interest thereon and expenses incidental to the collection thereof.

1049. Limit to bond issues. The aggregate amount of the principal of all bonds issued by a land mortgage association and outstanding at any one time shall not exceed twenty times the amount of the capital and surplus of the company.

1050. No creditor to be given preference. Habitual borrowing. No land mortgage association, and no officer or agent thereof, shall give any preference to any creditor by pledging any of the assets of such association as collateral security, except that any such association may borrow money for temporary purposes, and may pledge assets of the association as collateral security therefor. Whenever it shall appear that any land mortgage association has borrowed habitually for the purpose of reloaning, the bank commissioner may require such association to pay off such amount so borrowed.

1051. Bonds. Maximum interest. Registry. The bonds to be issued by any land mortgage association may be issued for such amounts, bearing such serial number and date or dates, and be payable at such time or times, bear such rate of interest, not over seven per cent, and be redeemable at maturity. Each land mortgage association shall keep a register for the registration and transfer of bonds issued by it, in which it shall register, or cause to be registered, all bonds, upon presentation thereof for such purpose; and such register shall contain the post office address of all registered holders of bonds, and shall, at all reasonable times, be open to the inspection of the bank commissioner or any of his deputies, and to the state treasurer.

1052. Id. Security for payment. To secure the payment of such bonds the land mortgage association shall issue a collateral deed of trust to the state treasurer pledging as security for such bonds the notes and mortgages taken as provided herein in an amount equal to or exceeding the aggregate amount of bonds issued or to be issued. The total amount of bonds actually outstanding shall not at any time exceed the total amount unpaid upon the notes secured by the mortgages belonging to the association and pledged for the payment of the bonds, plus such securities and money as may be on deposit with the state treasurer under the provisions hereof.

1053. Id. Securities. Deposited with state treasurer. Substitution. All mortgages pledged to secure the payment of the bonds issued hereunder shall be deposited and left with the state treasurer. The land mortgage association may, with the approval of the state treasurer, remove such mortgages from the custody of the state, substituting in place thereof other of its mortgages, or money or bonds of the state of Utah, or government bonds or certificates of deposit, endorsed in blank, issued by incorporated associations located and doing business in the state of Utah in an amount equal to or greater than the amount unpaid upon the notes secured by the mortgages withdrawn.

1054. Redemption of bonds. Notice. Notice of redemption of bonds may, on no account, be given on the part of the holder thereof, but may be given by the bank only for the purpose of effecting redemption in accordance with the conditions of the bond and as provided by law and the by-laws. If the land mortgage bank shall elect to redeem any bond prior to maturity, six months' notice of redemption shall be given and shall be effected by personal service upon the owner and holder of the bonds, by notice mailed to his address as registered or by advertising the same three times in a newspaper selected by the state treasurer. The numbers of the bonds of which notice of redemption is to be given shall be determined by lot, to be drawn by the president or the vice-president at a meeting of the trustees.

1055. Matured bond not presented for payment. Effect. In case the holder of any bond outstanding shall not have presented the same for payment within two years after its maturity or within two years after the date fixed for the redemption, as the case may be, then such bond shall cease to be a lien upon the mortgages, moneys, and securities pledged to the state treasurer and deposited with him as security therefor; but such bond shall still constitute, until the statute of limitations running against such bond shall have expired, a simple legal money claim or demand against the land mortgage association issuing the same, and be recoverable from it in a suit at law, and in no event shall any interest be collectible upon such bond after the maturity thereof or after the date fixed for its redemption.

1056. Mortgage loan repaid in cash or bonds. If the bank give notice to a debtor for repayment of the mortgage loan, the latter must pay to the bank in cash or in its bonds at par the face of the same so far as it has not yet been covered by his assets in the amortization and payments.

1057. Bonds constitute a legal investment. Exempt from taxation, when. The bonds of a land mortgage association shall be a legal investment for savings associations, trust companies, or other financial institutions chartered under the laws of this state, and shall also be a legal investment for trustees, executors, administrators, or custodians of public or private funds, or corporations, partnerships, or associations. Whenever the taxes upon the real estate subject to the mortgages pledged as security for any bonds of any land mortgage association shall be payable by either the mortgagee or the mortgagor, then such bonds shall be exempt from further taxation in the hands of their holders.

1058. Gross earnings. Disposition. Dividends. The gross earnings of the association shall be ascertained annually, and there shall first be deducted therefrom the expenses incurred by the association for the preceding year, and the balance thereof shall be set aside as a reserve fund for the payment of contingent losses, to an amount equal to two per cent of the capital stock outstanding, and until such reserve fund equals twenty per cent of the capital stock of such association. The balance of the earnings may be paid as a co-operative profit sharing dividend.

1059. When association may acquire real estate. No land mortgage association shall acquire real estate (other than for the occupation of its offices) except to protect its interest in case any of the mortgages owned by it are foreclosed and the property therein described sold to pay the indebtedness secured thereby. All real estate so acquired shall be promptly sold.

The par value of each share in the capital stock of a co-operative bank shall be $5, to be paid for in cash. Each shareholder shall be liable for the debts of the corporation to the amount of shares subscribed for by him, whether wholly or partly paid. As an initial payment for the privilege of membership, each member shall pay an entrance fee of at least $1, besides subscribing for not less than one share of the capital stock, which may be evidenced by a pass-book entry or by certificate as the by-laws may determine. A natural person, or a co-operative association organized under the laws of this state may be a shareholder, but no member may hold more than 200 shares.

1073. Stock and deposits belonging to minors or held in trust. Withdrawal. Shares may be issued and deposits received in the name of a minor, and such shares and deposits may, in the discretion of the directors, be withdrawn by such minor or by his parent or guardian, and in either case payments made on such withdrawals shall be valid. In making petty loans of remedial character, a rate of interest not to exceed 12 per cent per annum may be charged upon the unanimous approval in writing by the directors; and loans to non-members on demand, or other liquid investments, may be made in like manner out of any funds in excess of fifteen per cent reserve, but the members shall always have first call upon the funds of the corporation for loans.

1078. Settlement with one who has withdrawn or been expelled. The amounts paid in on shares or deposited by members who have withdrawn or have been expelled shall be paid to them with all accrued interest, but exclusive of other gains or profits, but in the order of withdrawal or expulsion and only as funds therefor become available and after deducting any amounts due by said members to the corporation; but such expulsion shall not operate to relieve a member from any remaining liability to the corporation.

1079. Dividends. How computed and distributed. At the annual meeting a dividend may be declared from income which has been actually collected during the fiscal year next preceding, or during the months which have elapsed since the corporation began business, and which remains after the deduction of all expenses, losses, interest on deposits, and the amount required to be set apart as a guaranty fund. Such dividend shall be paid on all fully paid shares outstanding at the close of the fiscal year, but shares which become fully paid during the year shall be entitled to only a proportional part of said dividend calculated from the first day of the month following such payment in full. Dividends due to a member shall be credited to the account of partly paid shares for which he has subscribed until same are paid up and then may be paid in cash.

1080. Guaranty fund. Immediately before the payment of each dividend there shall be set apart as a guaranty fund ten per cent of the net income which has accumulated during the fiscal year. Said fund and the investments thereof shall belong to the corporation and shall be held to meet contingencies or losses in its business. All entrance fees shall be added at once to the guaranty fund. But upon recommendation of the board of directors the members

A committee of three shall thereupon be elected to liquidate the assets of the corporation, and each share of the capital stock, according to the amount paid in thereon, shall be entitled to its proportion of the proceeds after all deposits and debts of the corporation have been paid.

1082. Annual report to bank commissioner. Within twenty days after the last business day of December in each year, every such corporation shall make to the bank commissioner a report in such form as he may prescribe, signed by the president and treasurer, who shall certify and make oath that the report is correct according to their best knowledge and belief. Ensign v. Colorado Investment Co., 35 U. 255; 99 P. 1076.

1103. (395.) Bonds of secretary and treasurer. The treasurer and secretary, before entering upon their duties, shall give good and sufficient bonds for the faithful performance of the same and for the safe keeping and proper application of all money or property coming into their hands, and the same shall be approved by the board of directors. All such bonds shall be increased or additional sureties required by the board of directors when the same becomes necessary to protect the interests of the association or its members, but no directors shall be accepted as a surety on such bonds, and the directors shall be individually liable for loss to the association or members caused by their failure to comply with the provisions of this section.

1104. (396.) Payments. Withdrawals. A borrower may repay a loan at any time upon duly complying with the provisions of the charter and by-laws in relation to the payment of loans; and any stockholder wishing to withdraw from the corporation shall have power to do so by giving thirty days' notice of his intenion to withdraw, when he shall be entitled to receive the amount paid in by him and such interest thereon, or such proportion of the profits thereon, less all fines and other charges, as the by-laws may determine: provided, that at no time shall more than one-half of the funds of the treasury of the corporation be applicable to the demands of withdrawing stockholders without the consent of the board of directors, and that no stockholder shall be entitled to withdraw whose stock is held by the association for security. Upon the death of a stockholder, his legal representative shall be entitled to receive the full amount paid in by him on all shares not borrowed upon or pledged to the association as collateral security and legal interest thereon after deducting all charges that may be due on the stock; but no fines shall be charged to a deceased member's account from and after his decease, unless the legal representative of such decedent assume the future payment of the dues.

Decisions on withdrawals, etc., note to, § 1102.

1105. (398.) Annual statement. Publication. On or before the 1st day of March of each year, every building and loan association doing business within this state, whether domestic or foreign, shall cause to be filed in the office of the bank commissioner a statement of its affairs, as is required in § 1109, and shall cause a copy thereof, duly certified by the bank commissioner, to be published at least four times in some newspaper in this state having a general circulation therein, such publication to be completed on or before the 1st day of May, and proof thereof filed in the office of the bank commissioner. Am'd '15, p. 14.

1106. (399.) Examination, refusal to submit to. If any domestic building and loan association shall refuse to submit to an examination by the bank commissioner or his agent, the bank commissioner shall advise the attorney-general thereof, who shall proceed to wind up its affairs; and if any foreign association shall refuse to submit to such examination, the bank commissioner shall so advise the secretary of state, who shall thereupon revoke its certificate of authority to do business in this state. Am'd '15, p. 14.

1107. (400.) Unlawful methods. Deception. Unsafe condition. When, in the opinion of the bank commissioner, any such corporation is conducting its business illegally, or in violation of its articles of incorporation or by-laws, or is practicing deception upon its members or the public, or is pursuing a plan that is injurious to the interests of such members, or if he is satisfied that its affairs are in an unsafe condition, he shall notify its directors or managers, and if it shall not immediately amend its course or put its affairs upon a safe basis, he shall, in the case of a domestic corporation, advise the attorney-general thereof, who shall take the necessary steps to wind up its affairs; and in the case of a foreign corporation, he shall so advise the secretary of state, who shall thereupon revoke its certificate of authority to do business in this state. Am'd '15, p. 14.

The remedy given hereunder is conclusive, and the courts cannot appoint a receiver to wind up the affairs of a building and loan association at the request of one or more of its shareholders; and before an action for dissolution of the association is brought hereunder, it should be given an opportunity to correct abuses in its management, unless its affairs are such that in the opinion of the secretary of state or attorney-general they cannot be corrected.

Union Savings & Inv. Co. v. District Court, 44 U. 397; 140 P. 221.

This decision was prior to the amendment giving the bank examiner supervisory power.

1108. (402.) Agents acting without authority. Liability. Any officer or agent of any building and loan association who shall do or attempt to do any business for any such association, which does not hold a certificate of authority therefor as in this chapter provided, or which shall fail or refuse to file with the bank commissioner the annual statement herein required, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor for each and every offense, and shall be personally liable on any and all contracts made in this state by him for and in behalf of such company during the time that it shall remain so in default. Am'd '15, p. 14.

1109. (397.) Certificate of authority. It shall be unlawful for any building and loan association, not organized under the laws of this state, to transact business in this state unless such association or company shall have first complied with the provisions of § 945, relating to foreign corporations, and shall have submitted a statement of its condition and affairs subscribed and sworn to by the manager or an officer of the company, showing:

1. The amount of authorized capital, and the par value of each share;
2. The number of shares sold during the year;
3. The number of shares canceled and withdrawn during the preceding year;
4. A statement of receipts and disbursements during the preceding year;
5. Salaries paid each of its officers;
6. A statement of its assets and liabilities at the end of the year, and the nature thereof in general terms;
7. Any other fact which the secretary of state or the bank commissioner may require.

Upon receipt of all such instruments as are required, and the filing thereof, the secretary of state, if he believes that the association is properly managed, that its financial condition is satisfactory, and that its business is conducted upon a safe and reliable plan, shall thereupon issue a certificate authorizing such corporation to do business in this state; provided, however, that the secretary of state shall not issue a certificate of authority to any such company or association, authorizing it to do business in this state, until its articles of association or agreement, and by-laws, and acceptance of the provisions of the constitution, and designation of agent upon whom process may be served, and required statement of facts, shall have first been examined and approved by the bank commissioner; and provided, further, that the secretary of state shall certify a copy of all such instruments to the bank commissioner, who shall file the same in his office. Am'd '15, p. 14.

Must deposit cash or security, § 1110.

Where it is questionable whether a foreign corporation under its charter may or may not do building and loan business, the court will not mandamus the secretary of state to grant it the right to do business in this state unless it complies with provision required of foreign building and loan associations.

National Merc. Co. v. Matson, 45 U. 155; 143 P. 223.

1110. Must make deposit of cash or securities. No building and loan association heretofore or hereafter organized under the laws of any other state, or territory or foreign country, for the purpose of engaging in the building and loan business, shall be allowed to do business or sell its stock or certificates in the state of Utah without first having deposited with the state treasurer or responsible trust companies within or without the state designated by him, the sum of $50,000, either in cash or bonds of the United States, or bonds of any county or municipal corporation of the state of Utah, or in first mortgage upon real estate located within this state, as a guarantee fund for the protection and indemnity of the residents of the state of Utah with whom such association shall do business; the fund so deposited to be paid by the custodian thereof to the residents of Utah when proof of claim of final judgment has been filed with the custodian of such fund against such foreign association.

A foreign corporation, whose charter authorizes it "generally to engage in any business or transactions which might seem to the company directly or indirectly conducive to the interests or conveniences of the company," is authorized to enter into building and loan contracts.

1113. Penalty for representing unauthorized company. 1115. Foreign companies must comply with laws governing domestic associations. Every such foreign building and loan association doing business in the state of Utah shall, in all other respects not herein provided for, conduct the same in accordance with the laws of this state governing domestic associations.

1116. "Foreign building and loan associations" defined. The name "foreign building and loan associations," as used in this chapter, shall include all foreign corporations, societies, organizations, or associations doing a saving and loan or investment business on the building society plan, whether mutual or otherwise, and whether issuing certificates of stock which mature at a time fixed in advance or not.

The commissioner shall, before entering upon his duties, take and subscribe the oath required by the constitution of Utah, and shall give bonds to the state of Utah in the sum of $15,000, to be approved by the governor and attorney-general, conditioned for the faithful and impartial discharge of his duties, which oath and bonds shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

1127. Seal. The commissioner shall devise a seal, to be approved by the governor, the said seal to be surrounded by the words "commissioner of insurance for Utah," an impression of which shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state. Every certificate or other paper executed by said commissioner in pursuance of any authority conferred upon him by law, and sealed with his seal of office, and all copies of papers certified by said commissioner and authenticated by said seal, shall in all cases be evidence equally in like manner as the original thereof and shall have the same force and effect as the originals would in any suit or proceeding in any court of this state.

1128. Office at state capital. May employ persons to make examinations. The said commissioner shall have an office at the state capital, and shall procure necessary furniture, safe, stationery, postage, printing, and such other appliances as may be necessary for the transaction of the business of his office, and may employ persons to make personal examinations of the condition and affairs of insurance companies when necessary, as required by law, and whenever he may think necessary he shall call upon the attorney-general of the state for legal counsel and such assistance as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this chapter.

1129. Records to be public. The office of said commissioner of insurance shall be deemed a public office, and the records, books, and papers thereof, or on file therein, shall be deemed public records of the state. All books and documents and all other papers whatever in the office of any of the officers of the state relating to insurance except such papers as are mentioned in § 945, shall, on demand, be delivered and transferred to the commissioner of insurance, who shall give a receipt for same, which shall be a full release from all responsibility in connection with such documents, books, and papers.

1130. Duties of commissioner. Reports. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to file in his office and safely keep all books and papers required by law to be filed therein, and to keep and preserve in permanent form a full record of his proceedings, including a concise statement of the condition of such insurance companies reported and examined by him, to issue certificates of authority to transact insurance business to any insurance companies which have fully complied with the laws of this state, and to issue such other certificates as are required by law in the organization of insurance companies and the transaction of the business of insurance, and generally to do and perform with justice and impartiality all such duties as are or may be imposed on him by the laws in relation to the business of insurance in this state. He shall annually, at the earliest practicable date after the returns are received from the several companies, make a report to the governor of the affairs of the insurance department, which report shall contain a tabular statement and synopsis of the several statements as accepted by the commissioner, and such other matters as in his opinion may be of benefit to the public, and shall make such recommendations as he may deem proper in regard to the subject of insurance in this state, and shall set forth in a statement, verified by oath and the certificate of the auditor of the state, the various sums received and disbursed by him from and to whom and for what purpose. Copies of such report shall be published by and subject to the order of said commissioner at the expense of the department. The Commissioner shall furnish, within ninety days after entering upon the discharge of the duties of the office, all the insurance companies doing business in this state, a copy of this chapter, and shall annually, in November, furnish such companies blanks for the filing of statements as required by law. The commissioner, on retiring from office, shall deliver to his qualified successor all furniture, papers, and property pertaining to his office.

Duties under corporate surety chapter, §§ 1209-1211; firemen's friend chapter, §§ 2603-2613; fraternal insurance chapter, §§ 3282-3314; county insurance companies chapter, § 3265. Voluntary withdrawal filed with, § 958.

1131. Id. Securities. The commissioner shall receive and hold on deposit, in the manner provided in this chapter, the securities of domestic companies which are deposited by any such company to comply with the law of another state to enable such company to transact business in such state, and such other deposits as are required by this chapter. The commissioner shall furnish under his hand and official seal to such company a certificate, certifying that he holds said securities in trust for the benefit of the policy-holders of such company.

1132. Id. Securities, how kept. The commissioner of insurance shall give vouchers for all securities deposited with him to the company depositing them, the value and sufficiency of which such securities shall be determined by him. It shall be the duty of the commissioner, upon receipt of such securities from any insurance company to forthwith deposit the same, in the presence of the president or authorized agent of the company, in a strong iron box, which shall require two distinct and different keys to unlock the same; one key to be kept by the commissioner, and the other by the company; and the box shall not be opened except in the presence of the commissioner and the said president or authorized agent of the company. The boxes shall be placed in the vault of a safe deposit company or national bank in the city of Salt Lake, to be selected by the commissioner, and the insurance company shall pay the several fees for the safe keeping of the several boxes. So long as the company so depositing shall continue solvent, the commissioner shall permit such company to collect and receive the interest and dividends on its securities so deposited and transferred, and from time to time to withdraw any such securities on depositing other securities instead of those to be withdrawn, such new securities to be at least of equal value with those withdrawn. If the commissioner shall wilfully fail, refuse, or neglect to faithfully keep, deposit, account for, or surrender in the manner by law authorized or required any such securities as aforesaid transferred to and received by him, or under his custody under the provisions of this chapter, or shall wilfully fail, refuse, or neglect to furnish proper certificates of the securities so held by him, as herein provided, said commissioner shall be responsible upon his official bond, and suit may be brought upon said bond by any person injured.

1133. Id. Examinations. The commissioner of insurance shall examine and inquire into violations of the insurance laws of this state, and for this purpose, or to see if the laws are obeyed, or to examine the financial condition affairs, and management of any company, he may visit or cause to be visited by any competent person or persons he may appoint, the head office in the United States of any domestic or foreign insurance company applying for admission to or already admitted to do business in this state, and may for this purpose examine or investigate any company organized under the laws of Utah, and any agency of any company doing business in this state; provided, that the written consent of the state board of examiners must be obtained to all examinations, inquiries, or investigations made beyond the borders of the state of Utah. The cost of such examinations, when made beyond the borders of the state of Utah, shall be paid by the company examined, and shall include the reasonable expenses of the commissioner and assistants employed therein, whose services are paid for by the department, and the compensation and reasonable expenses of his assistants employed therein, whose services are not paid by the department. Duplicate receipts, showing the entire costs of the examination authorized by the commissioner, shall be taken and certified to by the company examined, and one shall be filed with the governor and the other shall be filed in and become a part of the public record of the insurance department. When insurance companies not admitted to do business in this state, or companies adjudged insolvent, or companies for any cause withdrawing from the state, neglect, fail, or refuse to pay the charges for examination, as approved by the commissioner, such charges shall be paid by the state treasurer upon the order of the commissioner, as provided in this chapter, and the amount so paid shall be a first lien upon all the assets and property of such company, and may be recovered by suit by the attorney-general on behalf of the state of Utah, and restored to the state treasury. The commissioner may also examine companies upon the request of five or more of the policy-holders, representing at least $100,000 insurance in force, who shall make affidavit of their belief, with specifications of their reasons therefor, in writing, showing reasonable grounds for such belief, that such company is in an unsound or insolvent condition; provided, that only the United States branches of companies incorporated in foreign countries shall be examined by said commissioner. For the purpose of examinations, inquiries, or investigations, as aforesaid, the commissioner or the person authorized to make them, shall have free access to all books and papers of an insurance company that relate to its business and the books and papers kept by any officer, agent, or employe, relating to or upon which any record of its business is kept, and may summon witnesses and administer oaths or affirmations in the examination of the directors, trustees, officers, agents, or employes of any such company and any other person in relation to its affairs, transactions, and condition. He may require and compel the production of records, books, papers, contracts, or other documents by attachment, if necessary. Any person knowingly or wilfully testifying falsely in reference to any matter material to said investigation, examination, or inquiry shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and punished accordingly; and any person who shall wilfully refuse or fail to attend, answer, or produce books or papers, or who shall refuse to give said commissioner or the person authorized by him full and truthful information and answer in writing to any inquiry or question made in writing by said commissioner, or the person authorized by him, in regard to the business of insurance carried on by such person, or other matters under investigation, or refuse or wilfully fail to appear and testify under oath before the commissioner or person authorized by him, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon convicton thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any director, trustee, officer, agent, or employe of any insurance company, or any other person, who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false certificate, entry, or memorandum upon any of the books or the papers of any insurance company, or upon any statement filed or offered to be filed in the insurance deparment of this state, or used in the course of examination, inquiry, or investigation, with the intent to deceive the commissioner or any person employed or appointed by him to make such examination, inquiry, or investigation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000, or by imprisonment not less than two months nor more than twelve months in the county jail, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

1134. May publish result of examination. Revocation of certificate. When the commissioner of insurance deems it to the interest of the public, he may publish the result of any examination or investigation in a daily newspaper published in and of general circulation in the state. If the commissioner finds, upon examination, hearing, or other evidence, that any foreign or domestic insurance company is in an unsound or insolvent condition, or has failed to comply with the law or with the provisions of its charter, or that its condition is, or its methods are, such as to render its operation hazardous to the public or its policy-holders, or that its actual assets, exclusive of its capital, are less than its liabilities, or if its officers or agents refuse to submit to examination or to perform any legal obligation relative thereto, or refuse on behalf of the company to pay the examination charges, he shall suspend or revoke all certificates of authority granted to said insurance company, and its officers or agents, and shall cause notice thereof to be published in one or more daily newspapers, which shall have a general state circulation, and no new business shall thereafter be done by it or its agent in this state, while such default or disability continues, nor until its authority to do business is restored. Before suspending or revoking the certificate of authority of any such company, the commissioner shall, unless it is insolvent or its capital impaired, grant it fifteen days in which to show cause why such action should not be taken. Any foreign or domestic insurance company, whose certificate of authority has been suspended or revoked by the commissioner, may, within fifteen days thereafter, appeal from said order to the district court of the district in which its principal place of business is located, which court, upon filing the proper petition, shall cause the record and orders of the commissioner to be brought before it, and upon a hearing of the case by the court de novo, the court shall either confirm or revoke the order of the commissioner, as the law and the facts of the case may warrant. Said court shall have the power to make an order suspending or revoking the license of a domestic company pending the appeal; provided, the company appealing shall give bond with the sureties satisfactory in court, in such penalty as the court may determine is just and proper, conditioned to pay to the state, and to any and all persons whomsoever, any and all loss that may be sustained by reason of the stay or suspension of such order of said commissioner; and provided, further, that, during the period allowed for taking such appeal, the publication of notice of the revocation or suspension of license of such domestic company as provided by this chapter, shall not be made, and if the order of said commissioner has been stayed or suspended by the order of said court, such publication shall not be made until after the discharge of such stay or until the affirmation of such order of revocation or suspension. Upon such appeal the domestic insurance company shall be entitled to a trial by jury upon all issues of fact. If the trial is by jury, the court shall submit to the jury specific requests to find, covering the matters in issue separately, and the jury shall return special verdict upon each question submitted, and if by such verdict it shall be found the corporation, association, or society is insolvent because of matured death claims or other obligations due and unpaid exceeding its assets as herein provided, or its capital has been impaired, the court may render judgment that it and each officer thereof be perpetually enjoined from exercising any corporate rights, privileges, or franchises and that it be dissolved, and that a receiver be appointed, an account taken, and an equitable distribution of its property among its creditors and members be made. If no charge of insolvency is made, or if made is not established by the verdict of the jury, but it shall be found by such verdict that the corporation, association, or society has exceeded its corporate powers, or failed to comply with any provisions of this chapter, or has done or committed any act for which its license may be revoked or suspended under any of the provisions of this chapter, or has conducted its business unlawfully or fraudulently, the court may make and enter judgment enjoining and restraining it from the commission of such acts or such of them as the court may determine, and in case of failure to desist therefrom within the time to be specified in such judgment, that the corporation be dissolved. Pending the trial, if no bond has been given, as herein provided, the court may, upon motion of the attorney-general and upon notice to the corporation, association, or society, grant an injunction restraining it and its officers and directors from collecting any debt or demand and from paying out or in any way transferring or delivering to any person any money, property, or effects during the pendency of the proceedings, except by direction of the court, and may appoint one or more temporary receivers in such cases. From the action of said district court, an appeal may be taken, by either the commissioner of insurance or by the insurance company, to the supreme court of the state, as in other cases; and it shall be the duty of said district court and of said supreme court to advance the hearing of said matters so far as justice and the business of the court may permit.

1136. Taxes and fees provided herein shall be in lieu of all other taxes.

The taxes and fees, as provided herein, shall be in lieu of all other taxes, licenses, and fees of every kind and character by the state or any subdivision, or village, town, or municipality thereof.

1137. Disposition of moneys. Expenses. All moneys received by the commissioner of insurance shall be paid into the state treasury at the close of each month. The state treasurer shall give duplicate receipts for all moneys thus paid into the state treasury, one of which shall be delivered to the state auditor, and the other filed in the office of the commissioner of insurance. All expenses of the insurance department, including salaries, shall be paid upon approval by the state board of examiners on warrants drawn by the state auditor on the state treasurer. For all the payments made by him, the commissioner shall take proper vouchers. The accounts for all receipts and disbursements made by the insurance department shall be audited, adjusted, and a report made thereon to the governor at the close of each year by the commissioner of insurance.

1138. Duplication of corporate names prohibited. No domestic insurance company shall adopt the name of any existing company transacting a similar business, or any name so similar as to be calculated to mislead the public, but any domestic mutual or mutual assessment insurance company may, upon complying with the terms and conditions of this chapter, be reorganized and reincorporated as a joint stock company under the same name by which it was incorporated as a mutual or assessment company, with the omission of the word "mutual," and it shall be unlawful for any other company to be incorporated or transact business under or by the name under which any such mutual or mutual assessment company was operating at the time of reincorporation.

1139. Unlawful to solicit for company not authorized to do business. Penalty. Licenses. Bond. It shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation in this state either to procure, receive, or forward applications for insurance in, or to issue or to deliver or accept policies of or for, any company or companies not having been legally authorized to do business in this state, as provided in this chapter; and any such person, company, or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall, for each and every offense, be punished by a fine of $100 or by imprisonment for two months in the county jail, or both, in the discretion of the court; provided, that insurance in companies not authorized to transact business in this state may be placed upon terms and conditions in this section hereinafter set forth. The insurance commissioner may issue a license to any regularly licensed fire insurance agent of this state, subject to revocation at any time, permitting the person named therein to procure policies of insurance on risks located in this stated for companies not authorized to transact business in this state, and for such license the commissioner of insurance shall collect a fee of $50 for each such license and renewal thereof, and each such license and renewal shall expire on the 1st day of March, unless revoked sooner. Before the person named in such license shall procure any insurance in such company, he shall, in every case, execute and file with the commissioner of insurance an affidavit that he is unable to procure, for a specified person, firm, or corporation, in a majority of the companies authorized to do business in this state, the amount of insurance necessary. Every person so licensed shall keep a separate account of the business done under said license, open at all times to inspection of the insurance commissioner, and shall file a certified copy thereof forthwith with the insurance commissioner, showing the exact amount and character of such insurance placed for any person, firm, or corporation, the gross premiums charged thereon, the companies in which the same is placed, the dates of the policies, and the terms thereof, the location of the insured property, and also a report in the same detail of all such policies canceled and the gross return thereon. Before receiving such license, the person licensed shall execute and deliver to the commissioner of insurance a bond to the people of the state of Utah in the penal sum of $2,000, with such sureties as the commissioner shall approve, conditioned that the licensee will faithfully comply with the requirements of this section, and will file with the insurance commissioner on or before the last day of February of each year a sworn statement of the gross premiums charged for insurance procured or placed, and the gross return premiums on such insurance canceled under such license during the year ending on the 31st day of December last preceding, and will pay to the insurance commissioner of the state of Utah, for the use and benfit of said state, an amount equal to 4 per cent of such gross premiums, less such return premiums so reported, and in default of the payment of any sum imposed by this section, the said commissioner may sue for same in any court of record in this state. Any person, firm, company, or corporation for whom such insurance as herein specified shall have been effected, whenever required by the commissioner so to do, shall produce for examination by him the policy or policies issued for such insurance, and disclose to him the true amount of the gross premiums agreed to be paid therefor, and upon refusal so to do shall forfeit to the said state of Utah, for each such refusal, the sum of $200 to be recovered in a civil action. All policies and insurance contracts issued without full compliance, by all parties concerned, with the laws of this state, are null and void.

1140. Certificate of authority before doing business. Revocation. Penalty. 1. No foreign or domestic insurance company shall transact any insurance business in this state unless it shall first procure from the commissioner a certificate of authority stating that the requirements of the laws of this state have been complied with and authorizing it to do business. Said certificate of authority shall expire on the last day of February in each year, and shall be renewed annually if the company has continued to comply with the laws of the state.

2. Every such company shall, through its proper officer or agent, promptly notify the commissioner in writing of the name, title, and address of each person, firm, or corporation it shall appoint or employ to act as agent or solicitor in this state. Upon receipt of this notice, together with the fee required by this chapter, if such person is of good reputation and character and the facts warrant it, the commissioner shall issue to such person, firm, or corporation a certificate, which shall include the name of the company requesting it, a copy of the certificate of authority authorizing it to do business in this state, and the name and title of the person to whom the certificate is issued. Such certificate, unless revoked by the commissioner for cause, or canceled at the request of the company employing the holder thereof, shall continue in force until the 1st day of March next after its issue, and must be renewed annually; provided, in the event of change of agent or solicitor, said certificate may be transferred by endorsement thereon for the unexpired term.

3. Cause for the revocation of the certificate of an agent or solicitor may exist for violation of the insurance laws, or, if it shall appear to the commissioner, upon due proof, after notice, that such agent or solicitor has knowingly deceived or defrauded a policy-holder or person being solicited for insurance, or that such agent or solicitor has unreasonably failed and neglected to pay over to the company, or its agent entitled thereto, any premium or part thereof, collected by him on any policy of insurance. The commissioner shall publish such revocation in such manner as he deems proper for the protection of the public.

4. A person who is not provided with a certificate from the commissioner as an authorized agent or solicitor of an insurance company, and who, for compensation, transmits for a person other than himself an application for a policy of insurance to or from such company, shall be an insurance agent or solicitor within the intent and for the purposes of this chapter, and shall therefor become liable for all duties, requirements, liabilities, and penalties to which an agent of such company is subject, and such company, by compensating such person, through any of its officers, agents, or solicitors, shall thereby accept and acknowledge such person as its agent or solicitor in such transactions.

5. When an application is received for a certificate of authority, for an agent or solicitor for a life insurance company for a person already authorized by the commissioner to act for another insurance company, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to notify the company for which such person is already authorized to act of such application, and to also notify the company by or for which the application is made, of the name of the company for which such person is already authorized to act as agent or solicitor.

6. It shall be the duty of every person soliciting insurance in this state to comply with the provisions of this chapter, relating to the procurement of certificates; and any person who solicits insurance without the certificate of authority of an agent or solicitor for the company receiving the business as required by this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding two months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

7. Any person who shall solicit and procure an application for insurance, other than fire insurance, shall, in any controversy between parties to the contract, or between the parties to the contract and the beneficiary, if any, be held to be the company's agent, whatever conditions or stipulations may be contained in the policy or contract; but such policy may provide that no statement or declaration made to or by any agent, examiner, or other person, not contained in the application, shall be taken or considered as having been made to or brought to the notice or knowledge of the company, or as charging it with any liability by reason thereof. Such agent who knowingly procures by fraudulent representations payment of an obligation for payment of premium of insurance, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year.

8. An insurance agent who acts in negotiating a contract of insurance, or who collects premiums for an insurance company lawfully doing business in this state, and who embezzles or fraudulently converts to his own use or with the intent to use or embezzle, takes, secretes, or otherwise disposes of or fraudulently withholds, appropriates, lends, invests, or otherwise uses or applies any money or substitute for money received by him as such agent, contrary to the instructions or without the consent of the company for or on account of which the same was received by him, shall be guilty of larceny and be punished accordingly.

9. Any solicitor, agent, or examining physician who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any application for insurance or for the purpose of obtaining any money or benefit in any corporation transacting business under this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both in the discretion of the court.

1141. Foreign companies. Any insurance company, not incorporated or organized under the laws of this state desiring to transact business in this state, shall file with the insurance commissioner of this state a written instrument or power of attorney, duly signed and sealed, appointing and authorizing some person, who shall be a resident of this state, to acknowledge or receive service of process and upon whom process may be served for and in behalf of such company in all proceedings that may be instituted against such company in any court of this state, or any court of the United States in this state, and consenting that service of process upon any agent or attorney appointed to accept service under the provisiins of this section shall be taken and held as valid as if served upon the company, and such instrument shall further provide that the authority of such attorney shall continue until revocation of his appointment is made by such company by filing a similar instrument with the said insurance commissioner, whereby another person shall be appointed as such attorney. Every such company shall thereafter, before the 1st day of March of each year, file a new power of attorney, signed as aforesaid and of similar tenor. Hereafter it shall be unnecessary to file such papers in the office of the secretary of state.

1142. Id. No foreign insurance company shall transact any business in this state unless it shall first file in the office of the commissioner a copy of its articles of incorporation and by-laws and all amendments thereof or alterations thereto, and also any such subsequent amendments or alterations, and also a copy of its acceptance of the provisions of the constitution of this state, and, in the case of companies which have already filed the same, a copy of the instrument designating its agent upon whom process may be served, all certified to by the secretary of state as being true copies of such papers on file in his office; together with a statement under oath of the president and the secretary or other chief officers of such company, showing the condition of affairs of such company on the 31st day of December next preceding the date of such oath. This statement shall be in the same form and shall set forth the same particulars as the annual statement required by this chapter. No charge for such certified copies, other than for the certificate attached thereto, shall be made when true copies are furnished by such company to the secretary of state for his certification.

1143. Annual statement. Forms. Every insurance company doing business in this state shall, on or before the 1st day of March in each year, render to the commissioner of insurance a report signed and sworn to by its chief officers of its condition on the preceding 31st day of December, which shall include a detailed statement of assets and liabilities, the amount and character of its business transacted and moneys received and expended during the year, and any further details of expenditures, and such other information to be included in the report or supplementary thereto which the commissioner may deem necessary. A synopsis of such statement, together with the commissioner's certificate of authority to transact business in this state, shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation published at the capital for at least four insertions. Such publication shall be made within thirty days after such certificate of authority is issued, and a copy of the paper containing such publications shall be filed in the office of the commissioner. The commissioner shall revoke and refuse to reissue the certificate of authority of any insurance company failing or refusing to furnish the reports or other information requested by the commissioner, as provided in this section. The commissioner of insurance must cause to be prepared and furnish on demand to each of the companies printed forms of the statements herein required; and he may make such changes from time to time in the form of such statements and reports as seem to him best adapted to elicit from the companies a true exhibit of their condition. The same forms must be so furnished on demand to all companies engaged in the same kind of business.

This section applicable to corporate surety companies, § 1211.

1144. Capital required. No joint stock fire insurance company shall be permitted to do any business in this state unless it is possessed of an actual paid up cash capital and surplus as follows: Companies with territory not limited to Utah, a capital of not less than $200,000, and a net surplus over all liabilities of not less than $100,000, or a capital and net surplus over all liabilities aggregating $300,000. Companies, the business of which is limited to Utah only, a capital of not less than $50,000 and a net surplus over all liabilities of not less than $50,000. No mutual or mutual assessment fire insurance company shall be permitted to do any business in this state unless it is possessed of cash assets as follows: Companies with territory not limited to Utah, cash assets of not less than $100,000. Companies whose business is limited to Utah only, cash assets of not less than $25,000, such assets to be net after deducting all liabilities other than reinsurance reserve.

Companies with a guaranty fund shall be required to have the same capital and surplus as that required of joint stock companies.

No mutual or mutual assessement fire insurance company shall receive a certificate of authority to do business in this state until it has filed with the insurance commissioner a satisfactory bond, to be approved of by the insurance commissioner, executed by at least two resident freeholders of this state or by a surety company authorized to do business in this state, in the penal sum of $10,000, for the use and benefit of the policy-holders of such company in this state, who, in any action against such company, may make such sureties or surety company defendants to the suit, and a judgment shall be rendered against them as shall be proper. If the total annual premiums of such company in this state should exceed $10,000, then the bond shall be increased to an amount equal to such premiums. If the insurance company so desires, it may, in lieu of such bond, deposit with the commisioner of insurance bonds or securities of the kind mentioned in paragraph 1 § 1145, equal in value to the amount of such bond, the value thereof to be determined by said commissioner. In the event a policy-holder of this state recovers judgment against such company, the court shall make such decree for the sale of such securities to satisfy the same as may be just and proper.

Such deposit must be an exclusive trust for the benefit and security of all the company's policy-holders and creditors in the United States, and may be made in the securities, but subject to the limitations specified in § 1145; and such deposit shall be deemed, for all purposes of the insurance laws, the capital, or capital and surplus, or guaranty, or surplus fund of the company making it.

1145. Id. Investments. 1. No insurance company shall transact business in this state unless it is possessed of the actual amount of capital or guaranty or surplus funds as required in § 1144, in cash or invested in bonds or public stock issued or created by the United States, or by this state, or by any other state of the United States, or the district of Columbia, or any or either of them, or by any of the incorporated cities, counties, townships, or other municipal corporation thereof; or in bonds or notes secured by mortgages or trust deeds on unencumbered real estate located within said states, or the district of Columbia, or either of them, worth at least 50 per cent more than the sum invested or loaned thereon.

2. Domestic insurance companies hereafter organized may, after complying with the provisions of this chapter, invest their additional surplus, or other funds, in such securities as are named in paragraph 1 hereof; or may loan upon, or purchase real estate or mortgage bonds of railroad companies organized under the laws of said states or the district of Columbia, or either of them, or operated therein, or the capital stock, bonds, securities, or evidences of indebtedness created by any corporation or corporations created under the laws of the United States, or of this or any other state, except the stock of mining companies; provided, that no loan shall be made or retained on any of the above-mentioned securities, except the bonds or stocks issued or created by the United States or this state, exceeding 90 per cent of the market value thereof; and provided, further, that no loan shall be made by any company on its own stock; and any life insurance company of this state may, in addition to the foregoing, purchase for its own benefit any policy of insurance or other obligation of the company, and any claims of policy-holders, and may lend to the holders of policies of the company a sum not exceeding the reserve value of the policies and surplus or dividend additions thereto, if any, at the time the loan is made, for the payment of which loan, the policies and all profits thereon shall be pledged. After January 1, 1915, domestic insurance companies now organized shall be subject to the provisions of this paragraph.

May invest in land mortgage bonds, § 1057.

1146. Dividends and profits. It shall be unlawful for the directors, trustees, managers, or officers of any insurance company organized under any of the laws of this state, directly or indirectly, to make or pay any dividend or pay any interest, bonus, or other allowance in lieu of dividends except from surplus profits arising from their business. Except as otherwise provided herein, in the case of life insurance companies, every insurance company, doing business in this state and issuing policies or certificates in which policy-holders or members are entitled to share in any part of the profits or surplus, shall on all policies hereafter issued, beginning at the end of the fifth policy year, make an annual apportionment and accounting of divisible surplus to each such policy-holder or member on all such participating policies, and shall carry the amount of such apportioned surplus as a distinct and separate liability, and no company or any of its officers shall be permitted to use any part of such apportioned surplus fund for any purpose whatsoever, other than for the express purpose for which the same was accumulated.

1147. Domestic companies doing business in other states. If, upon investigation, the commissioner of insurance finds that any insurance company incorporated under the laws of Utah is doing business in another state or territory without having first procured a license or authority from such state or territory, if any is required, authorizing it to do business therein, he may revoke the authority of such company to do business in this state.

1148. Maximum insurance on any one risk. No foreign or domestic insurance company doing business in this state shall expose itself to loss on any one risk or hazard to an amount exceeding 10 per cent of its paid up capital and surplus, unless the same shall be reinsured in some other good and responsible companies. A mutual fire insurance company may, however, insure a single risk in an amount not exceeding 5 per cent of its net annual premium income for the year last preceding.

1149. Organization of joint stock companies. Any number of persons, not less than five, at least one of whom shall be a resident of this state, may associate to establish a joint stock insurance company, under the provisions of chap. 1 of this title (§§ 860-899), respecting corporations for pecuniary profit, and all the rights, privileges, and all the duties and obligations of such corporations, and the officers and stockholders thereof, shall be as provided in chaps. 1 and 2 of this title (§§ 860-919). The secretary of state shall not issue a certificate of incorporation to any insurance company unless it shall appear by affidavit that the subscribed capital and net surplus or guaranty fund when required by this chapter shall have been paid as required by § 1144.

1150. Secretary of state to furnish commissioner copies of articles of domestic companies. A copy of the articles of incorporation and by-laws, and all amendments and alterations thereof, of all the domestic insurance companies now doing business within this state shall, without charge for so doing, be certified by the secretary of state to the commissioner, who, also without charge, shall file the same. Hereafter, and before the secretary of state shall issue a certificate of incorporation to domestic insurance companies, he shall, without charge for so doing, certify a copy of the articles of incorporation, together with a copy of its by-laws, to the commissioner for approval, and when so approved by the said commissioner, the secretary of state shall issue the certificate of incorporation to such domestic insurance company. He shall also, without charge for so doing, certify to the commissioner any amendments made to such articles of incorporation or by-laws. On and after the passage of this chapter, no such domestic insurance company shall be permitted to do business in this state until it shall have complied with the provisions of this chapter and shall have received from the commissioner a certificate of authority to transact business in this state; provided, that any part of the paid up capital stock and surplus may be paid in real or personal property, in which insurance companies are permitted to invest their capital or funds, as herein provided, the value thereof to be determined by affidavit as provided in chap. 1 of this title (§§ 860-899).

1151. Policies. All policies or contracts made or entered into by any domestic company may be made with or without the seal thereof. They shall be subscribed by the president or such other officers as may be designated by their by-laws for that purpose, and shall be attested by the secretary, and being so subscribed shall be obligatory upon the company.

1152. Risks to be approved. No insurance company or association (other than life), not incorporated under the laws of this state, shall make, write, or place any policy or contract of insurance of any kind or character binding in law upon any person or property situated or located in this state, except after the said risk has been approved by an agent resident of this state, regularly commissioned and licensed to transact insurance business in Utah for said company, who shall countersign all policies so issued and receive his commission thereon, and also to the end that the state may receive the taxes required by law to be paid on the premiums collected for insurance written herein. This section shall not apply to reinsurance policies, nor insurance covering the rolling stock of railroad corporations where such railroad line lies partially within and partially without the state of Utah, nor to property in transit while in the possession and custody of common carriers.

1153. Valuation of life policies. For the purpose of making valuations of life insurance policies under the provisions of this chapter, the rate of interest assumed in valuing policies shall be 3½ per cent per annum, and the rate of mortality shall be established by the table known as the "American experience table of mortality," for policies issued after January 1, 1910; for policies issued prior to January 1, 1910, the rate of interest assumed shall be 4 per cent per annum, and the rate of mortality shall be established by the table known as the "actuaries' table of mortality," such values to be on the basis of net premiums. For the purpose of estimating the liabilities of insurance companies other than life, the amount required to safely reinsure all outstanding risks shall be estimated by taking 50 per cent of the gross premiums on all risks and policies in force issued for not more than one year and pro rata of all gross premiums on risks and policies written for a longer term than one year. The commissioner may accept the valuation of the department of insurance of any other state or country if made upon the basis and according to the standard herein required, if the insurance officer of such state or country accepts as sufficient and valid for all purposes the certificate of valuation of the commissioner of this state.

1154. Provisions in life policies. On and after January 1, 1910, it shall be unlawful for any foreign or domestic life insurance company to issue or deliver in this state any life insurance policy unless the same shall contain the following provisions:

1. A provision that all premiums shall be payable in advance either at the home office of the company or to an agent of the company upon delivery of a receipt signed by one or more of the duly authorized officers, unless the first payment is set forth in the policy, in which case the policy itself shall be a receipt.

2. A provision that the policy shall be incontestable after two years from its date, except for non-payment of premiums and except for violations of the conditions of the policy relating to naval or military service in the time of war or other prohibited risks.

3. A provision that the policy shall constitute the entire contract between the parties, and that all statements made by the insured shall, in the absence of fraud, be deemed representations and not warranted, and that no such statement or statements shall be used in defense of a claim under the policy, unless contained in a written application, and a copy of such statement or statements shall be endorsed upon or attached to the policy when issued.

4. That, if the age of the insured has been misstated, the amount payable under the policy shall be such as the premium would have purchased at the correct age, or the premium may be adjusted and credit given to the insured or to the company, according to the company's published rate at date of issue.

5. A provision which shall fulfill the requirements of § 1160. This provision shall not be required in non-participating policies.

6. A provision which shall fulfill the requirements of § 1161. This provision shall not be required in term insurance twenty years or less.

7. A table showing in figures the loan values, if any, and options available under the policies each year upon default in premium payments during the first twenty years of an ordinary life policy, and during the term of premium payments required by the policy upon a limited payment life policy beginning with the year in which such values and options become available.

8. A table showing the amounts of instalments in which the policy may provide its proceeds may be payable.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof relating to premiums not applicable to single premium policies shall to that extent not be incorporated therein.

1155. Prohibited provisions. On and after January 1, 1910, it shall be unlawful for any foreign or domestic life insurance company to issue or deliver in this state any life insurance policy if it contains any of the following provisions:

1. A provision for forfeiture of the policy for failure to repay any loans on the policy or to pay interest on such loan while the total indebtedness on the policy is less than the loan value thereof. In ascertaining the indebtedness due upon the policy loans, the interest, if not paid when due, shall be added to the principal of such loans and shall bear interest at the rate specified in the note or loan agreement.

2. A provision limiting the time within which any action at law or in equity may be commenced to less than five years after the cause of action shall accrue.

3. A provision by which the policy shall purport to be issued or to take effect more than one year before the original application for the insurance is made, if thereby the assured would rate at an age more than one year younger, according to his age at nearest birthday, than his age at the date of his application, and unless the aggregate amount of the annual premiums for the whole term of such period shall be paid in cash.

1156. Id. Exceptions. The provisions of §§ 1154-1155 shall not apply to annuities, industrial policies, or to corporations or associations operating on the assessment or fraternal plan.

1157. Suspension of authority. The certificate of authority of any foreign or domestic life insurance company violating any of the provisions of §§ 1154-1155 shall be suspended by the commissioner of insurance and shall not be renewed until such company fully and completely conforms to the same. Such action by the commissioner shall be subject to review by any court of competent jurisdiction.

1158. Form of policy submitted to commissioner. On and after January 1, 1910, no policy of life insurance shall be issued or delivered in this state, or be issued by a life insurance company organized under the laws of this state, until the form of the same has been filed with the insurance commissioner; and after the commissioner shall have notified any company of his disapproval of any form, it shall be unlawful for such company to issue any policy in the form disapproved. The commissioner's action shall be subject to review by any court of competent jurisdiction.

1159. Policies delivered in other states. The policies of a domestic life insurance company may, when issued or delivered in any other state, territory, district, or country, contain any provision required by the laws of the state, territory, district, or country in which the same are issued, anything in this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding, and the policies of a foreign life insurance company, when issued in this state, may include any provision which, by the law of its own state, it is required to incorporate in all policies issued by it.

1160. Holders of participating policies. Every policy-holder shall, on all participating policies hereafter issued, except as provided in § 1162, be permitted at the time the first dividend is declared, to select from among the options set forth in the policy the manner and method of the payment of the surplus to be annually apportioned to his policy.

1161. Default in payment of premiums. 1. In the event of default in payment of any premium due on any policy, provided that not less than three full years' premiums have been paid, there shall be secured to the insured without action on his part as specified in the policy, either paid-up insurance or extended insurance or the application of the net value of the policy as a loan in payment of future premiums, so long as such net value, less the deduction herein provided for, is sufficient to secure such loan with interest added at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent per annum, payable annually in advance; the net value applied to one of the options above provided for shall be at least equal to the entire net reserve held by the company on such policy, including dividend additions, if any, less 2½ per cent of the amount insured by the policy and dividend additions, if any, or one-fifth of such reserve, and less any outstanding indebtedness to the company on the policy at the time of default.

2. No agreement between company and policy-holder or applicant for insurance shall be held to waive any of the provisions of §§ 1160 and 1161, except as herein provided.

3. This section shall not apply to industrial policies.

1162. Mutual companies. Every life insurance company doing business in this state, conducted on the mutual plan, or in which policy-holders are entitled to share in the profits or surplus, shall, on all policies of life insurance hereafter issued under conditions of which the distribution of surplus is deferred to a fixed or specified time, and contingent upon the policy's being in force and insured's living at that time, annually ascertain, beginning at the end of the fifth policy year on all policies hereafter issued, the amount of surplus to which all such policies as a separate class are entitled, and shall annually apportion to such policies as a class the amount of surplus so ascertained, subject to the mortality experience of the company to the end of the dividend period. Every company having in force any such deferred dividend policies shall, upon application from a policy-holder, at the time of the mailing of annual premium notice, furnish to such a policy-holder an annual statement showing the contingent surplus accumulation to the credit of the policy at the beginning of the preceding year, the rate of interest earned on the accumulation, the amount of interest, and the amount of saving and profit contingently credited to said policy during the preceding year, with a showing of the total amount of surplus accumulation then contingently accredited to the policy, which statement shall be substantially in accordance with the following form:

STATEMENT OF ANNUAL APPORTIONMENT OF SURPLUS.

Policy No. ..... Distribution period .....
Years ..... Age at issue ..... Surplus accumulation contingently credited to policy as per last annual statement .....

Interest credit: Net rate earned by company ..... per cent .....
Contingent Surplus Credit .....19..... $.....

Secretary.

This section shall not apply to industrial policies.

1163. Disbursements by domestic companies. No domestic life insurance company shall make any disbursement of $100 or more unless the same is evidenced by a voucher signed by or on behalf of the person, firm, or corporation receiving the money and correctly describing the consideration for the payment. If the expenditure be for both services and disbursements, the voucher shall set forth the services rendered and an itemized statement of the disbursements made. If the expenditure be in connection with any matter pending before any legislature or public body, or before any department or officer of any state or government, the voucher shall correctly describe, in addition, the nature of the matter and of the interest of such company therein. When such voucher cannot be obtained, the expenditure shall be evidenced by an affidavit describing the character and object of the expenditure, and stating the reason for not obtaining such voucher.

1164. Salaries. No domestic life insurance company shall pay any salary, compensation, or emolument to any officer, trustee, or director thereof, nor any salary compensation or emolument amounting in any year to more than $5000 to any person, firm, or corporation, unless such payment first be authorized by a vote of the board of directors of such life insurance company. No such company shall grant any pension to any officer, director, or trustee thereof or to any member of his family after his death.

1165. Unlawful to use or offer money for political purposes. No insurance company or association, including fraternal beneficiary associations, doing business in this state, shall, directly or indirectly, pay or use or offer, consent or agree to pay or use any money or property for or in aid of any political party, committee, or organization, or for or in aid of any corporation, joint stock or other association organized or maintained for political purposes, or for or in aid of any candidate for political office, or for nomination for such office, or for any political purpose whatsoever, or for the reimbursement or indemnification of any person for money or property so used. Any officer, director, stockholder, attorney, or agent of any corporation or association which violates any of the provisions of this chapter, who participates in, aids, abets, advises, or consents to any such violation, and any person who solicits or knowingly receives any money or property in violation of this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year and a fine of not more than $1000, and any officer aiding or abetting in any contribution made in violation of this chapter, shall be liable to the company or association for the amount so contributed.

No person shall be excused from attending and testifying or producing any books, papers, or other documents before any court or magistrate upon any investigation, proceeding, or trial, for a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate or degrade him; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be used against him upon any criminal investigation or proceeding.

1166. Misrepresentations. Penalty. No insurance company doing business in this state, and no officer, director, or agent thereof, shall issue or circulate, or cause or permit to be issued or circulated, any estimate, illustration, circular, or statement of any sort, misrepresenting the terms of any policy issued by it or the benefits or advantages promised thereby, or the dividends or shares of surplus to be received thereon, or shall use any name or title of any policy or class of policies, misrepresenting the true nature thereof, nor shall any such corporation or agent thereof make any misrepresentation to any person insured in another company for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce such person to lapse, forfeit, or surrender his said insurance. Violation of this section by an agent or officer of an insurance company shall be a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of $500 or by imprisonment in the county jail for sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and if the company violates or participates in the violation of this section, such company shall have its certificate of authority to do business in this state suspended for a period not exceeding six months for each offense.

1167. Discriminations and rebates prohibited. Penalty. No life insurance company doing business in this state shall make or permit any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life in the amount of payment of premiums or rates charged for policies of life or endowment insurance, or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any other of the terms and conditions of the contracts it makes. Nor shall any such company or agent thereof make any contract of insurance or agreement as to such contract other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon; nor shall any such company or any officer, agent, solicitor, or representative thereof pay, allow, or give or offer to pay, allow, or give, directly or indirectly, as an inducement to insurance, any rebate or premium payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefits to accrue thereon, or any paid employment or contract for services of any kind; nor any valuable consideration or inducement whatever, not specified in the policy contract of insurance, nor give, sell, or purchase or offer to give, sell, or purchase as inducement to insurance or in conjunction therewith, any stocks, bonds, or other securities of any insurance company or other corporation, association, or partnership, or any dividends or profits to accrue thereon; nor anything of value whatever not specified in the policy. Every officer or agent of an insurance company doing business in this state, who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum not less than $100 nor exceeding $500, or imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days, nor more than ninety days, or both, in the discretion of the court, and shall pay the costs of the prosecution. It shall be the duty of the commissioner, upon being satisfied that any such insurance company, or any agent thereof, has violated any of the provisions of this section, to revoke the certificate of authority of the company or agent so offending.

1168. Stock schemes, advisory board contracts, etc., prohibited. Penalty. From and after the date this chapter takes effect, no life insurance company shall issue in this state, nor permit its agents, officers, or employes to issue in this state, agency company stock or other stock or securities or any special or advisory board or other contracts of any kind promising returns and profits as an inducement to insurance, and on and after the passage of this chapter, no life insurance company shall be authorized to do business in this state, which issues or permits its agents, officers, or employes to issue in the state of Utah or in any other state or territory, agency company stock or other stock or securities or any special advisory board or other contracts of any kind promising returns and profits as an inducement to insurance, and no corporation or stock company, acting as agent of a life insurance company, nor any of its agents, officers, or employes, shall be permitted to agree, sell or offer to sell, give or offer to give, directly or indirectly, in any manner whatsoever, any share of stock, securities, bonds, or agreement of any form or nature, promising returns and profits as an inducement to insurance, or in connection therewith; provided, that nothing herein contained shall impair or affect in any manner any such contracts issued or made as an inducement to insurance, prior to the enactment hereof, or prevent the payment of the dividends or returns therein stipulated to be paid. It shall be the duty of the commissioner, upon being satisfied that any such insurance company or any agent thereof has violated any of the provisions of this section, to revoke the certificate of authority of the company or agent offending.

1169. Unlawful to accept rebates. Penalty. Any person knowingly receiving any rebate or allowance or reduction from any premium or any special contract of employment, or promising profits or dividends of any character, or any valuable thing, special favor, or advantage whatever, as an inducement to take any policy of life insurance, not specified in the policy contract, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of $100 or imprisoned in the county jail for a period of thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court; provided, that this section shall not apply to the payment of dividends upon contracts made as inducements to insurance prior to the enactment hereof.

1170. Contracts, where made. Any insurance contract shall be deemed to be made in the state of Utah if made through an authorized agent of such insurance company within this state, irrespective of where the insurance contract may be written.

1171. Suicide no defense after first year. From and after the passage of this chapter, the suicide of a policy-holder after the first policy year of any life insurance company doing business in this state shall not be a defense against the payment of a life insurance policy, whether said suicide was voluntary or involuntary and whether said policy-holder was sane or insane.

1172. Assessment companies. No life insurance company, or association, other than fraternal beneficiary associations, which issue contracts, the performance of which is contingent upon the payment of assessments or calls made upon its members, shall do business within this state, except such companies which shall value their assessment policies or certificates of membership as yearly renewable term policies, according to the standard of valuation of life insurance policies prescribed by the laws of this state, and no such company shall provide in any contract of insurance for any cash or other benefit to accrue to any living member or policy-holder or to any beneficiary, except a death benefit, and the assessment policies or certificates of any assessment company or association reincorporated to transact business as a legal reserve or level premium company shall also be valued as yearly renewable term policies, according to the standard of valuation of life insurance policies prescribed by the laws of this state.

1173. Commissioner to examine contracts. The commissioner of insurance shall have power, and it shall be his duty, to examine the form of all policy contracts hereafter issued or proposed to be issued by any fire insurance company, association, or corporation now authorized by law, or that may hereafter apply to be authorized, to transact business of fire insurance in this state.

1174. Reinsurance. Every insurance company doing business in this state may reinsure the whole or any part of any policy obligation in any other insurance company. When the reinsurance is made by any other than a life insurance company, the company so reducing its direct amount at risk shall, for the purpose of computing its unearned premium fund, deduct from the original or policy premium on said direct amount at risk, the net sum actually paid for reinsuring such risk. The company taking over or acquiring the risk, through reinsurance, shall enter, in premium in force at any time the premiums actually received for risks thus acquired through reinsurance, the unearned premium to be computed by the company ceding the risk upon the balance of policy premium in force after deducting the sum actually paid as a premium consideration for the risk so ceded. The company taking over such reinsurance shall compute its unearned premium fund on account thereof upon the basis of the actual amount of net premium so received and in force at the time of such computation. But this provision shall not apply to a company that reduces by reinsurance its direct liability to the holders of its policies as a step preliminary to its permanent or final retirement from business. Said retiring company shall then be credited in reduction of its outstanding policy liability with the original or policy premium reinsured, irrespective of the net sum actually paid for such reinsurance, and the company taking over such outstanding risks shall be charged with an unearned premium fund on the original or policy premium on said risks, as the same appear in the outstanding policies of the retiring company. No credit of any kind shall be allowed or given, either as a reduction of taxes or of liabilities, to any company transacting business in this state for reinsurance made in companies not authorized to issue policies in this state. The commissioner of insurance may, at any time, require schedules of reinsurance to be filed by each company, which schedules, however, shall not be open to the inspection of the public. Whenever the commissioner shall have or receive any information that any foreign insurance company, other than life, has violated any of the provisions of § 1152 he is authorized, at the expense of such company, to examine, by himself or his accredited representative, at the principal office or offices of such company, located in the United States of America, or in any foreign country, and also at such other offices or agencies of such company as he may deem proper, all books, records, and papers of such company and agents; examine, under oath, the officers, managers, and agents of such company as to such violation or violations. The refusal of any such company to submit to such examination, or to exhibit its books and records for inspection, shall be presumptive evidence that it has violated the provisions of § 1152, and it shall be subject to the penalties prescribed and imposed by this chapter.

1175. Penalty for violations by fire insurance companies. Any fire insurance company, wilfully violating or failing to observe and comply with any of the provisions of this chapter applicable thereto, shall have its authority to transact business in this state revoked by the commissioner of insurance, and such revocation shall continue for at least one year from the date thereof; nor shall any fire insurance company, whose authority to transact business in this state shall have been so revoked, be again authorized or permitted to transact business herein until it shall have filed in the office of the commissioner a certificate signed by its president or other chief officer to the effect that the terms and obligations of the provisions of this chapter are accepted by it as a part of the conditions of its right and authority to transact business in this state. Any fire insurance company, which shall hereafter apply to enter this state to transact business as a new company or to have its certificate of authority renewed, shall, before permission is given to transact business, or before the renewal of its certificate of authority be issued, file with the commissioner of insurance a certificate, signed by its president or other chief officer of such company, to the effect that the terms and obligations of the provisions of this chapter are accepted by it as a part of the conditions of its right and authority to transact business in this state.

1176. Guaranty fund certificates. Guaranty fund certificates may be used to provide a guaranty fund for domestic life and fire insurance companies incorporated upon the mutual plan; such fund to be held as security for the payment of all losses and other policy liabilities of such companies. Guaranty fund certificates may draw interest or dividends not exceeding in the aggregate 8 per cent per annum, which shall only be paid from the profits of the company. Said certificates can only be retired or redeemed by using the profits of the company for that purpose, but the full fund, as required of each kind of mutual and assessment company by this chapter must at all times be maintained. Such guaranty fund shall be a liability until redeemed and retired. It shall be only used to pay the policy claims or liabilities when the contingent mutual liability of the policy-holders has been drawn upon and found insufficient to meet the losses of policy claims, or when the directors from any cause fail to provide for the payment of policy claims. Upon satisfying himself of such failure, the commissioner of insurance shall suspend the certificate of authority of such company and apply to the district court for an order restraining said company from doing further business, and the court may appoint a receiver or issue such decrees and orders as may best serve the interests of the members or policy-holders and of the public; and the disbursement or distribution of the guaranty fund shall then be made under the court's direction; provided, however, that the fund shall first be used to pay policy claims or losses, and if any of the fund then remains it shall be used to pay creditors, if any, and then the remaining portion of the fund shall be used to redeem outstanding guaranty fund certificates, or, if none are outstanding, it shall be distributed among the members of the company, as the court may direct. The profits of a domestic mutual insurance company or association are that portion of its cash funds not required for the payment of losses and expenses, not set apart for the unearned premium reserve or any other purpose required by law.

1177. Reinsurance by domestic mutual or assessment companies. No domestic insurance company, organized upon the mutual or the assessment plan, shall transfer its risks to, or reinsure them in, any other corporation unless the said contract or transfer or reinsurance is first submitted to and approved by two-thirds vote of the membership, to be taken by person, mail, or proxy, at a meeting of the insured called to consider the same, of which meeting a written or printed notice clearly describing its purpose shall be mailed to each policy-holder or indemnity certificate holder, not less than twenty nor more than ninety days before the day fixed for said meeting, and, in case said transfer or reinsurance shall be approved, every policy-holder or indemnity certificate holder of the said corporation, who shall file, with the secretary thereof within ten days after said meeting, written notice of his preference to be transferred to some other corporation than that named in the contract, shall be accorded all the rights and privileges, if any, in aid of such transfer as would have been accorded under the terms of said contract had he been transferred to the corporation named therein. Before issuing the call aforesaid, a certified copy of such proposed contract of transfer or reinsurance shall be filed in the insurance department, and the call for such meeting shall be submitted to the commissioner of insurance for his approval. The meeting and the counting of votes shall be held and done under the supervision of the commissioner, for the purpose of seeing that the by-laws of the company and the laws of the state are faithfully observed, and the commissioner shall, before the transfer is finally made, report to the governor upon the nature of the contract of reinsurance or transfer, and also as to the methods employed to secure the consent of the members or policy-holders thereto, and as to the disposition of any funds belonging to the members or policy-holders of the company that is to be reinsured, and the said commissioner may, if in his judgment the law has been violated or the members are to be wrongfully deprived of any of their rights or of their joint assets, apply, with the consent of the governor, to the district court for an injunction restraining such transfer or reinsurance. In case such transfer or reinsurance of the corporation is to result in any increase in the premium rates of insurance of those already holding contracts, or in any reduction of the amount of insurance, in lieu of such advance in premium, the fact shall be set forth in the call for the meeting.

1178. Id. Fees and supervision. Mutual and assessment companies shall, unless otherwise specified in this chapter, be required to pay the same fees and be under the same supervision and authority of the commissioner as companies which are engaged in the same kind of insurance business and which are organized upon the joint stock plan; and shall comply with this chapter, unless otherwise specified, and be subject to the penalties provided therein.

1179. Accumulation of profits. Every domestic insurance company incorporated upon the mutual or assessment plan shall state clearly in its policies or certificates that the accumulation of profits of such corporation, over and above all proper liabilities, shall be the sole property of the members or policy-holders in good standing, and that the same shall be distributed in a just and equitable manner, in case such company is reinsured or ceases to do business.

1180. Organization of mutual or assessment companies. Twenty-five or more persons, citizens of this state, may form a corporation to carry on the business of insurance on the mutual plan of fire insurance upon the assessment plan. The secretary of state shall not issue a certificate of incorporation to any such insurance company organized on the mutual or the assessment plan unless it shall appear by affidavit of at least three of the incorporators that a guaranty or equivalent fund shall have been provided, as required in § 1144, and until the commissioner shall have approved the same. Any company so incorporated shall thereupon have the power to elect directors by vote of incorporators, but the directors so selected shall serve but one year, when an election by the members shall be held. The number of such directors shall be not less than nine, nor more than twenty-five, and in all meetings of the members each shall have one vote, and shall vote in person, by mail, or by proxy; but no person shall vote more than five proxies. Every mutual fire insurance company must, in its by-laws and in its policies, fix an unlimited liability on the part of its members for the payment of losses and expenses; but such liabilities shall cease with the expiration of the time for which a premium has been paid in advance, except for liability incurred during such times. No mutual fire insurance company shall have the power to insure the property of others than members of the company. No note shall be accepted for a premium or a part of a premium or as a part of any fund of a mutual fire insurance company, nor valued as an asset, unless such note shall be and shall state upon its face that it is a lien upon the property insured, and said note shall thereupon be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county where the property is situated, and shall be and become a lien upon such property of like force and effect as a mortgage against same, and no such note shall be surrendered, nor any part of the cash paid upon the premium returned, while the policy for which it was given remains in force. The fee for the recording of such note shall be 25 cents in each case.

1181. Id. Liability of member. Every person who effects insurance in a mutual fire insurance company and continues to be insured, and his heirs, executors, and administrators and assigns, shall thereby become members of the company, during the period of insurance, and shall be bound to pay for losses and such necessary expenses as accrue in and to the company in proportion to the original amount of his deposit note or contingent liability; and the directors shall, as often as they deem necessary, settle and determine the sum to be paid by the several members thereof, and publish the same in such a manner as they may choose, or as the by-laws prescribe, and the sum to be paid by each member shall always be in proportion to the original amount of such liability and shall be paid to the officers of the company within thirty days next after the publication or mailing of such notice; provided, that whenever such company is not possessed of cash funds, above its reinsurance reserve, sufficient for the payment of incurred losses and expenses, it shall be deemed as having impaired its capital and shall make an assessment, for the amount needed to pay such losses and expenses, upon its members liable to assessment therefor, in proportion to the several liabilities, and no such company shall borrow money or create a debt, unless for necessary operating expenses, to continue beyond the period when such assessment may be collected and applied to the payment thereof, and no member shall be assessed for liabilities incurred prior to his membership.

1182. Id. In mutual companies, if a member neglect or refuse, for a space of thirty days after the publication or mailing of notice of an assessment, and after demand for payment, to pay the sum assessed upon him as his proportion of any loss or expense as aforesaid, the corporation may sue for and recover the whole amount of contingent liability with the cost of suit; but execution shall only issue for assessments and costs as they accrue, and every execution shall be accompanied by a list of losses or expenses for which the assessment is made. If the whole amount of the contingent liability of members shall at any time be insufficient to pay expenses and losses occasioned by any fire or fires, the insured, who are entitled to receive payment for losses sustained, for which the company is liable upon its policies, shall receive from and out of such contingent liabilities of members, on account of their respective losses, a proportionate share of the whole amount of such liability, according to the amount of their respective losses; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be deemed nor construed to affect or take away the rights of such policy-holders in the guaranty fund of such company.

1183. Actions to recover assessments. In actions for the recovery of assessments duly levied by the directors of any mutual fire insurance company in this state, or for money due on the liability of the members of any such company, the official statement of the president or the secretary of such company, under seal and sworn to, shall be received in court as evidence of the facts essential for making the same, and that such assessment for the non-payment of which any such action is commenced has been duly levied and notice thereof given.

1184. Word "mutual" in corporate name. Every mutual fire insurance company shall embody the word "mutual" in its title, which shall appear upon the first page of every policy and renewal receipt in some suitable manner.

1185. Notes not transferable. Mutual fire insurance companies, which shall receive notes in consideration of premiums on their policies, shall be required to insert on the face of each note the following words, to wit: "It is hereby understood and agreed that this note is not transferable."

1186. Certificate by foreign mutual companies. Any foreign mutual fire insurance company organized under authority other than that of the state of Utah, before being authorized to do business in this state, shall be required to file a certificate from the insurance department of its home state, certifying to the fact that such company has assets to the amount required by the provisions of § 1144.

1187. County mutual companies exempt. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to county mutual fire and lightning insurance companies doing business exclusively within this state. Am'd '15, p. 12.

6. To merge or to consolidate with any other railroad company or companies organized or existing under the laws of this or any other state or territory, or of the United States; provided, that the lines of such companies shall not be competing, but shall be substantially continuous or connective, either by means of actual union of track or through the medium of any bridge, ferry, or line of railroad leased, operated, or otherwise controlled by any or either of said corporations, or which any such corporation shall have the right, by contract or otherwise, to use or operate. The agreement of merger or consolidation, as the case may be, shall specify whether there shall be a merger of one or more such companies into another without the creation of a new corporation, or a consolidation forming a new consolidated corporation. The agreement shall be ratified by the stockholders of any such corporation of this state at any annual or general meeting or at any special meeting called for that purpose. It shall also be ratified by the stockholders of any such foreign corporation in the manner prescribed by the laws, if any there be, of the jurisdiction where such corporation is organized. The affidavit of the president and the secretary of any such domestic or foreign corporation showing that such agreement has been ratified by stockholders, or that such foreign laws have been fully complied with, shall be filed with the secretary of state. In case of consolidation, such filing must be made with the secretary of state before his certificate of incorporation shall issue to the new consolidated corporation. R. S. '98, § 435; '01, pp. 3, 23; '07, p. 106.

Consolidation of corporations generally, § 888.

The articles consolidating several railroad companies into the C. P. Railroad Co. contained a grant by which the original C. P. Railroad Co. "hereby sells, assigns, transfers, grants, bargains, releases, and conveys," to the consolidated company, "all its property, real, personal, and mixed"; held, that the lands granted the C. P. Railroad Co. were thereby conveyed.

Tarpey v. Deseret Salt Co., 5 U. 494; 17 P. 631.

7. To sell, convey, and transfer its property and franchises, or any part thereof, to any railroad corporation (not owning any competitive line in this state), whether organized under the laws of this state or of any other state or territory, or of the United States, and any railroad corporation receiving such conveyances may hold and operate such railroad, franchises, and property within this state, and build and operate extensions or branches thereof, and for that purpose may exercise the power of eminent domain, and do any other business in connection therewith as fully and effectually to all intents and purposes as if such corporation were organized under the laws of this state: provided, that such purchasing corporation shall comply with all the laws of the state of Utah relative to railroad corporations, not in conflict herewith. '03, p. 21; '07, p. 106.

8. To acquire, own, maintain, operate, and navigate steamships, sailing vessels, and boats of every description, and generally to carry on the business of a common carrier by water, and to purchase, own, hold, pledge, or otherwise dispose of the capital stock, bonds, or other obligations of any corporation owning or operating any such ships, vessels, or boats; provided, that this section shall not be construed to permit any railroad company to purchase, own, hold, pledge, or otherwise dispose of the capital stock, bonds, or other obligations of any corporation owning or operating such ships, vessels, or boats, where such corporation may be a competing line with such railroad company, or with any other corporation in which said railroad company may own any of the capital stock, bonds, or other obligations thereof. '07, p. 107.

9. To issue bonds for such sums, and payable at such times and places, and drawing interest at such rates as the board of directors shall deem expedient; and for the purpose of securing the payment of such bonds and interest, to execute trust deeds or mortgages, or both, upon the whole or any part of their lines, real property, rolling stock, machinery, and other personal property, franchises, income and profits acquired, or that thereafter shall be acquired. Such bonds and trust deeds or mortgages shall be valid according to their terms, notwithstanding the fact that the bonds may be sold below par value. A trust deed or mortgage made as aforesaid, to operate as notice to third persons, shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of each county in which any of the property affected by such trust deed or mortgage shall be situated, and need not be left or filed in said office. Any such mortgage or trust deed, when made, shall be a valid lien upon the real and personal property and chattels included therein, notwithstanding the fact that the possession of such personal property may remain with the mortgagor; and when recorded as aforesaid, such record shall be notice to all persons of the existence of such mortgage or deed of trust according to its terms; provided, that corporations organized under the laws of this state, owning and operating street, suburban, or interurban railroads, including those that own and operate, with such railroads, power and lighting plants, shall be deemed railroad companies, and their properties, railroad properties, within the meaning of this subdivision. To create, issue, and dispose of preferred stock, special stock, and income certificates, to such amounts and in such form, and for such purposes, and as between the stockholders themselves to make the same payable in respect of principal and dividends out of such class or character of assets and income as shall be determined upon by the board of directors of such corporation with the assent thereto of the holders of at least a majority in amount of the common capital stock; provided, that no increase of any preferred or special stock, or of any income certificates issued pursuant to this chapter, shall at any time be made without the assent thereto of the holders of at least a majority in amount of the preferred stock, special stock, or of the income certificates to be affected by such issue, as the case may be. The holders of such preferred or special stock shall have the same right to vote at stockholders' meetings as the holders of the common stock of said company, and shall be equally qualified to be officers thereof.

11. To purchase or otherwise lawfully acquire, and to own, hold, pledge, or otherwise dispose of the capital stock or any part of the capital stock, bonds, or other obligations of any corporation organized under the laws of this state, or of the United States, or of any other state or territory of the United States, which may own or operate, by lease or otherwise, any line or lines of steam, electric, street, or interurban railroad, any union depot or station, any railroad terminals, wharves, docks, or other shipping facilities, any steamships, steamboats, or other water craft, or which may carry on refrigerator business, or furnish cars or other facilities for refrigeration or storage of freight, or which may carry on an express or other transportation business, or which may manufacture, sell, lease, or otherwise provide railroad equipment; and upon the pledge or sale of such bonds or other obligations aforesaid, said railroad company shall have power, in the discretion of its board of directors, to guarantee the same; provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed to authorize the purchase, or acquisition otherwise, or any stock, bond, or other obligation of any corporation owning or operating a competing line of railroad within this state.

12. Upon an increase of the amount of capital stock specified in its original or amended articles of association, to receive subscriptions for such increase of stock on such terms as the board of directors or a majority of the stockholders shall authorize, payable in shares of the capital stock or in bonds or other obligations of any other corporation organized under the laws of this state, or of the United States, or of any other state or territory of the United States, whose capital stock, bonds, or other obligations are authorized to be purchased or acquired by railroad corporations of this state; provided, that the stocks, bonds, or obligations of such other corporations to be received in payment and exchange for the stock so subscribed for shall be of a par value at least equal to the par amount of the stock subscribed for, or of an actual or market value equal, in the opinion of the board of directors, to that of the stock so subscribed for and issued, and such stock so issued shall for all purposes be deemed fully paid and non-assessable; and, provided further, that these privileges shall not be construed to permit any railroad corporation of this state to consolidate its stock, property, or franchises with any other railroad corporation owning a competing line in this state.

Sec. 434, R. S. '98, transferred to § 1230.

1229. (434x.) Id. Railroad corporations heretofore organized and now existing, or hereafter organized and existing, under the laws of this state shall be subject to all the duties imposed, and shall have and possess all the powers and privileges conferred by this chapter, as well as the powers and privileges conferred by the laws under which said corporations were organized, or which are contained in their articles of incorporation, and are not inconsistent with the laws and constitution of this state. '07, p. 109.

1230. (435.) Amendments adding new lines, etc., lawful. Any amendment of the articles of incorporation adding new lines of route, altering the original route, or changing the termini, shall not be deemed unlawful as an alteration of the original purpose of the corporation. R. S. '98, § 434.

1231. (437.) Street and highway crossings. No railroad shall use any road, street, alley, or highway within any county, city, or town, except with the consent of the authorities of such county, city, or town, as provided by law; provided, that this section shall not be construed to prevent railroads from crossing at right angles, or as nearly as may be, any street, alley, or highway across which its located line may pass.

Street railroads must have consent of municipal authorities, Con. art. 12, sec. 8.
To maintain good crossings, § 1237.

1232. (438.) Franchise forfeited by inaction. If such railroad company shall not, within three years after the filing of its articles of association, begin the construction of its railroad and expend thereon an amount equal to at least 3 per cent of its incorporated capital, or if it shall fail to finish the road and put the same into full operation within ten years after the filing of its articles, its corporate franchise, as to all parts of its line not then constructed, shall be deemed forfeited.

A railway company in this state, consolidating with a company of another state, creates a new corporation, and the time prescribed for doing of certain acts under § 1232 begins to run when the articles of incorporation of the new company are filed.
R. G. W. Ry. Co. v. Telluride P. & T. Co., 16 U. 125; 51 P. 146; dismissed 175 U. S. 639.
Same case, 23 U. 22; 63 P. 995.
The franchise granted to defendant imposed no restriction, except as to time for which the franchise should be granted; no rights can be forfeited, except for the causes and in the mode prescribed in the franchise, and the provisions of this section are not applicable.
Dern v. S. L. C. R. R. Co., 19 U. 46; 56 P. 556.

1233. (439.) Right of way through state lands granted. The right of way through the state lands not appropriated to some public use is hereby granted to any railroad company duly organized under the laws of any state or territory or by the congress of the United States, which shall have filed with the secretary of state a copy of its articles of incorporation and due proofs of its organization under the same, to the extent of seventy-five feet on each side of the central line of said road; also the right to take, from the state lands adjacent to the line of said road, material, earth, stone, and timber, necessary for the construction of said railroad; also ground adjacent to such right of way for station buildings, depots, machine shops, sidetracks, turnouts, and water stations, not to exceed in amount ten acres for each station, to the extent of one station for each ten miles of its road. Any railroad company desiring to secure the benefits of this section shall, immediately after the location of any section of twenty miles of its road, if the same be upon surveyed lands, and, if upon unsurveyed lands, immediately after the official survey thereof, file with the state board of land commissioners a map of its road; and upon approval thereof by the secretary of state the same shall be noted upon the plats in said office; and thereafter all such lands over which such right of way shall pass shall be disposed of subject to such right of way; provided, that if any section of said road shall not be completed within five years after the location of said section, the rights herein granted shall be forfeited as to any such uncompleted section of said road.

Sup. R. S. of U. S., vol. I, chap. 152*.
Limitation on sale of land not to apply to common carrier, § 5616.

Moon v. S. L. County, 27 U. 435; 76 P. 222.

1234. (440.) Railways and highways through canyons. Any railroad company whose right of way, or whose track or roadbed upon such right of way, passes through any canyon, pass, or defile, shall not prevent any other railroad company from the use and occupancy of the said canyon, pass, or defile, for the purposes of its road, in common with the road first located, or the crossing of other railroads at grade; and the location of such right of way through any canyon, pass, or defile shall not cause the disuse of any wagon or other public highway now located therein, nor prevent the location through the same of any such wagon road or highway where such road or highway may be necessary for the public accommodation; and where any change in the location of such wagon road is necessary to permit the passage of such railroad through any canyon, pass, or defile, said railroad company shall, before entering upon the ground occupied by such wagon road, cause the same to be reconstructed at its own expense in the most favorable location, and in as perfect a manner as the original road; provided, that such expenses shall be equitably divided between any number of railroad companies occupying and using the same canyon, pass, or defile.

1235. (441.) Maps showing location to be filed. Every company constructing or operating a railroad in this state shall, within a reasonable time after the final location of the road, file a map thereof showing the route decided upon and the land obtained for the use thereof, in the office of the secretary of state; and like maps of the several parts thereof located in the several counties through or into which the road may be extended shall be filed in the offices of the recorders of such counties respectively. Map and profiles, certified by the chief engineer, the president, and the secretary of the company, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the company, subject to examination by any person interested.

1236. (444x.) Amendments validated. Amendments made by corporations to their original articles of incorporation, in accordance with the laws of this state, or the provisions of chap. 131, laws of 1905, are hereby approved and validated; and all corporations organized by consolidating their properties, rights, and franchises, whether by strict consolidation or by the sale of the property and franchises of two or more corporations to one corporation, in accordance with the provisions of the laws of this state, or the provisions of chap. 131, laws of 1905, are hereby approved and validated, and said corporations are hereby declared to be bodies corporate under the name and style in such consolidating articles set forth, with the rights and powers therein enumerated, and such corporate existence shall date from the time when such consolidating companies filed their articles of association, or copies thereof, with the secretary of state, and received a certificate of incorporation, and all acts done by such corporations within the powers specified in their articles of association are hereby validated. OPERATION.

1237. (445.) Must maintain good crossings. Every railroad company shall be liable for damages caused by its neglect to make and maintain good and sufficient crossings at points where any line of travel crosses its road.

Public utility commission regulates crossings, § 4811.

What is a good and sufficient crossing is ordinarily a question for the jury, but the evidence may be so clear on it that it becomes a question of law.

Denkers v. S. P. Ry. Co., 57 U. —; 171 P. 999.

1238. (446.) Liable for stock killed or injured. Every railroad company shall be liable for all damages sustained by the owner of any live stock killed or injured by the engineer or cars of said company.

Notice of stock killed to be posted, §§ 110, 111.

Failure to fence; liability for stock killed, § 1253.

Sec. 2349, C. L. 1888, which provided that every railroad company should be liable for all live stock killed by it, regardless of any fault on the part of the railroad company, is void as taking property without due process of law, under the fifth amendment to the constitution of the U. S.

Jensen v. U. P. Ry. Co., 6 U. 253; 21 P. 994.

1239. (447.) Ringing bells and blowing whistles at crossings. Every locomotive shall be provided with a bell weighing not less than twenty pounds, which shall be rung continuously from a point not less than eighty roads from any street, road, or highway crossing, until such street, road, or highway shall be crossed, but the sounding of the locomotive whistle at least one-fourth of a mile before reaching any such crossing shall be deemed equivalent to ringing the bell as aforesaid, except in towns and at terminal points; during the prevalence of fogs, snow, and dust storms, the locomotive whistle shall be sounded before each street crossing while passing through cities and towns. All locomotives, with or without trains, before crossing the main track at grade of any other railroad, must come to a full stop at a distance not exceeding 400 feet from the crossing, and must not proceed until the way is known to be clear; two blasts of the whistle shall be sounded at the moment of starting; provided, that whenever interlocking signal apparatus and derailing switches are adopted such stop shall not be required. Every person in charge of a locomotive, for any neglect to observe the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and the corporation shall be liable for all damages which any person may sustain by reason of such neglect.

City may require gates, § 574; or flagmen, § 570x35.

A failure to ring the bell or sound the whistle at crossing of highways is such negligence as in the absence of contributory negligence will render the company liable for injuries resulting from a collision with a person in a wagon.

Bitner v. U. Cen. Ry. Co., 4 U. 502; 11 P. 620.

It is negligence for a railroad company not to provide its engines with a bell of at least twenty pounds weight, and not to ring the same at least eighty rods from a crossing, or, in lieu thereof, not to sound the whistle at least a quarter of a mile from the crossing.

Olsen v. O. S. L. Ry Co., 9 U. 129; 33 P. 623.

The statutory requirement that the locomotive bell should be rung and whistle sounded at street crossings does not relieve the company from its failure to adopt other reasonable measures for the public safety; in cities, should provide gates or flagmen.

English v. Sou. Pac. Co., 13 U. 407; 45 P. 47.

Under this section, in a proper case, it is competent for plaintiff to show by his witnesses that, if the whistle had been sounded or the bell rung, they would have heard it.

Haun v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 22 U. 346; 62 P. 908.

A prima facie case of negligence in an action against a railway company for injuries to a traveler at a railway crossing is not established by proof of failure to give the statutory signals, but the evidence must show that such failure was the proximate cause of the injury.

Roger v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 32 U. 367; 90 P. 1075.

It will not be presumed, in the absence of proof, that a crossing at which plaintiff was injured by defendant's alleged failure to give signal was a crossing where signals were required.

Wilkinson v. O. S. L. R. Co., 35 U. 110; 99 P. 466.

Shortino v. S. L. & U. R. Co., 51 U. —; 173 P. —.

1240. (448.) Trains to be run on schedule. Bulletins. Every railroad company shall start and run its trains for the transportation of persons and property at such regular times as it shall fix by public notice; and the station agents thereof shall announce on a bulletin board placed in a conspicuous and public place at each station, not less than fifteen minutes before the regular time of departure of each passenger train, the time of such departure, or, if the train is delayed, the probable duration of such delay, and on failure thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The corporation shall be liable for all damages that may be sustained by any person by reason of the failure of any of its station agents to observe the requirements of this section.

Train service regulated, § 4805.

1241. (449.) To transport all freight and passengers offered. Every railroad company shall furnish sufficient accommodations for the transportation of all passengers and property as shall, within a reasonable time previous to the departure of any train, offer or be offered for transportation at any station, siding, or stopping place established for receiving and discharging passengers and freight, and at any railroad junction; and shall take, transport, and discharge such passengers and property at, from, and to such places, on the due payment of tolls, freight, or fare therefor; and if the company or its agents shall refuse to take and transport any passenger or property, or to deliver the same at the regularly appointed places, it shall be liable to the party aggrieved for all accruing damages, including costs of suit.

Not to receive live stock from quarantined district, § 219.

Live stock to be inspected, §§ 183, 196.

Cars disinfected, § 202.

Stockyards in infected district, § 204.

Not charge freight on excess coal weight, §§ 1250-1252.

Consignee right to examine, §§ 5155, 5156.

Long and short haul, (a), § 4793.
Rate schedule must be filed, § 4784.
A railway, as a common carrier of passengers, owes a duty to its passenger to carry him safely and properly and to use due care to see that the car in which he is being carried is kept in a decent and habitable condition.
Mathias v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 507; 88 P. 668.
McCollum v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 494; 88 P. 663.
Fitzgerald v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 510; 88 P. 669.

The duties imposed by this section must be discharged by a carrier at depots or stopping places duly established, and a carrier is not required to stop its cars at any particular place, to discharge or receive passengers.
Skeen v. Ogden Rapid Trans. Co., 38 U. 242; 112 P. 120.
Houtz v. Union Pac. R. Co., 33 U. 175; 93 P. 439.

1242. (450.) When not liable for injuries to passengers on platforms. In case any passenger shall be injured on the platform of any car or on any baggage, wood, gravel, or freight car, in violation of the printed regulations of the company, posted up at the time in a conspicuous place inside of its passenger cars then in the train or in violation of verbal instruction given by any officer of the train or company, such company shall not be liable for the said injury; provided, said company at the time furnished room inside its passenger cars sufficient for the accommodation of the passengers.

1243. (451.) Ejection of passengers for refusal to pay, or disorderly conduct. If any passenger refuses to pay his fare or exhibit or surrender his ticket when requested so to do, or if he behaves in a disorderly manner, the conductor and employes of the corporation may put him and his baggage out of the cars, using no unnecessary force, at any usual stopping place, or in sight of a dwelling, on stopping the train.

A contract ticket providing that if it is presented by any other person than the original holder it shall be void and the conductor shall take it up and collect full fare, is valid.
Drummond v. So. Pac. Co., 7 U. 118; 25 P. 733.
The conductor had a right to take up the ticket presented by a person other than the original purchaser; and plaintiff could not have been damaged if the ticket was afterward returned to him.
Id.
Passenger without ticket must be put off at regular stopping place. Under § 2354, C. L. 1888, which provides that any passenger who refuses to prepay his fare or toll on demand may be put off the cars at any stopping place the conductor or employes of the company may elect, the conductor must select a regular stopping place of the train.
Nichols v. U. P. Ry. Co., 7 U. 510; 27 P. 693.
Id. A passenger who has purchased no ticket, and who refuses the extra fare required by the rules of the company, can be put off only at a passenger station (affirming Nichols v. U. P. Ry. Co., 7 U. 510; 27 P. 693).
Durfee v. U. P. Ry. Co., 9 U. 213; 33 P. 944.

Where there is no statute requiring the ejection of a passenger refusing to pay his fare, to be made at a regular station, he may be ejected at any place, provided he be not thereby unreasonably exposed to danger; and the carrier is not obliged to put him off at a station, dwelling house or stopping place.
Rudy v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 8 U. 165; 30 P. 366.
The good faith of a person in believing that he had a right to ride upon a railroad ticket that had expired, cannot affect the right of the company to eject him from the train.
Id.
In the absence of evidence to the contrary, railroad tickets are not deemed to be contracts in writing, and no presumption arises, from the purchase of a ticket, that the ordinary duties of a carrier imposed by law are modified in the ticket. Where through tickets are in the form of coupons, each coupon is to be regarded as a distinct ticket for each road, sold by the first company as agents for the other companies.
McCollum v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 494; 88 P. 663.
Fitzgerald v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 510; 88 P. 669.

1244. (452.) Employes to wear official badges. Every conductor, baggage master, engineer, brakeman, or other employe of said railroad company employed in a passenger train, or at stations for passengers, shall wear upon his hat or cap, or in some conspicuous place on the breast of his coat, a badge indicating his office or station, and the initial letters of the name of the company by which he is employed; and no collector or conductor, without such badge, shall demand or be entitled to receive from any passenger, any fare, or ticket, or exercise any of the powers of his office or station, or interfere with any passenger or property.

1245. (453.) Baggage to be checked. A check shall be fixed to every package or parcel of baggage when taken for transportation, by the agent or an employe of such company, and a duplicate thereof given to the passenger or person delivering the same.

1250. Unlawful to collect freight charges on excess weight. How determined. It shall be unlawful for any railroad company, its servants, or employes, to collect freight charges from any consignee of lump coal in carload lots delivered at any point within the state of Utah, where railroad track scales are maintained by the railroad company transporting such coal, for any weight in excess of the actual weight of coal delivered to said consignee; and in determining the actual weight of such coal, the said railroad company shall be entitled to take the weight of the empty car as determined by weighing such car at the point where the coal is loaded for shipment and by deducting said weight from the gross weight of the car and contents as weighed at the point of delivery of said coal to the consignee; provided, however, that when such carload shipments have been weighed both light and loaded at the point of origin of the shipment and such weight at point of origin is determinable by gross, tare, and net weight, as shown by the bill of lading, and the destination weight varies less than 1 per cent from the weight at origin of shipment, then and in that event the weight at point of origin shall govern.

1251. Certificate of weight. Upon the payment by a consignee of the freight upon any carload of lump coal delivered by any railroad company within the state of Utah, such railroad company shall deliver to said consignee a certificate by the party legally authorized to weigh such coal, stating the gross weight of the car and the coal contained therein, as weighed at the point of delivery thereof to the consginee.

1252. Excess charges recoverable. Any corporation, association, party, or parties who are required to pay any railroad company delivering lump coal in carload lots at points within the state of Utah freight charges based upon a weight of the contents in excess of the weight thereof determined in the manner provided for in § 1250, shall be entitled to recover from such railroad company the excess freight so paid.

1253. (456x.) Railroads to fence tracks. Every railroad company operating a railroad by steam, electric, gasoline, or any other mechanical motive power within this state, or which hereafter constructs or operates any such road, is hereby required to erect, within one year, and thereafter maintain, a fence on each side of its railroad where the same passes through lands owned and improved by private owners, and connect the same, at all public road crossings, with cattle guards. Such fence shall not be less than four and a half feet in height and may be constructed of barbed or other fencing wire and shall consist of not less than five wires, with good, substantial posts not more than one rod apart, with a stay midway between said posts attached to the wires of said fence to keep said wires in place; and whenever such railroad company shall provide gates for private crossings, for the convenience of the owners of the land through which such railroad passes, such gates shall be so constructed that they may be easily operated; and any such corporation shall be liable for all damages sustained by the owner of any domestic animal killed or injured by such railroad, in consequence of the failure to build or maintain such fence. '01, p. 92; '03, p. 69; Am'd '13, p. 117.

Railroad liable for stock killed, § 1238.

Laws of 1890, p. 78, which render railroad companies liable for injuries to stock unless they fence their roads and construct sufficient cattle guards where such roads pass through lands "owned and settled or occupied by private owners," require such fencing and construction of guards where the land forms a portion of tracts which are under cultivation, though not itself cultivated.

Stimpson v. U. P. Ry. Co., 9 U. 123; 33 P. 369.

Where complaint before a justice of the peace against a railroad for killing plaintiff's horse at a point where the road was not fenced alleged that the railroad "passed through lands owned and improved by private owners," the denial of such allegation did not raise a material issue of freehold, ousting the justice of jurisdiction, as provided by § 7433.

O. S. L. R. R. Co. v. Dist. Court, 30 U. 371; 85 P. 360.

An action, for negligence in operating a train, as well as defective cattle guards and wing fences, is not barred under the provision barring after one year "an action for liability approved by statute."

Preese v. O. S. L. R. R. Co., 48 U. 551; 161 P. 40.

A railroad company is not liable for injuries to stock caused by its failure to construct a fence between its depot ground and adjoining private land, where the fence necessarily would have interfered with free access to buildings and tracks and with the loading and unloading of freight.

Reid v. San Pedro etc. R. R. Co., 42 U. 431; 132 P. 253.

This section imposes no duty upon a railroad company, either to put in cattle guards, or to construct wing fences at private farm crossings, and in the absence of a statute providing therefor, such duty does not exist.

Knight v. S. Pacific Co., 51 U.—; 172 P. 688.

Where a railroad company voluntarily accommodates a farmer by putting in wing fences at a private farm crossing, it does not thereby become obligated to maintain and keep it in repair for all time.

1272. Id. When due. Certificate. The corporation license tax herein provided for shall be due and payable to the secretary of state at his office on the 15th day of November in each year; and when paid, the secretary of state shall issue to each corporation paying such tax a certificate authorizing it to transact and conduct its business within this state for the period of one year. Such certificate shall contain the name of the corporation paying such tax, the amount of the authorized capital stock of the corporation, the amount of tax paid, and the time from which and to which the license tax paid authorizes the corporation paying the same to transact business within this state.

1273. Penalty for neglect or refusal. Any corporation required to pay the license tax herein provided, which shall refuse or neglect to pay the same on or before noon of the 15th day of December following the 15th day of November when such tax is payable, shall be deemed to be in default, and for such default there shall be added to the amount of tax a penalty of $10, and unless such tax and penalty shall be paid on or before the first Monday of April following, the defaulting corporation shall by reason of such default forfeit to the state of Utah the amount of the tax and penalty aforesaid, and shall likewise forfeit its right to transact any business within this state, and the tax and penalty may be collected as hereinafter provided.

1274. List of defaulting companies filed with governor. Proceedings thereon. The secretary of state, on or before the 15th day of March of each year, shall file with the governor of this state a complete list of the names of all defaulting corporations, together with the amount of license tax, penalties, and costs remaining unpaid. The governor, for at least ten days prior to the first Monday in April following, shall publish such list in at least two daily papers of general circulation within this state, and shall append to such lists and publish therewith his proclamation to the effect that unless the license tax owing by such corporation, together with the penalty and all the costs, shall be paid to the secretary of state on or before noon on the first Monday in April following, such defaulting corporation shall forfeit the amount of the tax and the penalty and costs to the state of Utah, and shall also forfeit its right to carry on business within said state; and, further, that the charters of all defaulting domestic corporations will be revoked unless payment is made as aforesaid. Immediately after the first Monday in April the governor shall file with the secretary of state a full and complete list containing the names of all corporations whose right to do business has been annulled and whose charters have been revoked. The secretary of state shall forthwith notify the several county clerks in whose office the articles of incorporation which have been forfeited are on file and shall also by letter addressed to its president or secretary notify each corporation of the forfeiture of its charter. In case of a reinstatement as provided in the next section, the secretary shall also immediately notify such county clerks of such fact. In case of forfeiture of the charter and of the right to transact business thereunder, all the property and assets of the defaulting domestic corporations shall be held in trust by the directors of such corporation as in case of insolvent corporations, and the same proceeding may be had with respect thereto as is applicable to insolvent corporations. Any person interested may institute such proceedings at any time after a forfeiture has been declared as herein provided, but in case the governor shall reinstate the charter the proceedings shall at once be dismissed and all property restored to the officers of the corporation. In case the assets are distributed they shall be applied as follows:

1. To the payment of the license tax, penalties, and costs due to the state;
2. To the creditors of the corporation; and,
3. Any balance remaining shall be distributed among the stockholders in accordance with the amount of stock held by each.

In case a foreign corporation shall make default as herein provided, the secretary of state shall issue his warrant stating the amount of the tax, penalty, and costs due to the state, and shall deliver such warrant to any sheriff of any county of this state, who may seize and sell any property of a foreign corporation as upon execution and apply the proceeds to the payment of the tax, penalty, and costs and accruing costs, and any balance remaining after such sale shall by the sheriff be paid to the secretary of state, who shall return the same to the corporation whose property was sold; provided, that no more than sufficient property to pay the tax, penalty, and costs shall be seized and sold.

Where the charter has been revoked for failure to pay license tax, the directors are the trustees for the corporation and may dispose of the property and wind up the business of the company, no receiver is necessary. Henriod v. East Tintic Development Co., 51 U. —; 172 P. —.

1275. Reinstatement. The governor is hereby authorized to reinstate any corporation in its right to carry on business in this state, and in the exercise of its corporate privileges and immunities in case such corporation, on or before the 1st day of July following the first Monday in April, shall pay to the secretary of state all taxes due, together with the penalty, costs, and expenses incurred by the state. In case such payment is made and the governor reinstates the corporation in its former rights, he shall at once notify the secretary of state of his action, and the secretary shall, upon receiving such notice, issue and deliver to the corporation so reinstated a certificate authorizing it to transact business the same as if the tax had been paid when due as herein provided.

1276. Moneys deposited quarterly. The secretary of state, at the close of each quarter, shall pay to the state treasurer all moneys received by the secretary under this chapter, and the state treasurer shall credit the same to the general fund of this state.

1277. Effective, when. Notice. This chapter shall go into effect on the first day of October, 1909, and all corporations which shall desire to exist and carry on or continue in business, or may desire to continue in existence within this state after the 15th day of November, 1909, shall apply for and obtain authority to do so at the time and in the manner as herein provided, and in case of failure to do so the penalties and forfeitures shall become effective and shall be enforced against all defaulting corporations. It is hereby made the duty of the secretary of state, between the 1st and 15th days of October in each year, including the year 1909, to mail a written or printed notice properly directed to each corporation, which notice shall state the amount of the tax due from such corporation, the time when payable, and in case of default that the right to transact business and the charter will be revoked. The failure, however, to mail any notice required by this chapter, or the failure of any corporation to receive the same, shall in no way affect the right of the state to proceed under this chapter. The notice referred to shall be deemed as a matter of information merely and not as an essential requirement to be complied with by the state for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this chapter or any of them.

Fenton v. Blair, 11 U. 78; 39 P. 485.
Where the limit of indebtedness allowed by law has been reached, such county may issue warrants for future claims as they arise, as soon as an equal amount of legally issued outstanding warrants have been redeemed.

Id.

The indebtedness of Salt Lake county for the year 1895 exceeded its debt limit, but was validated by the act of 1896 (p. 179, 524); held, that the indebtedness, though illegal at the time it was incurred, became by such authority of the legislature an indebtedness of the year 1895, and that the county board was therefore authorized by § 14, p. 524, of the laws of 1896, and by the laws of 1897, to issue bonds for its payment; held, also, that bonds may be issued to cover an indebtedness of the year 1895, paid out of the revenue of 1896.

Darke v. County Commissioners, 15 U. 467; 49 P. 257.

This section was not annulled by Con. art. 14, sec. 3, and power of county commissioners thereunder to incur indebtedness continued till June 5, 1896, when § 5 (p. 517), laws of 1896, made operative provisions of Con. art. 14, sec. 3, so far as it affected the authority of commissioners to incur indebtedness.

P. V. Coal Co. v. Co. Commissioners, 15 U. 97; 48 P. 1032.

The legislature, possessing the power to raise the debt limit of a county, may afterwards validate a warrant issued in excess of debt limit.

Daggett v. Lynch, 18 U. 49; 54 P. 1095.

Counties have no authority to incur indebtedness bearing interest, or to issue interest-bearing warrants, without express legislative authority.

Should the board fail to make the appointment within thirty days after the vacancy occurs, the clerk shall notify the governor of the fact, and the governor shall, within thirty days after the receipt of notice, fill the vacancy by appointment. If at any time there shall not be a majority of the board remaining in office, the governor shall appoint one or two commissioners, as the case may be, until there shall be a majority, and the majority shall select the third as hereinbefore provided. Not less than two members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and no act of the board shall be valid or binding unless two members concur therein.

1375. (499.) Regular meetings. The board of county commissioners must provide by ordinance for the holding of regular meetings of the board at the county seat.

1376. (500.) Special meetings. If at any time the business of the county requires a special meeting of the board, such meeting may be ordered by a majority of the board or by the chairman thereof. The order must be signed by the members or chairman calling such meeting, and must be entered in the minutes of the board. Five days' notice of such meeting must be given by the clerk to the members not joining in the order. county against such person or persons and their official bondsmen to recover the money so paid, and no order of the board of county commissioners shall be necessary to maintain such action; and when the money has not been paid on such order or warrants, it is hereby made the duty of the county attorney of such county, upon receiving notice thereof, to commence suit in the name of the county to restrain the payment of the same, and no order of the board of county commissioners shall be necessary in order to maintain such action.

Where a board, without authority of law, allowed and ordered payment of a claim for the publication of a list of delinquent taxes without having first invited bids for such publication or awarded a contract therefor, but there was no charge of corruption, fraud, or bad faith, in allowing the claim; held, that the hearing and determination by the board of the validity of the claim required the exercise of judicial or quasi-judicial functions and, as the claim was allowed for a purpose authorized by law, though erroneous and irregular, the members of the board were not personally liable for the amount of the claim.

Salt Lake County v. Clinton et al., 39 U. 462; 117 P. 1075.

The revenue derived from the sale of said bonds shall be applied to the purpose or purposes specified in the order of the board, and no other. Should there be any surplus, it shall be applied to the payment of said bonds, and in no event shall any county in this state ever become indebted to an amount, including existing indebtedness, exceeding 2 per cent of the value of the taxable property therein, the value to be ascertained by the last assessment for county purposes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any bond or bonds heretofore or hereafter issued or assumed by any county may be refunded at any time by the board of county commissioners when a lower rate of interest, or better terms, can be obtained, or to provide means for the payment of maturing bonds. Bonds for refunding shall be issued as provided in this section, except that the provisions as to elections shall not apply. Am'd '17, p. 287.

Limitation on county indebtedness, Con. art. 14, secs. 3, 4, and notes; § 1364, and note.

A proposition to issue county bonds in the sum of $30,000; $25,000 for building bridges and $5,000 for building and repairing roads, is one general object, and does not state two purposes required to be submitted separately.

State ex rel. Horsley v. Carbon County et al., 38 U. 563; 114 P. 522.

A notice of a special election to determine the question of the issuance by a county of bonds, though it does not designate polling places and does not prescribe qualifications of electors, but does state that "special election has been ordered and will be held in and for the county on a designated date as is provided by law, etc.," is sufficient.

State ex rel. Whitmore v. Carbon County, 36 U. 394; 104 P. 222.

1420. (524.) Buildings and bridges erected and repaired by contract. The board of county commissioners shall not erect, construct, or repair any

And whenever any such change or alteration shall be so ordered, the particular change or alteration shall be specified in writing, and the cost thereof agreed upon between the board and the contractor. In no other case shall the board ever pay or become liable to pay for any extra work done on such building or public structures.

Extra allowance forbidden, Con. art. 6, sec. 30.

Every claim against the county must be presented to the county auditor within a year after the last item of the account or claim accrued. In all cases claims shall be duly verified as to their correctness and as to the fact that they are justly due, by the claimant or his authorized agent. A complaint which fails to allege that a claim which is the cause of the action has been first presented to the county court, fails to state a cause of action against the county.

Fenton v. Salt Lake County, 3 U. 423; 4 P. 241.

There being no statute in this state which expressly prohibits the bringing of an action on a claim against a county before a duly itemized and verified statement has been presented to the board of county commissioners, an objection that the complaint does not allege presentation and rejection of such a claim, being raised for the first time in this court, cannot avail the defendant. (Distinguishing Fenton v. S. L. Co., 3 U. 423; 4 P. 241.)

Auerbach v. S. L. County, 23 U. 103; 63 P. 907.

A county, although having the power to rescind and refuse to pay a contract created for it in fraud, cannot be permitted, after it has had sufficient opportunity to rescind and has not done so, to retain the goods, and at the same time refuse to pay the fair market value therefor to the innocent holder of a warrant 1428. (532.) Id. Allowance or rejection. When the board finds that any claim presented is not payable by the county, or is not a proper county charge, it must be rejected. If it is found to be a proper county charge, but greater in amount than is justly due, the board may allow the claim in part, and may order a warrant drawn for the portion allowed. If the claimant is unwilling to receive such amount in full payment, the claim may be again considered by the board.

1429. (533.) Action on rejected claim. A claimant dissatisfied with the rejection of his claim or demand, or with the amount allowed him on his account, may sue the county therefor at any time within one year after the first rejection thereof by the board, but not afterward; and if, in such action, judgment is recovered for more than the board allowed, on presentation of a certified copy of the judgment, the board must allow and pay the same, together with the costs adjudged; but if no more is recovered than the board allowed, the board must pay the claimant no more than was originally allowed.

Action for a refund of taxes collected on property not subject to taxation is barred by the four-year statute of limitations, and not by this section.

Nielsen v. Sanpete County, 40 U. 560; 123 P. 334.

If the county attorney declare the claim illegal, he must state specifically wherein it is illegal, and the claim must then be rejected by said board.

1432. (536.) Officers not to advocate claims of others. No county officer shall, except for his own services, present any claim, account, or demand for allowance against the county, nor in any way advocate the relief asked in the claim or demand made by any other. Disqualification of judge, Con. art. 8, sec. 13.

The parties to an action or special proceeding, in a court of record, may, with the consent of the judge who is to try or hear it, without a jury, stipulate in writing, that it shall be tried, or heard and determined, elsewhere than at the place appointed for holding said court. The stipulation must specify the place of trial or hearing, and must be filed in the office of the clerk.

Consent will not confer jurisdiction, note to § 1667.

1681. (684.) Judge pro tempore. Any cause pending in a district court may be tried by a judge pro tempore, who shall be a member of the bar of the supreme court of the state.

1683. (686.) Id. Compensation. Judges pro tempore shall serve without compensation from any public treasury, but it shall be lawful for the parties to agree upon and express in their written stipulation any mode or amount of compensation, together with any further agreement as to the taxing of the same as costs.

1814. (720x.) Special court. Judge. Term. Salary. Juvenile court commission. Powers and duties. Secretary. In each judicial district of the state there is hereby created a special court to be known as the juvenile court. The juvenile court commission, hereinafter defined, shall appoint, for each such district, one or more judges to be known as judges of the juvenile court. Each judge shall hold office for a term of two years, or until his successor is appointed and qualified; provided, that the judge may be removed by the juvenile court commission at its discretion. The salary of said judges shall be fixed by the juvenile court commission. There is hereby created a commission to be known as the juvenile court commission, which shall consist of the governor, attorney-general, and state superintendent of public instruction. Said commission shall have general control and supervision over juvenile courts and probation officers, including the power of fixing salaries, providing court rooms and necessary equipment and supplies. The juvenile court commission shall also appoint a secretary, who shall serve during the pleasure of the commission, whose duties shall be prescribed by the commission. The secretary shall receive such salary as may be fixed by the commission. The expenses of said commission and the cost of maintaining said courts shall be paid out of the general funds of the state. The judge of the juvenile court in each district shall, by and with the consent of the juvenile court commission, appoint a clerk of the juvenile court, who shall keep a register of the proceedings of said court in a book to be known as the juvenile court register, and perform all clerical work and discharge such duties as the judge may assign in said court. And in addition thereto said clerk shall be a probation officer and shall receive a salary to be fixed and paid by the juvenile court commission. '05, p. 182; '07, p. 207; '09, p. 324.

1815. (720x1.) Jurisdiction. The juvenile court shall have jurisdiction in all cases relating to the custody, detention, guardianship of the person, probation, neglect, dependency, delinquency, examination, trial, and care of children who are under eighteen years of age, and also have jurisdiction over adult persons for all misdemeanors committed by them relating to the custody, detention, guardianship, probation, neglect, dependency, delinquency, and care of children who are under eighteen years of age, as is now or may be provided for by law. In any case in which the court shall find a child neglected, dependent, or delinquent, it may, in the same or in any subsequent proceedings, upon the parents of said child or either of them being duly summoned or voluntarily appearing, proceed to inquire into the ability of such parent or parents to support the child or contribute thereto. The court may enter such order or decree as shall be according to equity in the premises, and may enforce the same in any way in which a court of equity may enforce its orders or decrees. '05, p. 182; '07, p. 208; am'd '09, p. 324; Am'd '11, p. 77.

A parent cannot be deprived of the custody of his child, except upon the finding of a court having jurisdiction in a proper proceeding.

Id.

Laws 1905, chap. 117, P. 182, creating juvenile courts, with jurisdiction to provide for custody of "delinquent children," as defined by it, not being a criminal law, but having for its object the surrounding of such children with proper environments, violates no constitutional provisions because not providing for trial by jury, for arraignment and plea, a warrant, etc.; nor because of the manner of trial and examination, and the child being required to be a witness.

Id.

The act of the juvenile court, in making an order of commitment upon the first hearing and then conditionally suspending it by an order of probation, and after violation of the probation ordering a commitment, while somewhat irregular, was not void.

Stoker v. Gowans, 45 U. 556; 147 P. 911.

The delinquent, or anyone in her behalf, may apply for a modification of the judgment and determination of the rights of her custody, with the right of appeal, so that the rights of the delinquent may be enforced without recourse to habeas corpus.

Id.

1816. (720x3.) Practice and procedure. In all matters or cases relating to guardianship, neglect, or abandoned children, and delinquencies of children, the practice and procedure of juvenile courts shall conform as nearly as possible to the practice and procedure, as is now or may be provided by law or practice for district courts, and in all cases of misdemeanors of adults for contributing to the dependency, neglect, or delinquency of any juvenile, the practice and procedure shall conform to the practice and procedure as is now or may be provided by law for justice courts; provided, such changes as may be necessary shall be made in the form of the complaint and warrant and the consent or approval of the county attorney shall not be necessary on the warrant. The qualification of and manner of summoning jurors to serve in juvenile courts shall be the same as is now or may be prescribed by law for justice courts, and the judges of the juvenile court shall have all the powers in relation thereto of a justice of the peace. All expenses of a jury or other trial of any adult person shall be certified by the judge and paid by the county treasurer of the county wherein such trial is held. All fines, penalties, and forfeitures imposed and collected by the juvenile court shall be paid to the county treasurer of the county wherein they are collected.

1817. (720x4.) Complaints. Proceedings in the interest of juveniles as defined in this chaper shall be commenced by a complaint or sworn statement filed with the clerk of said court, which shall in a general way state the facts or acts constituting the delinquencies complained of. Said proceedings shall be entitled: "State of Utah in the interest of ..... delinquent." '05, p. 184; '07, p. 208; Am'd '09, p. 326.

1818. (720x5.) Hearing. Upon filing such complaint, the clerk or court shall set the same for hearing; notice of said hearing shall be served by the probation officer, or sheriff or any peace officer, on the parents, parent, custodian, or legal guardian of said child residing within the state of Utah, which notice shall be substantially in the following form, to wit:

(Title of court and cause.)

To ..... (here designate relationship). You are hereby notified to appear within two days after the service of this notice upon you, if served within the county wherein the above proceeding is pending, otherwise within five days, and assert and defend any rights to custody, control, or guardianship you may have or claim over or in the above named child; otherwise your default will be entered and the court will proceed to hear and determine your said rights or supposed rights in accordance with the law and the evidence.

The return of the officer showing such service shall be conclusive.
'05, p. 185; '07, p. 209, Am'd '09, p. 327.

1819. (720x6.) Probation officer to produce delinquent. It shall be the duty of the probation officer or an assistant to produce the alleged delinquent before the court at the time fixed for hearing, and to this end a warrant or other process shall not be necessary. '05, p. 183; '07, p. 209.

1820. (720x7.) Equity jurisdiction. Procedure. In all matters relating to the delinquency of children and their disposition, the court shall be regarded as exercising equity jurisdiction. The court shall first inquire into the alleged delinquency, and to this end may adopt any form of procedure which is deemed best suited to ascertain the truth in the particular case. Such juvenile may be compelled to testify to the alleged delinquency. The court may hear evidence in the absence of the said juvenile, and the court may compel the probation officer or any other person to testify respecting any facts or information ascertained as the result of an investigation of the matter. If the court determines that the juvenile is not delinquent within the meaning of this chapter, the juvenile shall be discharged, and the proceedings dismissed. If the court finds that said juvenile is delinquent, then the court shall find from the evidence introduced in such matter, as to the fitness or unfitness of the parents or other person having the custody of such juvenile, to continue to hold such custody, and shall render its judgment accordingly. '05, p. 184; '07, p. 209; Am'd '09, p. 327.

The court may, at any stage of the proceeding, continue the hearing from time to time, and during any such continuance may provide for probationary supervision over the child, or may order such other disposition of the delinquent as may seem proper, having due regard to the rights of the parents; provided, that on resuming such hearing any person who appeared and asserted any rights in the delinquent at the first hearing shall be entitled to notice of the time and place of such resumed hearing, unless such notice has been waived in writing or in open court. Said notice shall conform substantially to the original notice. '05, p. 184; '07, p. 209.

1822. (720x9.) Finding of facts. At the conclusion of the hearing, if the juvenile is adjudged to be delinquent, the court shall enter in writing, briefly and concisely, the facts found by him, stating separately and distinctly the facts constituting delinquency and the facts relating to the fitness of the parents, parent, custodian, or guardian, which findings, with the judgment rendered thereon, shall be filed with the clerk. '07, p. 210.

1823. (720x10.) Decree and judgment. Upon the entry of such finding of fact, the court shall render a decree and judgment that the juvenile is a delinquent, and that the parents, parent, custodian, or guardian is or are fit or unfit to continue in control and custody of the juvenile in accordance with the fact. In case judgment is rendered that the parents, parent, custodian, or guardian is or are fit to have control or custody of the juvenile, the court may commit the child to the care of the probation officer, allowing it to remain in its own home subject to the visitation of the probation officer, such child to report to the court or probation officer as often as may be required, and subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear necessary. In case it is adjudged and decreed that the parents, parent, custodian, or guardian is or are unfit to have control and custody of the juvenile, the court may further adjudge and decree as follows:

1. That the juvenile be committed to its own home under the care, control, and visitations of a juvenile officer;
2. That the juvenile be committed to any suitable family home open to the court for that purpose, subject to the care, control, and visitation of a probation officer;
3. That the juvenile be committed to any institution within the state incorporated or organized for care, correction, or advancement of children;

5. That the juvenile be committed to the state industrial school;
6. That the juvenile may be fined in any sum not exceeding $25;
7. That the juvenile be disposed of in any other way, except to commit it to jail or prison, that may, in the discretion and judgment of the court, under all the circumstances, be for the best interest of the child, to the end that its wayward tendencies shall be corrected and the child be saved to useful citizenship.

No judgment or decree so entered shall operate after the child reaches the age of twenty-one years.

All orders, judgments, and decrees so made and entered by the court shall be under its control, and may be modified, amended, or recalled at any time until the child reaches the age of twenty-one years. Am'd '09, p. 327.

General duties of probation officers, § 1827.

1836. (720x25.) Disposition of children. Any child apprehended under the next preceding section may be turned over by the apprehending officer to any children's aid society which will receive it without compensation from the public treasury and will become responsible for the safe keeping of the child until such time as the child's case can be brought into court for hearing; and the said society shall, for the time being, be considered to have legal custody of the child, and to be for this purpose, but for this purpose only, an officer of the court; for examination within three days after such apprehension; and it shall thereupon be the duty of the court to investigate and ascertain whether such child is dependent and neglected, as described in the next preceding section; its age, and the name and residence of its parents; and the said court shall have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and may, at his discretion, request the attendance of the county attorney for such examination, and if requested, it shall be the duty of the county attorney to attend accordingly. The parents, if their whereabouts is known, or persons having actual custody of such child, shall be duly notified of such examination not less than two days before the day set for such examination; and any friend may appear in behalf of any child, and at the discretion of the court any duly authorized representative of any children's aid society or institution may be asked to appear in behalf of any child; and if on such examination the court finds that any child is dependent or neglected, within the meaning of the next preceding section, or so as to be in a state of habitual vagrancy, or ill treated, so as to be in peril of life, health, or morals, by continued personal injury or misconduct on the part of parents or guardians, he shall enter such findings by proper order to that effect, and shall deliver such child to such children's aid society or institution as in his judgment is best suited to deal with said child, or order it to any suitable family home open to the court for the purpose, subject to the care, control, and visitation of a probation officer. And the finding of said court may further specify that the said children's aid society shall become and remain legal guardian of the child during the minority of such child, and as guardian said society shall, subject to the order of the court, report to the court from time to time. The court shall deliver to such children's aid society or institution a certified copy of the order made in the case, which shall contain, besides the finding, a statement of facts, so far as ascertained, as to the age of such child, name, nationality, and residence, other members of the family and occupation of parents or either of them, whether either of them is dead or has abandoned the child; and in case two or more from the same family at the same time are under examination, a separate copy of such finding shall be given for each child. Parents who have been deprived of their child, under the provisions of this chapter, may petition the board of managers of the society to which it has been committed, asking that the child be returned to them, on the grounds that they have reformed, or are in a condition to properly care for their child, and if the board, after a careful investigation of the facts, deems it for the best interests of the child, it may be returned to its parents, and the board shall file, with the clerk of the court in which the original proceedings were held, a copy of the resolutions of the board, and, when so filed, the guardianship of the society shall terminate, and the parents resume their natural relationship to such child. '03, p. 172; Am'd '09, p. 331.

1837. (720x26.) Legal guardian. Regulations. Any children's aid society or institution, to the care of which any child may be committed under the provisions of this chapter, shall, subject to § 1839, be the legal guardian of such child, and all the powers and rights of the parents in respect of that child shall vest in said society or institution; and it shall be the duty of said children's aid society or institution to use special diligence in providing suitable homes for such children as may in this way be committed to their care, and such society or institution is hereby authorized to secure for such children legal adoption in such families as may be approved by the said society or institution, or a written contract providing for their education in the public school where they may reside, for teaching them some occupation, and for kind and proper treatment, as members of the family where placed, and for payment to them on the termination of such contract, any sum of money that may be provided for in the said instrument. Such contract shall cover the entire period of said child's legal minority, or such a portion of it as may be stipulated in the contract, and such contract shall contain a clause, reserving the right to withdraw the child from any person having the custody of such child when, in the opinion of the children's aid society or institution placing out such child, the welfare of the child requires it. '03, p. 173.

1838. (720x27.) Custody forfeited. No parent or guardian or other person, who, by instrument of writing, surrenders or has surrendered heretofore, the custody of a child to any children's aid society or institution, shall thereafter, contrary to the terms of such instruments, be entitled to the custody or control or authority over, or any right to interfere with, any such child, and these same conditions shall prevail where the child is or has been delivered to the children's aid society or institution by the action of any proper court. '03, p. 173.

Under this section a parent may, in this state, in pursuance of an instrument in writing, duly executed, surrender and forfeit his right to the custody of his infant child. Stanford v. Gray et al., 42 U. 228; 129 P. 423.

1839. (720x28.) What trustees may do. Notwithstanding the provisions of any by-laws, rules or regulations for the government or control of any institution, it shall be lawful for the trustees or governing body of such institution, and for the several boards of county commissioners, to take advantage of § 1837 by transferring, from time to time, children under their care, to any children's aid society duly organized and chartered by the state, to be placed by said children's aid society in pursuance of this chapter; in such cases all legal claims to said children are transferred to said children's aid society, and the child is to be placed out and supervised as any other children belonging to said children's aid society. '03, p. 174.

1840. (720x29.) Abuse of children, penalty. Any person over eighteen years of age, who, having the care, custody, control, or charge of a child under eighteen, wilfully ill-treats, neglects, abandons, or exposes such child, or causes or procures such child to be ill-treated, neglected, abandoned, or exposed in any manner likely to cause such child unnecessary suffering or serious injury to its health or morals, shall be guilty of an offense under this chapter, and, on conviction thereof, shall be liable, at the discretion of the court, to a fine not exceeding $100, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both such fine and imprisonment. '03, p. 174; Am'd '09, p. 331.

1841. (720x30.) Warrant to issue for offenders. If it appears to any court of summary jurisdiction, as defined herein, or any court that may especially be designated by law to consider juvenile cases, on motion made before such court, under oath, by any person who, in the opinion of the court, is bona fide acting in the interest of any child, that there is reasonable cause to suspect that such child under eighteen years has been or is being ill-treated or neglected, in any place within the jurisdiction of such court, in manner likely to cause the child unnecessary suffering, or to be injurious to its health or morals, such court or judge having jurisdiction over juvenile cases may issue a warrant, authorizing any probation officer or other peace officer named therein to search for the child, and to take it, and detain it in a place of safety until it can be brought before the proper court; and the court before whom the child is brought may cause it to be dealt with in a manner provided for by § 1837. The court or judge issuing such warrant may, by the same warrant, cause any person accused of an offense in respect of the child to be apprehended and brought before the proper court, and proceedings to be taken to punish such person according to § 1840. Any person, authorized by warrant under this section to search for any child and to take it and detain it in a place of safety, may enter, if need be, by force, any house, building, or other place specified in the warrant, and may remove the child therefrom. '03, p. 174; Am'd '09, p. 331.

1842. (720x31.) Inducing children to leave. Penalty. It shall be unlawful for any person to induce any child to leave the building, or the premises, or custody or control of any children's aid society, or of any duly incorporated boys' or girls' home or ophanage, or children's or infants' home, or to induce or attempt to induce a child to leave or quit any service or apprenticeship, or any place in which or where the child has been or may be lawfully placed, for the purpose of being nursed, supported, educated, or adopted, or to induce or attempt to induce any child to break any article of apprenticeship or agreement lawfully entered into by or with the authority of the trustees or governing body of any such home, children's aid society, or asylum, respecting any such child, or to detain or harbor any such child, after demand made by or on behalf of any officer of any such institution for delivery of such child. Any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be liable, upon conviction before any court of competent jurisdiction, to a fine not exceeding $20 and costs, and, in default of payment thereof, to imprisonment not exceeding thirty days. part of the said children's aid society or institution in temporarily caring for said child, finding a home for it, and subsequent supervision of it, the county being exempt from all further responsibility and expense of said child until it is of legal age. When any child has resided in a county outside of any city of the first or the second class, then the board of county commissioners of said county may, under the circumstances above set forth, make an order for the payment out of the county treasury to such children's aid society of a sum not to exceed 50 cents per day, as above provided in the case of cities of the first class and the second class. Any child shall be deemed to belong to the county in which said child has last resided for the period of one year, but, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, residence for one year in the county from which the child was taken into custody shall be presumed. '03, p. 175; Am'd '09, p. 331.

It shall be the duty of such municipalities to make separate provisions for the custody and detention of such children prior to their trial or examination, whether by arrangement with some member of the police force or other person or society who may be willing to undertake the responsibility of such temporary custody or detention on such terms as may be agreed upon, or by providing suitable premises entirely distinct and separate from the ordinary jails, lock-ups, or police cells; and it shall be the duty of the court to try all such children, or examine into their cases, and dispose of them, where practicable, in premises other than the ordinary police court premises, or, where this is not practicable, in a private office of the court, if he have one, or in some other room in the building; if this be not practicable, then in the ordinary police court room, but only in such last mentioned case when an interval of two hours shall have elapsed after the criminal trials or other examinations for the day have been disposed of. The court may exclude from the room or place where any child under sixteen years of age is being tried, or having its case examined, or any parent charged with an offense in respect to a child under this chapter, or otherwise with neglect or cruelty to his child, is being tried or examined, all persons other than the counsel and witnesses in the case, officers of the law or of any children's aid society or institution, and the relatives of the child or parent. All societies or associations receiving children under the provisions of this chapter shall be subject to visitation, inspection, and supervision by the board of county commissioners of the county in which they conduct their institution. The courts hereinbefore mentioned may require such information and statistics from associations, or children's aid societies or institutions, as desire to have children committed to their care, under the provisions of this chapter, as said judges deem necessary in order to enable them to exercise a wise discretion in dealing with children. Every such association shall file with the county commissioners of each county from which they have received children during the year, an annual written report, which shall include a statement of the number of children cared for during the year, the number received, the number placed in homes, the number who have died, the number returned to friends; also, a financial statement, showing the receipts and disbursements of the association. '07, p. 247.

Said undertaking shall further provide that, if the said defendant does not make such payments at the time specified, or does not comply with said terms and conditions, judgment may be entered on motion in favor of the state of Utah and against the sureties for the amount of the fine, or of the payments due from the said defendant, or in case of his failure to comply with certain other terms and conditions specified in the bond, for the amount of the bond. The expenses of any child cared for in the detention school, residing in cities of the first and of the second class shall be paid out of the general fund of the city treasury, in the same manner as provided for the payment of general city expenses. '07, p. 220.

A reasonable sum for the support and maintenance of delinquent children of a city may be recovered by a county from such city.

Salt Lake County v. Salt Lake City, 42 U. 548; 134 P. 560.

Truant officers, §§ 4648, 4729.

1865. Employment of females prohibited in certain cases. No female under the age of twenty-one years shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in, about, or in connection with any restaurant, resort, or place of amusement where alcoholic liquors are manufactured or dispensed.

1869. Id. Exceptions. Permit. No male child under sixteen years of age shall sell or expose or offer for sale in any street or public place any of the articles mentioned in § 1868 or work as a bootblack therein, unless a permit as hereinafter provided shall have been issued to him by the superintendent of schools or by a person authorized by him in writing, or, where there is no superintendent of schools, by a person authorized by the school board on the application of the parent, guardian, or other person having the custody of the child desiring such permit, or, in case said child has no parent, guardian, or custodian, then on the application of his next friend, being an adult. Such permit shall not be issued until the officer issuing the same shall have received, examined, approved, and placed on file in his office satisfactory proof that such male child is of the age of twelve years or upwards, and shall also have received, examined, and placed on file the written statement of the principal or chief executive officer of the school which the child is attending, stating that such child is an attendant at such school, that he is of the normal development of a child of his age and physically fit for such employment, and that said principal or chief executive officer approves the granting of a permit to such child.

TITLE 22.

COURT STENOGRAPHERS.

CHAPTER 1.

DISTRICT COURT STENOGRAPHERS.

1875. (721.) District judge to employ stenographer. The judge of a district court may employ and contract with a stenographer to report the proceedings of such court, in the manner and under the limitations hereinafter provided. In districts where there are two or more judges, each judge thereof may employ and contract with a stenographer. Am'd '99, p. 111.

One appointed court stenographer, though for a single case only, by the judge, under chap. 72, laws 1899, is in the discharge of his duties a public officer, so that the contract of the parties to pay him more than provided by the statute for transcribing the testimony is void, as against public policy.

Dull v. Mammoth M. Co., 28 U. 467; 79 P. 1050.

A district judge has power to contract to pay a stenographer for mileage at the rate of 10 cents per mile without reference to the amount actually paid for such travel, and 1907 session laws, p. 172, chap. 123, making appropriations for payment of mileage of court stenographers, and limiting reimbursement to amount actually paid out, was not intended to apply to contracts for the payment of stenographer's mileage executed by the judge.

Davis v. Cutler et al., 34 U. 99; 95 P. 1071.

1876. (722.) Contract. Duties. Fees. Mileage. The judge of such district court may make a written contract with a competent person qualified to report stenographically the proceedings of the court. Said contract shall expressly provide that the stenographer shall attend all sittings of the court, when ordered to do so by the judge thereof, take full stenographic notes of the testimony and of all proceedings given or had thereat, except when the judge dispenses with his services in a particular cause, or with respect to a portion of the proceedings thereof; that the stenographer shall file with the clerk forthwith the original stenographic notes taken at the trial or hearing so required to be taken; that all objections made to the rulings, decisions, and opinions of the court, and the exceptions taken during the trial or hearing, shall be written out at length, or typewritten, by the stenographer and filed with the clerk forthwith after the close of the trial or hearing, if required by either party to the action; that the stenographer shall furnish upon request, with all reasonable diligence, to the defendant in a criminal cause, or a party or his attorney in a civil cause, in which he has attended the trial or hearing, a copy written out at length from his stenographic notes of the testimony and proceedings, or a part thereof, upon the trial or hearing, upon payment by the person requiring the same, of such fees as shall be provided in said contract. Such contract shall expressly provide that the compensation of such stenographer shall be at a certain rate per day, for attendance at each sitting of the court, which shall not exceed the sum of $8, and for the compensation of such stenographer for transcribing into long hand or typewriting his stenographic notes of the testimony and proceedings, or a part thereof, shall not exceed the sum of 12 cents per folio, and not to exceed 4 cents per folio for additional copies when furnished to the same party ordering the original, not exceeding two such additional copies. Such contract shall further provide that the said stenographer shall hold his employment at the pleasure of the judge of the court appointing him, or his successor, and may also provide that said stenographer shall be paid not to exceed 10 cents per mile for each mile actually traveled by him in the performance of his part of said contract; provided, that no mileage shall be paid where free transportation is used, and the amount of such mileage shall be certified by the court to the state auditor, who shall draw his warrant upon the state treasurer for the amount so certified, and the same shall be paid out of the state treasury. Such contract may contain such other stipulations and conditions as may be agreed upon by the said judge and the said stenographer. '99, p. 112; am'd '11, p. 282.

Fees of district court stenographer, §§ 1881, 1883, 2537.

A claim by a stenographer for mileage is a claim for compensation fixed by contract, not by law within the exception to Con. art. 7, sec. 13 and § 2482.

Davis v. Edwards, 33 U. 243, 93 P. 720.

1877. (723.) Assistant. The stenographer may, when necessary, with the consent of the court, employ an assistant, who shall receive the same compensation as the stenographer, and whose minutes, transcripts, and certificates shall have force and effect as though made by the official stenographer. Am'd '99, p. 112.

1878. (724.) Objections. The objections and exceptions to the rulings, decisions, and opinions of the court, which shall be written out by the stenographer and filed with the clerk, as provided in said contract, may be settled thereafter in a bill of exceptions. Am'd '99, p. 113.

1879. (725.) Transcript is correct statement of testimony. The report of the stenographer so employed when written out in long hand writing, or typewritten, and certified by him as being a correct transcript of the testimony and proceedings in the case, is prima facie a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings. Am'd '99, p. 113.

1880. (726.) Bond. Before any stenographer so employed shall enter upon the discharge of his duties under the said contract, he shall give a bond with sufficient surety, conditioned for the faithful performance of said contract, in the sum of $2500, or such further sum as the judge shall fix. Said bond shall run to the judge in his official capacity, but an action thereon may be maintained by any person whose rights are affected by the failure of the stenographer to perform any condition of the said contract.
Am'd '99, p. 113.

1881. (727.) Fees. When defendant is impecunious, cost paid by state. Fees in criminal cases paid by state. In cases where a transcript has been ordered by the court, the fees for transcribing must be paid by the respective parties to the action or proceedings in equal proportion, or by such of them and in such proportion as the court in its discretion may order. In no case shall a transcript be taxed as costs unless ordered either by the plaintiff or defendant, or by the court; nor shall the stenographer be required in any civil case to transcribe his notes until the fees therefor be tendered him, or a sufficient amount to cover the same be deposited in court for that purpose. The party ordering the stenographer to transcribe any portion of the testimony or proceedings must pay the fees to the stenographer therefor. If the defendant in a criminal case desires to have the stenographer transcribe his notes taken on the trial, he must pay the stenographer's fees therefor, or deposit a sum equivalent thereto with the clerk of the court therefor, or the court must refuse to order the stenographer to transcribe his notes; provided, that if it appear by affidavit, made by the defendant in person, that said defendant is impecunious and unable to pay the stenographer's fee for transcribing his notes, and that a transcript of the same is necessary in perfecting an appeal on behalf of the defendant, and said facts are not successfully controverted by the county attorney or by affidavit of some person cognizant of the facts, the court may issue an order directing that the stenographer transcribe his notes taken on the trial of the defendant, or so much thereof as the court may deem necessary, at the cost of the state. In criminal cases, when the proceedings have been taken down or transcribed upon the order of the court, the fees of the stenographer shall be certified by the court to the state auditor, who shall draw his warrant upon the state treasurer for the amount so certified, and the same shall be paid out of the state treasury. Am'd '99, p. 113.

Where two full days' time was allowed the court stenographers, the refusal of the court to retax costs will not be reversed on appeal where the record does not show clearly the number of hours the stenographer was employed.
Anderson v. Ogden Depot Co., 7 U. 396; 26 P. 1119.

Where accused, on appealing from a conviction, has not shown himself to be impecunious, as provided herein, he is liable, on affirmance of his conviction, for costs provided for by supreme court rule 11, relating to the printing of briefs on appeal, but not for fees otherwise payable to the clerk.
Salt Lake City v. Robinson, 39 U. 260; 116 P. 442.

1882. (728.) Certificate of judge. The judge of said court shall certify, when requested by the stenographer, the time which he shall have been employed in attendance upon the court, except on the trial of criminal cases, and the amount to which he is entitled therefor. Upon the presentation of such certificate of the judge to the county auditor, said auditor shall draw warrant in favor of said stenographer upon the county treasurer for the amount so certified, which warrant shall be a sufficient voucher for the payment of the same by the county treasurer. '99, p. 114.

1883. (728x.) Fee upon filing each case. A stenographer's fee of $3 shall be collected by the clerk of the court, in each case, upon the filing of said case, which shall be paid to the county treasurer, by said clerk, and may be taxed as costs in the action; provided, that no stenographer's fee shall be charged or collected in probate matters unless the same be contested, and then the fees shall be paid by the party contesting; provided, that in all actions now pending the clerk of the court shall at once collect the fee as herein provided; and provided, further, that in no case shall the state be liable for such fee. '99, p. 114; '05, p. 59.

1884. (728x1.) No liability except as provided herein. Neither the judge employing and contracting with such stenographer, nor the state nor any department thereof, shall be liable to the stenographer for any compensation, fee, or mileage, except as provided herein. Am'd '99, p. 114.

CHAPTER 2.

CITY COURT STENOGRAPHER.

1885. (728x2.) Judge may employ. Any judge of the city court in cities of the first class may employ and contract with a competent stenographer to report the proceedings in any civil case in such court, where the amount involved in controversy exceeds the sum of $100, and upon the request of either party to such action. '07, p. 83.

District court stenographer, §§ 1875-1884.

1886. (728x3.) Compensation. How paid. The amount to be paid such stenographer shall not exceed $6 per day for actual services rendered in reporting, and he shall be allowed to charge 8 cents per folio for a transcript of his notes. The per diem shall be paid out of the city treasury. '07, p. 83.

1887. (728x4.) Reporter's fees. The party requesting the reporter's services shall pay to the clerk the sum of $3 as reporter's fees, and the same shall be taxed as costs in the action. '07, p. 83.

TITLE 23.

CROP PEST COMMISSION, STATE.

('17, p. 339.)

1888. (1168.) Membership. Qualifications. Terms. A state crop pest commission is hereby created, consisting of five members to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, one of whom shall be an entomologist, one a plant pathologist, one a practical farmer, one a practical horticulturist, and one, who shall be the state crop pest inspector, who shall have technical and expert training in insect pests and plant diseases as well as a practical knowledge of them. The members of said commission shall hold office for a term of two years and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

1889. (1170.) Organization. Officers. Inspector. Deputies. Bonds.

Said commission shall have an office at the state capitol, and within ten days after the approval of this title they shall meet and organize by electing a president. Said commission shall appoint a competent clerk to have charge of the office, and they may appoint, when an emergency exists, special deputy inspectors and others as may be needed, whose salaries shall not exceed $4 per day, together with their necessary traveling expenses; provided, that before entering upon their duties the members of the state crop pest commission shall qualify by subscribing to the constitutional oath of office. Said inspector shall file with the secretary of state a bond with good and sufficient sureties in the sum of $1000 conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties.

1890. Duties of inspector. The duty of the state crop pest inspector shall be to visit each county, to instruct the county inspector, and to perform such special inspection and other duties in the interest of agriculture as the commission may require.

1891. (1172.) Salaries of officers. Payment. The state crop pest inspector shall receive a salary to be fixed by the governor, but not to exceed $2500 per annum, and his actual and necessary expenses in the performance of his duties, which expenses shall not exceed $1000 per annum. Other members of the commission shall receive no salary; provided, however, that said members shall be paid their actual and necessary expenses in attending meetings of said commission. It is further provided that the office clerk shall receive a salary, to be fixed by the commission, not to exceed $800 per annum. The salaries herein provided for shall be paid each month, and the other expenses as in the case of other officers.

1892. Custodian of property of horticultural commission. The commission shall take charge of and be the custodian of all property of whatsoever kind now in possession of the existing state horticultural commission, which belongs to the state of Utah. The secretary of the said state horticultural commission shall carefully list all such property of the state now in the possession of said commission, and shall furnish a copy to the state crop pest commission and file a copy with the secretary of state within ten days after the approval of this title.

1893. Duties of commission. The commission shall adopt such regulations and perform such other work as will promote and protect the agricultural interests of the state. They shall supervise the work of the state crop pest inspector, and shall issue bulletins and pamphlets for the promotion and protection of the agricultural industries of the state, and shall have supervision over the enforcement of the provisions of this title.

Fix grades of fruit, § 8458.

1894. (1173.) Office hours. Expenses. The office shall be open each day in the year, excepting Sundays and legal holidays; provided, that the necessary office expenses, approved by the commission, shall be paid from the funds hereinafter appropriated as other expenses are paid.

1895. (1174.) Gifts, donations, and bequests. Disbursement. The state treasurer is hereby authorized to receive gifts, donations, or bequests of money or property for the promotion of agricultural interests of Utah, and to disburse the same upon the warrants of the state auditor, which said warrants shall be drawn only upon the order of a majority of the commission, and for the purpose named in this title.

1896. (1175.) Authority to enforce quarantine. The state crop pest commission is hereby vested with the necessary authority to enforce quarantine against any state or county, or against any infested tract of land, building, or place where any trees, plants, shrubs, vines, scions, seeds, buds, fruit, or article within the state, when the same is, in its judgment, liable to spread insects, pests, and funguses or other diseases injurious to crops or plants, and provide the necessary rules and regulations to govern the same when not in conflict with the provisions of this title.

1897. (1176.) Regulations for quarantining and disinfection. For the purpose of preventing the introduction into the state or the spreading within the state of infectious or contagious diseases, insect pests, or fungous growths among trees or plants, for the prevention and treatment, cure or destruction of either fruit, tree, or plant pests, and for the disinfection or destruction of either trees or plants, box, package, or article harboring or containing contagious or infectious disease, insects, or pests detrimental to trees, plants, vines, or shrubs, said commission shall make regulations for the quarantining and the disinfection thereof, which said regulations shall be circulated by the commission in printed form among the fruit growers, farmers, dealers in plant products, common carriers, and nurserymen of the state by publishing the same at least four successive times in some newspaper having a general circulation in the state, and by posting copies thereof in three conspicuous places in each county, one of which shall be at the county courthouse. Such rules or regulations, when so published and circulated, shall be held to have imparted due notice of their contents to all persons within the state, and shall be binding upon them.

1898. (1177.) County inspectors. Qualifications. Duties. Bonds. Compensation. Within thirty days after this law goes into effect, the board of county commissioners of each county shall appoint one crop pest inspector and as many deputies as is deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of this title. Said inspector and deputies shall pass an examination, which shall be conducted by any member of the state crop pest commission, and shall hold a certificate from said commission showing that they are qualified to properly inspect trees, plants, vines, shrubs, and pests, and are competent judges of various diseases and pests to which fruit, trees, seeds, and plants are subject, together with the methods necessary for their destruction and control. The authority of any person, not holding such certificate issued by the state crop pest commissioners, shall not be recognized, and he shall not be a qualified inspector under the terms of this title. Such inspectors shall hold office for two years and until their successors are appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed for cause. They shall qualify by taking and subscribing the constitutional oath, and by giving a bond, with good and sufficient sureties, in the sum of $500, conditioned upon the faithful performance of their duties, and to secure the payment of actual damage arising from their wrongful inspection or treatment of orchards, fruits, plants, seeds, or nursery stock, which shall be filed with the county clerk; said inspector shall be paid out of the county treasury for the time and services actually rendered at such rate per day as the county commissioners shall fix, not to exceed $4 per day for inspectors and $3 per day for deputies, with reasonable transportation expenses when on official duty. The county inspectors shall carry out the provisions of this title and the regulations of the state crop pest commission; provided, that it shall be unlawful to spray, with any arsenical or other poisonous material, any tree, plant, or shrub when the same is in bloom; provided, further, that in case of any county inspector failing, refusing, or neglecting to do his duty, nothing in this title shall be construed to prevent the crop pest commissioners from enforcing in such county the provisions of this title and the regulations of the crop pest commissioners either in person or by special deputy.

Examine closed packages of fruit, § 8460.

1899. (1179.) Right of inspection. Notice of infections. Abatement. The county crop pest inspector or deputies in each county shall make an inspection of every farm, orchard, nursery, vineyard, storeroom, or seed-house, where plants are sold or kept for sale, fruit shed or packing house, cold storage house, storeroom, salesroom, warehouse, or any other place, box, barrel, or article connected with agriculture within their jurisdiction as often as is deemed necessary for the protection of the agricultural interests of the county. If, upon such inspection, any fruit, tree, plant, vine, shrub, or article used in the transportation or handling of fruit, trees, vines, or plants shall be found to be infected or infested with insect pests, funguses or other diseases, eggs or larvae injurious to the agricultural interests of the county, they shall notify the owner, or the owners, person, or persons in charge or possession of the infected or infested fruit, trees, plants, vines, or shrubs, or places, or articles as aforesaid, that the same is infected or infested with insects, disease, eggs, or larvae injurious to the agricultural interests, and shall require that such person or person destroy or disinfect the same and make application of such treatment as prescribed by the state crop pest commission, within a certain time to be specified in said notice. Said notice may be served upon the person or persons owning or having charge of such infested or infected plants, trees, fruits, places, or articles aforesaid, by any inspector or member of the crop pest commission. In addition to the above, inspection shall be made and the nuisance abated under the above provisions, upon the complaint of three persons showing that a public nuisance or menace to their interests is maintained in any orchard, lot, field, storeroom, or place. If the owner or owners, person or persons in charge or possession of any nursery, orchard, trees, plants, shrubs, vines, fruits, places, or articles infected or infested with said diseases, insects or any of them, their eggs or larvae, after having been notified as above, by said inspector or commissioners, to destroy or disinfect the same as directed shall fail to so destroy or disinfect, he or they shall be deemed guilty of maintaining a public nuisance, and any nursery, orchard, lot, place, trees, plants, vines, shrubs, or articles thus infected shall be adjudged and the same is hereby declared a public nuisance and shall be proceeded against as such. It shall be the duty of the county inspector, in whose county said nuisance shall exist, to cause such nuisance to be abated at once by destroying said disease, insects, pest, larvae or eggs, by disinfecting or destroying the infected or infested fruit, trees, plants, places, or articles as aforesaid, and the costs thereof shall be assessed against the owner or owners, person or persons in charge of said property or premises, and if the same is not paid within thirty days from the demand the said expense shall become a county charge and the county commissioners shall allow and pay the same out of the general fund of the county. Any and all sums so paid shall be and become a lien on the property and premises from which said nuisance has been removed or abated in pursuance of this title, and may be recovered by an action against the owner or owners, person or persons having in charge such property or premises.

1900. Sale of infected fruits prohibited. Power to destroy. It shall be unlawful to sell or dispose of, or offer to sell or dispose of, or to have in one's possession for sale or barter, any fruit which is or has been infected with San Jose scale, or other scale insects, or the larvae of the codling moth, and the fact that such fruit bears the mark of any scale, or is worm-eaten by the larvae of the codling moth, shall be deemed conclusive evidence that said fruit is infected within the meaning of this section; and the state and county inspector and the deputies are hereby given power to seize and destroy such infected fruit whenever they shall find that the same has been packed, sold, shipped, or offered for sale, or where the same has been exposed for sale, or is being held in any warehouse, store, salesroom, or other place for the purpose of being sold, bartered, shipped, or exposed for sale or bartered; and it is hereby made the duty of said state inspector and said county inspectors and deputies to enforce the provisions of this section, and any person who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, however, that any qualified inspector or deputy shall, immediately upon being notified, inspect any shipments of fruits, and issue certificate of release or inspection; provided, further, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the utilization of such infected fruit in the manufacture of fruit products within the state where said fruit has not been packed, sold, shipped, stored, or offered or exposed for sale as fruit; provided, that such infected fruit can be sold for such purpose only by the grower.

1901. (1180.) Reports by inspectors and commission. Publications. The county inspector shall make a report monthly to the county commissioners and the state crop pest commission on forms furnished by the commission. Such report shall contain a report of the labor of the inspector and his deputies, and the general condition of agriculture within the county. The state crop pest commission shall make a report biennially to the governor by the first day of December preceding the meeting of the state legislature, and the secretary of state shall cause three thousand copies of the same to be published in a pamphlet or book form for distribution as other state publications.

1902. (1181.) Handling nursery stock. No corporation, firm, person, or persons shall engage or continue in the business of selling within the state or of importing into the state, any fruit trees, shade trees, shrubs, vines, or plants known as nursery stock, without having first obtained a license to do business in this state as in this title provided.

1903. (1182.) License. Fee. Bond. Revocation. Any corporation, firm, or person may obtain a license from the state crop pest commission to engage in the business, as provided in the preceding section, upon payment of the fee of $2.50 and by filing with the state crop pest commission a bond, with good and sufficient sureties, in the sum of $500, conditioned that the principal will comply with the provisions of this title, and will pay the cost of fumigating or disinfecting all nursery stock, materials, or goods imported into the state or sold within the state by said principal, his or their agents, and the expense of destruction of any infected nursery stock. License granted under this title shall be for one year; provided, however, that such license may be revoked at any time for any violation of this title or the rules and regulations of the state crop pest commission at the discretion of the commission.

1904. (1182x.) Inspections of nursery stock. Certificates. All nursery stock grown or growing within the state to be used for sale, gift, or distribution or transportation shall, after being dug and before the same shall have been packed for delivery, be inspected by the county inspector or his deputy, and shall be disinfected or treated by such method as shall be prescribed by the state crop pest commission. 1. If, when a drug is sold under or by a name recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia or National Formulary, it differs from the standard of strength, quality, or purity, as determined by the test laid down in the United States Pharmacopœia or National Formulary official at the time of investigation; provided, that no drug defined in the United States Pharmacopœia or National Formulary shall be deemed to be adulterated under this provision if the standard of strength, quality, or purity be plainly stated upon the bottle, box, or other container thereof, although the standard may differ from that determined by the test laid down in the United States Pharmacopœia or National Formulary;

2. If the contents of the package as originally put up shall have been removed in whole or in part, and other contents shall have been placed in such package, or if the package fail to bear a statement on the label of the quantity or proportion of any alcohol, wood alcohol, denatured alcohol, morphine, opium, cocaine, heroin, alpha or beta eucaine, chloroform, Cannabis indica, chloral hydrate, or acetanilide, or any derivative or preparation of any of such substances contained therein; provided, that wood or denatured alcohol be not allowed in any article of food or medicine intended for internal use;

The flavoring extracts herein described are intended solely for food purposes and are not to be confounded with a similar preparation described in the pharmacopœia for medicinal purposes. The term flavoring extract includes solutions sold for food purposes as flavors, flavorings, essences, and tinctures.

Lemon extract is a flavoring extract prepared from oil of lemon, or from lemon peel, or both, and must contain not less than five per cent by volume of lemon oil.

Vanilla extract is a flavoring extract prepared from vanilla beans, with or without sugar or glycerine, and must contain, in one hundred cubic centimeters, the soluble matters from not less than ten grams of the vanilla bean.

A double extract is, or represents, twice the strength of an ordinary extract. In other words, a double extract of lemon must contain ten per cent of the oil of lemon. A triple extract of lemon must contain fifteen per cent oil of lemon.

A double extract of vanilla would mean that it contains the soluble matter of not less than twenty grams of vanilla bean per hundred cubic centimeters of the extract.

All extracts artifically prepared, that is, not made from the natural fruit, berry, bean, or other part of the plant, must be labeled in letters similar in size and immediately preceding the name of the article, "imitation," "substitute," or "artificial," and if artificially colored it must in like manner be labeled "artifically colored."

The standards of other flavoring extracts, unless otherwise provided, shall be the standards adopted by the United States department of agriculture, and all extract must be labeled with the name and address of the manufacturer or distributor thereof. '07, p. 235; am'd '13, p. 97.

The term alum shall be construed to include all salts and compounds of aluminum, and every person, who, as aforesaid, shall sell, exchange, deliver, or offer to sell, exchange, or deliver, or have in his possession with intent to sell, exchange, or deliver, any baking powder containing any of the salts of aluminum without the package containing the same being labeled "alum," or "soda alum," as the case may be, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. or have in his possession with intent to sell, exchange, or deliver any milk which is not whole milk or which contains less than 3.2 per cent butter fat, or less than 12 per cent solids; or any milk from which any cream has been removed which is not labeled or sold as "skimmed milk," or any milk which contains any coloring matter or preservatives, or which is impure, unwholesome, or adulterated; or any milk from any cow which is diseased or fed upon any food which is in a state of putrefaction or is deleterious to health, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, the above standard of butter fat shall not apply to milk sold to creameries or condensed milk factories. R. S. '98, § 729; '99, pp. 53, 73; '03, p. 18; '07, p. 236; '13, p. 97.

Such skimmed milk shall contain not less than nine per cent of milk solids, exclusive of fats. No person shall sell, exchange, or deliver, or have in his custody or possession with intent to sell, exchange, or deliver, any evaporated milk which has been diluted to represent the proportions of natural milk unless in a conspicuous place above the center, upon the outside of every vessel, can, or package from or in which such milk is sold, the words "diluted, evaporated milk," are distinctly marked in extended gothic letters, each not less than one inch in height.

1935. (744.) Tests to determine quality of milk. Proofs of adulterations and skimming may be made with such standard tests and lactometers as are used to determine the quality of milk, or by chemical analysis. Cream of standard purity shall be cream produced from normal milk, free from all kinds of additions. There shall be recognized three standards of percentage of cream, known as first, second, and third grades. The minimum percentage of the first grade shall be not less than thirty per cent. The minimum percentage of the second grade shall be not less than twenty-four per cent. The minimum percentage of the third grade shall be not less than eighteen per cent; provided, that no person shall sell cream containing a less percentage of butter than is represented. The sale of cream other than in conformity with the foregoing standard is prohibited.

1936. (745.) Sale of adulterated dairy products prohibited. Every person who, by himself, his agent, or servant, or as the agent or servant of any other person, shall sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, or offer to sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, or have in his possession with intent to sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, to any person any milk, cream, or other dairy product, or deliver to any creamery or factory to be manufactured into butter or cheese, any milk, cream, or other dairy product to which any boracic acid, formaldehyde, salicylic acid, viscogen, or other compound has been added, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who, by himself, or by his agent, or servant, or as the agent or servant of any other person, shall sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, or offer to sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, or have in his possession with intent to sell, exchange, deliver, or consign any butter not made wholly and exclusively from normal milk or cream, free from all additions, except salt and harmless coloring matter, as provided or permitted by law, or containing less than eighty per cent butter fat, or more than sixteen per cent moisture, or, if in package form, without the name and address of the manufacturer or distributor plainly and conspicuously printed upon the outside of the package, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who, as aforesaid, shall sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, or offer to sell, exchange, deliver, or consign, or have in his possession with intent to sell, exchange, deliver, or consign any cheese not made wholly and exclusively from normal milk or cream, salt, and rennet, with or without harmless coloring matter as provided and permitted by law, or containing less than thirty per cent butter fat, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that cheese containing less than thirty per cent butter fat shall not be deemed a violation of this chapter if it shall be stamped with the words "skimmed milk cheese" with printed letters in plain gothic type, not less than one inch in length and so that the words cannot be easily erased, which label shall be placed upon the cheese and also upon the cloth covering the same and upon the top and side of every box or package containing such skimmed milk cheese.

R. S. '98, § 733; '01, p. 71; '03, p. 18; '07, p. 237; '13, p. 97.

The use in food for any purpose of any mineral dye or any coal tar dye, except the coal tar dyes hereinafter listed, shall be grounds for prosecution. The coal tar dyes hereinafter named, made specifically for use in foods, and which bear a guaranty from the manufacturer that they are made from subsidiary products and represent the actual substance the name of which they bear, may be used in foods. In every case a certificate that the dye in question has been tested by competent experts and found to be free from harmful constituents must be filed with the state dairy and food commissioner and approved by him.

The following coal tar dyes which may be used in this manner are given numbers, the numbers preceding the names referring to the number of the dyes in question as listed in A. G. Green's edition of the Shultz-Julius Systematic Survey of the Organic Coloring Matters, published in 1904.

When floors or other parts of the building, or tables or other parts of the equipment are so old or in such poor condition that they cannot be readily made sanitary, they shall be removed and replaced by suitable materials. All establishments in which animals are slaughtered or meats and meat food products are prepared, cured, packed, stored, or handled shall be properly screened against flies and other vermin. Walks, platforms, or approaches leading into establishments shall be kept clean to prevent dirt being tracked into the same.

2. All tracks, trays, and other receptacles, all chutes, platforms, racks, tables, and other appliances, and all knives, saws, cleavers, and other tools, and all utensils, machinery, and vehicles used in moving, handling, cutting, chopping, mixing, canning, or other processes shall be thoroughly cleaned before using.

3. The aprons, smocks, or other outer clothing worn by employes who handle meat or meat food products shall be of a material that is readily cleansed and made sanitary, and only clean garments shall be worn. Persons who handle meat or meat food products shall be required to keep their hands clean, and they shall be required also to pay particular attention to the cleanliness of their boots or shoes.

4. Persons affected with tuberculosis or any other communicable disease shall not be employed in any of the departments of establishments where carcasses are dressed, meat handled, or meat products are prepared. Any employe of such establishment who may be suspected of being so affected shall be reported by the inspector in charge to the manager of the establishment, and to the state dairy and food commissioner, who in turn shall report such case to the secretary of the state board of health.

5. Hogs must be kept at least one hundred feet from slaughtering houses and fed in clean troughs and pens. The offal of all slaughtered healthy animals, except hogs, may be fed to hogs; provided, that at least one-half of their daily rations consist of grain or vegetable matter. The offal of all hogs must be buried, burned, or tanked. The offal of animals that is not fed to hogs must be burned, buried, or tanked.

6. All yards, fences, pens, chutes, alleys, and other places belonging to the premises of such establishments, whether they are used or not, shall be maintained in a sanitary condition, and no nuisance shall be allowed in the establishment or on its premises.

7. The room or compartments in which meat or meat food products are prepared, cured, stored, packed, or otherwise handled shall be free from odors from toilet rooms, catch basins, casing departments, tank rooms, hide cellars, or other similar places, and shall be kept free from flies and other vermin, by screening, or other methods. All rooms or compartments shall be provided with cuspidors of such shape as not readily to be upset and of such material and construction as to be readily disinfected, and employes who expectorate shall be required to use them.

8. Due care must be taken to prevent meat and meat food products from falling on the floor; and in the event of their having so fallen, they must be condemned or the soiled portions removed and condemned. When meat or meat products are being emptied into tanks, some device, such as a metal funnel, must be used.

In the use of the Babcock test, the standard milk measures or pipettes shall have a capacity of 17.6 cubic centimeters, and the standard test tubes or bottles for milk shall have a capacity of 2 cubic centimeters for each 10 per cent marked on the necks thereof; cream shall be tested by weight and the standard unit for testing shall be 18 grams, and it is hereby made a misdemeanor to use any other standards of milk or cream measure where milk or cream is purchased by or furnished to creameries or cheese factories and where the value of said milk or cream is determined by the percentage of butter fat contained in the same or wherever the value of milk or cream is determined by the percentage of butter fat contained in the same by the Babcock test. In sampling cream or milk from which composite tests are to be made to determine the percentage of butter fat contained therein, no such sample or sampling shall be lawful unless a sample be taken from each weighing and the quantity thus used shall be proportioned to the total weight of the cream or milk tested. Every person, corporation, or company operating a creamery when using the Babcock test as a standard to determine the value of any milk or cream received or brought by such person, corporation, or company to be manufactured into butter, shall, when paying for such milk or cream, include, in every statement or check issued to any patron in payment thereof, a statement of the number of pounds of butter fat for which payment is made.
